ROUGE HINDERS GIRL'S PROGRESS

CORPORATION LAWYER WOULD NOT KISS ONE WHO PAINTS, BECAUSE THAT STROGOSAPHERS GAINED MORE FOR HER CORPORATION THAN FOR HER WORK.

There is a steady demand for good stenographers in Portland, and good workers can readily find positions. The corporation lawyer who hires stenographers on the strength of their work and not on their looks had been having a heavy day of it, answering the applicants who responded to his advertisement for a good stenographer. He, being a married man, had his own opinions of the qualifications of a good stenographer.

"That girl who just went out," he said, "is a good stenographer, but there is one objection to her which cannot be overcome."

"Why, what's that?" he was asked.

"Well, you see, she has come from up the country some place. There she worked in a law office and lived with her parents. Her work was good, her recommendations about the same, and I haven't the least doubt in the world but that she is a good stenographer. But it's a strange tale that disqualified her. Up in her home town there were but few women, and certainly enough men to go around. She came to Portland, where it is different. There is a world of pretty women here and a world of eligible men, but they are hard to find if you don't know how. When she entered her first Portland office she did good work, but the fight for this admiration from men, in which all women indulge, told on her, and as her type of plain beauty did not appeal to her as the more attractive sort, she began to be artificial. You noticed the bright red of her cheeks? That wasn't natural. That was rouge. That girl wouldn't work hard enough to risk missing up that artificial complexion, so you see I couldn't employ her."

NEEDLEWORKERS MAKE DISPLAY OF WORK DONE

The Portland branch of the Needlework Guild of America gave a tea yesterday afternoon at Percival's for the year's work was displayed, consisting of new garments to be distributed among the poor of this city. The clothes are distributed among those in absolute need through the aid of the Salvation Army, the poor farm, the Boys and Girls' Aid societies, hospitals and kindred institutions. The officers are Mrs. James S. Reed, president; Mrs. Isabella DeFries, secretary; Miss Anna M. Cremon, treasurer; Mrs. Henry Corbett, honorary president.

ADDRESS BY MOBLEY.

(General Special Service.)

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 2.—The exercises for the celebration of Founder's day at the Pittsburg Carnegie Institute began this afternoon at 2 o'clock. This year the program was of more than usual interest, including as it did an address by John Morley, the English author and statesman. Admission tickets for the event were very much in demand, and the great music hall was crowded to overflowing when the exercises began. Following the exercises there took place the formal opening of the annual international exhibition of pictures in the Carnegie galleries.

CHINA AT FEAST

TWO HUNDRED BANQUETERS OF PORTLAND CELEBRATED THE DEATH OF CHIA LI

They have finished the feast in Chinatown. Some 250 Chinese Chinese partook of the banquet on the anniversary of the death of Chia Li. It was given last night in the elegant Chinese restaurant at Second and Oak streets.

All members of the Chia company in Portland and surrounding towns assembled for it was to celebrate the birth of the founder of the company. It was many centuries ago, so the legend runs, that Chia Li was born. He lived 300 years, and indeed, could have lived eternally, but grew tired of the petty crimes and sins of men and suddenly vanished. They built a grave for him, but no one ever knew whether or not his remains were interred in the sepulchre.

His wives and children mourned for him, not that they comprehended the eternal separation of the grave, but because they remembered the fate that awaited him if he were not buried in the land where he was born. But a great feast was laid on the next anniversary of his death that the spirit might be drawn back to the stricken family, and perceiving their grief might bring the body back to the costly sepulchre that awaited it.

During his life of 300 years he had many wives and the countless number of children that inhabit the earth today are his descendants. All have been taught the story of his disappearance, and it has been their duty to assist in the annual feast that the spirit of the great progenitor may be propitiated.

Each year the banquet is given wherever there are members of the Chia company. In Portland there are something over 200. They met last night and ate and drank until the morning. But there was a note of honor that was most striking. The most dainty viands, the delicacies that the father of all the Chins might eat.

Elaborate preparations had been made for the feast. Unable to secure here the things they most desired, they sent to China weeks ago and their orders were filled in time for the banquet.

Slimy eels, caught by pious Chins in the turbulent waters of the Yang Tze, were sent to Portland. They were prepared in various ways that would tempt the most fastidious Chinese. The eels reached this city alive and here they were killed, skinned and cooked. And at the banquet were pickled duck feet and rooster combs. Many American ducks and geese were served in every conceivable manner.

