A Wonderful Collection of Choice and Costly Makes Indicative of Western Cu'ture—The Progress

Mount Tabor Woodmen of the World are having trouble securing a suitable location for their proposed temple. At a recent meeting one faction of the hall association desired to locate the temple at Prettyman's station on the Mount Tabor electric line; others thought the site of the old Oriental hall on West avenue a suitable location, while still others desired to purchase the Baptist church building and remodel it. A meeting will be held tonight at which the question will be decided.

Councilman Fred T. Merrill, proprietor of the Bijou theatre, has returned from Selem and Eugene. He announces that within a few weeks he will have dime vaudeville houses in operation in those towns. He purchased the Edison at Balem, and closed it in order to make repairs and enlarge its capacity; while at Eugene he bought a site and let a contract for a handsome brick building, which will have a seating capacity of about 500.

The weather bureau today assumes the work of looking after ocean meteorology; the hydrographic office has had charge of this branch of observations. At the same time the transfer of all United States wireless telegraph stations to the navy department will be brought about. Heretofore the experiments along this line have been conducted under the joint direction of the navy, army and weather bureau.

According to Rev. Wallace R. Struble, in a talk before the pupils of the South Mount Tabor school yesterday, 5,000 pupils of the Portland schools have become members of the anti-Cigarette league. He made an interesting address before the pupils who immediately fell into the plan of organizing a league in their school. Mr. Struble spoke to a large audience at the Sunnyside Methodist church last night.

Numerous remonstrances against incorporation as proposed by the Mount Tabor Improvement association are in circulation by residents of that suburb, who are opposed to the new plan on the ground that it will incur a bonded debt and a burden of taxation. Meantime, the charter committee is working to perfect that instrument, and will present it for consideration at the next meeting of the Improvement association.

The Home Training association, at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, at the Young Woman's Christian association on Sixth and Oak streets, will hear Dr. Edna Timms on "What to Do in Cases of Emergency." She will tell of the simple remedies always at hand. Mrs. Pelton Beld will advance a plea for gentle measures in the training of children. All women are invited to attend.

Last evening at the home of Mrs. A. A. Unruh, 580 East Yamhill street, Multnomah Prohibition alliance adopted a resolution in support of the crusade against the sale of liquor to children, and asking pastors of the churches of Portland to speak on the subject next Sunday. Speeches were made by L. D. Mahome, T. S. Daniels, F. L. Posson, F. O. Miller and others.

Portland's delegation to the annual convention of the American Association of Traveling Passenger Agents will leave this evening in a special car for the City of Mexico. When they return they will, with reasonable good luck, have in their pockets official announcement that the convention of 1906 is to be held in Portland.

Pulleys,

Hangers,

Recent changes in the regulations have made it necessary for the officers of the Oregon National Guard to devote much time to their study. The officers of the Third infantry are determined to keep up the high standard established last summer, and have a weekly officers' class at the armory.

Toy Kim, a Chinese widow, 55 years old, was found dead at 9 o'clock last night in her apartments at Second and Pine streets. Deputy Coroner Arthur L. Finley was notified and had the body removed to the morgue. Death is believed to be from natural causes. The funeral will take place tomorrow.

EPIC ON OREGON'S EARLY HISTORY

Pioneer E. E. Eberhard Has Produced a Poetical Work of Great Length.

"Champone and Other Poems" is the name of a new book published by the Chicago Authors' and Writers' union for E E Eberhard, a Portland poet. The book is is distinctively western, the largest poem, "Champone," being an opic on the early history of Oragon. It is styled after Virgil's Aeneid, and sustains the heroic measure throughout.

