HIGH SCHOOL DOWNS MILITARY ELEVEN

Clever Line Plunging of Goddell and Oberbauer Responsible for Two Scores.

HILL OUTWEIGHED BY HIGH SCHOOL ELEVEN

Beauty of Game Marred by Disputes and Presence of Spectators on Field.

The high school football eleven outclassed and outplayed the Hill Military academy team yesterday afternoon by two touchdowns on Multnomah gridiron. Hill showed up in good form in the first half, advancing the ball by steady plunges and an end run by McCoy for 76 yards before the high school boys took the ball on downs. Afterwards the cadets could not make any consistent gains against their heavier opponents. High school started the second half with a rush and completely swept the cadets off their feet. The cadets tackled wildly and seemed to be up on ladders every time they attempted to down a runner. By steady strides through the Hill line outside of tackle and straight through center Oberbauer and Goddell advanced the ball for a touchdown, the former carrying the oval across the line. Before the touchdown Hill showed a spurt of good playing by advancing the pigskin 23 yards outside of Holcomb, Mays carrying the ball, but after making a splendid game in the same place the cadets fumbled and high school rescued the ball on Hill's 45 yard mark, from where they carried it for a tally. Ten minutes later high school again crossed the goal line after a pretty display of line bucking, Goddell making the score. Both goals were kicked.

The feature of the match was the presence of the crowd on the field, which really made running impossible, and the continual wrangling when penalties were inflicted. In the first half high school was penalized twice for offside plays, and in the second half once for holding in the line, Hill suffering a loss of 5 yards for an offside play at the close of the contest. The sooner that the local academic eleven can play a football match without disputing every decision and dispense with the over zealous partisans on the field, the better it will be for the sport and the more it will be appreciated by the spectators. Of course, in the heat of a scrimmage with victory or defeat close at hand, a player may say things that he would regret afterwards, but the discipline of football should be impressed upon the young men early in their career if they ever hope to shine at college.

For the benefit of the football players of Portland the following distance penalties are published:
A side loss five yards for—
Catching or infringing of any part of rule 27 (f).
Delay of game.
Interference with putting the ball in play.
Off side in the scrimmage.
Starting before the ball is put in play in the scrimmage.
Violation of scrimmage rule as specified in rule 18 (b).
Snapper-back off-side the second time in the same down.
Passing or batting the ball forward.
Unsportsmanlike conduct.
Holding by defensive side of the player not carrying the ball.
Snapper-back or man opposite touch-

Your doctor says you must take cod liver oil. Probably he means Scott's Emulsion because you cannot take the clear oil; no one can take the clear oil who needs cod liver oil. The doctor understands that and doubtless means Scott's Emulsion of cod liver oil which everybody can take because it is emulsified and prepared so that it can be very easily digested by the most sensitive stomach. Hopper is presiding judge and Richard Dwyer will do the starting.

YANGER BEATS McNAMARA

M'CARTHY AND GREEN TO BOX AT SPOKANE

Washington Sports Are Evinced Great Interest in Coming Boxing Contest.

(Journal Special Service.)
Spokane, Nov. 11.—Interest runs high in the McCarthy-Green boxing contest, which will take place at the Auditorium November 21. This is especially noticeable among the members of the Spokane Athletic club, a large crowd of them watching Green work out every afternoon at the club gymnasium. Green's work is a surprise to many of his observers, and Mark Shaughnessy, who is training him in his gym, has a hard time to keep up with the fast work of his protegee. When he is not working out with Shaughnessy, he is working at the punching bag or skipping the rope. The morning program includes a cross country trot of about nine miles. Jerry McCarthy has arrived from Butte and is in training here. McCarthy can enter the ring easily at 144 or 145 pounds, and in order to bring it down to 141, the weight at which the men are billed to box, he will have to put in a week of hard work.

EVERETT STUDENTS PLAYING MARBLES

High School Boys Resent Interference in Football by Resorting to Marble Playing.

(Journal Special Service.)
Everett, Wash., Nov. 12.—As the outcome of the fight between faculty and students of the high school, Everett boys are playing marbles instead of football, and are making the sport as noticeable as possible, in order to humiliate those who interdicted football. Superintendent St. John says if the boys will live up to regulations he will offer no objections to football, but he cares little about the marbles attack, and is not the least humiliated thereby.

THE THOMAS STABLE TO BE SOLD TODAY

(Journal Special Service.)
New York, Nov. 12.—Horsemen flocked to the Aqueduct track today to attend the dispersal sale of the stable of race horses belonging to E. R. Thomas. The horses to go on the block include all those that raced for the partnership between Messrs. Thomas and Shields, except the 6-year-old horse Harma and the 8-year-old colt Stalwart, which Mr. Thomas will keep as his own property for breeding purposes. The sale terminates the partnership between Mr. Thomas and Alex Shields, but under arrangements made, Trainer Shields will continue to handle the Thomas stable, which the owner intends to strengthen by purchasing desirable horses through the winter and in the spring.

