

GOODWIN WROTE A FEW HOT LETTERS

Son of New York Capitalist Had Great Command of Endearing Terms.

MANY KISSES SENT TO WOMAN HE HAD DESERTED

Evidence of the Marriage Outside of the Certificates Demanded by the Court.

Several interesting letters will be introduced at the trial of E. H. Goodwin in the police court tomorrow by Attorney B. S. Pague. In one, written from Nome, Alaska, to his wife, Alice Goodwin, who was then staying with her mother-in-law, in New York, the defendant under date July 21, 1900, refers to his cousin, Monnell Sayer, as a "scoundrel," because Sayer had not sent her money, calls her his "darling wife," and asks her to kiss the baby for him.

When the case came up for trial this morning J. P. Clark, a clerk at the Portland hotel testified that from November 14 to 18 Goodwin occupied a room there with another woman, who was registered as his wife. The chambermaid, Miss Emma Shuk, gave the same evidence. Justice Reid, who appears for Goodwin, sprang a strong card by objecting to Mrs. Goodwin testifying against her husband when she took the stand. He claimed that in a criminal case such testimony would be against the codes. Assistant District Attorney Hanes and Attorney Pague on one side and Justice Reid on the other argued this point until Judge Hogue finally declined on the matter might be brought to his attention.

The following is the text of the letter sent Mrs. Goodwin from Nome by her husband: "My Darling Wife: Just received a letter from mother regarding Monnell, which comes like a blow from a clear sky. I will be in France by the 15th of next month or before. Write me all the news and tell mother to let me know how things stand. I cannot but feel that things will come out better than I now look. But at any rate, with the helpmate I have in you, dearest, we can begin our climb up the ladder again. I try and be brave, but when I think of the two dear ones whom I thought my success would bring me, makes me feel very, very sad; but, sweetheart, give me your love as an incentive, and that is all I want. How much I love you, dearest! Just to think that scoundrel has not sent you a penny. If things are as they look when I get back, if I run across him I will take it out of his hide. Be careful, darling, and keep a brave heart. We will be on top in spite of everything. Kiss baby. All my love and kisses to you both. Always your own, "NEED."

BREAKS IN WATER MAIN AND SEWER

Breaks in the water main and sewer in the fill at Corbett and Penney streets last Sunday night have not been repaired. The water so completely soaked the fill that the earth has become a slush and is so soft that workmen find it almost impossible to work in it. The upper end of the break has been found, but it has been impossible to locate the lower end. The pipes have sunk very deep in the soft mud and all attempt to locate the water main and repair it in the fill has been abandoned, and another main is being laid around the fill. It is understood that the same thing will have to be done with the sewer. The fill is in a very bad condition. Much of it was washed out by the rush of water from the sewer and the 10-inch water main when they broke. It is made of soft earth, and this has become soaked with water until it runs. It will take an immense amount of earth and much time to repair the damage.

CORVALLIS HOLDS A POULTRY SHOW

Much Enthusiasm is Awakened and Lovers of Blooded Fowls Are Making Entries.

CHARLES E. MOOR DIES AT HOME OF DAUGHTER

Was at One Time Member of the State Legislature from Benton County.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Corvallis, Or., Nov. 30.—A poultry show will be given by the Corvallis Poultry association December 8, 9 and 10. This is the first annual show in this city. Judge Hinds of Alameda, Cal., has been secured as judge. The prizes include three silver cups, given by the association, the president of the association and the Corvallis citizens, respectively. Each cup is handsomely engraved, and all are on exhibition in local show windows. A fourth special cup is offered by the American Bull Leghorn club, only members of the club being allowed to compete for this cup. Charles E. Moor, of Benton county, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. G. H. Linderman, near Corvallis, yesterday. He was once postmaster at Corvallis, had been a member of the legislature from Benton, and was superintendent of the Blind school under the Moody administration. He was born in New York, in April, 1823, but in boyhood removed to Vermont, where he resided at Rockingham Center. In 1844 he came to Oregon, residing in Polk county until 1845, when he came to Corvallis. While in Polk county he was county judge for some time. In December, 1843, he was married to Miss M. J. Johnson, in Polk county. His wife died 19 years ago. Mrs. Linderman, of Benton, and Arthur Moor of Alki, Wash., are his surviving children. His funeral will be held from the Linderman home, at 10 o'clock, Thursday morning. Interment will be in the Odd Fellows' cemetery at Corvallis.

