

TROUSERS THIEF BUSY IN EAST SIDE

Burglar Steals Nether Garments
From F. C. Barnes and M.
J. Walsh.

VERY COOL IN MAKING HIS RAIDS AT MIDNIGHT

Large List of Robberies Reported to Police, But No Arrests Are Made.

The residence of F. C. Barnes, the county commissioner, 718 Tillamook street, was entered at 2 o'clock this morning and the burglar carried off a pair of trousers containing $15 in cash. The same man made the same police theory, stole a pair of trousers, in the pockets of which was $15, from the residence of M. J. Walsh, 415 East Twelfth street, and tried to break into the house of George A. Peabody, 421 Broadway, but was frightened away.

Little doubt exists, the detectives assert, that the robber is the same man who broke into a number of houses on Florence street a few nights ago. He is a "nervy" criminal, and has come to be called the "trousers thief" on account of always taking that article of wearing apparel when it is in sight in cash. When the burglar was searching the sleeping apartment of the Barnes residence, Mrs. Barnes was awakened. She asked her husband if the dog had been left in the house. The thief heard the question and answered: "Just keep still and it'll be all right. I don't want to harm anybody—all I want is your money."

With this utterance the burglar hurried out of the room. The dog, which was in the house, gave chase, but the burglar made his escape.

"I have lived at 718 Tillamook street for nine months," said Mr. Barnes this morning, "and during the period have never seen a policeman in that vicinity."

George A. Peabody heard somebody trying to get into the house through the back door of his residence shortly after midnight. He rose and, seeing that the back door was securely locked, placed a mattress against the front door. A few minutes later the robber placed a skeleton key in the lock of the front door and opened it. As he did so the mattress was knocked down and the burglar was frightened away by the noise. Mr. Peabody had $500 in his clothing at the time.

G. School, janitor of the Harrison school, reported to the police this morning that the theft of a woman's gold watch, a purse containing 98 cents and various small articles, from one of the school rooms.

An overcoat was stolen from a room occupied by C. J. Westphal at 123 Grand avenue.

Carpenter's tools were stolen from a woodshed in the rear of the house occupied by R. R. Fortney, at 323 East Yamhill street.

FAIR STRIKER IS ARRESTED FOR ASSAULT

Howard Shireman, the electrician who was assaulted as he stepped from a street car near the fair grounds last Monday morning, is after revenge. This morning he caused the arrest of J. E. Walker, a strike sympathizer, on the charge of assault and battery, having identified him as the man who struck the blow.

Ever since the incident the electricians have had a man among the strikers gathered at the saloon opposite the entrance to the fair grounds, the identity of the assailant of Shireman. Walker was heard to boast of having a hand in it, and this morning Shireman completed the identification. A patrolman made the arrest in the saloon, and Shireman preferred the charge. At the police station Walker entered a plea of not guilty and was released on a cash bond of $50 to appear in court tomorrow morning.

The strike situation is unchanged. There is no strike, so far as inconvenience to contractors is concerned, and the number of pickets on duty at the grounds dwindles each day.

JEALOUS LOVER KILLS HIMSELF AT A DANCE

FEW VOTERS TAKE TIME TO REGISTER

Little More Than Two Hundred
Tell County Clerk Fields
Party Affiliations.

OFFICE WILL BE OPEN UNTIL NINE EACH NIGHT

Warm Struggle Will Be Made at Primaries for Control of Committees.

"County Clerk Fields instructed us to keep open the office last night to permit voters to register," said Deputy Kern today. "We remained here until 9 o'clock and six came to register after dinner." The registration yesterday was 216; practically all were voters who desired to declare their party affiliations. About 20 were changes of residence and new registrations. In the belief that when the voters learn that the office will be kept open evenings they will take advantage of the opportunity to qualify for voting in the primaries of the Republican and Democratic parties, the county clerk will have his deputies on hand until 9 o'clock every night.

If the 12,000 voters of the Republican and Democratic parties who cast ballots in the last congressional election, with the natural increase from new population, be registered in the coming 30 days, the average for the entire period must be more than 400. It is expected that the daily registration will be larger as soon as the various candidates have been announced and their supporters begin active work to get out the voters in preparation for the primaries.

An interesting contest will be witnessed between opposing factions of the two parties over the election of the county central committees. These committees must be elected at the primaries, one for each precinct, and the advantage of controlling this committee is regarded as worthy considerable effort by the politicians.

The dinner details are more elaborate than ever before attempted by the society.

COLORADO SITUATION TAKES A NEW TURN

(Journal Special Service.)
Denver, March 15.—The gubernatorial situation took a new turn this morning when the Democrats began filibustering. When it was discovered that the Republicans intended to seat Peabody, who will resign and permit McDonald to serve out the term they announced they would take advantage of the rule given members 10 minutes' time each to discuss the contest reports submitted to the legislature. This will probably defer the vote until tomorrow.

GOLD DOLLARS OF VINTAGE OF 1905

Ten Thousand Received From the San Francisco Mint by Fair Directors.

TWO DOLLARS EACH OR SIX FOR TEN DOLLARS

Many Requests Are Made for Space, After Every Inch
Has Been Taken.

The exposition officials received by express today a shipment of 10,000 Lewis and Clark gold dollars of the vintage of 1905, coined at the San Francisco mint. They will be placed on sale at the same premium as the 1904 dollars—that is, at $2 a coin, or $10 for six coins. The exhibits department is considerably annoyed by requests for space at this late hour, after every inch has been allotted. Wyoming's state commission this morning asked how much room they might have in the agricultural and mining departments. Fortunately, Director Doeh, anticipating just such a condition, had set aside space for Wyoming and one or two other states that are behind time.

