

BRYAN GIVES HIS IDEAS OF REFORM

BELIEVES THAT STATES AS INDIVIDUALS SHOULD OWN AND CONTROL RAILWAYS - MONEY QUESTION IS IN ABEYANCE - INCOME TAX DISCUSSED.

(Journal Special Service.)
Lincoln, Neb., July 22.—The columns of his paper, William Jennings Bryan gives his beliefs as to the course for Democracy which will bring it again on a firm basis and offers an embodiment of several ideas taken from past platforms and policies, which he believes would strengthen the party policy. A portion of his editorial is as follows:
"My selection as standard-bearer of the Democratic party in 1896 and again in 1900 made me the nominal leader of that party, and as such I did not feel at liberty to engraft new doctrines upon the party creed. I contented myself with the defense of those principles and policies which were embodied in the platform."
"Now that the leadership devolves upon another, and I bear only the responsibility that each citizen must bear, namely, responsibility for my own opinion, my utterances and my conduct, I am free to undertake a work which until now I have avoided, namely, the work of organizing the radical and progressive element in the Democratic party."
Money Question.
"The money question is for the present the most important, namely, the production of gold has lessened the strain upon the dollar, and while bimetalism is as sound in the ordinary as it ever was, the necessity for it is not so apparent."
"But while the people cannot be brought at this time to consider the various phases of the money question, they can be brought to consider certain other questions with which the Democratic party must deal. I have heretofore refused to take a position upon the government ownership of railroads, first because I had not until recently studied the subject, and second, because the question had not reached primary importance."
"Recent events have convinced me that the time is now ripe for the presentation of the question. Consolidation after consolidation has taken place, until a few men now control the railroad traffic of the country and deny both the legislative and executive power of the nation. I invite the Democrats, therefore, to consider a plan for the government ownership and operation of the railroads."
States to Own Railways.
"The plan usually suggested is for the purchase of these roads by the federal government. This plan, it seems to me, is more objectionable than a plan which involves the ownership and operation of these roads by the several states. To put the railroads in the hands of the federal government would mean a centralization of power."
"It would give to the federal government a large increased influence over the citizen and the citizen's affairs, and such a centralization is not at all necessary. The states can own and operate railroads within their borders just as effectively as it can be done by the federal government, and if it is done by the states, the centralization is entirely answered."
"A board composed of representatives from the various states could deal with interstate traffic of the various lines. If the federal government had the railroads to build, there would be a constant warring between different sections to secure a fair share of the new buildings and development, but what this is to the several states, the people can decide whether they desire to build or buy."
"While the Democratic party in the nation is advertising to the government ownership of railroads, the Democratic party in the cities, should upon the same theory, espouse the cause of municipal ownership of municipal franchises."
"We have also reached a time when the postoffice department should embrace a telegraphic system as well as a mail system. While the telegraphic lines do not reach as many people as the railroads do, and while the abuses of private ownership have not been so open and notorious, there is no reason why this nation should not do what other nations are doing in this respect."
Destroy Private Monopoly.
"The private monopoly must be destroyed. The Democratic platform adopted at Kansas City declared the private monopoly to be indefensible and intolerable."
"The Democratic party has in two campaigns stood for an income tax. The plank was omitted this year because the men in control of the party thought it would jeopardize success in the eastern states. This objection may have weight when the appeal is made to a particular section, but it cannot have weight when the party goes forth, as it must ultimately do, to appeal to the masses."
"The contest outlined must be made whether the party wins in the present or not. A single election is but an incident in the life of a party. For more than a century the Democratic party has stood forth as the representative of certain great ideas. Jefferson, Jackson, Cleveland could not destroy it, if Mr. Parker is elected, his administration will rid us of imperialism and of threat of a race issue, and give us greater freedom in the taking up of economic questions."

