

SOCIETY TURNING TO OPEN EAR PLEASURES

THEIR long-awaited relaxation has come at last, and society has donned its sackcloth and ashes and is in a mood of activity. Perhaps, after all, there is method in this madness. Securing costumes, tailors, dressmakers, or anything of that sort and getting the desired result in the twinkling of an eye is, in itself, though requiring more persistence and tact than muscle. One needs rest for this, and one does not want anything new by the time the season opens. It would be silly to get out of the question to appear in public in ancient garb when all the world is in new dress, and the simplest solution is to remain indoors. But what a burst of glory greets the eye when the wind out doors commences. Probably more beautiful creations in gowns and bonnets have been seen the past week than at any time in the past three months. And certainly no one can complain of lack of chance to display her new glory. The Old Ladies' home tea on Easter Monday was a dazzling scene of light and color. The invitations were generously responded to, and spring seemed to be in the air.

The Scottish rite ball Thursday evening was another event that called out many. It was a brilliant affair, enjoyed by all. Most of the other affairs were more informal, but every one had opportunity to go and to go often.

Easter and after-Easter weddings were popular this year, and a number of important ones were celebrated. Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Mackenzie, who were married in Spokane, Wednesday, Mrs. Mackenzie will be known here in social circles as Mrs. Brown, and she is prominent in society in Spokane. Miss Edith Egan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Worthington, of this city will not return here to live but her many friends were interested in her marriage. Thursday evening to W. A. Worthington of Chicago. The wedding took place in Sacramento, where Mrs. Worthington and her daughter have been spending the winter. The bride and groom returned in a private car with Mr. and Mrs. A. Worthington to Portland where they will pass a part of their honeymoon. The groom is a brother of Mr. Worthington of Portland.

Tennis is revived with the advent of spring weather. Sunrise walks, too are becoming a fad, and a short time ago a band of Portland academy girls went to Council Crest to see the sunrise. It is hard to resist the spring weather, and the extra energy must be worked off through athletics or walking.

The art museum has been visited by crowds of art lovers who have gone to see the photographic exhibit, many of whom enthusiastically over the art. Almost every one goes back.

EVENTS OF THE WEEK.

The opening of the after Lent season has come to center itself in importance about the Easter Monday tea, given annually at the Hobart-Curtis by the Old Ladies' Home society. It has become a very brilliant and fashionable event and is a fitting return to the brightness of the remaining season. This year the affair outshone all the preceding teas, and compliments were heard on all sides for the skillful arrangement of the tea, the entertainment and the exquisite beauty of decorations and gowns.

The Tuesday Afternoon club met last week at the home of Mrs. Otto Hirsch, 149 Sixth street. An elaborate luncheon was served by the hostess at 1:30 o'clock. Assisting her were Mrs. Merwin Pugh and Mrs. Florence E. Stahlinger. The table and room were decorated with snowflakes and blue and white. Mrs. L. C. LaBarre and Mrs. E. C. Stewart were guests of the hostess and of the club. The subject of study was the drama. The origin and development of the drama were discussed by Mrs. Florence E. Stahlinger. Mrs. E. C. Stewart presented the past play and gave a review of "The Shepherd's Play." Mrs. F. M. Miles discussed the same play and presented "St. Nicholas." Mrs. Merwin Pugh presented "The Creation," Mrs. G. M. Gilman, the morality play and reviewed "Mankind," and Mrs. A. J. Stiles reviewed "King John." The next meeting of the club will be with Mrs. Dunham, East Forty-first and Clinton streets, Tuesday, May 2. Professor H. H. Herdman of the English department of Portland academy will deliver a lecture on "The Literary." This will close the year's work for the club.

