NEW VESSEL FOR 'FRISCO TRAFFIC

OWNER OF AURELIA WILL PROB ABLY PLACE A COMPANION BOAT OR THE BUN BETWEEN PORT-LAND AND THE BAY CITY IN

There is a probability that the Rusell & Rogers company, owner of the steamer Aurelia, will soon put another vessel into service between Portland and San Francisco. Fred Russell, one of the owners of the line, has been in the city for several days looking into the advisability of the move.

"As yet nothing definite has been done," said Mr. Russell last evening. "but if we do decide to add another boat to the line it will mean that we will be in a position to give a weekly service down the coast. The additional vessel will be larger and faster than the Aurelia and will carry both freight and passengers."

d passengers."
While in the city Mr. Russell has con ferred with a number of the shippers all of whom apparently favor the plan. Whether the addition to the service is nade or not, Mr. Russell says that the urelia will remain on the run. She made or not, ar. Russel says and the Aurelia will remain on the run. She has been in regular commission up and down the coast for the past seven months and has always secured full cargoes at both ends of the line. From Portland she usually takes out lumber and grain, bringing a general cargo from the Bay City.

For some time there have been reports that the company would increase the service. Several shippers have encouraged the proposal, holding that there are not enough boats engaged in the coast trade to handle the growing traffic with any degree of regularity. Those who are in touch with the situation say that there will be more flour and wheat shipped from Portland to Ban Francisco this fall and winter than ever before in the history of the port, for the reason that the California crop is exceptionally light.

ed to give the Portland office di-connection with North Head, will a operation within 16 days. H. Robinson, chief of the telegraph

J. H. Robinson, chief of the telegraph vision of the weather bureau, arrived om Washington this morning to carry it this important project, and has been consultation with District Forecaster Seals during most of the day.

The government recently appropriated $12,000 for the cable in question, and e contract for its construction was warded the Bishop Gutta Percha com-ny of New York. That concern also ntracted to perform the labor tuci-ntal to the laying of the cable. Chief obinson has worked incessantly for the Robinson has worked incessantly for the early discharge of the work, and was gratified to learn on August 12 that the cable had been shipped to this city, accompanied by experts. It will arrive this afternoon, if all goes well, and within 24 hours Chief Robinson will be out in a lifeboat sounding the course to be followed. The cable, which is one of the very est known to manufacturers, will fill long-felt want in the Portland office.

a long-felt want in the Portland office. It will make possible earlier reports on vessels entering or leaving the mouth of the river. Until now the only means of communication, the telephone, has been subject to frequent interruptions. Chief Robinson is one of the oldest officials in the service of the government weather department. He has been in the service, in fact, since it was established in 1870. He regards this improvement of the greatest importance, especially to shipping interests.

"I am thankful for one thing," he remarked; "to lay this cable will not be as difficult as it might be in some other sections, inasmuch as I have

"And when was this?"
"Before the war, sir—before the war.

Contractors have been considerably hampered at the drydock during the past few days on account of a shortage of labor. Several vessels have been put on the dock lately, and it is said that they have had to remain there much longer than necessary. In reality, it is explained, the new drydock has opened a new avenue for skilled labor. opened a new avenue for skilled labor at Portland, and in time it is believed that there will be no further necessity for the delays. It has created a demand for caulkers. Heretofore there have been not more than two or three caulkers in the city. It is believed that others will locate here when it becomes known that they can secure employment.

The Joseph Pulitzer has been launched. She left for the mouth of the river yesterday. It is probable that the schooner Churchill will be floated tomorrow, and the Zampa will be taken on the following day.
