

GUGLIELMO CASE ARGUED AT SALEM

Principal Question Assigned is That Information Not Verified by the Affidavit.

KENTUCKY EDITOR PRAISES GOVERNOR

Report of Board of Regents of State University Shows Big Increase of Pupils.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Salem, Jan. 29.—The case of the State of Oregon against Frank Guglielmo, the Portland murderer, was argued in the supreme court and submitted yesterday afternoon. The defendant's case was presented by Dan J. Murphy of Portland, while the state was represented by District Attorney John Manning and Attorney-General Crawford. The principal question assigned by the appellant is that the information under which the defendant was convicted is void because it was not verified by the affidavit of the district attorney attached to it, and the defendant's counsel contends that section 1 of article 1 of the constitution requires such verification.

Another case argued and submitted was that of the State against James G. Lee, an appeal from Washington county, in which the defendant was convicted of the larceny of a calf valued at $20, and is sentenced to serve four years in the penitentiary. The calf was the property of Benjamin C. Dennis and was alleged to have been stolen on April 1, 1904. The appellant was represented by Attorneys H. E. Bagley and H. E. McGinn, while the state's side of the case was handled by District Attorney Harrison Allen and E. B. Tongue of Hillsboro.

Upon the application of Grant B. Dimock of Oregon City yesterday afternoon and George C. Brown, counsel for the defendant, the supreme court granted a writ of probable cause in the case of the State against George W. Lauth, which is pending an appeal from the decision of the circuit court upon the assignment of error. Lauth was convicted of murder in the first degree for the killing of Leonora B. Jones at the home of her father, in Oregon City, in September, 1904.

Compliments Governor. Chamberlain yesterday afternoon received a letter of congratulation from J. J. Glenn, editor of Glenn's Graphic at Madisonville, Ky., upon his position in reference to the establishment of a whipping post for the punishment of wife-beaters. Mr. Glenn states that the theory is a particular hobby of his and hopes that the system will be adopted in every state in the union.

Increase in Pupils. Perhaps the most important feature of the biennial report of the board of regents of the State university and the annual report of the president, which was received by Governor Chamberlain yesterday afternoon, is the appreciable increase in the enrollment for the year 1905 as compared to the two previous years, which shows a gain of 22 per cent. In 1902 the number of pupils enrolled was 174; in 1903, 187; or a gain of 7 per cent; in 1904, 218, a gain of 16 per cent; and in 1905, January 16, 268, or 22 per cent gain.

"If the rate of gain shown for the present year is maintained during the next year," states President Campbell, "the number of students to be provided for in 1907-8, the second year of the biennium, will be seriously beyond the limits both of the room and of the instructional force at present provided by the university."

Although the student body is fairly well distributed among the several departments of the institution, the most healthy and satisfactory gains are shown in the enrollment of the departments of law and medicine and the several engineering departments. This is particularly shown in respect to the last two named, medicine and engineering.

"The gain in the medical department," says the president, "is especially gratifying in view of the fact that the course of study has been lengthened from one of three years to one of four."

In speaking of the growth in the anginnering departments, the superintendent says: "The financial statement shows $64,478.18 cash on hand at the beginning of the college term. This includes the annual appropriation of $47,500; university interest fund, $6,803; Villard interest fund, $2,588.73; incidental and miscellaneous, $4,605.82, and the balance of the special appropriations, $3,079.82. The total expenditures reach $64,092, with outstanding unpaid claims amounting to $1,640.90, leaving a cash balance on hand of $54,326.26."

"Although the past year shows no deficiency," the president says, "the present income of the university will not prove adequate to meet the set expenses of the year to come, falling short by between $4,000 and $5,000."

President Campbell gives an outline of the probable need of the institution for the next two years, which aggregates $28,000, and which sum he asks the legislature to appropriate, besides an extra provision for the making of an exhibit at the Lewis and Clark fair, estimated at $2,000, making the grand total $30,000.

Robert Luther of Yamhill county was received as a patient at the Oregon state insane asylum yesterday. Luther, who is but 31 years of age, believes he has committed an assault, and is fearful of mob violence.

BOARD OF TRADE ASKS MONEY FOR THE CANAL

At its regular meeting yesterday the Portland board of trade received a report from Capt. D. E. Buchanan, to whom the opinion of Major Langditt concerning extension of dockage into the Willamette river had been referred. Captain Buchanan's report supported the position taken by Major Langditt. He said the government engineers in originally fixing the harbor lines had done so with a view to maintaining a harbor as wide as possible for Portland, and has succeeded in maintaining depth of water, in nearly all cases, as deep as the channel. The committee referred the question back for further investigation.

Wallis Nash and G. W. Allen were appointed to examine the bill introduced in the legislature to adjust traffic arrangements between branch and trunk line railroads in Oregon. G. W. Allen and Thomas Guinness were appointed to investigate the bill proposed to change the present 10 per cent penalty that delinquent taxpayers must pay in redeeming property sold for taxes.

An invitation was extended to the council of the American Institute of Mining Engineers to visit Portland next summer on their projected trip to Alaska.

