The state. "In an effort to beat down the prose-cution at Bellingham," said Wooten, "the representatives of the trust have ap-pealed to the citizens of that place on the ground that the pushing of the cases is a stab at a home industry. As a matter of fact we calculate it the very opposite, and if the suit is successful the smaller canneries will be allowed to continue in business employing a greater aggrogate number of men than the trust employes."

HOW ONE THOUSAND DOL-LARS MADE A MILLION.

Mr. Vanderbilt Tells an Interesting Story of Fabulous Frofits.

New York, Dec. 10.-A novel booklet is creating a sensation in financial cir-cles here, and Wall street is deeply incles here, and Wall street is deeply in-terested in it, particularly as it is be-ing circulated by W. G. Vanderbilt. He tells how he made a million dollars by investing a thousand, and the story is intensely interesting. Mr. Vanderbilt was interviewed at his offices in No. 100 William street, New York, and stated he was pleased that his booklet had been so well received. He maid: "I met so many people who were said: "I met so many people who were groping in the dark about financial mat-ters I decided to publish some of the things I have learned about business, things I have learned about business, and send it out as a tribute to my per-sonal friends. But, dear me, my friends told everybody about it, and my mail is flooded with requests for the booklet. Therefore, I have decided that I can do nothing better for my fellowman than to send a copy of it to any one who will write to me at No. 100 William street." "Do you intend to distribute these free" free?" "Certainly," he responded, "because I know no one will be interested in the matter except those who have saved enough money and want to know how to make their savings earn more than sim-ple interest, hence I will be doing the best service for those who need it most, and that is the real essence of true phi-lanthropy. I would like to have appli-cants for this book write me fully and I will be pleased to send any one a copy."

In a statement of the trust condition of the fight he says that the in-dependent fishermen will war the trust to the bitter end, as they assert to pre-serve one of the greatest industries of the state. FAMILY BIBLE OF BOBERT SURWE

(Journal Special Service.)

It is not often that the people of Forliand have an opportunity to examine and admire high art in Meerschaum pipes, and this is the first time in the history of this city that such valuable and truly artistic productions of this kind have ever been shown here or, perhaps, elsewhere. Of the six pipes four represent Queen Elizabeth; Marie Antoinette, Mary Stuart and Oom Paul. They are perfect likenesses of these ce-lebrities, and historically correct in fig-ure and dress. The delicacy of the carv-ing is remarkable, an exact reproduction being made of the famous Queen Eliza-beth collar, the head dreases and other fuery worn by the three noted women mentioned above. Every detail is car-ried out to perfection and to the average eye it is almost incomprehensible that the hand can be trained to accomplish such wonders. Sums of Money.

Guy Huff was arraigned in the fed-eral court this morning and asked to plead to an indictment found November 3, 1903, charging him with conspiracy in connection with the land frauds. Judge Thomas O'Day appeared as spe-cial counsel and asked for time to file a demurrar to the indictment before entering a plea. District Attorney Hall opposed this, saying this was the day fixed for giving a new bond, and asked that Huff be compelled sither to give a new bond or go to jail. He objected to the sufficiency of the old bond. When Guy Huff was first indicted, he gave a bond for $2,000 and George H. Smith and Dan W. Tarpley each down for $1,000. Captain Bladen, clerk of the district court, was not satisfied with Smith as a bondsman. because he was Huff's brother-in-law and demanded other security. In addition to the already long list of crimes reported at police headquarters crimes reported at police headquarters and which remain mysteries to Chief Hunt, a dozen cases have been reported in the last few days. In none of the fresh cases has a clew been discovered. While the skipper of the steamer Re-dondo was paying off his crew yester-day $150 was stolen. He kept all his men aboard and notified the police. A search was made, but nothing was dis-covered which would warrant a charge being placed against anybody. Forcing open the rear window of P.
