

DAKOTA'S HEAD VISITS PORTLAND

GOVERNOR HERRELD OF SOUTH DAKOTA WITH PARTY SPENDS A DAY HERE BUT IS SUDDENLY RECALLED BECAUSE OF TROUBLE AT LAND OPENING RUSSE.

Governor C. N. Herreld of South Dakota, who arrived in Portland Sunday morning on a pleasure trip, departed hurriedly at 3 o'clock in the afternoon of the same day for home. The reason for the sudden change of his itinerary was the receipt yesterday afternoon of a telegram from Lieutenant-Governor Snow, at Pierre, S. D., which read as follows: "Have ordered troops to be in readiness to go to Bismarck situation very serious. Will write you later developments."

HAPPY REUNION AFTER MANY YEARS

So glad was he that his mother and sister had been saved from a watery grave, Andy Fritz, of this city, does not yet know his sister's first name, although the woman arrived in the city yesterday from Denmark. Fritz left his Danish home 26 years ago, and had not seen his mother since that time until she arrived in this city yesterday morning. He had been advised by some of his relatives from the over-the-sea home, as Fritz was just a "little fellow" when he killed his parents far away and sailed for the land of liberty, the gray-haired mother did not know him when he met them at the depot. Noting this fact, Fritz walked up to the new arrivals and told them who he was. The intimate friends of Andy Fritz, whom he had learned they wished to see, The women were grateful to the man for his kindness. Not until they arrived at his home and his wife called him by name did his mother and sister recognize their boy.

RUNS AMUCK WITH DANGEROUS KNIFE

SAILOR OF THE BEACON ROCK ATTACKS ONE OF THE CREW WITH DRAWN KNIFE AND HARBELY KISSES BEING A MURDERER IS PLACED IN IRONS.

Flourishing a dangerous-looking dirk Mr. Julius, nightwatchman on board the British ship Beacon Rock, endeavored to annihilate the entire crew last night. But instead of accomplishing his purpose he succeeded in having himself placed in irons, and he will now have several days leisure lying in chains. The watchman had been up to town, and from the manner in which he departed himself it was judged that he had been imbibing rather freely. The vessel is moored at Columbia dock No. 2. When he reached the ship he became enraged over some imagined slight and running up the gangplank he began to tell the crew what he was going to do to them. To emphasize his words he drew forth a most formidable looking knife which measured 10 inches in length. With the weapon uplifted he made a lunge for one of the sailors who stood nearest him.

ALONG THE WATERFRONT

After having her plant readjusted the steamer Dallas City went out on her run as an oilburner again this morning. During the past two weeks she has been burning wood. The steamer Henderson of the Shaver line has also been converted into an oilburner, and made her first trip this morning. She went down to Stella after a raft of logs. The steamer Aberdeen sailed for San Francisco yesterday afternoon for the Rainier with 400,000 feet of lumber and 805 telegraph poles. F. P. Baumgartner, agent of the California & Oregon Coast Steamship company, will go to Coos Bay in a few days to inquire into the shipping conditions down there.

INDIANA POLITICS WILL BE TORRID

Red-hot and getting hotter in the way that Thomas G. Harrison of Indiana has expressed his opinion concerning the election of the Grover Redmen, which meets at Seaside tomorrow. "For years Indiana has been one of the greatest battle-grounds politically in the Union," said Mr. Harrison, "and this year will be no exception. Although Senator Fairbanks, the Republican nominee for vice-president, is a Hoosier statesman, he is not the sort of man that will sway empires or cause thrones to totter; easy to approach and agreeable to know, Fairbanks is a good man but not a great leader. In my opinion the gold Democrats that left the party in '96 and 1900 to support McKinley will not flock to Parker in a body. If they did, I state would to Democratic in a walk. But many of them will stay with their new love."

SENTENCE IS CUT THROUGH MISTAKE

Through an error in figuring, Albert Gannon and Harry Volker, convicted of larceny, will serve only 265 days in the county jail instead of 285, as intended by Circuit Judge Sears. They were sentenced to a year by Municipal Judge Hogue and took an appeal to the circuit court finding them guilty. It was the intention of the court to sentence them so that the time they have already spent in jail would count on their sentence but he made too large a deduction. Attorney J. H. Hitchings, whose motion in arrest of judgment was denied by the court, announces that tomorrow he will take the prisoners before Presiding Judge George in habeas corpus proceedings, on the ground that the circuit court has no jurisdiction of their case, owing to an imperfection in the transcript on appeal from the lower court. Local lawyers say that if Judge George should so hold the police court sentence would remain in effect and Gannon and Volker would have 20 days added to their sentence.