A resolution was adopted vigorously demanding an appropriation for beginning the Callio canal without prejudice to the work at the mouth of the Columbia river.

THIS SEEMS TO BE MRS. UNRUH'S BUSY WEEK

Mrs. Ada Wallace Unruh is a busy woman this week, conducting meetings in Salem. Called there Saturday, she addressed the M. E. Sunday school and Epworth league that evening and the next day, and a mass meeting in the afternoon, Monday, by special invitation from the faculty, she addressed the students of Willamette university; Tuesday afternoon a large meeting of women; Wednesday evening the Salvation Army; Thursday at the request of the superintendent, she went to the reform school to talk to the boys. Tomorrow she will speak to a mass meeting of children. She will occupy the Baptist pulpit Sunday morning, speak to the young women in the afternoon, and Sunday evening will occupy the Methodist pulpit. She returns to Portland Monday, and on Wednesday will hold a woman's meeting on the east side under the auspices of the Sunnyside W. C. T. U.

WILL REDUCE OFFENSES

Newly elected officers of St. Johns camp, Woodmen of the World, will be installed next Wednesday evening by W. Reidt, consul commander, of Portland Union degree camp. He will be assisted by Captain Brova with Portland degree team. During the last two weeks Consul-Commander Reidt has installed officers in the following Woodmen of the World camps: Webfoot No. 45, Prospect No. 14, George Washington No. 261, Sunnyside No. 219, Montavilla No. 89, Rose City No. 774, Greesham No. 716.

BILLS ARE OPPOSED BY BUSINESS MEN

Provide Contracts of Conditional Sales of Personal Property Shall Be Made.

WOULD STOP PURCHASES ON INSTALLMENT PLAN

Leading Merchants and Citizens Generally Believe the Measures Would Hurt Trade.

House bill 24 and senate bill 46 have raised a storm of protest among all classes. It is said they are uncalculated, imprudent and officious to a degree unwarranted by business considerations. A largely signed protest from Portland business men has gone to the legislature, and all legitimate means will be employed to defeat them.

In substance the bills provide that "all contracts of conditional sale of personal property" shall be made matters of public record in the office of the county clerk. "Conditional sales" are simply transactions commonly known as purchases on the installment plan. A tremendous volume of this business is done in Portland, and it is said that under the proposed law a large number of additional clerks would be kept busy in the office of the county clerk, recording the instruments of sale of every bedstead, mattress, set of dishes, dress, hat and hanging lamp that is bought on the installment plan from the accommodating merchants and outfitters of this city.

The merchants regard the bill as a preposterous assumption of official prerogative and "regulation." They say that such a law would be of no benefit to anyone, would work nothing but embarrassment to legitimate trade, and would be exceedingly cumbersome and expensive in enforcement. Compliance with such a law, they say, would be distasteful and humiliating to buyer and seller, and cut off a large percentage of credit sales that are important to the merchant and to the customer who needs the goods and desires the ease of them while he is paying for them in installments. They say the only advantage would be to people who lend on chattel mortgages.

AT THE THEATRES.

Venita a Sensation.

Should one visit the Baker theatre any night this week after the regular performance is over and see the carpenters, electricians, mechanics and wardrobe people at work on the stage, one would form an idea that some great spectacular play was coming. Such, however, is not the case. The demure, pretty and charming dancer Venita is here, and with her able assistants is making preparations for Monday, when she will present to the patrons of Baker's theatre her sensational scenic dances. Her scenery properties and mechanical effects have arrived direct from Hammerstein's in New York, and are now being placed in position. A leading manager of New York said: "I unhesitatingly pronounce Venita's dances far superior to all others, both in scenic splendor and electric effects, as well as for beauty, grace and agility."

"The Wife" at the Columbia.

Belasco's great comedy dramas have a power to draw and interest all classes. "The Wife" which is closing the week at the Columbia, is well known as one of Belasco's best plays, and in the hands of the Columbia company every requirement as to acting, stage settings, scenery and elaborate dress are fully met. The last three performances will be given tonight, tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow night, and it will also be Portland's last opportunity to bid farewell to the popular leading man.

William Collier in "The Dictator."

William Collier became a star under the direction of Charles Frohman last season, and in the very first play in which he presented him, a big success was scored. Everyone seems to agree that Mr. Collier has never been seen to better advantage than he is in "The Dictator." His first appearance in Portland since he came under the management of Charles Frohman will be at the Marquam Grand on January 26, 27 and matinee on January 28. He returns next Tuesday morning, January 24, at 10 o'clock.

"The Rivals."

"The Rivals," Sheridan's brilliant comedy, to be presented by the Jeffersons at the Marquam Grand theatre next Monday and Tuesday nights, will be handsomely mounted. Notable among the costumes is Miss Fioletti Page's costume, which will be a silver brocade made in the style of the period of Sheridan's play, with petticoat of maize satin, trimmed with flowers and pearls. Her second costume, a rich vermilion brocade, took the first prize at the Brussels exhibition. Seats are now selling.

The Bijou Stock Company.

On and after next Monday afternoon the Bijou will change its policy from a straight vaudeville house to a stock theatre with a sprinkling of vaudeville on
