"Babe" Runkle was the star comedian of the engagement. Runkle is a young gentleman of generous proportions, who weighs in the neighborhood of 400 pounds. He essayed the task of playing short stop, and on account of his great bulk he was unable to reach the elusive sphere with his hands when the ball was hit to his locality, and it was necessary for the left fielder to play short stop also. "Babe" went after everything that came his way, and also was a star at the bat. Every time he was a star at the bat. Portland scored first after 12 minutes play, but in reality scored at the end of seven minutes, the ball having gone behind the goal, but was pulled back by a Tacoma player before the flag was waved.

The only accident of the game befell Jones, Tacoma's goalkeeper. He had his left arm wrenched and retired in favor of Bleeker. Mike McCance was the only man penalized, and he was rested for a minute for cross-checking.

The game as a whole was satisfactory. The visitors put up a plucky fight, but were outclassed. From the clever manner in which the Portland team played it is reasonable to expect the locals to make a fine showing against the Victoria team next Sunday.

NO TROUBLE OVER CORBETT'S RELEASE

One of the St. Louis papers printed the first game in San Francisco: "Word from the coast yesterday was to the effect that Joe Corbett had pitched the San Francisco team to victory over the Oaklands—3 to 0, and this may mean a rupture between the Pacific Coast league and the other leagues of the country. When Corbett secured his release from St. Louis. Brooklyn put in a claim for him, and President Pulliam's official bulletin specifically stated that Corbett was released to Brooklyn. Hanlon has since given out interviews in which he says he will have Corbett next season.

interviews in which he says he will have Corbett next season.

"According to the national agreement which has been signed by the Coast league, players cannot go from one league to another unless they are unconditionally released by the league in which they are playing. The National league had trouble with the Coast league over the signing of Dillon and several other players, and all of the cases were decided in favor of the major league. Now the Coast league has taken a pitcher away from the National league, and unless Hanlon waives his claim this may be the entering wedge of another war.

When President Bert was shown the above clipping he said: "There will not be any trouble over Corbett this year. At least I am very positive there won't. I hear from Hanlon nearly every week, and as yet he has not said a word about Joe, and I feel sure he won't. Of course, if Joe pitches, winning ball for San Francisco I expect Hanlon will reserve him or some other club for next year, but that was all. Corbett got released from St. Louis in a regular way. When President Bert was shown the leased from St. Louis in a regular way, and I can see nothing wrong in him playing here."

O'BRIEN AND RYAN MAY MEET AGAIN

(Journal Special Service.)
San Francisco, Aug. 15.—The Shasta club is already looking about for a match for October, and if its plans don't match for October, and if its plans don't miscarry it will put on a card that will attract national interest. It has Tommy Ryan and Jack O'Brien under consideration, and from a reliable authority it has virtually got them to accept its terms. It will be remembered that Ryan and O'Brien fought six rounds at Philadelphia, and the former made the better showing. O'Brien was so dissatisfied with his exhibition that he offered to fight Ryan 20 rounds at San Francisco to prove to the public that he was Tomto prove to the public that he was Tommy's master. After giving O'Brien such a pounding in his own city, Ryan's admirers thought that he would jump at the chance to fight O'Brien on the coast. They figured that if Ryan could out-point O'Brien in six rounds it would be a cinch for him to best him in 20 rounds, a cinch for him to best him in 20 rounds, as he was partial to a long route. When Ryan refused to meet O'Brien and made no explanation, his admirers were puzzled. They believed Tommy would sump at the chapes, notwithstanding that his health had been known to be poor. Tommy has had a long rest on his farm in Michigan, and it is now announced that he is ready to fight O'Brien here. It is understood that Jack is still in an anxious mood, and hence there ought to be no trouble in effecting the match.

CORBETT SURPRISED AT O'BRIEN'S NERVE

New York, Aug. 15.—Whether Jack O'Brien is looking for advertisement or whether he has come to the conclusion that Jim Corbett is too hard game for him, the Quaker pugilist, it is thought, is now trying to evade a six-round go with the ex-champion by making unrea-sonable demands. When the men met sonable demands. When the men met in this city last week they agreed to box six rounds at catchweights in Philadelphia the second week in September. There was nothing said at the time about the division of the purse or any other conditions. Now, however, O'Brien issists on an equal share of the purse, and also wants Corbett to get to 175 pounds.

When Corbett heard of the latter re-When Corbett heard of the latter request he almost collapsed, for in order to do such a thing it would be necessary for him to amputate an arm or leg, and he has no intention of parting with either member. In shape Corbett weighs 190 pounds. No other puglist he has met thus far in his career has asked him to make a certain weight, and he declares he will not attempt such a task for O'Brien.

a task for O'Brien.
O'Brien's request is all the more strange when it is taken into consideration that he never quibbled about the weight with any of his rivals, with the exception of Fitzsimmons. The latter was restricted to 160 pounds, but it is said he was at least six pounds under that scale when he faced the Philadelphian.

cannot understand why O'Brien "I cannot understand why O'Brien should crawl now," said Corbett yesterday. "His demands are nothing but a crawl, and his requests seem all the more surprising in view of the fact that he has pretended to be after a match with me for a long time. He never said anything about weight during the winter when I ignored him, nor last week when I consented to fight him. To me it all appears as faintheartedness. I am satisfied with any fair terms, but I will not give in to what he wants, because I think I am as much of an attraction. not give in to what he wants, because I think I am as much of an attraction in Philadelphia as he is."

ELEVEN SOUTH TO MEET STAN-PORD AND BERNELEY - WASE. INGTON TEAM WILL PLAY THIS YEAR'S GAME AT EUGENE.

University of Oregon, Eugene, Aug. 15.

Football Manager Wave Graham, who is spending the summer at his home in Portland, announces that he has arranged a trip to California for the 1904 varsity eleven, and that games have already been scheduled with Berkeley and Stanford, the dates being October 22 and 29 respectively. The announcement is halled with delight by local football enthusiasts who believe that Oregon will make a good record in the south. Several college teams of the northwest were anxious to make the California trip, but the southern managers decided to take on the Oregon varsity eleven, because Oregon won the state championship last season, and because her 1904 team will be coached by a famous all-American player—Smith of Columbia.