FIRE CAUSES A PANIC IN THE PARIS HOUSE

Wild excitement in the Paris house followed an alarm of fire sent in shortly after 6 o'clock this morning. The flames broke out in the Wia Fremont saloon, on Fourth street, between Couch and Davis, which is next door to the disorderly establishment now receiving so much attention from the grand jury. Several of the women rushed about in scanty attire, and one or two shrieked in hysterical fright. The blaze originated in the partition between the barroom and a rear room, being due to a defective flue. A costly blaze was threatened, but the department reached the scene in time to extinguish the fire before it gained much headway. The damage will not amount to more than $25.

QUARANTINE RAISED: (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Pendleton, Nov. 30.—The quarantine that has existed at the Umatilla Indian agency schools for the past month has been raised and the diphtheria patients are reported out of danger. There were 10 cases at the Catholic school, but no fatalities resulted. More than 50 Indian children were immunized with anti-toxine.

CHIEF HUNT SHOWS GREAT SURPRISE

Has Been Reliably Informed that Saloons Do Not Obey Closing Law.

INSTRUCTS PATROLMEN TO ENFORCE ORDINANCE

New Order Causes Speculation, as Reports of Violations Were Not Acted On.

Chief of Police Hunt lined the patrolmen up at the station this morning and informed them that hereafter all saloons must close promptly at 1 o'clock in the morning, as is required by law. The order came as a thunderbolt. While the chief has hitherto done a great deal of talking about closing saloons, at the time specified in the ordinance, his actions have convinced all his men that he was not really in earnest. Many of them yet think that he is putting up a "bluff" and will be chary about calling down on themselves the wrath of the head of the department by becoming too busy when they see the 1 o'clock closing ordinance violated. "I am reliably informed," said Chief Hunt, "that a number of saloons are regularly open all night, with their front doors closed. This practice will have to be stopped. I want you all to keep a sharp watch and report to me all such infractions of the law." As a matter of fact, it has been known to everybody except the police chief that not only a "number," but a large number of saloons are kept open all night, and that most of them are frequented by women as well as by men. The back rooms of a number of these places are crowded nightly. It was only three or four days ago that Patrolman Pones handed in a report to the chief that a saloon on Alder street, between Fifth and Sixth, was open at 1 o'clock in the morning, and that he saw eight men and one woman drinking at the bar. Nothing has been done so far in regard to this report. It is also authoritatively reported that one of the chief's trusted men has been seen standing in front of a Fifth-street saloon between the hours of 1 and 2 o'clock in the morning, and that cigars were taken out to him by the bartender. Patrolman John Lee recently made a number of reports to Chief Hunt regarding saloons keeping open after 1 o'clock in the morning. He had the best which includes the territory between Taylor and Pine streets and from Fifth to the river. After making several reports he was transferred to a beat in South Portland. It was denied that he had been removed because he reported saloons that kept open after the prescribed hours in the morning. It is noteworthy, however, that the transfer was not made until after he had handed in a large number of such reports, on none of which was action taken by the head of the department.

TAKEN TO ASTORIA: (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Roseburg, Or., Nov. 30.—Albert L. Welch of the Soldiers' home was taken to the insane asylum yesterday morning. His home is in Baker City, where he has a wife.

MOUNT HOOD FALLS UNDER SUSPICION

Customs House Officials Profess to Believe That a Volcano Is Concealed About It.

Is Mount Hood about to belch forth fire and lava? Immigration and custom-house officials say that a big column of smoke was rising all day yesterday from the famous mountain. It was first noticed by Watchman Galbraith, of the Chinese immigration bureau, when he was coming up the river on the oriental liner Numanita. He called the attention of others to the phenomenon, and they all agreed that it could be nothing but smoke. About noon Customs Inspector Klippel happened to look over toward the big landmark, and he declares that smoke was certainly rising from the crater of the mountain.

"It came up in a steady column," said he this morning, "and very much resembled the smoke issuing from any ordinary house chimney. Apparently the wind was blowing the smoke to the eastward." While he admits that it may have been smoke, District Forecaster Beale is rather inclined to be skeptical on the subject. He explains that wind striking the mountain from opposite sides could very easily blow snow several feet above the summit of the peak, and at a distance it would be very easy to mistake it for smoke.

BROTHER DID NOT ROB MISS ANNA GAVIN

Not only does Chief Hunt say that William Gavin has never been under suspicion of choking and robbing his sister, Miss Anna Gavin, but the members of his family are greatly shocked at such an insinuation. Mr. Gavin was busy on this side of the river Monday night and did not go home. He telephoned his relatives last night and went home this morning. The police were asked about him on account of a fear that harm had befallen him as had his sister. "My brother is short and dark-complexioned," said Miss Gavin, "while the man who choked and robbed me is large and light-complexioned. My brother is smoothly shaven, while my assailant wore a blonde mustache. The description I gave the police at that time in no way corresponded with that of my brother. We intend to take action in this matter immediately."

