Multnomah Prohibition alliance announces two important subjects to be discussed at temorrow evening's meeting to be held at the residence of Mrs. A. W. Unruh, $50 East Yamhill street. The first discussion will be upon the question: "Is the set-back in Gilliam and Yamhill counties due to any fault on the part of local optionists in filing, or is the law being held up with the connivance of unfriendly officials on technicalities?" Another question to be taken up for discussion is: "In view of the alarming increase in child drunks, directly brought about by unlawful sales made by perjured saloonkeepers, is it not about time to cease foolish talk regarding the unfairness of the local option law?"

Mayor Williams does not propose to be in a hurry. We're different from his honor. When we do anything it is with a leap and a bound. We haven't the patience to wait. When we found that there was better laundry machinery than we had, we did not rest till we had placed an order for it. That's why our laundry is always at the front of the procession. That's why we never lag in anything we do. You try the Union once and we'll warrant you'll never leave us. Union laundry, Second and Columbia. Tel. Main 338,

E. S. Herrington, an inventor who came here recently from Payette, Ida., claims to have been drugged and robbed in a ledging house on Third street a few days ago. He says a man invited him to his room and got him to take a glass of lemonade. When he awoke his money was gone, and when he made a complaint an officer was called. The latter, Herrington says, threw him into jail for drunkenness, but released him the next morning without a trial.

An annex to the Patton home, in Upper Albina, is contemplated by the management. This improvement has long been considered, but no funds were available until Mrs. Henry Weinhard's gift of $1,000 was received; other funds will be secured. The home has now 22 inmates, 17 of whom are women. Other applications are pending, but until additional room has been secured no more persons can be taken in.

The Milwaukie municipal election contest is now raging fiercely in that village. There are two candidates for mayor. # BLAZIER CASE IS BEFORE GRAND JURY

Remarkable Story Told by Gambler's Attorney in Explanation of Charges Against Him

Fraser made against Eugène Blazier was taken up by the grand jury this bling cases, and as soon as all the wit-nesses subpoensed have been heard a re-port will be made to the court. It is very probable that this report will be made late this afternoon or early tomorrow morning.

made late this afternoon or early tomorrow morning.

Attorney S. C. Spencer was before the grand jury this morning on behalf of his client, Mr. Blazier, and attempted to show to the grand jury that. It was through an order of Mayor Williams that Blazier pleaded guilty to the charge of conducting a gambling house on March 1, 1994, although he was not at the time owner of the business or connected with it in any way.

He said that-some time prior to the date when Blazier testified to having sold this property Mayor Williams issued an order that no outside gamblers should be allowed to conduct games in Portland. Consequently, urged Mr.
Spencer, if Blazier let it become known officially that he had sold his gambling business to Ed. Heiller the house would be closed at once under the orders of the mayor, and to avoid this Blazier appeared in the courts and pleaded guilty for the purpose of paying the fines only.

Several witnesses, including police officers and city authorities, were summoned before the grand jury this morning, but Blazier himself did not put in an appearance, and it is understood that he will not.

The members of the jury expect the mayor or some of the other city officials to bring the Tanner creek sewer scandal up before them tomorrow or next day, although no official notice to this effect has been received.

MANY ADDITIONS TO SWEDISH CHURCH

Rev. John Ovall, the presiding elder of the Swedish District Methodist Episcopal church, has been in the city a few days looking after the interest of the religious work among his country people. He conducted services at the Swedish Methodist church, Albins, yesterday, where he presched to large and appreciative congregations. In the evening sacramental services were held. The Swedish people are coming to this western country by the thousands, and Mr. Ovall is very confident of a great future for the church he represents.

WORK DONE UNDER EYE OF THE CITY ENGINEER

Property Owners Refuse to Pay for the Work and Their Protest Heeded.

Protest Heeded.

For the fourth time the wooden block pavement on Salmon street, between Fourth and Fifth, is being torn up and relaid. City Engineer Elliott is personally superintending the work, and says when the street is repaired there will be no bulging of the blocks.

He says that he will lay them very close together in the manner in which he ordered Millor & Bauer, the contractors, to lay them in the first place. He says if the contractors had followed the specifications there would have been no trouble with the street. The work is being done entirely by the men of the city engineer's department. This wood block pavement has been the source of much trouble to the contractors and the city engineer's office since it was laid three months ago. Soon after the work was completed the blocks bulged very bedly. Contractor Miller stated that it was due to the fast that City Engineer Elliott had ordered him to lay the blocks too closely together. The contractors took up the pavement and relaid it, but it bulged again. They relaid it the third time, and the blocks bulged worse than ever during the recent storm.

