Getting Ready for the Fair

The eyes of the whole country are now on Portland. The Lewis and Clark Fair will be the grandest event that ever took place in old Oregon. Crowds that will exceed our most sanguine expectations will visit us this year. Anticipating the coming crowds and knowing that our present store will not be big enough to hold them, we will begin at once a general alteration of our entire premises. Our 150 foot front will be entirely remodeled, interior walls will be removed, and our selling space nearly doubled. A new cash system will be added, additional lights put in, and the whole store, outside and inside, will be entirely remodeled, re-painted and re-papered, and when completed will be the most modern Men's Store in Oregon. While this work is going on we will run a Sale that will eclipse any ever attempted on this Coast. We are pleased to call it "THE HUB ALTERATION SALE." $100,000.00 worth of the Clothing, Shoes, Hats and Furnishings will be sold at prices that will outstrip in point of value all our Previous Sales. Store will be closed Friday—men busy inside marking down every article in stock to prices that are the smallest that printers' ink ever recorded.

Sale Starts Saturday Morning at 8 o'Clock