Glad to Get Back to Oregon.
Felix Bloch, who has been visiting the large cities in this country and Europe for the past four months, returned this week. In speaking to a Journal representative Mr. Bloch, who has been in Portland but three years, as manager of the Portland Loan Office at 74 Third street, said: "I am mighty glad to be back in Oregon. Our climate can't be beat, and I talked about it everywhere. I spent some time at St. Louis and enjoyed the fair. I had good times in New York and Paris and also secured some bargains in diamonds, for I combined business with pleasure. Our display window will give the fans of my efforts to supply lovers of diamonds at astonishing low prices, and this without having to pay cash. Our easy payment system is at everyone's command."

UNABLE TO FIND PE ELL DYNAMITER

SHERIFF INVESTIGATES ATTEMPTED BLOWING UP OF FRIGMORE HOTEL - EVIDENCE TRUCK FAR SECURED DOES NOT WARRANT ARREST.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Chehalis, Wash., July 22.—Sheriff Urquhart returned from Pe-Ell late yesterday evening, where he has been investigating the dynamite outrage at that place. No arrests have been made but evidence points strongly toward a certain party, who, it is said, had threatened Samuel Clarke, the landlord of the Frigmore hotel. Open accusations are made on the Pe-Ell streets that the accused party is guilty of the outrage or at least implicated, but evidence thus far secured has not warranted arrest.
The Frigmore hotel, which it was attempted to destroy, is a large two-story frame building two blocks from the depot. At three corners are doorways entering from the streets. At the southeast corner is a door opening into a short hallway leading to a stairway. A door opens off the hall into the sitting room.
The dynamiter opened the outside door and threw the explosive with a fuse attached into the hall and fastened the door open. The door was shattered by the explosion and the door into the sitting room was blown off, the ceiling shattered and a great hole blown into the hall floor. One opposite window was shattered and a corner of the room torn out.
Clark's two girls, aged 8 and 13, slept eight feet from the stairway and were thrown out of bed. A mill watchman across the railroad 50 feet away, was knocked down by the jar. There were many guests in the hotel and all were badly shaken up. From appearances there was enough explosive used to have blown the building to atoms had it been properly exploded.

LEAPS TO STREET TO SAVE HIS LIFE

C. W. WOLFE JUMPS 40 FEET TO AVOID MURDEROUS ASSAULT OF JIM SMITH, WHO BATTERS DOWN A DOOR WITH REVOLVER AND SLASHES RIVAL'S CLOTHES.

In fear of his life, Charles W. Wolfe this morning broke through the kitchen window of the Richelleu house, Second and Everett streets, and clad only in his undershirt and trousers, leaped to the ground, 40 feet below, while Jim Smith, alias Johnson, was battering down the door of room 4 with the butt end of a revolver and crying out against Wolfe and "Habe" Smith, the latter being the occupant of the room he sought to enter.
Awakened by the noise, Proprietor L. C. Ruhl rushed from his office. Spying the negro with a revolver and hearing the threats, Ruhl went to a window and shrieked to the pedestrians below to send up a policeman.
Policeman Grif Roberts and Gibson responded. Roberts drew his revolver and shoved the muzzle into Smith's face, at the same time commanding him to throw up his hands. He obeyed, and was placed under arrest. He had battered down the door and had just started for the trembling woman within.
Policeman Gibson made a search for Wolfe, who made the dash for liberty, and found him in Gray's iron foundry, which adjoins the lodging house. He was badly crippled from the high jump, though it is thought no bones were broken.
Smith, the woman and Wolfe were sent to police headquarters. There charges of threatening to kill, assault with a dangerous weapon and defacing a building were placed against Smith. Jealousy is said to have caused the trouble. Smith arrived from Seattle this morning and went to the lodging house.
Before being arrested Smith wielded a razor on the coat, vest and shoes of Wolfe, cutting them into shreds.
Smith was arraigned before Municipal Judge Rogie by Deputy District Attorney Haney, and the cases were set for hearing next Tuesday. Smith is out on bonds.
