The World's Best Fashion and Quality is Represented Here in It's Completeness

We don't always like to be "blowing our own horn," as the slang would have it, but we do want the public to know what we are doing for them—that's business. Our selection of styles, quality, judgment of materials and modesty in prices will be verified by careful shopping about town.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, WHOSE WEALTH IS GROWING MORE RAPIDLY THAN HE CAN ESTIMATE IT, HE TOLD HIS BIBLE CLASS LATELY: "THE POOREST MAN I KNOW IS THE MAN WHO HAS NOTHING BUT MONEY."

WATER LOW IN COWLITZ RIVER

SEVEN HILLS AND LOGGING CAMPS SHUT DOWN BECAUSE TOWBOATS CANNOT OPERATE—GOVERNMENT MAY APPROPRIATE MONEY FOR DREDGING.

According to Captain C. P. Stayton of Kelso, Wash., water in the Cowlitz river is lower than for six years. On account of this condition the shingle mill at that place, which is accredited with being the largest on the Pacific coast, has been shut down.

United States Senator Foster was there on Saturday, said the captain, "and the members of the Merchants' club entertained him. They informed him of conditions and accompanied him on a trip down the river."

TWO BRITISHERS ARRIVE

Hampton and Langdale Beach Port—Former Has Cargo, Latter in Ballast. Two more windjammers arrived in the harbor this afternoon. They are the British ships Hampton and Langdale.

ALONG THE WATERFRONT

Captain George Shaver has returned from the Yukon where he operated a steamboat during the past season. Merrill Brock, new ferry line now in operation alongside of the Morrison-street bridge, is doing a thriving business.

350 cases of beer, 33 casks of pickles, 8 casks of curry powder, 570 cases of olive oil, 17 cases of vinegar, 1 cask of essence coffee, 15 barrels of ginger ale, 45 cases of liquor, 14,000 barrels of cement and a quantity of coke.

Advised received locally state that the British ship Durbridge will leave up from the mouth of the river for Portland tomorrow. She will receive a cargo of lumber at the North Pacific mill for Port Natal.

TO REPAIR DAMAGE

Schooners Irene and Andy Mahony Will Be Taken to Frisco to Be Repaired. While they were badly bruised and battered, the damage done to the schooner Irene and Andy Mahony by the steamer Northland running into them Saturday night can be repaired, it is believed, for less than $1,000.

Passing by the Irene line Northland then ran into the Andy Mahony. The latter was struck on the port quarter and her planking was badly damaged. The stern mooring lines parted, which allowed the vessel to swing in on the beach. The gangway ladder was also broken by the collision.

STEAMER LOSES RUDDER

Republic Is Guided Now by a Cumber-some Afloat. Ripped up with a temporary rudder the Republic is attracting more than ordinary attention along the waterfront.

Among seamen it is known as a "jury rudder." For this reason, it is explained, that it requires the combined strength of 12 men to operate it. After meeting with an accident and losing her rudder on Sunday the craft was hastily provided with the arrangements which now serve to guide her course.

It is an invention of Captain Good and Chief Engineer Hartman, and the statement is made that there was never anything just like it ever seen in local waters. The "jury rudder" affair is worked back and forth by means of pulleys which connect with the pilot house. While it is possible to get good work out of the boat in deep water, it is explained that considerable difficulty is experienced in making landings with her.

ESTIMATE FOR NEW CREMATORY OUTFIT

In the estimate for 1905 the city board of health has made allowance for the repairing of the crematory furnace and the construction of a new one. The estimate of the expenditures is $29,140, of which amount $9,000 goes toward improving the crematory. It met with the favorable consideration of the members of the board.

weather during the entire trip. Tomorrow the tender Heather will leave for a cruise down the coast to look after the aids to navigation and supply the lighthouse stations in the district. It is probable that it will be about two weeks before she returns to the mouth of the river.

OPPOSITION TO MASCOE

New Steamer May Be Placed on Portland and Lewis River Run. Fred Brower of La Center, Wash., is back of a movement to put another steamer on the run between Portland and Lewis river in opposition to the Mascot. Mr. Brower recently sold his farm near La Center and, it is said, is anxious to engage in the steamboat business.

PORTLAND MAY GET LIFE-SAVING OFFICE

Tacoma, Wash., Nov. 1.—If Tacoma would retain the life-saving office, now in the time for her citizens to make their representations. So remarked Capt. John C. Moore, general superintendent of construction of the revenue cutter service, who, with Capt. C. F. Shoemaker, chief of the division, Washington, D. C., are in Tacoma, making a tour of inspection of the sound. They say that Portland will get the life-saving office unless Tacoma acts promptly.