One of the enjoyable events of the week was the meeting of the Lewis society at the home of the president, John M. Lewis, 604 East Ankeny street, Friday evening, April 21. The rooms were beautifully decorated with a profusion of white flowers and music filled in the time agreed upon. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. John M. Lewis, assisted by Miss Edith and Ione Lewis, and Mrs. Viola Lewis. The program presented were Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Lewis, Cyrus T. Lewis, Andrew T. Lewis, Miss Elizabeth Lewis, Andrew Nicholson Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Harmon A. Lewis, Fred W. Lewis, Miss Edna Lewis, Miss Mattie L. Lewis, Mrs. M. Lewis Heming, Charles A. T. Lewis, Jr., Mrs. O. R. Lewis, Miss Abby A. Lewis, Mrs. W. Lewis, Mrs. L. W. Lewis, Miss Letta F. Lewis, Miss Viola Lewis, Hayes, Miss Nellie W. Cogwell, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Lewis and Wade V. Lewis. Miss Ione Lewis and Wade V. Lewis.

Corinthian chapter, No. 54, Order of Eastern Star, gave an enjoyable entertainment at their hall last week. A large number of friends were in attendance. Miss May Belle Names gave Robert J. Burdette's "The La Rue Stakes," and her reading was excellent. Miss Anna English gave a violin solo, "Sweet Spirit, Hear My Prayer," which was very well received. Selections from Verdi's and Donizetti's operas were given by Madame and Signor Ferrari and Ralph Gowanlock. Signor Ferrari and Ralph Gowanlock also gave a solo, and the orchestra closed the fine program with a number of selections. Refreshments were served in the supper room.

Mrs. Fred Baller entertained the Saturday Afternoon Whist club yesterday at her home, 564 Davis street.

A delightful card party was given by Mrs. M. Cohn, Mrs. B. Schwartz and Mrs. Max G. Cohen for 50 guests last week. The game played was 40. The decorations of the rooms were brilliant, colored incandescents nestled among the green of the festooned garlands draped from corner to corner. Smilax sprigs separated the rooms and were topped back gracefully with knots of lilies. The orchestra of the hall played throughout the afternoon. The prizes were a handsome set glass olive dish, a silver bon-bon holder and a hand-painted plate. The consolations were small Indian baskets of candy. Elaborate refreshments were served after cards in the dining room, large centerpieces of lilies and fern decking the tables.

Musical numbers were given at intervals throughout the afternoon and were highly appreciated. Miss Helen MacEwan's piano numbers—"Etude de Concert" (Chopin) and "The Butterfly" were given with much individual charm. W. G. Hodgson, tenor, gave an old Welsh song, "Ah, Through the Night," and "Daddy to Me Only With Thine Eyes." Lady Anna von Rigenard in a new contralto here and made her first appearance Monday. She sang a group of folk songs of Sweden, and easily pleased her audience, with her sweet voice and pretty interpretation. Dr. W. M. Campbell followed with two baritone solos, Anton Zilm's "Scene de Ballet" (Bierot), on the violin, was excellently rendered.

About 60 members of the George Wright club and post, accompanied by several friends, spent a delightful evening at the new home of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Johnson, 3100 Irving street, Wednesday evening, and participated in the "house-warming." Much admiration was expressed by the guests for the arrangement of the house. Tables were arranged with white and red, and the instrumental and vocal music were enjoyed. The president of the club, Mrs. Packard, with appropriate remarks, presented Mrs. F. J. Johnson with a set of china dishes, a protest from the club. Refreshments were served at 10:30 o'clock.

The East and West Side Lewis and Clark Whist club was entertained last Tuesday evening by Mrs. A. B. Gibbs, 448 Market street. The rooms were very pretty with dogwood and snowflakes in profusion and streamers and pennants in the national colors. At white prizes were awarded Mrs. R. P. Graham and Professor Draper. Refreshments were served at the card tables, the niece of the hostess, Miss Frances Gray, Miss Anna Noon and Miss Grace Wallace, assisting her. The club will meet next time with T. Reed and the Misses Reed in Irvington.

