

FIVE HUNDRED ARE WITHOUT TUITION

Although Contractors Promised Atkinson School for Today It Is Not Ready—Will Take Two Weeks to Finish It.

Over 500 children of this city are still without any building in which to attend school, although the term began over three weeks ago. How long this impasse upon the pupils and the taxpayers will continue is not known. At the Atkinson school, the building is far from being completed. While the contractors faithfully promised to have it ready for occupancy by today, it is stated authoritatively that it will be at least two weeks more before the children will be able to assemble in the old portion of the building and much longer before the new rooms will be ready for occupancy.

While these 500 pupils are being robbed of their schooling the directors are manifesting but little interest in the condition of affairs and the contractors are not exerting any unusual efforts to rush the work on the building. Although a penalty may be imposed upon the contractors for every day beyond the time specified in the contract for completing the building, they apparently have no fear that any attempt will be made to collect it.

BUSINESS JEALOUSY CAUSE OF TRAGEDY

side of the shop. A young fellow was standing at a post in front of George Kislowski's shop; the old man walked up and looked the boy over very carefully, then turned and went up to the shop, leaned his head inside, and quicker than a flash shot twice.
"Before I had time to advance more than a step or two towards the shop, the old man whirled around, put the revolver to his right temple and fired. He fell at full length on the walk, and never quivered after he fell.
"Running into the shop, I saw the wounded man gasping and moaning. He was bleeding profusely, and could hardly speak above a whisper. All I understood him to say was, 'He shot me twice.'
"Victim's Sister Talks.
Mrs. L. Lenor, sister of Mrs. Kislowski, stated that jealousy over business affairs caused the tragedy.
"My brother-in-law told me that nearly every time Gaudron passed by the old man would shake his fist at him," she said. "They both had the same kind of business, and my brother-in-law, being the younger, was able to do more work than Gaudron. This, I think, is the cause of his troubles."

"Mr. Kislowski was highly educated, having attended several of the best universities in Russia. He could write and speak seven languages, being a student of the French, German, Italian and Russian languages. He also knew three other tongues. He had a very large number of friends. I think he came to America about 15 years ago."
"Wife Visits Hospital.
Mrs. Kislowski, who resides at Seventeenth and Irving streets, was not told of the serious nature of her husband's tragedy until several hours after the tragedy.
She at once started to the hospital, but the injured man was on the operating table when she arrived.
The Kislowski has a little daughter about eight years old. The girl has been ill of heart trouble during the past few months and the news of the serious condition of her father was kept from her.
Coroner Finley investigated as soon as the affair was reported. He will not hold an inquest.
Gaudron was 47 years of age. Two years ago his daughter ended her life by suicide. His wife is prostrated. Both he and his victim were born in a French province. Kislowski is 42 years of age. Both men have always been highly respected.

INEBRIATED WOMAN SHOOT'S JOHN TIMM

He Receives Desperate Wound During Quarrel With Ruth Osborne in Third Street Rooming House—Claims He Attacked Her.

John Timm, a tailor, was shot three times by Ruth Osborne this afternoon in the Pleasanton rooming house, at No. 288 1/2 Third street. The wounded man is thought to be fatally injured.
All three shots took effect. One penetrated the right breast and turned upward. Another lodged in the right leg just below the knee, while the third bullet struck him in the right arm.
Timm and the woman have been close companions for many months. They have had frequent quarrels. Both were addicted to liquor and, as is stated, the woman has been drunk.
When seen at her room after the shooting she was intoxicated.
The shooting occurred shortly after 11:30 o'clock. They were together in room 28 and had been quarreling. The landlady stated that she had heard them scuffling about in the room. She heard several shots and telephoned for the police.
After firing the three shots, Ruth Osborne ran out into the hall and meeting another roomer in the building, said: "I've got him in there and I want him to stay. He is trying to kick the door down, but I guess he'll stay for a while now."
The woman was in her nightgown, which was bespattered with blood. She raced about the hall a few minutes, then ran back into the room. Inside things looked as though a storm had blown the place, the bed clothes were tossed about in pellmell order, while the furniture was scattered about.
When Policemen Gotts entered her room she said:
"Oh, get out of here please; I want to put my clothes on."