The property-owners raised a protest against paying for the improvement. When the matter was brought before the street committee the contractors stated that they had laid the blocks according to instructions from the city engineer's office, and that they were not to blame for the condition of the streets. The city engineer stated that if the blocks had been laid properly they would not have bulged. The committee came to the conclusion that the contractors had followed instructions, and that the fault lay with the city engineer. The work was accepted, and Councliman Rumelin introduced a resolution before the council for the improvement of the street where necessary at a cost not to exceed 40 cents a square yard. The cost of repairs was to be taken from the street repair fund. This proposition was looked upon with disfavor by the city executive board.

WARRANT OUT FOR BRUTAL HUSBAND

Declaring that if the facts related

Declaring that if the facts related to him by Mrs. Caroline Johnson of St. Johns are true, her husband, John T. Johnson, should be behind penitentiary bars. District Attorney John Manning went personally before Justice William Reid late Saturday evening and laid a complaint charging Johnson with threats against life.

From the statement of Mrs. Johnson it appears that while her husband is merely charged with threatening to kill her with a revolver, he has been guilty of brutal conduct toward-her and their little children, two of whom are girls.

Mrs. Johnson asserts that when she expostulated with her husband about his conduct he abused her and threatened to take her life. A warrant was issued this morning by Justice Reid and sent to St. Johns for service.

"This man has been in trouble before," said District Attorney Manping this morning, "and I am going to see that he is properly punished this time. Not half of what his wife accuses him can be printed."

Jefferson in "Rip Van Winkie."

Tonight and tomorrow night at the Marquam Grand theatre. Thomas Jefferson will appear in his delightful portrayal of the lovable old vagabond. Rip Van Winkie. Mr. Jefferson gives excellent satisfaction wherever he appears. His supporting company this season is said to be an excellent one, and Washington Irving's fascinating play will be given in true Jeffersonian style. The names of Jefferson and Rip Van Winkie have been before the public many years and the American people have come to love them both. The weird experiences of Rip in the mountains and the communion he holds with the gobilins that are supposed to hold high revel amid their peaks, put the character of Rip on a sort of supernatural pinnacle, and it is a sort of supernatural pinnacle, and we do more practical mortals.

Another Grand Week.

This afternoon marks the commencement of the second week of the career of the Grand, positively the greatest amusement enterprise on the Pacific coast. The new bill which is offered this week is in every respect equal and in many superior to that of last week. It includes the Empire trio, of which everybody has heard on account of its marked triumphs in New York; Rawies and Von Kauffman, the "mush" fellows of infinite jest, and eight other acts, all of which are up to the Grand's high standard. "To see the best in the land you must patronize the Grand." This afternoon marks the comm

Fun will be found in abundance at the Baker this week, as the bill is a great one. The management announces for this week's bill the world-famous European novelties, the Onrifamily, five in number, who defy the entire world to produce their equal or to even imitate. Other leaders are Young and Brooks, musical artists; Leande brothers, marvelous acrobats and statuary pictures; Earl and Trainor, clever comedians; Kobers, sensational clever comedians; Kobers, sensational trapese artists; Mulen, the fun maker, and the biograph in the latest moving

Read the Answer at the Star.

Unprecedent in many ways is the program which opened at the Star theatre this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Two acts alone of the new program contain ten performers—the six Austrian girls, and the Mogart comedy four. A carload of special scenery is carried by the six musicians, singers and dancers, who come from the Colliseum at Vienna, and their presence at the Star is a fitting answer to the question so often asked, "What is S. Morton Cohn doing in the east?"

The Arcade's Trained Birds.

Rare and beautiful birds from Australia will strut the stage of the Arcade theatre this week. The new program which opened at this popular family playhouse at 3. o'clock this afternoon, has for its feature act the marvelous fire scene participated in by twenty of these trained members of the parrot family. The birds rescue comrades from a blasing house, climb ladders, and finally turn a real hose on the fire, extinguishing it as rapidly as any fire company could.

The Lyric's Big Attractions.

The management of the Lyric an-nounces many grand features this week. The bill is headed by Ethel Whiteside and her bunch of pickaninnies, direct from the Orpheum circuit; Maud and from the Orpheum circuit; Maud and Anna Kramer, the sweet soubrettes; the juggling Burks, the greatest in their line in the world; Raymond and Tracy, sketch artists; John W. Wood, singing and moving pictures; the vitascope will, of course, be there with something good to help along the program.

"The Devil's Auction."

"The Devil's Auction" will be the attraction at the Marquam Grand theatre next Wednesday and Thursday nights. New ballets, new scenery, music and specialties should make this season's production of Charles H. Yale's everlasting. always to be remembered, never forgot ten, never excelled, always welcome "Devil's Auction" a memorable one eats are now selling.

New at the Bijou Today.