Miss Cornelia Wilson entertained the Wishbone Whist club, Thursday evening at her home, 229 Thirteenth street. A few cut flowers in vases made the rooms attractive. At what Stanley James received first prize, and Miss Frances Gray, second. Refreshments were served at the card tables. Mrs. Wilson assisting the young hostess. Music passed away the remaining time pleasantly. Miss Clara Gray and Gus Trammie assisted Mrs. Wilson in the evening. Stanley James will entertain the club May 11 at his home, 192 Thirteenth street.

A number of the younger society set their sights on the golf links at the golf links last Wednesday. About 30 couples were in attendance, and it was one of the pleasantest events of the season. Among those present were, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baller, Mrs. M. C. Stewart, Miss Bryan, Miss Kathleen Burns, Miss Daisy Bryan, Miss Miriam Strong, Miss Alice Sibson, Miss Susie Stott, Miss Kaurie King, Miss Amy Hethley, Miss Frances Lewis, Chester Murphy, E. C. Ball, Mrs. W. H. Herber, Nichols, Rodney Gilman, Walter Beebe, Bert Mackay, Tom Robertson, George Warren.

A reception was given at the First Presbyterian church Wednesday evening in honor of the members who have been received since the evangelistic meetings. There was a large attendance, and an exceptionally fine program of music was given. Miss Edgings, Mrs. Fletcher Linn and Miss Grace Gilbert gave songs, which were highly appreciated and the Mens' Quartet, male quartet, gave some numbers. Punch was served at two tables throughout the evening, and members of the Young Women's Missionary society of the church, which had charge of the reception served it.

Mrs. C. E. S. Wood, charmingly handsome, entertained at her home, 400 E. Main street, Wednesday evening. She was hostess in the dining room; Miss Palling, also gowned in ecru and white, assisted her in receiving. Tea was poured and served by Mrs. Allen Lewis, in white embroidered mouseline; Miss May Palling, in dotted swiss and lace insertions; Miss Lewis, in white embroidered chiffon cloth, and Mrs. Ernest Tucker, in white embroidered crepe. The girls who assisted in serving were Miss Leslie Knapp, Miss Lila Wood, Miss Edith Morrison and Miss Josephine Smith.

In the reception rooms much admiration was accorded the daintily constructed candy and lemonade tables. Mrs. F. Russell presided at the candy table, and the color scheme of lilac and white was sustained throughout, even in the assistants' costumes. Lilacs and white satin ribbon made the table attractive, and Mrs. Russell wore a table with a lilac-wreathed white hat. Miss Ruth Maxwell, wearing white, net with a hat of violets, and Miss Harriet Calkins, white wool and a white hat, assisted her.

Mrs. George McBride, radiant in white just cloth, made a pretty picture at the lemonade table, with her assistants, Mrs. D. A. Schindler, Mrs. Frederick A. Sykes and Miss Hoyt, all in white. A huge block of white was used as a table, and the yellow daisies frozen in it made a pretty design. The punch bowl rested in a hollow in the center. Yellow broom branches were banded about the base of the block, and colored incandescents lighted the whole from below, giving a brilliant effect.

Mrs. F. Johnson entertained a number of friends at dinner Thursday evening at her residence, South Mount Tabor, in honor of her husband's birthday. The occasion was all the more interesting as it was the anniversary of the birthday of two of the guests, W. B. Penneycook and Charles Nebill. A most enjoyable evening was passed. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Penneycook, Mrs. Antonson, Mrs. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Larson, Mrs. Larson, Mrs. Wing, Walter Johnson.

Miss L. Bernard, manager of the Olds, Wortham & King apparel departments, very pleasantly entertained 45 of the women in her employ at a theatre party at the Columbia on Wednesday evening. The party was given in compliment to Miss Countess, who leaves this week for New York.

Mrs. John Eben Young entertained very informally Friday afternoon for Miss Mead, who has recently returned from the east to spend the summer in Oregon. The guests were: Miss Mead, Miss Flanders, Miss Myrick, Miss Hoyt, Miss Von Destinn, Miss Olga Von Destinn.

Miss Alice Howe, a student at Portland academy, gave a delightful house party to about 15 of her academy friends at her country home at Carlton last week. The good time lasted from Saturday to Wednesday of the spring vacation week.

