BLAMES COACHES IN EASTERN COLLEGES

Former Yale Football Star Talks About Proposed Changes in Rules.

SAYS WESTERN CAME IS PROPER METHOD

(Journal Special Service.)

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 29.—Dr. Danlei A. Jones of this city, the old Yale football and baseball playes, has vigorous opinions about football rules. He says regarding the proposed changes:

"The rules are all right. Let them stand. Don't break up the game. Don't take advantage of the rules. They don't take advantage of the rules. They don't prohibit playing an open game. There is a lack of intelligence on the part of the eastern coaches in applying the rules.
Why under the sun don't the players
get more coaching in passing the bell to some one behind them, to somebody prext them, and turn what couldn't be more than a three-yard run in a close rorsantian into a 60-yard plunge? The rules don't prohibit it.

"I find fault with the present coaches
in the east because they don't take advantage of the rules as they stand
The western game, as I understand it is one to which the coaches show judgment enough to open up the game, and make long passes, quick passes, plays which are more open. So is the West Point game, and the West Point team heat Yale. Why? Because West Point; team used chances to make individual opportunities. The West Pointers did not blindly hold on to the ball because they were told to do so. They ran dut every play with every man thinking just what to do at every second 6f every

they were told to do so. They ran out every play with every man thinking just what to do at every second of every play. One man passed to another and played his individual game.

"Come back to this style of play and you give up your need of giants in the line. You get some sinewy, rangy men. as the western coaches get and boast of, and you get a mighty interesting game. The eastern coaches are atraid to break loose from their traditions, from the narrow, cramped ideas and ruts into which they have been drifting and settling. It is time to make a break, to cut loose from this parrowness, and I promise that, if they do this, they will have the most sensational games ever seen, and the teem that does it will win. Why should a player hold the ball? It is as poor policy as it would be for a ihird baseman to fear to throw to first or a catcher to refrain from throwing to second.

"The Yale crew has been through this. It has fought it out and won on principle. The heavy men of the type of who is the daddy's only boast. The champion of the world and coast? Who, when we drink, we always toast? I have fought it out and won on principle. The heavy men of the type of who when we drink, we always toast? Who, when we drink, we always toast?

Yale wins with the greyhound, sinewy oarsmen, who left Harvard far behind last June.

"I played on elevens with Walter Camp. He was the most expert open player of his day. Then he stood for the open game. I have never seen a player who could balance the ball as he could, and who could keep track of his fellow players, passing the ball to them at just the right time, when tackled. Let him restore his knowledge of the old game, the most attractive game ever played. I appeal to the Yale coaches to cut loose from the ruts into which they have been falling."

Dr. Jones was the most famous baseball player of his day at Yale, winning intercollegiate championships in the early '80s. After the close of the senior year he was signed by the Athletics of Philadelphia and pitched that team into the championship from third place. Dr. Jones is a dentist in this city and Chicago for a 10-round bout.

W. M. Murray, who started at various western tracks during the season just closed, has gone to New Orleans. Murray's plans for next season have not yet been made, but he will likely be engaged for the same tracks at which he worked last season. He may finish out at the New Orleans meeting if Starter Fitzgerald succeeds in getting a release from his contract, as he hopes to do.

John Mackey, the manager of Rancho del Paso atud, will go back to California next week. He wants to be at home before (he first of January. Last winter at Ranch del Paso there were two foals during the first week of January. Mr. Mackey predicts great things for these youngsters.

John Huggins is off for the south on his winter vacation trip. Mr. Huggins figures upon remaining south six weeks or two months. He will first visit the country place of Herman B. Duryea in Hardeman county. Tennessee, and then go to Texas. So long as his game leg.

Which has bothered him ever since it was injured during the war between the states, permits he will put in his time shooting.

Mr. Huggins is off for the south on his plunging. Since the Seattle game the Puget sound men have materially increased the prowess of their eleven, and they will come to this city with a splendid aggregation ready to fight until the last call of time.

Multnomah, in order to win, must be at least six points stronger than her men performed at Seattle, and with this end in view Captain Dowling has ordered out all of the "available material" in order to select a team that can whip Sheepshead in the care of the head man

Royal Blue is in training again, Royal Blue is a full brother to Blues, winner of $62,000 in stakes and purses during his career on the turf, and Blue Girl, whose winnings amounted to $63,900.

Royal Blue was bought for $8,500 as a yearling in the summer of 1903, and in the fall of that year showed such fast trials as to lead Capt. S. S. Brown to believe he had a world-beater. Unfortunately, the colt was injured in one of his workouts, and had to be thrown out of training. Then rheumatism set in, and for a time his case seemed hopeless. During the past few weeks Trainer Bob Tucker has given the Sir Dixon colt a regular course of training gallops, and the manner in which the youngster takes to his work encourages the belief that he will yet earn the fame as a racer to which his royal breeding entitles him.

The Corvallis game had a rather serious effect on the club men, imagnuch as a number of the men received severe injuries, and it will require the best kind of treatment and training to round the team into first-class playing form. What the lineup of the Multnomah team will be is purely conjectural, as nothing definite has been arranged regarding the disposition of the men. It is sertain, however, that Captain Dowling intends putting in his strongest men in the first half, in order that terrific assault can be sent against the visitors at the start. The line has spiendid candidates in Keller, Grieve, Ross, Stow, Seeley, Kirkley, Van Voorhies and Pratt. For ends are Jorden, Dowling and Stott. In the back field will be Murphy and Johnson for quarterbacks, and Lonergan, McMillen, Corbett, Horan and Dolph as backs. FOOTBALL FUMBLES.

J. J. Hogan, famous Yale football player, will abandon the gridiron for yacht racing. Next we shall hear of Jim Jeffries deserting pugilism for the ladylike game of golf.

After the Multnomah-Seattle game on Monday next each member of the local team will be given an eight months' vacation by the Multnomah club. The substitutes are included as beneficiaries. Chauncey Bishop, coach of the Willamette eleven, will referee the Seattle-Multnomah game on New Year's Monday. Bishop knows his business and it will be a treat to see him officiate.

The Seattle team will arrive on New Year's day, accompanied by a band of 200 rooters. From the interest that is being manifested, the attendance at this game will easily exceed any other match of the season.

Yesterday local backers of the M. A. A. C. eleven wired $200 to Seattle, wanting it placed on the result. When it comes to, bucking Multnomah, the local club men are there with the goods.
