TO GOVERN SOUTH MANCHURLE

(Journal Special Service.)
Tokio, Sept. 10.—It is generally expected here that General Hasgawa will be appointed governor of southern Manchuria.

Under the auspices of the Oregon Humans society Edwin Cahn will deliver a lecture on "The Violin and Its Great Masters" at Y. M. C. A. hall next Monday evening, September 12. Mr. Cahn was a pupil abroad under the Belgian master, Musan, and others of eminence. He is the American representative of the Belgian's system and has inspired a great deal of attention in New York and other eastern cities. Some of the topics in his lecture will be "Ancestry of the Violin," "Old Italian Masters" and "Violin Construction." The music of the evening will be of unusual merit, Mr. Cahn playing characteristic compositions of the great composers.

"Well, I will have a warrant issued for her, and you may bring her into court next Tuesday, together with such witnesses as you may see fit to get," said Judge Hogue to Garrison.

Special policeman Garrison told Judge Hogue that the actions of the Boyles have been such that they ought to be driven from the city. Both are familiar characters in police circles, and have been in trouble many times. The woman was run out of Seattle two years ago by Chief of Police Sullivan.

In November, 1894, Mrs. Doscher says, she appointed Bishop Edward J. O'Des, now of Scattle, her trustee, and she conveyed to him in trust all that she owned. The bishop, she agre, undertook to raise $15.000 with which to pay off all claims that had accrued against Mrs. Doscher's property, but he, too, it is alleged, was unable to come with the wiles of the alleged conspirators. They contrived, she property that he, too, it is alleged, was unable to come with the wiles of the alleged conspirators. They contrived, she impossible upon the head of their victim.

With consummate cuming and an insension appearance of legal regularity they induced one G. R. W. Arms to revive a formant lawsuit against Mrs. Doscher within the past four days, one of which resulted fatally,

Her efforts to save her homestead from wreck brought only added disasters. Otis H. Ballou and Conrad C. Caples are alleged to have foiled all her efforts to redeem the property, and the latter "bragged to her that his 'crowd had the courts in their pocket." The complaint proceeds:

"That at the time she was ousted from her said home there was insurance thereon of $2,500; that said Caples, Blain. Willis, Grindstaff and their confederates paid the counsel for Arms only $1,920 for whatever rights they acquired; that they destroyed over $3,000 worth of bric-a-brac and furniture of intervener, placed a watchman in the house, and while he occupied the same, on the night of July 24, 1900, the walls thereof were saturated with kerosene and the were saturated with kerosene and the same destroyed by fire," and that the in-surance was then collected by the "con-

But the alleged conspiracy against Mrs. Doscher did not stop even there. Another batch of lawsuits "were hurled into court for the purpose of inflaming financial apprehension against intervenor, augmenting the indebtedness against her property, frustrating her efforts to disentangle the same from litigation, and acquire by stealth, perfidy, fabrication of the court records and other criminal means, property valued at $300,000 for less than $15,000 in actual cash."

The history of these suits occupies a number of pages and bristles with instances of alleged fraud and trickery. To aid in the accomplishment of their designs, it is alleged the defendants formed the Phoenix Land company and the Sterling Land company, both "founded upon usury, fraud, oppression and conspiracy," and these companies, together with the Portland Union Stockyards, are alleged to have been the "instruments and implements of said illegal combination," towit, Mr. Blain and his associates.

New York, Sept. 10.—Developments of the last few days in the political world lead to the belief that Henry W. Taft will be nominated for governor of New York. This action is being taken for the evident purpose of preventing the convention stampeding for Root. It is considered by many that if Taft will accept, he will be nominated.

A letter from Root, which has been shown to political leaders, reads:

"If I should be nominated by unanimous vote of the convention I should be compelled to file my declination with the secretary of state. It would be painful to me to decline such an honor, but I cannot, and shall not, under any circumstances, accept the nomination."

Most of the business of the meeting was transacted in executive session. It was agreed that an effort should be made by the chalrman to have the names of Parker and Davis placed upon the ballot with those of the Democratic presidential electors, so that there may be no danger of confusion or uncertainty in the mind of the votor when he goes to the polls in November. Chairman Sweek said this morning:

"We shall open the campaign in this county about October I, and we have reason to expect that the national committee will send us some strong speakers. Of course that committee is devoting its energies mainly to the doubtful states, but I think some speakers will be sent to this coast. I have arranged with the national committee to send campaign literature to the voters of this state."