The Friday Afternoon Bridge club met last week with Mrs. Alan Welch Smith at 478 Tenth street. The room was very pretty with quantities of yellow Scotch broom in old brass and Indian baskets. Dainty refreshments were served at the tables after cards.

The Ohio society met at the Knights of Pythias hall, Marquam building, Friday evening. After a musical program a social hour followed and refreshments were served.

The regular sewing meeting of the George Wright Relief Corp was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. J. Johnson, on Overton street, between Twenty-first and Twenty-second streets.

Miss Lou Flanders gave an elaborate birthday dinner Friday to 15 of her girl friends.

WEDDINGS.

A pretty Easter wedding took place at St. Lawrence church, Wednesday, at 5 o'clock. The bride was Miss Edith Egan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Schanen, and the groom was Walter W. Wilson. Before the ceremony Mrs. Guy Haftery, cousin of the groom, sang Wilson G. Gandy's "Thou Art Like unto a Flower," accompanied on the organ by George Houghton, who played the wedding march. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, and her little sister, Toota, who was the bridesmaid, Rev. John C. Hughes read the ceremony.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white organdie over tulle and trimmed elaborately with handsome lace. She wore a long tulle veil and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies with the valley. Organist, Miss Edith Egan, read the ceremony. The bride's mother was assisted in receiving by Mrs. M. Wilson, mother of the groom, and Miss Sadie Imhoff. Punch was served by Miss Edith Egan. In the afternoon, Mrs. Ed Schanen, Mrs. Henry Banzer and Miss Gaanion, graciously presided at the table.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will be at home after May 1 in their new home, 512 Front street.

On Wednesday evening, at the home of Mrs. E. W. Kiplinger, a very pretty wedding was celebrated. The bride, Miss Edith Egan, was assisted by her relatives and intimate friends of the contracting parties, when Miss Anna B. Kiplinger became the wife of Odaville Taylor. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. W. Plumer, of the First English Evangelical church.

The home was tastefully decorated, palms, Easter lilies and white carnations with a bank of Oregon grape making a rich effect in the back parlor, where the ceremony was performed. The front parlor was in pink carnations. The wedding party stood beneath a canopy of smilax, from which were hung dainty clusters of lilies of the valley and ferns.

The bride was attended by Miss Grace Dittler, and the groom by H. P. Linn. C. E. Bradford gave the bride away. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Paul Bradford, nephew of the bride, and Virgil Yates, brother of the groom, in white suits, carrying bouquets of pink carnations. Miss Edith Egan played Mendelssohn's wedding march. The bride was charmingly costumed in white pearl tulle, and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. The bridesmaid was prettily gowned in French celina and carried pink carnations.

After the ceremony and congratulations a dainty luncheon was served by Mrs. C. E. Bradford, sister of the bride, assisted by Miss Edith Egan and Miss Smith. Mr. and Mrs. Yates will be at home to their friends at 414 East Market street.

A wedding of some prominence in Oregon City was solemnized Wednesday evening, when Miss Kate Mark of that place became the bride of Charles Bluhm, of Portland. The ceremony was pronounced by Rev. H. Bollinger in the Congregational church, in the presence of several hundreds of friends.

The church was profusely decorated with maiden-hair fern, Oregon grape, Solon seal and white carnations. Miss Vera Williams played the wedding march and four of the bride's young friends were ushered, including Miss Gilky, Miss Buchanan, Miss Cheney and Miss Ethel Albright. All were gowned in blue silk organdie. Miss Echo Sampson, gowned in blue chiffon and carrying a bouquet of white carnations, and the bride herself wore white chiffon, with the veil and orange blossoms, and carried a shower of white carnations. She entered on the arm of her father, Little Alice, Bollinger, and Shannon Fetlinger were flower girls, dressed all in white. They carried baskets filled with white flowers.

A reception was given afterward at the home to about 100 guests. The decorations were green and white, with roses and carnations everywhere. With the bride and groom Mr. and Mrs. J. M.

