

WAS ONCE ASSOCIATED WITH JEROME B. CHAFFEE

David H. Moffat, Denver millionaire, saves heritage for Mrs. Grant.

TAKE CHARGE OF PROPERTY AND WHEN SOLD REFUSES EXECUTOR'S FEES.

Years after the death of Senator Chaffee came the sale of the Kittredge building last Thursday is due to the generosity of David H. Moffat.

They organized the First National bank and Senator Chaffee was at one time president of that institution.

When Mr. Moffat made his final statement of his stewardship and asked to be discharged the court suggested he had better pay the bill for executor's fees against the estate.

"We were partners on the square when he was alive, and we will be partners on the square now that he is dead."

The executor's fees, reckoned at a 5 per cent basis, which is allowed by law, would have given Mr. Moffat more than $50,000.

BOY SAVES SIX MEN FROM RIVER GRAVES

Fishing Party in Rotten Boat is Swamped and Thrown into the Stream.

Charles Postage, a 15-year-old lad of 531 Loring street, rescued six young men from drowning in the Willamette river off the coast of Astoria.

The men were Felix Lesser of this city and William Smith, Ray Harding, P. J. Malross, Jacob Krutwig and Harry Davis.

At this juncture a steamer came up six-and-a-half miles and it caused the skiff to fill so rapidly that the occupants saw their heads above water.

The young men lost all their fishing tackle. The owner of the boat refused the money they had paid for the rent of it.

ASKS WISCONSIN TO AID CENTENNIAL

The Wisconsin society of Portland, Or., feels greatly humiliated at the failure of Wisconsin to make an appropriation for the Lewis and Clark fair.

Such was the telegram sent to Governor R. M. La Follette of Wisconsin last night by Jay S. Hamilton and John L. Lamont.

There was a large attendance at the meeting of the society last night, and the action of the state legislature of Wisconsin was severely criticized for the stand taken regarding the appropriation for a Lewis and Clark exhibit.

A paper prepared by President John K. Kollock was read by H. L. Powers, reviewing the work done by the society since its organization.

BODY OF CAPT. POVEY WILL ARRIVE TODAY

The body of Captain George W. Povey, who died in Manila, February 24, 1905, reached Portland today.

At the outbreak of the war with Spain he enlisted in the volunteer service and was sent to Manila.

Relief trains, wrecking outfits and hundreds of laborers with steam shovels were hurried to the scene of the wreck.

FOUR KILLED IN WRECK BY TUNNEL CAVING IN

Relief trains, wrecking outfits and hundreds of laborers with steam shovels were hurried to the scene of the wreck.

The Kaiser, according to the Frankfurter Zeitung, said: "That is a great pity and will result in a considerable loss to the steamship company."

IMPULSIVE ACTION ON RAMSEY'S REFORMATION FROM WABASH RAILROAD SITUATION

Senator Ramsey's reformation from the Wabash railroad situation.

FIGHT FAR MORE BITTER THAN PEOPLE IMAGINE

Financial circles believe object is to sell Big Colorado Company.

"Fruitless efforts to solve this problem have been made by President Ramsey, owing to interference on the part of the Goulds."

Some months ago Mr. Gould, in order to widen the field of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, at the advice of Colonel F. J. Hearne, formerly of Pittsburgh, reduced the rates on the Missouri Pacific and other Gould lines to the east on iron and steel articles.

The American Steel & Wire company had a rich trade in wire and wire nails of which Colonel Hearne desired a portion and he secured it owing to the new rates.

A warning to Mr. Gould was given and then the traffic managers of the corporation, through Mr. Keefe of the American Steel & Wire company, their chairman, were instructed by President Corey to discontinue routing freight over the Gould lines.

It is declared by a corporation official that President Ramsey was powerless to prevent this situation, which was really created by intimate friends of Mr. Gould.

The last important act Andrew Carnegie did before he retired from the steel business was to sign a contract with Mr. Gould and Ramsey to give the Missouri Pacific Railroad a fourth of the Carnegie steel company tonnage in central traffic territory if it would build into Pittsburgh and make connection with the Union railroad.

President Ramsey is reported to have become exasperated at the thought that the splendid life he had built into Pittsburgh could not get a portion of the tonnage freight, although he possessed an almost invaluable contract.

Friends of Mr. Gould say that he is in raptures over the prospect of the contract and that he is playing every unwilling to concede the Colorado Fuel position. There is no doubt in financial circles that he desires to force the steel corporation to buy the big Colorado proposition.