Then for dessert watermelon seeds were served. For months the seeds had been kept in a dry place in preparation for being served last night. Chia Li was the first to eat them, and the last. No Chinese gin or similar drink was served. The banquet began at 10 o'clock last night. It continued until 5 this morning.

COURT REPRIMANDS LAWYER ST. RAYNER

While arguing his motion to discharge "Babe" Walton, convicted of murderous assault and highway robbery, from custody yesterday before Circuit Judge Cleland, Attorney Henry St. Rayner was virtually reprimanded by the court for making misleading statements.

In an affidavit filed Wednesday Deputy District Attorney Moore stated that Attorney St. Rayner made by objection to the prisoner going to trial on either charge and that in his opening address to the jury he had said Walton's plea was not guilty. St. Rayner filed an affidavit yesterday morning saying the first time he had heard it said in court that Walton's plea was not guilty was when Judge Cleland so announced in his charge to the jury. He added that an exception had been taken by him to this part of the charge.

"That last statement cannot be permitted to go in our affidavit unchallenged," Mr. St. Rayner was Judge Cleland's statement. "You did not object to the court at the time, but merely to the court reporter, in a very low tone."

It was agreed that the statement should be stricken from the affidavit. This was done. Attorney St. Rayner's failure to object was a practical admission that he was in error.

Judge Cleland took the motion under advisement. Both lawyers submitted other affidavits this morning. Mr. Moore secured a number from newspapermen and others to show that Walton's counsel did not object to his client going to trial.

WOMAN'S INTEREST IN CIVIC AFFAIRS

Mrs. Ada Urush addressed the meeting yesterday afternoon of Central W. C. T. U., on "The Responsibilities of Women in the Work of the City." Three points were brought out. First, Women should do what they can toward the enforcement of the laws. Under this head a letter of congratulation was passed and will be sent to Sheriff Word for his brave stand in enforcing the law. Second, she emphasized the need for active measures against the prevalence of the social evil. Third, she urged the necessity of immediate work for prohibition at this fall's election. All present agreed to use their influence for the prohibition interests.

Women will be at the polls on election day. Volunteers for this work will receive assignments at Central street Methodist church Monday afternoon. Volunteers are asked to notify the committee, consisting of Mrs. Harry Stone and Mrs. A. J. Monroe, or Mrs. Ada Urush.

JEWISH WOMEN FOR NEW DOMESTIC GUILD

The Council of Jewish Women received heartily the proposal to organize a domestic guild in the city at the yesterday afternoon by Mrs. W. J. Honeyman, president of the Y. M. C. A. Cooperation was asked also for the Women's Exchange, and Mrs. Baitch, providing over the council, asked for new members and invited attendance at a tea this afternoon.

Mrs. Ben Selling, chairman of the committee on religion, called attention to the opening of the classes for the study of the Apocrypha, November 28, under the direction of Rev. S. S. Wise. Mrs. Gustav Simon read a paper from the absent president, Mrs. S. M. Blumauer. Mrs. E. May read the current events in Jewish life.

CHIEF HUNT WOULD LIKE TO BE MAYOR

DAMAGE SUITS AGAINST SHERIFF

FOOLBROOK OPERATORS ARE STILL AT SEA AND WORD IS IN COMMAND—HE HAS NO FEAR OF DAMAGE PROCEEDINGS AND DOES NOT RECORD AN EXCEL.

While it is rumored that damage suits are to be brought against Sheriff Word by Manager M. G. Nease of the Warwick Commission company, and by the operators arrested a few days ago when the officer raided the Warwick pool room and closed the establishment, none has as yet been filed. Sheriff Word is still as master of the situation and keeps a deputy on guard at the pool room, armed with a rifle.

James Fuller, an old Indian fighter, was placed on guard at the pool room yesterday afternoon, after being sworn in as a deputy. He is armed with a Marlin rifle, loaded to the full capacity of the magazine, one cartridge being kept in the barrel.

But Fuller, there because I need all my regular staff of deputies for other work," said Sheriff Word. "I do not anticipate anything so foolish as a raid on the place, but if one should come over there with a rifle, I would close the pool room."

