JEFFRIES AND MUNROE IN BATTLE TONIGHT—BROWNS LOSE AGAIN TO OAKLAND—RACE TRACK RESULTS.

Edited by J. A. HORAN

COULD NOT HIT BERTIE JONES

BUTLER'S HOODOO STILL PURSUES HIM AND WAS GREATLY IN EVIDENCE YESTERDAY—PORTLAND TEAM IS OUT-CLASSED BY LOHMAN'S AGGREGATION.

Portland 1, Oakland 2.
Butler and Shea; Jones and Stark.

Some element in the shape of a hoodoo or a "Jonah" must be following Ike Butler around, for it was in evidence at several stages of yesterday's game. Butler's teammates secured three hits off Bertie Jones, and were presented with eight passes to first base, but with all his wildness the former Seal seemed to always be ready in case the locals looked dangerous.

For six innings it was a grand battle with honors even, neither side having scored. Up to the seventh session Butler had held the Oaks to but three safeties, and had issued but one pass, and not one of them had reached third base. Bert Jones had also been pitching some ball, but his wildness allowed the Browns to come within an ace of scoring, and only some fierce base-running permitted by lack of proper coaching saved the Oaklander from having several runs registered against him. This happened in the second, when Beck and Castro, the first two men, meandered on wild ones, and Raymond bunted foul three times, in the attempt to sacrifice and was out. Phil Nadeau drove a safe one to center, and the coacher held Beck on third instead of allowing him to take a chance for the plate. Nadeau kept right on to second and Jones took Kruger's throw and caught Nadeau between the bases. While Phil was being run down Beck took a chance for the plate, when the Oaks transferred their attentions from Phil to him and Ervie was retired at the rubber. Shea's effort was a pretty drive which Kruger captured cleverly, and Portland's hopes at that stage were blasted.

Again in the fourth a hit would have helped some. Castro walked, took second on Raymond's out and stole third. Nadeau also walked and stole second, but with two runs knocking at the door the necessary hit was not forthcoming.

Oakland got busy in the seventh and scored twice assisted by Umpire McCarthy. Kruger led off with a hit that Spencer should have fielded, but as usual failed to play the ball right and missed it entirely. Jack McCarthy then allowed Julie Strieb to take first, as he claimed to have been hit by a pitched ball. The ball hit the end of Strieb's bat, and as he was standing too close to the plate, it should have been called a strike. Devereux sacrificed, advancing both men. Stark placed one just over Spencer's head, which scored Kruger and Strieb, although Castro's perfect throw almost caught the latter at the plate. Spencer led off in the eighth for Portland with a tap to Schlafley, but was safe when Strieb failed to hold the throw. Hurley bunted and was called out at first, although Strieb juggled the sphere several seconds after Bill hit the bag. Spencer stole third, and Beck walked. Beck then started for second, and on the play which followed Spencer scored, Beck dodging the ball long enough for Spencer to register.

Raymond singled in the ninth with one out. Dugdale took Teally out of the game, and sent Campbell in to run bases. Bill stole second, and Nadeau flew out to center. Steelman was called upon to bat for Shea, and Morry cracked a beauty to left field, that would have scored almost any runner, who sprints in an upright position, but Bill Campbell got tangled up in his trilbies and after falling down several times, crawling a few yards on each occasion, he finally reached the plate in time to get put out.

That certainly was hard luck for Ike Butler, who pitched a magnificent game, only to lose on a fluke.

KNEYSE AND GAILLARD WIN BOWLING TOURNEY

Paul Kneyse and Joe Gaillard kept up their pace in the second series of the championship doubles last night on the Portland alleys and fairly earned the title of champion 10-pin bowlers of the city, as they were 173 pins to the good at the finish.

C. J. McMenomy and F. McManamy were second.

Kneyse made the best score of the evening, with 228, and C. J. McMenomy was second, with 219. Kelley also passed the 200 mark, getting 213 in the third game.

McManamy won the booby prize, as he could not hit a barn, and there is some talk of having him practice by himself till he learns the game.

BETTORS HOWL AT A FAVORITE'S LOSS

THE STEWARDESS, AT 4 TO 5, LEFT AT THE POST FACING THE WRONG WAY IN THE SIXTH RACE AT IRVINGTON PARK YESTERDAY.

When Fred E. Mulholland, starter at the Irvington park track, crosses the Styx and stations himself in front of Rhadamanthus for judgment he will find marked up against him on the Plutonian form sheet one big chocolate-hued mistake—the manner in which he let the ponies get away from the post in the sixth event yesterday afternoon. This error may not act as a barrier to prevent his entering the Elysian Fields, but it will give him a bad start on his pilgrimage across the shadowy realms before he reaches the goal and is refreshed with nectar and ambrosia.

Accusing McLeon, Nora's mount, of being responsible for the raw start will not do. Mulholland lifted the barrier when one animal was turned completely around and Nora was swerving in front of The Stewardess, a 4 to 5 favorite in the betting, though half a minute previously the bunch had been against the thread nose to nose.

A storm of protest on the part of bettors followed. The mistake is the more regrettable because Wednesday Starter Mulholland executed his arduous task in all events in a manner evoking praise from the most finical.

The result of the start was that before The Stewardess could clear herself of Nora the field had been carried almost to the first turn by Chickadee, J. V. Kirby and Phyz. The Stewardess overcame a large fraction of the lead, but the exertion was too much and on the back stretch she was trailing along far in the rear. Nora was out of the race before it began. Kirby was taken to the front too soon, though coming under the wire a good second, while Chickadee was easily the winner after The Stewardess had been cut out.

