For alleged fraudulent disposition of $1,837.93 worth of bicycles by W. B. Kernan, agent for the National Cycle company, the United States Fidelity & Guarantee company denies liability on a $5,000 bond which the company gave to indemnify for Kernan's actions. The denial is contained in the third amended answer of the Fidelity company to a complaint that claimed $1,837.95 on account of Kernan's alleged wrongful disposition of the bicycles. The company contends that its bond was nullified by the changes made in the contract between Kernan and the Miami company after the bond had been given according to the terms of the original contract, and that the Fidelity company was not notified of the change.

WILL SELL PEANUTS

Candidates for Positions as Policemen Ineligible Because of Physical Disability.

REJECTED APPLICANTS WORRY MAYOR VERY MUCH

John Rankin Will Not Willingly Give Up Good Place to Married Man.

The municipal civil service commission yesterday discovered on looking over the examination papers that five of the candidates who applied for positions as firemen were disqualified because of physical infirmities. "Reject them," said Mayor Williams, "and within a few days they will come to me for permits to peddle peanuts. Everybody who has anything the matter with him comes after free permits to peddle and bothered nearly to death with them."

John Rankin, through Attorney John F. Logan, appealed to the commission to be reinstated in the position of regular inspector in the city engineer's department. On March 1 Rankin was transferred from the regular to the irregular work and A. C. Gross was given the place by City Engineer Wanser. The men took the same examination and were appointed the same day; but it is said that W. C. Elliott, former city engineer, reduced Gross in the department and gave Rankin the more desirable position. Gross is a married man while Rankin is not, and it was thought by Mr. Wanser that married men should be given the preference in positions, other qualifications being equal. The hearing of the appeal was set for May 11.

J. N. Atterbury, working at Tacoma, and C. B. Joden, in California, have been notified by the secretary that they are on the eligible list for patrolmen, and that a position awaits them if they desire the appointments. They will report immediately for duty.

E. W. Paget notified the commission that he rejected the position of assessment deputy in the city auditor's department on being informed by Auditor Devlin that it was only temporary. "Is that not a permanent position?" inquired A. A. Courtney.

Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, one of Brooklyn's most celebrated preachers, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church in that city, is expected to arrive in the city on his way to the fair. He has accepted the invitation extended by Dr. E. P. Hill to take part in the civic conference at the fair. He will address the conference on the afternoon of August 27.

Others who have accepted this far include: Bishop Potter, of New York; Dr. E. A. Ross, of the University of Wisconsin; Frank J. Goodwin, Columbia university; F. Louis Solden, superintendent of schools, St. Louis; Samuel M. Lindsay, Wharton school of finance, Philadelphia; and Henry H. Leichter, New York City board of education.

William Glassman, mayor of Ogden, Utah, a prominent member of the Republican party, and a man whose energy would never permit him to remain out of a political melee, is visiting Portland for the purpose of viewing the fair. Mr. Glassman is the publisher of the Ogden Standard, which is offering free trips to the exposition to the 16 young women voted the most beautiful in his county. While here Mayor Glassman arranged for side-trips for the contestants to be taken to the river, with a couple of days at Seaside.

Elks and their friends enjoyed another pleasant evening at the county fair in the Armory last night, and the attendance was large. The contests for the most popular traveling man and the most popular Elk are becoming exciting, and the good-natured rivalry is adding to the zest of the affair. The dancing in the large ballroom on the second floor continues to attract the young couples; more than 500 persons were on the floor last night. The vaudeville show in the main room had six acts and elicited rounds of applause.

For tomorrow afternoon and evening big events are on the program. In the afternoon ballroom there is an exhibition, and in the evening all articles not sold before that time are to be auctioned. Some of the things to be sold are valued highly and competition is sure to be lively among the bidders. The fair closes tomorrow night.

BICYCLE RACE

Good Roads People Behind Automobile Contest From Gotham to Portland.

R. W. RICHARDSON'S HOPES FOR BETTER HIGHWAYS

Will Aid Oregon in Fight for Improved Facilities for State Travel.