The pool room men complain bitterly what they term my high-handed action in closing the saloon part of the establishment. They say that saloon keeping is a legitimate business and that the saloon is licensed. This is quite true. I did not close the saloon as a saloon. But it is a salient part of the pool room. I simply closed the establishment, which is a violation of the law, and the saloon was closed merely as a salient feature of the establishment.

"Moreover, I want to say right here, that if 48 pool rooms open in this city, I will order them all and put a deputy on guard in each. I have no fear at all of damage suits. They can bring as many as they wish. Public sentiment in this city, outside of those directly and indirectly interested in gambling, is opposed to it, and therefore to pool rooms, which are gambling places of the worst kind. I don't believe a jury can be impeached that would be a unit for assessing damages. If these people think differently, let them bring their suits.

"One thing is sure, unless it is decreed by the courts that I have no right to stop a pool room from running and I am ordered to let them operate unhindered in the future, I will keep them closed. If I should see fit to take my deputy out of the Warwick and they open a pool room again, I will close the place again and put another deputy in charge."

Attorney John M. Gearis, who, with Judge Watson, has represented the pool room men, said this morning that he did not represent them so far as damage suits are concerned. Up to date, he said, he had acted in an advisory capacity, excepting in the habeas corpus proceedings by which the arrested men regained their liberty.

The sheriff announces that he will endeavor to file complaints in the justice court. This action, he asserts, is necessary on account of the stand taken by District Attorney Manning. Mr. Word says that contrary to Mr. Manning's explanation of his attitude, the district attorney has on several occasions been asked to file informations and has not done so.

CHARLES H. HUNT

would receive at least a fair majority. He is regarded as a most formidable figure in the coming campaign.

With becoming modesty Mr. Hunt declines to make a statement for publication in The Journal regarding his ambition, but it is known that the chief would not frown down his friends should they attempt to launch a boom in his behalf. It is very early in the game now, but some others have been quietly discussing their chances with their intimate friends, and it is not strange, therefore, that this aspirant should also do a little talking among his associates.

Mr. Hunt has been a public official for 11 years, and his experience in matters relating to municipal administration has been extensive. He was appointed to his present position by Mayor Williams, although many other able men were strongly recommended. He took the oath of office January 27, 1903. Since then he has directed the police department. His friends claim that never in the history of the city has the peace branch of the city been so well regulated, or the quiet of Portland so unbroken.

Mr. Hunt has introduced many reforms into the police department, his friends say, bringing it up to a high standard. They believe him the proper man to head the city government, and, therefore, will launch a boom in due season.

TO RUN FOR MAYOR ON DEMOCRATIC TICKET

The current issue of the Tradegman and Commercial Record announced that in the event Mayor George H. Williams does not become a candidate for re-election, which is scarcely likely, because of his advanced years—W. B. Glafke will announce himself for that office on the Democratic ticket. The Record continues: "Mr. Glafke appears to fill all the requirements of an ideal city executive. He is a heavy taxpayer and has long been identified with the commercial development of the city. Moreover, he is progressive and enterprising, has faith in the future of the city, and is always ready to put his shoulder to the wheel and do more than his share to help make things move. In short, Mr. Glafke is admirably fitted for the office of mayor. He is exactly the kind of a man that Portland, just entering upon a new era of development, needs at the helm of government."

SEEKING TO BETTER THE WORKING GIRLS

Extension work, by the visiting of factories, laundries and other places where large numbers of girls are employed, was the theme of a talk by Harriet S. Vance, secretary of the Young Women's Christian association, at a meeting of the First Congregational church Ladies' Aid society yesterday afternoon.

Attendance numbers were given by Miss Elsie Garrett, Mrs. Warren E. Thomas and Miss Cornelia Hays. The program, which was arranged by Mrs. J. C. Hare, concluded with tea, at which the hostesses were Mrs. Harold Rice, Mrs. George H. Himes, Mrs. Frederick Egger, Mrs. J. P. Eckler, Mrs. M. F. Henderson, Mrs. B. W. Gage, Mrs. C. W. Hodson, Mrs. H. J. Jackson and Mrs. L. S. Durham.

WARRING ATTORNEYS CONTINUE THE FIGHT

The law firm of Dillard & Day, through Attorney J. C. Moreland, its counsel, filed a motion in the circuit court yesterday to strike out certain parts of the reply made by Attorneys John Dittburn and John F. Waite to their answer to the suit to collect a fee from Michael Plarier. Argument on the motion took place this morning, Albert B. Ferrera representing the plaintiffs.