Addie D. in the first race, Rosebud in the second, Budd Wade in the third, Lady Usk in the fourth and Capable in the fifth took the purses. Addie D. and Louis Mac were both heavily played in the first, but Mac did not get in the money. Rosebud and Modder were the favorites in the second, Modder running third and losing considerable money for those who backed him as winner and for place.

Almoner and Agnes Mack had the most money up in the third, but were never in the running with Budd Wade. Dora L., who shows marked improvement, took place, while Almoner just got in the money. In the fourth Illowaho, the favorite, went to the post slightly lame, and did not even get show. Lady Usk won the purse, with Maxtress second and Chief Aloha third. A quiet tip passed around shortly before the bugler called them out caused quite a little coin to be put up on Sir Dougal at 10 to 1, the betters figuring that with such odds they could afford to take a chance. Same old story.

When Starter Mulholland yelled at the boys in the fifth and sprang the tape, Chandler, on Black Cloud, was softly crooning "Please Go 'Way and Let Me Sleep." His mount was practically left at the post, but by a burst of speed almost caught up with the bunch and finished not far to the rear, though looked on as a half-mile animal. Up to the time that Tullett sent Capable, the favorite, through the field in the stretch, it looked as if Our Choice, a 15 to 1 shot, would be the winner.

To Jockey Tullett went the honors yesterday. Out of six mounts he lifted three under the wire winners and finished inside the money twice. Budd Wade, Capable and Chickadee were ridden by him.

The weather was fine for the sport, though pretty warm for occupants of the grandstand. Being ladies' day, the stand was crowded with the feminine contingent. Summary:

First race, four and a half furlongs, selling—Addie D., 107 (T. Stewart), 6 to 5, won; P. Crimmins, 109 (E. Smith), 3 to 1, second; Vaughan, 105 (Tullett), 7 to 2, third. Time, 0:56¼.

Burrows has arrived in the city from Fernie, B. C., where he has been working. He is considered one of the most popular boxers that ever appeared before a Spokane audience.

Both men will put up $100 for appearance money.

Burrows will do his training in this city, probably at the S. A. A. C., while Reilly will go to Newport to complete his training.

DIAMOND GLISTENINGS

Ike Butler fanned seven of the Oaklanders and allowed them only six hits, two of which were of the flukey variety, yet he lost his game.

Bert Jones was a mystery to the local batters when hits would mean runs. He passed eight men, walking Beck three times.

Danny Shea caught Kruger's pop foul in the fourth, and by a fast piece of work doubled Dunleavy at second. It was a splendid piece of work and Shea received a hearty hand.

Teally Raymond made several sensational stops and throws yesterday in clever fashion. The Rabbit is playing a swell game at short.

JEFF WILL NOT HURRY THE FINISH

THE BIG CHAMPION IN AN INTERVIEW THIS MORNING SAYS HE WILL NOT RUSH THINGS AND WILL DEPEND UPON A DECISION SHOULD THE FIGHT GO LIMIT.

(Journal Special Service.)

San Francisco, Aug. 26.—Jim Jeffries will defend his championship title tonight for the ninth time since he won it at Coney Island five years ago. Munroe is the biggest and strongest man he has met, but the champion is confident he will win, and most people agree with him. Jeff said in a statement issued to the public: "I am going to win, but I am not going to hurry. I will accept a victory on a decision just as readily as a knockout. Those who are betting on the number of rounds will receive no consideration. My whole plan is to win in the best and easiest way I can, even if the fight goes the limit."

Munroe, when seen this morning, said: "I must be beaten to a whisper. No decision goes with me. It must be a knockout."

Betting this morning remains unchanged at odds of about 10 to 2½. Most popular form wager is even money that Jeff will win inside of ten rounds or less. Jeff's statement will discourage such betting.

Many orders for tickets have been placed in the last two days. The promoters expect a $30,000 house. The men will enter the ring at 9 o'clock sharp. The result of the contest will be known at 10:20.

The betting on Jeffries and Munroe opened with a rush this morning. The odds, contrary to expectations, remained at 100 to 35. The Jeffries people are, however, still hopeful that the price will be 2 to 1 before night. Munroe slept late this morning, failing to appear for breakfast until 9 o'clock. He ate heartily and after a short rest he shadow boxed in front of his training quarters. Then went out for a short walk. He states that he felt great and showed no traces of anxiety. He will take another walk this afternoon and then rest until the time to start for the city.

FUTURITY EVENT TO BE RUN TOMORROW

(Journal Special Service.)

New York, Aug. 26.—The tried and proved, the very cream of the 2-year-olds of 1904, and they are many, are all in the first great race of the fall campaign on the New York tracks, the richest event of the American turf, and the most talked of race of the year, the Futurity stakes, to be run for tomorrow at the Sheepshead Bay track, as the feature of the opening of the autumn season. Notwithstanding all prophecies of the summer and in spite of the general opinion that Keene, with his splendid colt Sysonby, seems to have the best chance at the big prize, and also in the face of the further common belief that if there is a contest it will be between the Keene and Paget entries, there has been found to oppose the public favorites a field of generous size and one that for class straight through has been excelled by no futurity field of years gone by, the full list of horses named to start for the great prize numbering nearly a score, and giving promise of a struggle in every way worthy of the most valuable event of the American turf and the most popular fixture ever devised for horses 2 years old.

The sum of $61,530 is in sight for the first three horses in tomorrow's big race. This is the largest sum ever offered for a horse race in this country, and probably in the world.