ALBANY COLLEGIANS SORE AT CORVALLIS

(Journal Special Service.)
Albany, Or., Nov. 12.—The recent discussion in the Portland papers regarding the peculiar actions of the Agricultural college team from Corvallis has naturally attracted some attention here, owing to the fact that this city is near Corvallis, and that the team from Albany college was unable to secure a game with Corvallis this fall, after defeating the Agricis two years in "succession." Early last fall, when the team here was first organized, Manager Stewart tried to book a game with Corvallis, but he was put-off on one pretext or another. Finally Captain Griffith and Underwood, both members of the team, drove to Corvallis and saw Manager Pinkington of the Farmers' team, in reference to securing a date. But no satisfaction was secured at that time, nor was the local organization able to secure a date since that time. Mr. Underwood, in discussing the matter with the correspondent of The Journal last evening, stated that he himself had talked with Pinkington at that time and had met with failure. The report from Corvallis in one of the Portland papers last Tuesday stated that at no time had Albany asked for a game with Corvallis. This is certainly untrue, and it is a dark spot on the escutcheon of the Agricultural college which allows the representative of its big athletic organization to use such means in trying to square its unwarranted action. But worse is charged against the Corvallis people. Mr. Underwood claims that he himself has seen a letter from the manager of the Corvallis team to the manager of the university of Oregon team urging the latter not to give Albany a date this year.

RILEY GRANNAN AND HIS FAMOUS BOOK

Riley Grannan has made a good deal of turf history in his time, but there is one tale of his many doings that has not been printed. It occurred in the early days of Riley's career when he was booking for W. E. Applegate. There was a five-furlong dash on the card, and a horse by the name of Jim Gray was a very fast horse, but somewhat of a had actor. That made Grannan let out a link, and he boosted the price a bit. When they went to the post he laid a book, and it is a dark spot on the escutcheon of the Corvallis team that Riley was acting bad he laid even money. The race was at Little Rock, and Riley asked one of the natives: "Is Jim Gray a good horse?" "Can run five furlongs in a minute," was the answer. Grannan rubbed the figures out on his slate and then chalked up 6 to 5 against the horse to win 6 to 5 a place and 6 to 5 to show. He had his fellow bookmakers gasping, as they could not figure out what Grannan was driving at. The flag dropped and Jim Gray was left at the post, and then it dawned on the bookmakers what Riley had been doing. As soon as he found out that he was in bad laying against the horse that ought to have won sure, but might not get off, he just laid 6 to 5 that he would not get off. Those that were at the meeting say that the natives never got over that book, and at every meeting held at Little Rock some bewildered individual would bob up with the tale of Riley Grannan's wonderful book.

GREATEST PLAYER WAS KING KELLY

Ten years ago last Thursday Michael J. Kelly died in Boston, Mass. A decade has not produced the equal of "King Kelly." Great base runners, great catchers, great batters, great "inside" players, tricky players, emergency players, great coaches have come, but in no one man has there been combined the qualities of greatness on the ball field that belonged to the king pin of the diamond—the incomparable Mike Kelly. No man has earned the great national popularity among sport lovers that Kelly attained. There are several times as many baseball enthusiasts today as there were in Kelly's time, and local baseball goods exist in many cities. Boston has turned out several players who have reached the degree of popularity attained on ball fields outside of his own city. Kelly was everywhere a drawing card, "mark" for the fans. The serious devotees of the game cheered him, the sarcastic brigades in the bleachers joshed him, merely to hear his witty replies, and everybody liked to see him play ball. Collins, Young, Jones and others have made warm friends, who admire these men for their quiet earnestness and devotion to the success of the team, and for their skill, but they lack the vivacity and daring possessed by "King Kelly." They have no witty sallies in stock with which to reply to the bleachers—Jones and Chebro and Kling have proved resourceful during the thick of a game when a quick idea has turned the tide of victory, but none of them is more so than was Kelly, who originated many of the fine points in the professional game that are now a part of the regular play. Kelly, too, was a great fellow of the diamond and popular with the players, managers and magnates. He was generous and a spendthrift. He had a great weakness that was more or less accountable for his success, and that was his love of a good turn, for his example in this particular became a warning to other brilliant ball players, and drinking among professionals of the diamond has declined to a minimum.

AUSTIN SAYS JEFF SHOULD FIGHT JACK

Boxing Authority Claims Champion Has No Excuse for Not Fighting Johnson.

Jim Jeffries' lament over not being able to find an opponent worthy of consideration would be silenced in short order, if he would sidestep his prejudices and agree to fight a black man, says Sam Austin. Jack Johnson, the big negro heavyweight, whipped Demos Ed Martin again the other night, and in a manner which qualified him for a battle with Jeff, and he and his friends immediately started a campaign which it is believed will ultimately lead to a championship fight. In the bout with Martin, Johnson won by the knockout route in two rounds. The end came from a punch on the jaw with the right hand, which was so heavy and so fast that it was nearly 10 minutes before the referee could get the fight over. Johnson was a stiff one that the police came alarmed and held Johnson until Martin recovered.

COLORED MAN WILL INSIST ON CONTEST

Recent Splendid Showing Challenger Makes Him Appear as Most Formidable Man.

There was nothing in the mill except Johnson. In the first round, Martin was knocked out by several ineffectual leads, and Johnson poked him on the nose. When the second round started, Johnson was very groggy, and after receiving a couple of hard punches in the stomach, Martin was easy.