STEERS CHINESE TO JAIL BY PIG TAILS

Many methods have been invented by American genius having as their object the regulation of the sons of the flowery kingdom. Most of them have proved futile. Bret Harie and Mark Twain are agreed that the Chinaman's nose is too subtle for the ordinary mind to comprehend. But George F. Morden, chief deputy sheriff, has found a plan which he finds for certain purposes works to perfection. In doing so they were compelled to crawl a part of the way and were attacked by a swarm of vicious rats. When brought to the central station this morning they bore numerous scars where they had been bitten and scratched by the rodents. Officer Smart brought to the station at noon today Otto, Eddie and Fred Kruonch, of East Sixth and East Washington streets, and Lester and Elley White, of East Sixth and Alder streets, for being implicated in the robbery. Five of the Chinese were fined $50 each by Justice Seton Saturday. The five included How Kow, convicted of passing opium to a countryman in a street car. Four others were before Justice Seton this morning, but their cases were postponed to tomorrow. To Fook was released on motion of Deputy District Attorney Adams. The evidence against him being regarded as insufficient to convict.

ARMY OF RATS REPELS BURGLARS

It was the work of a swarm of rats that prevented the wholesale robbery of the candy factory of Russell & Gilbert, Union avenue and East Alder street, last night. Five juvenile burglars entered the place early in the evening and took all the candy they could carry away. After disposing of their plunder in a nearby hiding place they returned and started into the place again. In doing so they were compelled to crawl a part of the way and were attacked by a swarm of vicious rats. When brought to the central station this morning they bore numerous scars where they had been bitten and scratched by the rodents. Officer Smart brought to the station at noon today Otto, Eddie and Fred Kruonch, of East Sixth and East Washington streets, and Lester and Elley White, of East Sixth and Alder streets, for being implicated in the robbery. MAY BE HOTTEST DAY OF YEAR

With the temperature standing at 86 degrees at 2 o'clock this afternoon and still rising, today threatens to be one of the warmest days of the season. It only has to creep up 3 degrees more to equal that of the hottest day last week, when the record was broken for the summer. At 5 o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 63 degrees and since then it has rapidly been going upward. At noon it stood at 81 degrees, and later at 91 and at 2 o'clock it had reached 86. The weather man at that hour was of the opinion that the temperature would increase two or three points before there would be a downward tendency.

INSIDE INN AT 1905 EXPOSITION

Director-General Goode returns from St. Louis visit and says the hotel problem may be solved by outside parties—a paying investment. The directors of the fair have been awaiting the return of Mr. Goode in the hope that on his arrival the question of the presidency of the corporation would be settled. Mr. Goode is looked upon as a favorable candidate for the office, but in the event of his election the question of his successor would prove a perplexing as the question of Mr. Scott's successor. A meeting of the board of directors will probably be held this week, when the choice will be made. Mr. Goode especially made a study of the matter of hotel accommodations, and is of the opinion that an inside inn at the fair next year would prove a paying establishment.

WAITS FOUR YEARS THEN BRINGS SUIT

After a lapse of more than four years an amended complaint has been filed by R. B. Larcum in a suit brought by him to recover money which he claims was misappropriated by his agents. Several large railway corporations were made parties to the suit as a side issue, but only one, the Clearwater Valley Railway company, ever filed an answer. A number of garnishments were issued years ago. Local attorneys say this is about one of the slowest-moving cases on the records. In the amended complaint Larcum sues L. H. Knapp, as administrator of the estate of James W. Reid, who died in Lewiston, Idaho, January 1, 1902. The original suit was filed March 3, 1899. It is alleged in the amended complaint that Reid, acting as agent of Larcum, received $150 to settle certain claims for compensation made against Larcum by persons who were tenants on a farm owned by him. Reid is accused of converting the money to his own use. He is also charged with retaining $116 which Larcum obtained against Larcum as the plaintiff's attorney. Among the defendants are the O. R. & N. Co. and the Snake River Railway company.

GIRL ACCUSED OF JEWEL THEFT

YOUNG DOMESTIC IS CHARGED WITH THE THEFT OF $400 WORTH OF JEWELRY AND COSTLY FUR COMPANY SAID TO BE THE PART OF THE DOWNFALL.

With eyes flashing defiance at those who accuse her, Pearl Caldwell, a pretty 17-year-old girl, is in the women's department at central station today, charged with a series of systematic robberies that have baffled the police for some time past. In another cell in W. F. Hutton's, a well dressed young man employed in a shoe store charged with receiving stolen property. Pearl Caldwell has been employed as a domestic at the home of Miss Maud Gilliland, 724 Everett street. Miss Gilliland is stenographer at Postmaster Minto. A week ago Miss Gilliland began to miss various articles of wearing apparel—Dresses, skirts and other articles disappeared mysteriously and efforts to learn the manner of their disappearance were futile. Then pieces of jewelry began to disappear in the same way until diamonds and other jewels of the value of over $400 were found to be missing. She and McIntosh were frequently seen together. The officer was told that she wore costly gems and visited Pearl Caldwell's room. A $10 ring was given by McIntosh to the New York loan office for $1.25. He explained, when arrested, that the girl loaned him the ring and he needed the money to take her to the theatre. A warrant for the girl's arrest was issued this morning and she was taken in custody at Miss Gilliland's home. She indignantly denied any knowledge of the crimes. She attempted to dispose of a diamond ring by sticking it in the wall, but was observed by the detective. She explained the act by saying that she had borrowed it and desired Miss Gilliland to see it in the door on her return. At the station she confessed to having stolen a number of the articles but told conflicting stories. The girl who was arrested by Special Officer Hawley today had access to all parts of the house, but was never suspected. She was told of the thefts and volunteered to do all in her power to discover some clue that might lead to the apprehension of the thief. In the department Miss Gilliland reported the thefts to police headquarters last Tuesday and Detective Hawley was assigned to the case. He at once suspected the girl. To McIntosh she is said to have given various articles of stolen property, a large part of which he is said to have pawned. He was wearing a stickpin in his tie at the time of his capture. He is said to have been stolen by the girl. McIntosh declares that he did not know the articles were stolen, and never questioned the girl as to how she came into possession of them.