In her own defense, Ruth Osborne stated that she was in her room talking to another man when Timm rushed into the apartment armed with a large knife. Jumping aside, she seized a revolver and shot in self-defense. She says that Timm has always been insanely jealous of her.
Timm was found by the policeman lying on his back and blood was flowing in a crimson stream from his breast. He was groaning in pain and for a time was unable to speak.
Securing help, the policeman carried him into another room and a surgeon was summoned. It was found that all three shots which the woman had fired had taken effect, but the only serious wound was caused by the bullet which entered the breast. The victim's clothing was powder-burned.
"We had been quarreling," said Timm. "The woman and I have been friends for a long time. We had been much together."
"I am going to die," he exclaimed. "Let me alone, I am going to die. I want to die."
He would give no reason why he wanted to die, neither would he say whether any other man was implicated in the quarrel.
Timm was taken to the Good Samaritan hospital.
The only relative the wounded man has in this city is a daughter named Mrs. Charles Holmes, who resides at Montaville.
E. J. Smith was the man in the room with Ruth Osborne when Timm entered and attacked the woman. To the police Smith corroborated the woman's statement as to the shooting being done in self-defense.

SENATOR DOLLIVER'S VOICE IMPROVING

While Senator Jonathan P. Dolliver of Iowa tarried today in Portland for a rest, he was kept pretty busy. He is a very popular man, and his native ability and good humor attract to him many even among "his friends, the enemy."
His vocal organs were employed most of the day in conversation with Portland citizens who called at the hotel or accompanied him on a visit to the Lewis and Clark fair grounds, where he was taken during the forenoon, under escort of President H. W. Goode. He talked freely, but in a guttural tone. His naturally strong voice is rapidly regaining its strength. He will leave Portland tonight for the east, over the Oregon Railroad & Navigation company's line. "I shall go to Ogden," he said, "and there, rejoin the Fairbanks party. I have taken a very vigorous part in the speech making on the tour, and it must have been apparent to every one within the sound of my voice during the last few days that it was much crippled. The published story attributing my stay here to other causes is wholly untrue. Senator Fairbanks is one of my closest friends. I shall continue with him through the campaign."
Those best informed believe, however, that his resumption of speech-making with the Fairbanks spell-binders will be of short duration, and that after a few speeches made either in Utah or Colorado he will return eastward, possibly to lend his efforts to help carry some of the doubtful states.

MAYOR INTRODUCES NEW BOX ORDINANCE

Mayor Williams will attempt to solve the difficulties encountered in enforcing the box ordinance which has been attacked in the courts by the saloonkeepers and restaurant men. He will introduce a new ordinance which will amend the old ordinance yet which, if passed, will bring about the same results as desired by those who started the movement for the elimination of boxes from all restaurants and resorts in this city.
The proposed ordinance follows:
"An ordinance to amend ordinance No. 14,023, entitled 'An ordinance regulating the sale of liquors, in bar rooms, saloons and restaurants, and prohibiting open booths, stalls and private rooms, alcoves and other rooms or apartments in connection with bar rooms, saloons and restaurants.'
"The city of Portland does ordain as follows: Section 1. That section 1 of ordinance No. 14,023, entitled 'An ordinance regulating the sale of liquors in bar rooms, saloons and restaurants, and prohibiting open booths, stalls and private rooms, alcoves and other rooms or apartments in connection with bar rooms, saloons and restaurants,' be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:
"Section 1. Any person engaged in selling spirituous, malt or fermented liquors or wines in quantities less than one quart in any saloon, bar room or restaurant in the city of Portland shall sell any liquor or wines to be delivered or used in any alcove, booth, box, side room, back room or other apartment, unless such alcove, booth, box, side room, back room or other apartment is open and exposed to public view from the saloon, bar room or restaurant with which it is connected. Nor shall such saloon, bar room or restaurant or any room or apartment connected therewith be used for the purpose of receiving or storing any furniture, excepting chairs and tables and there shall be no lock or other fastening upon the door of said room.
"That section 2 of said ordinance No. 14,023 be and the same is hereby repealed."
"Sec. 2. Any person convicted of violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be punished by a fine of not to exceed $100 or by imprisonment at the city jail not to exceed thirty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court."
"Sec. 3. All ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed."

