AT THE THEATRES

"Under Two Flags," at the Columbia theatre, is a phenomenal success. The reasons for this are simple and plain.

The story and action of the play form a thrilling and touching ground-work for the members of a very high-grade stock company to exploit to the best advantage. The spectacular and the scenic realisms afford ample opportunity for the energies of the painter, the manipulator of every last mechanical necessity of the production.

"The Burgomaster" opens. Gustav Luders, composer of the great musical comedy, "The Burgomaster," which will be seen at the Marquam Grand theatre tomorrow.