Mr. Eberhard is an enthusiastic student of the great Latin and Greek spics and has succeeded markedly in catching their note in English. He takes up the story with the wreck on this coast of the Spanish ship Aragon, whence the state is supposed to have derived its name, and carries it to the final triumph of the American cause at Champoeg in 1843. To the author, dreaming, Callapois comes with unprinted manuscripts from the library in Seville, Spain, and, after the manner of Aeness relating to Queen Dido his shipwrecked wanderings, tells the story of the first arrival of the survivors of the Aragon. All the subsequent figures of Oregon history receive their, tribute after: Gray, Lewis, Clark, Sacajawea, Whitman, McLoughlin, Benton, Matthieu and others.

Mr. Eberhard is 53 years old and an Gregon pioneer who came here with his presents at the same of the same

King of Portland. When 20 he taught school in St. Paul, Marion county, and there placed himself under the tutorship of Rev. Father Delorme, a prince of the house of Bourbon, and the first priest consecrated in Oregon, who had rummaged the manuscripts of the Seville library.

In 1847 Eberhard became an instructor in St. Michael's college in Portland, and was associated with A. J. Glorieux, now bishop of Idaho, and continued his private studies. In 1875 he put out a private edition of juvenile pleces, entitled "Echoes of Evening," which are included in his later work.

FREIGHT AGENTS HEADED THIS WAY

BROOKS GETS IN WAY
OF A HEAVY STREAM

OF A HEAVY STREAM

In saving himself a fail from a scaffolding away up under the roof of the states building at the exposition grounds. James Brooks, a painter, caused a deluge from the fair ground waterworks.

Having doubts about his ability to work on the scaffolding without tipping it over, he had suspended an emergency rope from the top of the standpipe on the building, where he tied the line to a spoke in the wheel by which the water is controlled. While busily wielding the paint brush, the accident he feared happened—and something more. As he felt the scaffold turning over he grabbed the emergency line and threw his weight on it. The rope pulled the wheel around and turned the water on from the standpipe.

Brooks was directly in the line of the pipe.

Brooks was directly in the line of the flood, and it poured over him, thoroughly drenching his clothing, but he held on to the rope and regained his position on the scaffold.

Two widows, staters-in-law, one with three small children, and the other with two, appeared before the county court this morning and told a most pitiable tale of privations endured in an effort to go from Kalispell, Mont., to Salem, where they say they have friends. The county court believed their cause a legitimate one, and purchased them tickets from Portland to Salem.

They are Mrs. Millie Hawthorne and Mrs. Maud Busch, and left Kalispell some weeks ago with barely enough money to pay their way to Salem. Hard times in Kalispell was the cause of their leaving, as they could not earn a living by working. When they reached The Dalles, Mrs. Busch was taken sick. The people sent them on to Portland.

Some time this afternoon the council's investigating committee appointed to probe the Morrison-street bridge, Marquam guich bridge and the Balch guich bridge work will probably choose its board of experts who are to prosecute the work. Chairman Rumelin said that the names of the gentlemen who will likely be selected could not be given out prior to announcement.

An effort is made to secure intelligent engineers, who will not be influenced by bias against the contractors doing the work nor by undue friendliness for the office of the city engineer. It is quite natural that local talent should be chosen, as the committee believes in patronising home industry, but in naming civil engineers of this city the purpose is avowed of getting those who will be absolutely impartial. Other great makes, such as the Hazelton, the Lester, the Hobert M. Cable, the many-toned Crown, the Story & Clark, the Hallet & Davis, etc., etc., are included in the exhibit.

A group in which much interest centers is the Aeolian instruments, the entire line of Pianolas, Metrostyle Orchestelles, including the Aeolian pipe organ. The newest and probably the most important of these instruments is the Pianola Piano. It is pronounced the most complete piano made, combining as it does facilities for playing perfectly either with the hands or through the mediumship of the Pianola, which is built into space hitherto not used inside the piano case. All Pianola Pianos are equipped with the Metrostyle.

In this season's display is offered an opportunity to study the world's greatest efforts in piano production and plano case architecture. None of the pianos in this display will be delivered on sale before Saturday, December 10. The public is cordially invited to our store during this display.