Charles Bluhm and His Oregon City Bride.

Mark received in an alcove window, draped with lavender ribbons; the lamps and candles had lavender shades. In the dining-room elaborate refreshments were served. The table was beautifully set with a huge pyramid of white roses, broken at intervals with lavender fleur-de-lis. Lavender lights here, too, added to the pretty effect. Mrs. Sarah A. Evans served salad at the table, and Miss M. Evelyn Hurley, centrally seated, was served in the reception-room by Mrs. Pettinger.

Mr. and Mrs. Bluhm came immediately to Portland, where they have a home. Many Portland friends attended the ceremony, among them Mr. and Mrs. Crozier and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Wickersham.

Miss Luella O'Dell and Felix Dielschneider were married Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, 256 Twelfth street. Rev. William E. Gilbert read the ceremony. Miss Edith Egan was bridesmaid, and Christ Anderson, groomsmen. Miss Amelia Jones played the wedding march. The house was elaborately decorated with greens and white roses and carnations. The bride was gowned in white organdie and carried bride roses, and her maid, also in white, carried pink carnations. An elaborate supper was served after the ceremony, and the evening was spent pleasantly with music.

Miss Mattie Van Houten and J. E. Jones were married Friday evening, April 11, at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Beals, 515 East Oak street. Rev. William E. Randall, of Central Baptist church, officiated. The ceremony was very quiet and simple, only a few relatives being in attendance. The bride wore her traveling costume of gray and carried bride roses. A supper was served, cut flowers decorating the table prettily. Mr. and Mrs. Jones will be at home after May 1 at 419 East Eleventh street.

A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Parrish of Hazel Creek Wednesday evening, April 19, when their daughter Florence and C. Knox Cooper were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Jennett of the Methodist Episcopal church in Hazel Creek, in the presence of a number of relatives and friends. Mr. Cooper is in business in Portland and will bring his bride here to reside.

Mrs. Emma Nichols was married to Louis C. Dunn, Easter morning at the home of G. H. Hatfield, 266 North Sixteenth street. Rev. C. W. Hays read the ceremony. The wedding was quiet and was witnessed by but few relatives. After a breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Dunn left for a trip through Washington. They will return shortly to remain in Portland and attend to the fair, and thence will go to Oklahoma to make their home.

Miss Augusta Coates and Ralph Neal were married in Marshall Street Presbyterian church on Easter Sunday afternoon. Rev. C. W. Hays officiated. Only a few friends of the bride and groom were present, but the wedding was a very pretty one in the midst of the beautiful Easter decorations.

MUSICAL NOTES.

Mrs. Olga Bartsch-Lang gave a highly successful musical evening at her home Wednesday evening. The program was "Nocturne" (Denza-Lynes), double quartet from Tuesday Afternoon club—Miss Alice Mulford, Mrs. W. G. Garty, Miss Lillian Farrell, Miss Lillian Gledhill, Miss Mamie Fryer, Miss Lillian Croasman, Miss Ethel Powers, Mrs. Olga Bartsch-Lang, "Carmena" (H. Lane Wilson), "The Wind is Awake" (Barbette), "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth" (Cantor), "For Love of You" (Hastings), C. T. The Treble Clef club will join as a body the large women's chorus, directed by Mrs. Edgar E. Courson, that is to give the charity concert at the exposition grounds, just before the opening of the fair. The club members are Miss Agnes Watt, Mrs. Lois MacMahon, Miss Helen Lytle, Mrs. Sanderson Reed, Miss Helen Brigham, Miss Kathleen Lawler, Mrs. Jordan Purvine, Mrs. J. E. Howard, Mrs. Byron E. Miller, Mrs. Ernest Laidlaw, Mrs. William C. Holman, Mrs. John Logan, Mrs. Lolla Dahl-Miller, Mrs. Berta Grimes, Miss Ethel Shea, Mrs. Walter Reed, Miss Edna Protsman.