R. W. Richardson, secretary of the National Good Roads association, who came to Portland yesterday and addressed the Oregon Development league convention, will remain in the state several weeks. His immediate business is to complete arrangements for the national convention of his association at the Lewis and Clark fair, and he will see about the good roads matter in the subject matter. "One of the most interesting events of the National Good Roads association has in prospect is an automobile race from New York City to Portland," said Richardson. "President W. H. Meyer is now in the east arranging for such a race. The date and details have not been decided on, but it is expected the contest will be held early this summer. It is not contended that an automobile race across the continent will contribute anything toward actual road improvement work, but it will serve to call attention to the good roads question, and awaken an interest among the people all along the route, and in addition it will receive a large amount of newspaper publicity that will advertise Portland and the Lewis and Clark fair."

"During my stay in Oregon I hope to see and assist in some good roads making demonstrations, both here and at Pendleton. We must do everything that is possible to get the attention of the public on this subject and push the work of education home to the people, particularly to county officials and rural taxpayers. The good roads question is just beginning to be understood in the west, and it takes an amount of talking, whistling, and what is termed 'hot air' to get any large movement started."

In this connection, Colonel Richardson told of a little girl who he heard of while on her mother in a railroad coach while the train was standing at a station. The little one waited with increasing anxiety for the sensation of feeling the car move. Presently she exclaimed, "There's a whistle, mother; now we'll go!"

BRILLIANT PARTY LAST OF THE SEASON

Scottish Rite Masons Entertain Splendidly Many Friends From Salem.

Mirth and music mingled last night at the Scottish Rite cathedral to make the last of the season's balls one of unbroken pleasure. Inaugurated by the brightly lighted up a scene of great brilliancy as the Scottish Rite Masons and their favored friends danced in the mirrored hall, and beautiful gowns mingled with the huge palms and bright flowers to create a scene of exquisite coloring. This was the most elaborate of the season's balls and there were in addition to the Portland guests, some 50 couples from Salem, who honor the ball was called "Salem night."

E. S. Jackson, chairman of the reception committee, was largely responsible for the success of the affair. In returning thanks to the guests, Mr. E. Werlein, C. E. Rumelin, F. C. Wasserman, W. C. Francis and W. C. Knighton. Delicious claret punch was served in the small supper room, and late in the evening elaborate refreshments were served in the large banquet room downstairs, where covers were laid for 500. Small palms were used in table decoration. Throughout the evening the card rooms, and the handsome ladies' parlor was opened for social intercourse. There were cigars for the men in the library.

DE'LL LEFT OOR TOON, SAY THE PREACHERS

Dr. Meyer Suggests Likeness Between Satan and Common or Garden House Thief.

Dr. Meyer spoke last night at the White Temple on "Sin and Temptation," saying in part: "I am not going to argue about the devil. It is the clever thing to preach that there is none. In any country where a band of thieves want to make an incursion on the houses of a city, they get it in the papers that they have gone to another town. The papers and some of the pulpits are giving that sort of notice on behalf of the devil. I prefer Christ's opinion on the subject to that of any one else who is yet appeared. Anyway, the man who is trying to be good is more likely to find out about the devil than one who is making no effort in that direction, because he never needs to be bothered with that kind—he has them safe enough, anyhow."

"Sin, of course, does not consist in being tempted, but in yielding ourselves to the temptation. We cannot help being tempted, but we can call for Christ's help, and shut our hearts against the temptations, and see to it that they find no lodgment within us. The better you are, the more likely you are to be tempted—the devil does not try to steal your soul, green fruit. Never believe people who talk to you about their being perfect. They are usually so perfectly humble that they are very proud of it. The more nearly perfect a man is, the more sense he will have of his own imperfection."

After the services at the church last night a company of men led by Dr. Broucher accompanied Mr. Meyer to the north end and held a brief meeting at Third and Burnside streets, after which the crowd followed into the Men's Rest room, where Dr. Meyer spoke in a straightforward and appealing way to the men on the subject of leading better lives. This is in line with his great work in London, and the men seemed much impressed.

HOME SELF-CONTROL SUBJECT OF LECTURE

Mrs. A. D. Soper gave an exceptionally interesting paper at the meeting of the Home Training association yesterday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. on "Self-Control in the Home." The most irresistible of temptations to the busy mother, and this must be controlled. "The woman who allows social life to encroach upon her time or who is a slave to housework is an example of uncontrolled activity," said Mrs. Soper. "One who spends all her time seeing that her child may look prettier than others shows uncontrolled vanity. Careless expenditure of money or any uncontrolled ambition will leave its mark on the child."

