POULTRY RECEIPTS MUCH TOO HEAVY

Arrivals Come From Every Direction and the Market Cannot Stand Strain.

HOP MARKET TAKES A DOWNWARD COURSE

Eggs Much More Plentiful and Prices Drop—Wheat and Flour Both Dull.

Portland, Jan. 28.—The principal features of the Portland wholesale markets the past week were: The heavy poultry receipts; Eggs plentiful and lower; Hop market takes downward course; Wheat and flour both dull; Great scarcity of salmon and smelt; Potato market does better; Butter market is slightly better.

Receipts of poultry were the past week very heavy—the latter part of the week arrivals being especially large. This was due to the ordinary character of the market for turkeys, but the receipts during the past week were very light. Wild game was in an unusual supply and several cuts were made in the prices. In this way everything in the poultry market was forced down to a point where the receipts of the coming week are not of the best for good prices.

Eggs Plentiful and Lower. Receipts of eggs were the past week very heavy—the latter part of the week arrivals being especially large. This was due to the ordinary character of the market for turkeys, but the receipts during the past week were very light. Wild game was in an unusual supply and several cuts were made in the prices. In this way everything in the poultry market was forced down to a point where the receipts of the coming week are not of the best for good prices.

Hop Market Takes Down Course. Weakness was apparent in the hop market during the past six days. Some few sales were reported, but they were all at lower prices. At the close of the week the market was dull and prices were lower than at the beginning of the week. The receipts of the coming week are not of the best for good prices.

Wheat and Flour Both Dull. Both the wheat and the flour markets were dull this week. There is practically nothing doing in the wheat market and quotations are merely nominal. In flour there is nothing doing except of the regular trade, and the market is dull. The receipts of the coming week are not of the best for good prices.

Butter Market Slightly Better. Receipts of butter were the past week very heavy—the latter part of the week arrivals being especially large. This was due to the ordinary character of the market for turkeys, but the receipts during the past week were very light. Wild game was in an unusual supply and several cuts were made in the prices. In this way everything in the poultry market was forced down to a point where the receipts of the coming week are not of the best for good prices.

Salmon and Smelt. There is a great scarcity of fresh salmon in the market at the present time. Years ago fish dealers are wondering where they are going to get their supplies. There was also a scarcity of Columbia river smelt this week and prices were higher.