CAPT. SIMMONS IS LAID TO REST

"Sam dead, buried—no see Sam again; Sam Chinaman's friend."
And so it is. Never in the history of Portland was there an officer who exercised such control over Chinatown as the late Captain of Detectives Samuel Simmons, whose body was laid in the grave at Multnomah cemetery yesterday. Great was the honor paid the veteran, whose best years were spent in the service of the city. The Odd Fellows' lodge and the police department conducted the funeral. Impressive were the ceremonies, bidding in every respect, and testifying to the high esteem in which he was held by all.
Pallbearers were Detectives H. H. Hawley, Joe Day, Daniel Weiner, Frank Snow, John Kerrigan and Clerk Archie Leonard, and honorary pallbearers were selected from the Odd Fellows' lodge. There were many beautiful floral pieces, one in the form of a star. From the police department, led by the uniformed police, marched to the Madison-street bridge. From there the police and members of the Odd Fellows' lodge returned.

DEMOCRATS REST HERE FOR A DAY

A few hours rest in a busy campaign was gained at the Portland hotel today by a party of Democrats from Washington. Senator George Turner, candidate for governor; George Mudgett, candidate for state treasurer; Col. E. D. Larimer, special correspondent for the Spokesman-Review. They were joined here this afternoon by Col. J. J. Anderson of Tacoma, and the entire party went on an electric car to Vancouver, where the big Democratic rally of the campaign there will be held tonight.

OREGON PIONEER DIES SUDDENLY

Aaron Beck, a resident of Oregon since 1854, died at 5 o'clock this morning at the age of 77 years. He came by the way of the isthmus, and after remaining in Salem and other cities for several years finally settled in Portland in 1861. He was one of the most highly respected pioneers in the city.
The cause of death was paralysis. Three years ago, when Mrs. Beck died, the shock was too great for him. He was first stricken then. The malady did not, however, affect him to the extent that he was unable to walk. As late as yesterday he was up and around, and in usual spirits.
Mr. Beck was born in Hirschfeld, Bavaria, July 29, 1837. He came to America as a young man and upon his arrival in Portland opened a clothing store at No. 147 First street, which old-timers will remember. He retired from business with a comfortable fortune in 1896. He was chairman of the building committee of the Temple Beth Israel, and privately manifested a great interest in all charities.
Mr. Beck is survived by nine children, eight grandchildren and one great-grandchild. The funeral will take place at the family residence, No. 75 Seventh street, at 10 a. m. Wednesday.

THREATENS SHERIFF

up next Wednesday, will contend that the gambling acts on which the information is based were repealed by the legislature when it passed the last city charter. According to his contention, the city has complete jurisdiction of all offenses relative to gambling.
The trial of 16 gamblers, arrested at Jack Blaster's first street resort, was held this morning before Justice Reid. Deputy District Attorney Adams appeared for the prosecution and Honorable Davis for the defense. The case was taken under advisement.

WITH HIGH HONORS HOAR IS LAID AWAY

(Journal Special Service.)
Worcester, Mass., Oct. 3.—The funeral services of George Frisbie Hoar began this afternoon with prayers in his late home, 84 Oak avenue. The prayers were conducted by Rev. Gust B. Larimer and were followed by the services of the Church of Unity. A eulogy was pronounced by Rev. Edward Everett Hale. Only members of the family and immediate and close friends of the deceased were present at the Hoar home.
A large delegation of prominent men of Washington and the state were present. The city is draped in mourning.

LEUTENANT BOONE MISSING FROM FORT

The officers at Vancouver barracks are greatly agitated over the mysterious disappearance of Francis M. Boone, second lieutenant in the Nineteenth Infantry, who was last seen on Friday evening on the ferryboat bound for Portland. His comrades have not the slightest idea of the man's whereabouts. While his accounts with the government are in regular order, it is whispered that financial difficulties of another nature had something to do with his sudden departure. It is also reported that the lieutenant recently had some personal trouble at the post.