DANGEROUS FIGHT STOPPED BY POLICE

Frank Hartwell, employed at Blasier's saloon, and Sam Levin, a barber, engaged in a fight at the Hotel and Lion museum at Sixth and Stark streets last night and but for the interference of bystanders a murder might have been committed as Hartwell had a revolver and was trying to use it. Presently Hartwell is detained at the police station on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon, and Levin is charged with assault and intent to rob. Levin says that he was standing in the saloon when Hartwell struck him a blow in the face. He attempted to strike back and Hartwell drew his revolver and tried to use it. In retaliation Hartwell alleged that Levin was trying to steal a valuable diamond pin out of his tie and he struck Levin to prevent being robbed. Both men will have a trial tomorrow. Their bonds have been placed at $100 each.

LAST VOYAGE OF CAPTAIN GROVES

WELL KNOWN SEAMAN DIES AT SANATORIUM AFTER YEAR'S ILLNESS—FOR MANY YEARS HE HAD CHANGE OF WHITE STAR LINES IN ENGLISH WATERS.

After an illness that has lasted for nearly a year, Capt. Charles Grimble Groves died last night at the North Pacific Sanatorium, where he had been lying since last March. Captain Groves had been suffering for the past year with Bright's disease, but the immediate cause of his death was pneumonia. Funeral arrangements will not be made until relatives in England cable what disposition shall be made of the body. Captain Groves was born in Liverpool, England, September 13, 1834. When but a mere lad, he enjoyed wandering up and down the Mersey, watching the great merchantmen steaming and sailing in from the far-off lands. As he grew older a longing seized him to follow the great white wings of the East India man in order that he might see for himself the strange peoples and the beautiful bays where the spices grow. When he reached the age of 15 years, he left his home and sailed out of Liverpool as a boy before the mast. By hard work and careful study, he was rapidly promoted until he was made master of one of the largest sailing vessels regularly in Liverpool. Most of his years spent as master were on ships belonging to the White Star company, and for years he sailed between Great Britain and the colonies. Captain Groves visited Portland several times, and was charmed with the city from the first time he saw it. Nine years ago, he came to Portland as captain of the British ship Kirkcubrightshire, and as his eyesight began to fail him, he resigned his position and became a resident in this city. But though he was an enthusiastic Portlander, he still loved his native land and every two years made a visit to his former home in England. A widow, his mother and two brothers survive him. One brother is owner of the Regan Road brewery, one of the largest in the United Kingdom, while the other is the member of parliament for South Bedford. Captain Groves was a Mason, having belonged to Derby Lodge No. 724 in England, and to the local lodge of Eagles. Thinking that his brothers might wish to have his body laid to rest in the little English churchyard here, his father turned the vessel completely over, Mr. Mackay was slightly hurt. Even while clinging to the overturned yacht the party called out to longshoremen, who came to the rescue, to be sure to save Mr. Mackay's bulldog, a very valuable animal. BRITISH PATROL CAAT. Constantinople, July 25.—A British warship is reported as patrolling the coast south of the Dardanelles, presumably with the idea of keeping track of any Russian volunteer ships which put in an appearance, either from within the Dardanelles or entering thereto. BREWERY COMPANY PARTY TO DIVORCE SUIT. From the Kansas City Times. Myron E. Ross and the Metropolitan Street Railway company are made joint defendants in a divorce suit filed in the circuit court recently by Mrs. E. Ross. This odd case arose out of a judgment that was obtained by Myron Ross for $2,000 against the street railway company, and which it is the wish of the wife to annul. The divorce was filed pending the result of the damage suit, and it was refilled in order to embody the judgment feature for alimony. A GUY 94 YEARS OLD. From the Kansas City Times. One of the oldest felons in Missouri died last week when the family cat of William Gilmore, living near Millersburg, expired at the advanced age of 34 years. "The way I kept track of her age," says Mr. Miller, "was knowing that she was just as old as one of my daughters. Twenty-four years is a long time for a cat to live in one family, and we miss her mighty."

Even while clinging to the overturned yacht the party called out to longshoremen, who came to the rescue, to be sure to save Mr. Mackay's bulldog, a very valuable animal.