The big musical bill of the Bijou opens this afternoon. Musical Thor is a sure this afternoon. Musical Thor is a sure attraction. The Aubrey sisters present a musical sketch that's simply "a peach"—excuse the slang; McNamee, the mud-modeler, Harry Steel the "skatorial" man, Walker and Labill, and the others are all bright, entertaining acts.

Fast Voyage, Considering the Storms, of the Big Liner From Yokohama.

OUTGOING CARGO WILL BE EASTERN FREIGHT

Steamer Elleric, Which Sailed Week Before Sister Ship Not Yet Reported.

After a passage of 17 days from Yoko-ans, the oriental liner Numantia ached Astoria this morning at 8 clock. The steamer is bringing a full rgo of far eastern products, and is pected to reach Portland late this af-

Although she sailed a week earlier than the Numantia, the steamship Elleric, under charter to the same company to load at Portland for China and Japan, has not been heard from. However, she sailed from Moji, which is two days' run to Yokohama, but by making anything like an average passage she should have arrived four or five days ago. She is coming in ballast, and for that reason it is held that the Russians would have no object in capturing her. It is believed that she has been delayed by bad weather and will arrive soon.

Nearly all of the Elleric's outward cargo will consist of eastern freight. The indications now are that there will be but very little flour shipped direct from Portland to the orient during the month of December. The principal shipments that are made in that line will go by way of Puget sound. The Ellamy may take out a flour cargo, but no one here appears to know very much about her, or why she is headed in this direction.

giving Was Saturday.

When the steamer Altona pulled into her dock at the foot of Taylor street from Lewis river Saturday afternoon she had on board a couple of dogs, which had been enjoying a little outing during the past few days. The dogs are Irish setters, belonging to Dr. H. McKay of this city. Every Saturday he has been taking them down to Lewis river on the steamer Altons to enjoy a few hours hunt. While making these trips the dogs always occupied a berth in the engine room near the furnace, where the temperature appeared to be to their liking. They knew whon Saturday rolled around just as well as the fellow who publishes the almanac, and they always went to the dock bright and early that day to walt for the boat.

But there came a time when they made a mistake in their calculations. On Thanksgiving day they went to the dock and impatiently trotted up and down the slip until the boat put in an appearance. When the craft came alongside the wogs sprang aboard and went into the engine room, where they remained until it was time for the vessel to start on the return trip. The officers saw the animals, but did not come, and the crew forgot all about the dogs until they were far down below the steel bridge.

dogs until they were far down below the steel bridge.

The stores were closed at soon on Thanksgiving, and that is the reason given for their trip to the dock and appearance on the Altona, as they had been accustomed to do on all such days.

They got along very well without their master. Reaching Lewis river they bounded ashore and began the search for pheasants. A man with a gun followed them and succeeded in making one of the biggest killings of the season.

HOLT HILL IN PORT.

The British Ship Mad Some Terrible Ex periences on Mer Long Voyage.

More than 11 months ago the British ship Holt Hill sailed from Hamburg for Portland. She reached her destination this morning a trifle before the noon hour. Her passage has been fraught with exasperating delays from the start. During the first part of the voyage contrary winds had to be contended with; then rae into frequent calms. Off Cape buring the first part of the voyage contrary winds had to be contended with; then ran into frequent calms. Off Cape Horn she met an ordinary gale, which increased in fury until it became a howling hurricane. This subsided, but another hurricane broke over her, more terrible than the first. It stripped the ship of her principal sails and carried away a part of her rigging. The storm continued without abatement for almost three days, and when it did quiet down the vessel was in almost a helpless condition. It was decided that it would be impossible to take her around the Horn, and she was headed up the coast for Montevideo. She reached that port with great difficulty: and remained there about three months undergoing repairs. When she again started for the Columbia river she limped along at a painfully slow rate, The vessel had been lying in sait water so long that the bottom of her hull had become foul. It is completely covered with a growth of barnacles almost six inches in length. Some of them have failen off since the Columbia river was reached, but in order to place the vessel in a clean condition it is very probable that she will have to be drydocked.

The vessel brought a general cargo from Hamburg, consigned to Balfour, Guthrie & Co. She is lying at the Oceanic dock. Captain Parker is her commander, and did not know that his namesake had run and had been defeated for the presidency of the United States until he reached Astoria.

SHIPS LOADING LUMBER.

Millions of Feet of Oregon Pine Will Be Widely Distributed.

The British ship Hampton began tak-ing on a cargo of lumber at the North Pacific mill for the west coast of South Africa today. She will carry consider-ably more than 1,000,000 feet, and it will probably three weeks ocfore she is ready to sall.

The British bark Ruthwell will complete her cargo at the same mill in a day or two. She will sall for Delagos bay, South Africa, the latter part of this week.

The American schooner Honolulu will have all of her lumber aboard by bonight, and by the middle of the week.