"The same principle applies to the man who allows business or social interests to monopolize his time. Discipline in the home should not be a matter of physical superiority. The most Christian thing a child can learn is not that he is being governed, but that he is governing himself."

CEDAR PARK NOT OPEN SUNDAY

St. Johns Man Dares City Officials to Grant License to the Place.

TOWN IS NOT HUNTING DAMAGE SUITS JUST NOW

Safe Course Chosen and Some Compromise Will Probably Be Effected.

The east side office of The Journal is in the new building on East Morrison street. Telephone East 275.

Cedar park will not open Sunday as announced, and though they are sorry to lose the $10 the day's amusement would pay, the city fathers of St. Johns have notified the park management that the place must not be opened. One lone citizen believes that Saturday should be kept sacred and prefers to labor on Sunday, therefore the cool noods in Cedar park will remain beyond the reach of Sunday crowds for a time.

W. Brown of St. Johns conducts a repair shop and shooting gallery, and pays a license for the latter. On Saturday the gallery is closed, but on Sunday it has been kept open. Recently the marshal informed Brown that he would have to keep his gallery closed on Sunday unless the marshal at any time Cedar park or any other place of amusement in the town limits, opened it would be closed by legal action.

PECULIAR BOND ELECTION.

St. Johns Special Poll May Result in Strange Combination.

At the next meeting of the St. Johns council, Monday evening, action will probably be taken authorizing a special election for the purpose of voting $10,000 in bonds to purchase public utilities. A rough estimate of the cost of the various items has been prepared by the council committee, and with modifications these will be voted on by the people, the charter making it necessary that each bond state what it is issued for. A bond of $1,700 is needed to purchase fire apparatus, one for more than $4,000 to build a school hall, one for $1,500 to purchase a hall site, one of $600 for a public dock, and one of $400 to pay the debt incurred when the present hall was built. As each bond is voted on separately, the people have the power to defeat any one or more, and it is entirely possible that the election may have the strange result of providing for the building of a school hall and not making provision for the purchase of a site for it. It is believed by the city officials, however, that the voters will authorize the issuing of full amount, a matter which has not been unanimously endorsed the various bonds.

DRINKING CARBOLIC ACID.

The young son of I. E. Staples of Piedmont lies at the point of death from swallowing a large dose of carbolic acid. The child received the bottle of acid from the hidden storekeeper Mr. Staples had placed it and drank part of the contents. The mother discovered the child in agony a few minutes later and ran with him to the nearest neighbor, who summoned a doctor and a doctor called. The acid had taken effect however that the child's condition was critical, and his recovery is doubtful. The peculiar thing about the accident was that the boy, after swallowing a portion of the acid, replaced the cork in the bottle, though suffering intensely.

ST. JOHNS NEEDS HOUSES.

If 50 houses were completed next week in St. Johns they would all be rented at good prices before the week ended. Every real estate man in the place has been turning away prospective citizens daily because there were no houses for rent. Several places are for houses and many houses are being built by those who will make their homes in them when completed, but capital has not become interested enough to build flats and rent at a profit for rent. Local capital may soon take hold of the problem and provide a few houses to meet the large demand, but at present there is no indication that the hundreds who seek homes in the town will be accommodated.

MARRIAGE AT HALF PRICE.

Recorder Hanks of St. Johns performed the first marriage of his term as justice of the peace this week when he united H. A. Fuller and Miss Della Childs in holy matrimony. When asked why they came such a distance to be married the groom replied: "We had heard so much of St. Johns that we thought we might as well get married here." The officier was well pleased at this betrayal of interest that he cut the legal fee in half and the first civil marriage of the year in the town was a cut rate one. Auditor Hanks however desires it distinctly understood that he is not going to follow the precedent set by a former St. Johns justice who married all couples free of charge and threw in a lithographed license.

SEEK FUNDS FOR MILL.

Desiring to have enough funds pledged to make the venture a certain success, T. W. Clark has secured a two months extension of the option on the mill site in Sellwood. Mr. Clark has for months been interesting local capitalists in the project of establishing a big paper mill on the site formerly occupied by the Portland-wooden mills and some influential east-side men have backed yet. The money pledged has not the success of the mill certain from the start, and the installation of the machinery in the old buildings and the erection of new structures will be delayed for some weeks yet. Mr. Clark, however, has no doubt that his project will secure the necessary funds and the Sellwood Commercial association is confident that the mill will be built this season.