G. A. Hamilton, special commissioner from India to the Lewis and Clark fair, arrived in Portland yesterday and will begin preparations at once for what promises to be one of the richest exhibits to be seen at the big show. This will be a private collection of art works in wood, brass, ivory, embroideries, etc., which collection was brought from India and Stockholm, Sweden, for exhibition at St. Louis and withdrawn because of the exorbitant cost of showing there.

Governor Edwin Warfield of Maryland and a party of distinguished citizens of that state will visit the exposition late in the summer, according to a letter from the governor's secretary to Secretary Reed. The communication is in reply to a request that Maryland day be named. Governor Warfield expresses his regret that on account of the Baltimore fire the state found itself unable to make an adequate exhibit, but stated that he would feel honored to, on the occasion of his visit with a number of prominent residents of Maryland, day would be set apart for a reception to him and that it be known as "Maryland day." Undoubtedly this will be done.

On the night of August 27, the Pacific Coast Sangerforbund will occupy the auditorium for a contest between the singing societies of the Pacific northwest states. This will be the one of the most conspicuous musical events of the fair. The first business house in Portland to come forward with an offer of assistance to the state commission in the furnishing of the Oregon state building is the Allen & Gilbert-Ramakam Piano company. This firm offered at the last meeting of the commission to install, without cost of any kind, a $1,000 grand piano in the Oregon building for the exposition period. The offer was accepted with the grateful thanks of the commission, and President Myers is hoping that some of the furniture houses will next extend helping hands.

WIRELESS WIZARD WEDS IRISH BELLE

Signor Marconi Married to Miss O'Brien of Dublin at Dublin.

BRIDE IS DESCENDANT OF KING BRIAN BORU

Honeymoon Will Be Spent in Ireland and the United States.

(Journal Special Service.)
London, March 15.—In the Roman Catholic Church of St. George, Miss Beatrice O'Brien, a lineal descendant of King Brian Boru of Ireland, today became the bride of Guglielmo Marconi, who enjoys a world-wide fame as a scientist, largely due to his remarkable discoveries in wireless telegraphy. The wedding was made brilliant by the attendance of many persons of note, including public officials, writers and some of the foremost scientists of England.

Signor Marconi and his bride left for Ireland, whence they will sail for America on Saturday. They will remain in the United States about six weeks, and will then go to Rome, where it is reported they will be guests of the king of Italy for a few days.

The bride of today is a bright, comely girl, fond of outdoor sports, and also well read. She is one of the eight sisters of the present Baron Inchiquin. The Inchiquin family traces its descent direct from Brian Boru, who was king of the Emerald Isle from 1002 to 1014, when he slain at the head of his army at the battle of Clontarf. His grandson, Turlogh, king of Munster, had four sons, whereof the third was the progenitor of the Barons Inchiquin. One of Turlogh's descendants, Connor O'Brien, was king of Thomond at no comparatively recent period as 1529, and it was his brother Morough who, after usurping his kingship, surrendered to Henry VIII and was then made Earl Thomond, for life and also given the Inchiquin barony.

Signor Marconi first made the acquaintance of Miss O'Brien a year ago when staying at Lord Donraven's house near Limerick. Three years ago Signor Marconi was engaged to a beautiful Indianapolis girl, but the engagement was broken through the jealousy of the father. Marconi gave a supper to Louis Glaser, the comic opera star, and was taken to task by his fiancée, with the result that the engagement was broken.

Marconi was born September 23, 1874, at Bologna, and educated at Leghorn. He carried out his first wireless telegraph experiments at Bologna. The first public test was made in England between Penarth and Weston and then by the Italian ministry of marine at Spezia. In 1899 he established wireless communication between France and England across the English channel. His system is now used exclusively by Lloyd's and the principal shipping companies in England and abroad, as well as by the British and Italian admiralties in their respective navies. Marconi was the first to receive signals by his system of wireless telegraph across the Atlantic from Poldhu, Cornwall, to St. Johns, New Foundland, a distance of 2,100 miles. He has been decorated by the czar with the Order of St. Anne and created by the king of Italy commander of the Order of St. Maurice and St. Lazarus and grand cross of the Order of the Crown of Italy.

VANDAL DIPLOMAT MUTILATES OLD RELIC

(Journal Special Service.)
Washington, March 15.—The historic table upon which rested the Bible kissed by Theodore Roosevelt when he took the oath of office is in a repair shop as a result of an act of vandalism committed by a member of the diplomatic corps on inauguration day. When the president left the stand the diplomatist is said to have drawn a knife and cut a piece half an inch thick and four inches long out of the old mahogany table. The police saw the act, but as foreign diplomatists are immune from arrest, did not act. The table is being repaired, but will no longer be usable in its entirety. All the presidents since Buchanan have kissed the Bible which rested on the old bit of mahogany.

H. C. WORTMAN FOUND NEW IDEAS IN EAST

H. C. Wortman, of the firm of Olds, Wortman & King, returned last night from an eastern trip that has occupied nearly two months. Homeward bound he visited points of interest in Colorado and California. His primary purpose in the east was to purchase stock for this year's delivery. He says he bought office as heavily as usual, in the belief that business will be very large in Portland this year as a result of the exposition. He found that everywhere in the east the people were informed as to the scope of the Lewis and Clark fair, and were interested also in what they had heard about the Pacific northwest, and that many were coming with the combined purpose to see the country and the exposition. While in some of the large eastern cities he did not fail to observe their methods in public improvement, and he returns home with new ideas. He thinks the city should be cleaned and billboards removed.
