

MILITARY COMPANY FOR OREGON CITY

WAS FIRST PETITION BEFORE STATE BOARD FOR ORGANIZATION OF TROOP OF MILITARY-VETERANS ANXIOUS TO JOIN.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Oregon City, July 25.—The chances for Oregon City for the organizing of a military company are looking better since the maneuvers at American lake for the reason that General McArthur is said to have gone on record as saying that he will not favor cavalry companies and batteries being enlisted in the state national guard unless the state was able to own and train the horses. He does not mean that he does not think the cavalry and artillery are not efficient, but he thinks that they would be more efficient if the state owned and trained the horses.

Should the cavalry company at Albany be mustered out Oregon City would have the best chance possible to organize the military company that was petitioned for last winter, as this city has the first petition before the military board of the state. In the matter of material for the company, it is said that Oregon City could organize one of the best companies of any city in the state as there are many Spanish war veterans here who are only too anxious to contribute again. Then there are some promising marksmen in town who would enlist. Shooting practice is to be encouraged to a great extent and there is one well-known marksmen in Oregon City who could shoot in any company.

Each company in the state will have tryouts for marksmanship and a team will be selected from the best in the state to attend the national contest at Fort Riley. The marksmen who go to the national contest would have all expenses paid and this fact would be a strong factor in getting good marksmen to join the company.

Native Sons Well Organized.

Last Friday, July 22, the native sons and daughters of Clackamas held a re-organization meeting at Gladstone park at which many new members registered their names to the organization. Headquarters were located on the grounds during the entire assembly and books were there where both native sons and daughters and pioneers could register their names.

The purpose of this is to get a strong organization in the country and preserve history and data in connection with the early settlement of the county and all are asked to co-operate in this work. An election of officers was held and the following were elected to serve the ensuing year: H. E. Cross, president; E. C. Chapman, vice-president; O. D. Eby, secretary; E. C. Hackett, treasurer, and Mary S. Barlow, historian. One thing important that occurred at the meeting on Saturday was the appointment of a committee to look up an exhibit along pioneer and historical lines pertaining to this county that is to be placed in the Oregon building at the Lewis and Clark fair. The committee is composed of the following: O. W. Eastman, Mary S. Barlow, H. G. Starkweather, J. W. Thomas and O. D. Eby.

Democrats to Attend Rally.

Local Democrats are showing much interest in the monster rally and ratification meeting that is to be held in Portland on the 29th of this month. It is very probable that there will be a good crowd of the faithful to attend from here. Nothing definite has been arranged yet, but O. D. Eby, chairman of the county central committee, said that he thought he would take advantage of the rally to give their lungs the exercise that they crave. Democrats who attend from here will have an opportunity of hearing some splendid speakers. The principal speaker is Franklin K. Lane, who was the candidate for governor of California at the last election. Senator Turner of Washington and Governor Chamberlain, besides other well-known talkers.

Girl's Arm Broken.

Little 8-year-old Lottie Whilon of Damascus received injuries in an accident in which she was thrown from a horse last Friday that may result in the amputation of her left arm. She was riding the horse when he became frightened and the girl was thrown to the ground. Her left arm was broken at the elbow joint with such force that the bone protruded through the skin into the ground. A doctor was called and the wound dressed, but blood poison is feared.

Suit for $100.

Suit was instituted in the circuit court Saturday by H. E. Noble against Fred Thompson and G. W. Beach for the collection of a promissory note that the defendants made to H. G. Sahlstrom, and which was afterwards transferred to H. E. Noble. The principal and interest at 10 per cent is asked from May 24, 1899, besides $50 attorney's fees, costs and disbursements, and for the foreclosure of a mortgage that was given as security.

Cougars Thiek Near Dodge.

Earl McAdam and William Sampson, who returned yesterday morning from a trip to Dodge where they drove a herd of cattle to the farm of Frank Bush, are full of stories as to escapes they had from cougars while on the trip. The cattle were put in the pasture in good condition and they were spending the night in a lonely cabin alongside of the road before making the return trip, and as there has been considerable trouble from cougars in that region they barricaded the doors and windows of the house so that they would not be molested during the night. They passed a peaceful night and in the morning Sampson tried to light a fire in the fireplace to prepare breakfast, but the fire would not draw and the two men were smoked out. Sampson went outside the building to see what was happening and the chimney and was surprised to see the hind legs and tail of a large cougar sticking out of the chimney. He rushed into the cabin and grabbed the camp outfit and hastily pushing McAdam before him out of the door the pair beat a hasty retreat to Oregon City and left the cougar sticking in the chimney.

