Alley was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary this morning at 10 o'clock for manslaughter, the jury having returned a verdict of guilty yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Alley stabbed John N. Howard to death during a fight over the possession of a lamp and some household effects October 19. The two men had been engaged in logging on Fall Creek, 20 miles east of Eugene, occupying the same cabin.

Alley has a wife and several children in Eugene. The young man who was killed by a freight train at Goshen Wednesday night has been identified. His name was Leonard and his home was at Bloomfield, Ill., where the parents reside. The young man had two companions. They were traveling through the country together beating their way on the trains to California, where they hoped to get work. They were all in Eugene Wednesday expecting to catch the train that evening. Leonard alone succeeded in boarding it. His friends took the next train and did not learn of their companion's fate until the next day. They returned to Eugene and told the authorities where to address his parents. They say that the young man was not a professional tramp but that he was out of money and looking for work.

La Grande, Or., Nov. 12.—The Union county court attended to the matter of adjusting the assessments of the railroad company's property in Union county this week. The company's side was represented by J. W. Morrow, tax agent. The final adjustment by the county court placed the valuation at $5,500 a mile, which is the same as the other counties with the exception of Umatilla county. Assessor Morton made the assessment $8,000 a mile. Last year the Elgin branch was assessed at only $2,500 a mile. In the outcome the total assessment is $48,000 more than last year's.

Hood River, Or., Nov. 12.—The fire and water committee of the city council met at the board of health's meeting of the city council to purchase a double 35-gallon chemical fire engine. The engine will cost $1,100. A movement has already been started to organize a volunteer fire department.

Faithful Dog's Death Watch. From the London Express. It was a dog's bark which drew the attention of a gentleman to the dead body of Duncan Davis, farmer, Woodhall, Dumfriesshire, yesterday. Mr. Davis had gone out with the animal to look over his stock, and while doing so he was taken ill and died, with only the faithful dog as witness. The dog guarded the dead body of his master for hours.

Playing No Favorites. "But," urged the man who was trying to collect funds for the campaign, "don't you care which party wins at this election?" "No," said the trust magnate. "Not a cent. I have enemies in both of them."

Woman of the House—You're not one of these labor agitators, are you? Goodman Gonrong (with his mouth full of pie)—No, ma'am. I'm a real agitator.

Impassioned argument was presented before Presiding Judge George in the circuit court this morning for and against the petition that temporary injunction issue preventing Sheriff Word from longer holding possession of the poolroom and saloon conducted at 121 Fourth street by the Warwick Commission company. An attorney John M. Gearin spoke for M. G. Nease, manager of the establishment, while Sheriff Word was represented by Attorney Henry E. McGinn.

Quoting court decisions and referring to the section of the codes governing gambling, No. 1944, he declared that poolrooms do not come under the head of a house, but that the business has been so held. He laid great stress on a Minnesota case, in which the supreme court of that state held that suit and arrest had been made on improper grounds.

Considerable time was devoted to attempting to show that an equity court is warranted in taking action at this time where no plain or adequate remedy is afforded at law, or that the complaint will be destroyed before the suit is set aside.

Sheriff Word's answer, in which he gave his reason for holding the property the Nease will again break the law if permitted to reopen, was vigorously attacked.

Judge McGinn declared that the sheriff did not purport to act on technicalities, but would squarely face the issue. He asserted that poolroom gambling is the worst form known, and gave a long list of decisions to show that the courts have held gambling exists whenever money is risked on the element of chance. His contention was that poolrooms are covered by the phrase "gambling by any other device" used in section 1944.

As regards the Minnesota decision, he maintained that it had been repudiated by the better class of decisions following. Even the Minnesota court, he added, had been obliged to admit that the arrest had been made under a wrong section, and that the poolroom could have been declared a common gaming-house, and as such a common gaming-house, and as such a common gaming-house, and as such a common gaming-house.

This afternoon Judge McGinn will conduct his argument and endeavor to show that the sheriff acted within his authority in closing the poolroom and keeping it closed. Senator Simon may also argue in behalf of Nease.

IT IS NATURAL

THAT any progressive Dentist who has the science interest in heart will surround himself with all modern dental appliances. In introducing our new appliance for getting perfect plates we know positively—and can prove—that it is one of the greatest inventions of the age. Never before has such a device been used tending to perfect fitting plates.

We are the exclusive owners of this wonderful appliance and have aroused the jealousy of competition. Slanderous, defaming and disparaging articles have appeared over the name of our anxious competitors. We sincerely trust the public will investigate our new method and brand the defamer as a "moss-back"—one whose chief interest is in your purse and not your mouth.

We shall pay no more attention to the "knockers," but go on demonstrating that the new appliance for fitting teeth is all that we claim.