It was alleged by Attorneys Waite and Dittburn that Dillard & Day were hired by Plarier for the purpose of paying $1,000 to the parents of little Mike Robinson of St. Helens, in order to secure their consent to an outrageous and indecent marriage. It is proved that this is struck out as well as the statement that Attorneys Waite and Dittburn "are men of great ability and reputation at the bar. The said Dillard & Day are taken as the standard of ability and reputation."

Winter Rates to Yaquina Bay.

The Southern Pacific Co. will sell, on Wednesday and Saturdays of each week, until March 31, 1921, low rate round trip tickets to Yaquina, limited to 60 days from date of sale. The sale of these excursion tickets during the winter months is a new departure and has been brought about through the desire of our local sportsmen to enjoy the exceptionally fine fishing and fishing privileges of that section.

TEACHERS ARE SCARCE IN EASTERN OREGON

"We've got a plenty of everything up in our county this year except school teachers," said P. A. Flak of Perry, who is in Portland for a few days. "I don't know where all the girls who used to teach school all this year, but I believe they have come to Portland, although I am not down here looking for them. A number of schools are on schedule time this fall for the reason that they had no teacher. Heretofore teachers have not been so scarce and I cannot account for it."

The explanation is that a condition prevails throughout eastern Oregon. School directors in all the districts that I have heard from had difficulty in securing teachers. The result is that a number of teachers from western states have been imported into the country.

"I don't know what causes this sudden scarcity in the supply of teachers in eastern Oregon. We pay good wages up there, on a general average more than is paid in the western states. For country districts receive as high as $50 per month, and this is the scale paid generally over the section. But there are a number of girls attending the state normal schools who would otherwise be teaching. They train themselves in this way and secure positions in the city schools and we, in the country districts, are left without any one to instruct our children. Unless the supply teaching force is increased, we will all have to move to the cities to educate our children."

Mr. Flak says that the Grand Ronde valley is very prosperous this fall, although the wheat crop was not up to the general average. But in every other line of industry there is plenty doing.

LOGICAL REASONING SECURES HIM CHANCE

"If the chief can let 15 drunken men go in a single morning, your honor, I figure you might let only me go."

And after hearing such a bright remark so filled with clear reason, Municipal Judge Hogue released Jim Casey, who was before him charged with being drunk.

Casey was once foremost among American inventors. He claims that he made the great Westinghouse air brake, now in use on every large railroad in the world. He did not realize his invention was worth millions, and sold his right for a paltry sum. He spent his money for whisky, and in court said:

"Judge, I don't want to go to jail. I tell you why: I despise a jail, although I have actually spent seven out of my last dollar on whisky."

Cannot Rest

Your appetite is gone. What little you eat irritates you. Strength is failing—ache, pains. You have headache, backache, feel blue and melancholy—cannot rest or sleep. The fact is you nerves are unstrung, and you are on the verge of nervous prostration. They must be strengthened, renewed, they will not cure themselves, but must have a nerve remedy. This you will find in

Dr. Miles' Nervine

It is prepared for just such ailments, and is a never-failing remedy, because it soothes, feeds and builds the nerves back to health.

If allowed to continue, stomach, kidney and liver troubles will soon be added to your already overworn measures of misery.

I suffered from nervous prostration. When I began taking Dr. Miles' Nervine I could not hold anything in my hands, nor get from one room to another. Now I do all my own work.—MRS. CHAS. LANDRUM, Carthage, Mo.

Nervine seldom fails to do all we claim for it, and so we authorize druggists to refund money for first bottle does not benefit.

DIVORCE IS AWARDED MRS. AUGUSTA DOLPH

Mrs. Augusta Armstrong Dolph was granted a divorce from Chester V. Dolph of this city yesterday by Circuit Judge William Galloway of Salem. Desolation was the ground of suit. The decree awards Mrs. Dolph a life estate in a two thirds interest in Dolph's realty. Mrs. Dolph is also to receive $100 a month alimony; but this is to be paid in cash only when the net proceeds from one half the property interests assigned her do not amount to that amount. In any event Dolph is to pay only the deficiency. He is also required to make regular payments on insurance policies in which his former wife and three children are named as beneficiaries. Mrs. Dolph has the custody of the children. The Dolphs were married at Victoria, B. C., in 1893.