BAUMANN ASSERTS VIEWS ON LIBERTY

DELIBERATE IS NOT AN ANARCHIST BUT A FREE MAN—IS BORN FREE, WHOSE HE ATTEMPTED TO KILL, SURVIVED—NO REASON FOR APT.

(By Paul Williams.)
(Copyright, Hearst News Service, by Leased Wire to The Journal.)
Paris, July 25.—"I am not an anarchist. I am a revolutionist—an independent free man. I do not recognize the theories of anybody. I am a disciple of nobody, I am myself."

With these words, which he roared at the top of his voice, Auguste Baumann answered his judges when asked if he had anything to say in his defense when accused and convicted of attempted assassination of a priest, Abbe Lebel.

Some time ago, Baumann, meeting the priest in Rue Casso, without any other reason than his hatred of the Christian religion, fired two shots at him.

Both shots took effect, one in the neck and the other in the forehead, and only by a miracle Lebel recovered. Baumann succeeded in making his escape, but four or five days later he walked into the police station at St. Germain Auxerrois and gave himself up with the words that "anxious to commit suicide, he delivered his head to the guillotine."

Before the court Baumann stated that he hated the existing order of society and had sworn to kill somebody. "Society of today," he declared, "has three pivots, the priests, the soldiers and the judges, the priests endeavor to keep the people in ignorance, the military suppresses all attempts of the people to make themselves free and the judges condemn those whom the bullets have spared. I could see no way of making a living except by stealing, which I would not, or by begging, which is contemptible, so I chose to commit suicide by guillotine. I had nothing against Lebel personally, I had never even seen him before, but I have from my youth hated priests, soldiers, judges and professors. I want to commit suicide and if you sentence me to the guillotine you carry out my wishes."

CONFRONTED BY PRIEST.

The priest, still suffering from his wounds and so feeble that he nearly fainted in court, was confronted by his assailant.

"And do you not regret that you have crippled for life and nearly killed him?" the judge asked.

"I only regret that I did not kill him."

"You see how he suffers and still you feel no pity?"

"I have never known pity and never shall," Baumann replied.

TWO INJURED IN VANCOUVER RUNAWAY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Vancouver, Wash., July 25.—F. L. Harris and son, Roy, figured in a runaway last Saturday evening that resulted seriously to both occupants of a runabout. They were driving along the Fruit Valley road when the horse became frightened and ran into a walnut tree and then into a telephone pole, where one of the wheels was knocked off and father and son were thrown out.

Mr. Harris received a wrenched back and bruises on his left arm and right ankle, the boy an ugly gash directly under the left knee cap, which required three stitches when the wound was dressed, which it is feared will result in a stiff joint.

General Chaffee this morning made a thorough inspection of the post and troops now here. A grand review and dress parade was given this morning at 9 o'clock. General Chaffee, it is said, intends to remain here during the day, when he leaves for Portland.

Miss William Noyce, returned from Alaska this morning, where she has spent the last two years with her husband, who is engaged in business there. Her baggage has been loaded to Sitka, LaSalle and Miss Emma Schurr, Portland, Or., and J. E. Oelshout and Miss Lillie Shields, Vancouver, Wash.

FIGHTS WITH DEATH IN RIVER CURRENT

The remarkable presence of mind of Miss Minnie Inman averted what might have been a tragedy yesterday morning. Miss Inman is the daughter of R. D. Inman, president of the Inman-Foulson Milling company, and is well known as an expert swimmer.

Miss Inman was a member of a launching party of 12 young people that started yesterday morning to spend the day on the river. The party was given by Bert Clemens and Will Lyons.

The launch was well filled, so two canoes were joined to it by ropes, and in one of these Miss Inman and George Osman rode. The party reached Ross Island in safety, after which the river became very rough and before the party knew what was happening the canoe in which Miss Inman and Mr. Osmond were sitting upset. The line from the canoe to the launch was thrown off and the launch drifted about 100 feet away. Miss Inman and Mr. Osmond immediately began to swim back to the launch. The current was strong, but at about 10 strokes Miss Inman was at the launch, and she and her companion, who reached it soon after, were taken aboard, and steered to a fisherman's hut on shore, where they were fitted out with clothing and then continued up the river. Miss Inman is a pupil of Prof. Murray, and is one of the few young women who has succeeded in swimming the river above Captain Bundy's, where the river is wide and the current is strong.
