Some Kepe Being Bought.

This is the height of the brewing seasonthe demand for hops will soon reach their limit. For about two months the present call for stocks will continue. Some orders are in this market, but on account of the good supplies are hard to buy. Some of the dealers who still have atocks are selling them to their brethren in need. T. A. Livesiey of Salem has purchased 22 bales of primes from Morris Reinstein of this city. The price paid is at present unknown, but is understood to be around present values.

Local Potatoes in Small Supply.

Local Potatoes in Small Supply.

Stocks of local potatoes in this market are very small and for this reason there was somewhat of a better call for outside goods late yesterday afternon and today. The Colorado stocks which arrived have been sold but dealers do not care for any more. Potatoes are being received from pearer polatatoes are being received from pearer polatat lower prices. The San Francisco market is showing a small increase in activity and prices are again at the top of the season. This was brought about by smaller arrivals there. Creamery Butter a Trifle Better.

The demand for creamery butter showed a very slight increase today, but there is very little chance at present for an advance in present values. Receipts are not quite so heavy. Cold storage operations have begun and this may prove a big belp to the market. The cheese market is just easy at the lower prices exclusively printed in The Journal yesterday.

MISSOURI'S PICKLE CROP.

From the Kansas City Times.

A pickle harvest is the latest thing in Missouri affeld. An order was received from a Scotland county farmer at the state labor bureau yesterday stating that he would need 50 hands on August 1 to pick pickles. The pay is 20 cents a bushel and the man writes that an industrious person could pick from 10 to 26 bushels a day. It will take six to eight weeks to harvest the crop.

A. B. Jamison, superintendent of the bureau, said yesterday that he would send families out to do the work, in that way giving employment to women.

The paint used is manufactured solely by us and is especially adapted to protect roofs from moss and fire. It contains no creosote or other ingredients injurious to in gutters. Our modern process enables us to paint them all over as cheaply as you can paint a few inches on the roof.