Miss Ethel Shea, solo contralto of the First Baptist church, sang a sweetly Easter morning, and before the song had ended, half the congregation was in tears in silent tribute to this young singer's sympathetic voice and heartfelt interpretation.

The First Congregational chorus choir and quartet will give Dudley Buck's oration, "The Triumph of David," at the church a week from tonight. The composition is a strong, beautiful one, and under the direction of W. H. Boyer will be well worth hearing.

a Hank Wheroon the Wild Thyme Grows" (Parker) and "Hark, Hark, the Lark" (Schubert).

Frederick W. Goodrich, organist of St. David's church, has resigned his position as head of the piano department of the Western Academy of Music, before taking up his duties.

Mrs. Walter Reed, Miss Kathleen Lawler, Melvin Dodson and J. W. Belcher were engaged for a concert at Rainier Saturday evening.

At the meeting of the Thursday afternoon music class at the studio of Mrs. Rose Kitch-Haver, Miss Edwina Mastick did the solo work.

DANCES.

The Continental girls gave a very pleasant shirley-val party at Parsons' hall, Wednesday evening, some 200 of their friends attending. This was a very popular organization, and it is among the young people, but in the past season they have not given any dances. This complimentary party was welcomed eagerly by their friends. The music was unusually good, and continued through a program of G. Stanton. Punch was served in the hallway and delicious food in the supper room. Mrs. G. W. Baldwin and Mrs. E. Long patronized the affair. The club members are Miss Margaret W. Stecher, Miss Myrtle E. Long, Mrs. Gertie D. Wetzel and Miss Mattie L. Grant. Their guests were: The Misses Grace Campbell, Charlotte Daly, Eam Bell, M. Strenger, Minnie Troub, G. Albright, Brown, E. Miller, J. Day, E. Day, L. Day, Gusale Klein, Nellie Dornier, H. A Well Known Local Young Lady Slightly Afflicted With Distressing Headache Positively Cured.

Scarcely a week ago The Journal, through its columns, published an article wherein it touched upon the subject of people suffering from distressing headaches, stating the chief cause was undoubtedly due to some trouble connected with the eyes. That this statement proved correct the following interesting data will show, and through the courtesy of Mr. D. Chambers, the optician, of 129 Seventh street, this city, the same was obtained recently. "In connection with your article in last Sunday's issue of The Journal," said Mrs. Chambers, "in an interview with a representative of this paper, 'a very interesting case came under my observation, and one that I thought which fully justifies the statements contained therein. The vast amount of headache suffering, which people are subject to, is, fully 90 per cent of the cases are due to some trouble with the eyes, and if not properly corrected leads to very serious mental and physical complications. The case I refer to is that of a young lady who until placing herself in my hands suffered from such headaches and today is enjoying the best of health, complains absolutely of no more headaches and enjoys life, whereas previously to her eyes being properly fitted, she had been suffering for some time with pain meant. I do not care to use names for publication without consent, it would be well for your representative to interview the lady, and with her permission, the story would best be told in her own words.

Miss Grace Owings Interviewed. Having first gained Miss Owings' leave to publish the interview, she said: "Why, yes, I have no objection to The Journal publishing the facts of my case. I had been suffering for some time back with very severe headaches. I did everything that a person could do to get relief. I took all kinds of medicine and I scarcely closed my eyes. So much so that I began to fear the stitches would be too much and my brain might give way. At the advice of my physician, whom I consulted, he directed me to call on Dr. Chambers with a view of having my eyes correctly fitted. You can just imagine my delight, the same night that Mr. Chambers fitted me with glasses, I experienced immediate relief. In less than 24 hours the pains in my head had entirely disappeared, my sleep was restored, my appetite returned and you see me today the pink of good health." "I tell you," said Miss Owings, "I feel I was a very fortunate girl to fall into such skilled hands as that of Mr. Chambers, and I trust that anyone suffering with headaches will have him examine their eyes, for he can do them untold good."

Miss Owings is employed as head saleslady at the K. N. Kiriama company, 267 Washington street.
