Portland 4. Los Angeles 0.

Jacob Thielman was himself yesterday afternoon and through his own brilliant work pitched the Browns to brilliant work pitched the Browns to victory and the Angels to a whitewash. From the standpoint of a Portland fan the game was a good one, but judging from the standard of first class baseball, the contest was decidedly ragged on the visitors' part. Aside from the Angels' mishaps, which amounted to more than the "tackhammer" artist gave them credit for, the splendid pitching of Thielman was sufficient to enable

MINERS' HANDICAP RUNS TOMORROW

SPECIAL EVENT POR THE VISIT ING DELEGATES TO MINERS' CON-ED FOR TWO EXTRA WEEKS.

The Multnomah Fair association has arranged a special miners' handicap race for tomorrow afternoon, for the pleasure of the delegates, their wives and friends who are in the city atending the seventh annual session of the American Mining congress. Tickets that will admit the visitors free may be secured from the secretary of the congess at headquarters at the armory. The miners' handicap will be a mile and a sixteenth event, for a purse of $400 and the speediest horses at the track will participate.

The nags will be going again this afternoon at Irvington track. Owing to the encouragement given the meeting during the last two weeks the fair association decided to continue the races two weeks longer than was first agreed upon, thus making the entire meeting five weeks long. Two weeks have already gone, and the cards have been exceptionally fine. Beginning today the management will exert a special endeavor to make the week one that will long be remembered in racing annals on the Facific coast; and will frame up events that will be well worth witnessing. On Saturdays there will be gentlemen races and on ladies' days an effort will be made to pull off a match race between members of the Portland Hunt club. The association will also arrange several inviting stake events, which will add to the sport.

The association will also arrange several inviting stake events, which will add to the sport.

From reliable sources it has been gleaned that the bookmakers at Irvington are still about $5,000 to the bad on the present meet. On Saturday the favorites ran to form and the talent were so expert with the dope that first and second played horses finished in the order picked and the bookies wept accordingly. There is no getting around the fact that the horses are running right to form and as soon as the gang got wise to this, the long shots were left without any backing, the play being confined to the few horses that looked like sure money.

For this reason, engines and hose shipped to Baltimore by her sister cities were rendered useless and blocks which could have been surrounded by this outside apparatus and thus saved were simply abandoned to their fate and the apparatus shipped back home again.

With their co-operation, the result would be obtained at but little expense and with but little inconvenience. HOP OUTLOOK IN PUYALLUP FIELDS

GIN-BELIEVED THAT YIELD WILL BUN SHORT ABOUT 250 POURDS AN ACRE—BAIN WOULD DO VAST AMOUNT OF GOOD.

those in the Fuyanup valley of around Chehalis.

There are some yards around Auburn which look as if they would yield a full crop. They happen to be located in the valley along Green river and have received sufficient moisture to enable the vines to branch out as they ought and consequently bear more fruit.

Owing to the scarcity of hops in the country the growers stand a good-show to get a high price this fall. Hop buyers have already become very reluctant about saying what hops are worth and are working early and late making contracts with growers at from 17c to 23c, while the market price is sailing upward toward the 25-cent mark.

favor with which "A Runaway Match" was received at Cordray's theatre yesterday. The house was crowded to the doors at both performances. The farce itself has a consistent and coherent plot, complicated situations and clearly defined characters. The complications are excruciatingly funny and they are told by witty and unusually humorous lines. The whole show is nest, clean and clever. A father wants to wed the daughter and his son is engaged to the widow of the same family. During the course of the story, the son steals away the father's flance, and the father wins the affections of the charming widow. These together with a very funny hotel clerk, a peculiar village constable and an irate landlady contrive to create an amount of fun greatly relished by the audience.

Miss Claire Washington as the siy widow revealed a comedy strength of a very high order and enacted a rather trying role in a completely acceptable manner. Miss Myrtie Bunn as the sweet and winsome daughter tired of school and anxious to marry even an old man, was more than clever. She is a young soubrette of ability and her specialties were excellent. Miss Myers played the irascible landlady of the villags inn. Her role was rather a thankless one, but she played it with intelligence and spirit. Walfred Wilson and Jack Prentice played father and son respectively and bore the principal burden of the fun making in a manner entirely acceptable. Ed Perry played the man of all work about the hotel in a very humorous manner. He has a low comedy part and made it stand out very prominently. His monologue in the second act is capitally done. Owen Carr the constable was played by Frank Appleton and he did it full justice.

The specialty of Appleton and Perry in the third act of the rapid-fire arder was successful from start to finish.

A feat that excels the loop the loop and rivals in thrilling powers the life-teap over the gap, is Cyclone's ride up the devil's chimney. This sensational set is the headliner at the Star theatre this week, beginning today. The daring performer rides round and round at dizzy speed inside a cylinder 16 feet high until he mounts in spiral circles to the top, only to make the dangerous plunge downward while whiring in full view of the audience. The other acts round out a varied and entertaining bill.

The new bill at the Lyric opened this afternoon, and as the managers promised, it was a good one. The bill is as follows: The four comedy jugglers, Mortons, in a sensational comedy juggling act; Whitehead and Diamond, the comedy singers, acrobats and dancers; T. J. Ray, in illustrated songs; Walton, the greatest of all Chinese impersonators, a great act; the two Fantas, in a comedy acrobatic sketch, introducing their little pig. Mike; Murry Smith, in character songs, and the vitascope, showing the landing of Christopher Columbus.

Two weeks ago it was estimated, by men in position to know, that the average yield west of the Casades in western Washington, would fall short about 259 pounds to the acre. It is now believed that the yield will even be shorter than that, owing to the continuous dry weather.