PATROLMAN ROBERTS WILL GET REWARD

Chief of Police Hunt this morning signed document consenting to the city auditor ordering the auditor to refund Patrolman Griffith Roberts $50, due him for capturing a deserter from the United States army at Fort Lawton. William Roberts, the deserter, was apprehended by Patrolman Roberts November 4 and taken to the police station. He was sent to Fort Lawton by the chief, in charge of Warrant Officer Goble, who collected the reward of $50, which was turned over to the city treasury. When Roberts applied for the money he was informed that section 155 of the Willoughby act prohibited him from receiving it. Patrolman Roberts employed Attorney Logan to secure the money, with the result stated.

CHURCH BAZAAR HAS MANY ATTRACTIONS

The First Congregational church is today conducting its annual bazaar in the church parlors. The rooms present an attractive appearance with the gaily colored booths. The various organizations of the church are represented by booths. There is a jewelry booth, an art booth, a fancy article booth, a notion table, a candy stand and a domestic booth. Toothsome morsels sold here serve as a self-advertiser for the cook book made up by the women of the church. A large crowd was in attendance last evening and many pretty Christmas gifts were bought. Next week the Episcopal, Congregational and First Unitarian churches conduct their separate fairs.

ROBBER ON FREIGHT AND SHERIFF ON PASSENGER

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) The Dalles, Or., Nov. 30.—Albert Johnson, a laborer, was held up and robbed of $22 at 9 o'clock this morning at the point of a gun, at the Columbia feed yard. The robber escaped on a freight train, but was fully identified. The chief of police and sheriff are following on a passenger train, and he will no doubt be caught.

INDEPENDENT UNION MAY NOW BE FORMED

Troubles that have arisen in the Longshoremen's union threaten to result in the establishment of an independent union. A petition was prepared today and is being circulated this afternoon asking for signatures of those who desire to join the independent movement. "There are between 100 and 150 men who are denied membership in the regular union simply because it is said their books are closed and they have a full membership," said C. Nixon, one of the non-union members. "There are men here who are refused membership who have lived in the city 15 years. We propose to organize a union by ourselves and will become affiliated with the Federated Trades."

TWO KILLED AND THIRTY INJURED IN LAUNDRY

(Journal Special Service.) New Orleans, Nov. 30.—As a result of an explosion of a gasoline engine, which caused a fire in a Swiss laundry here last night, Georgiana Beecher and Mary Nelson are dead and six other girls are seriously burned. Altogether 30 persons were injured. The cause of the explosion is not known. The engine was of the ordinary type of gasoline engines and was considered an exceptionally safe machine. There was no attendant near it when it exploded. TELL FROM SCAFFOLD: Albert Von Ehrlich, a carpenter in the employ of the Portland Seed company, fell from a scaffold at East Second and Alder streets this morning, sustaining injuries which are considered serious but not fatal. He was removed to Good Samaritan hospital, where it is said he is recovering from the shock. A number of bones were broken by the fall.

A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.

Following is the statement of a doctor who puts truth above so-called "professional etiquette," and candidly states his belief and experience for the benefit of the masses who may read it. That man is Dr. C. F. SMITH, the most successful physician of Olean, N. Y.

"I wish to add my professional testimony to the value of your English preparation, known as Acker's English Remedy for Asthma, etc. In several instances after I have tried my utmost to give even relief, I have prescribed your remedy, and it has acted almost like a miracle, not only relieving but permanently curing every one of the patients. I endorse the above preparation as one of the most valuable additions to the practice of medicine." (Signed) C. F. SMITH, M. D.

Such a frank endorsement as the above is phenomenal. Coming from so distinguished a member of the medical profession, it carries with it an assurance which the public will be sure to avail themselves of. It is recommendations like this which make it possible to give the broad guarantee that is a part of every sale of for Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis and Consumption. It must either do all that is claimed for it, or your money will be refunded. Do you know of any other medicine sold on those terms? Do you know of any other medicines which prominent doctors regularly prescribe in their own practice as being better than prescriptions they write themselves? These are well worth considering. They are of special interest to those with sore throats and weak lungs. Remember we sell every bottle with a guarantee. 25c, 50c, and $1.00.
