GLAFKE WILL DO AS HE PROMISES!

Mr. Glafke, in responding to a call to speak, said: "If elected, I will appoint a chief of police who will enforce the law, and, if the first one appointed does not do his duty, I will find another who will."

"I am allied with no faction, machine or special interest," said he. "I have negotiated with none of these. I have gone forth on a platform of honest enforcement of the law, faithful attention to the business of the city, and a fair, square deal for every man."

Journal, April 26, 1905.

Mr. Glafke, to refute stories which he stated had been circulated in regard to him, last evening reiterated his platform and announced positively that he had made no promises to any one that were not contained in his platform, and that he had not, for a moment, thought of combination with any cabal or faction in Portland. He wanted to be Mayor, and was going to be Mayor of Portland, if it were possible for him to do so. If elected he would have a chief of police who would enforce orders, laws and ordinances to the letter, or he would keep trying until he got one, if he had to appoint a new chief every 30 days. — Evening Telegram, April 26, 1905.

Mr. Glafke was introduced and gave a brief statement of his principles and policies. He said that heretofore the business element had been shut out from participating in the administration of public affairs, but under the direct primary law the business man could make himself felt as never before.

"I differ in no way for a business administration, with no promises to anybody," declared Mr. Glafke. "If elected mayor, I shall go into office without having made a single promise to any man or set of men. It shall be my purpose to conduct the affairs of the city the same as I have my own business. Every man in office should be required to earn his salary the same as any other occupation. The chief of police must do his duty, or he will be another chief, and still another, until a man is found who will do his duty. Mr. Glafke is a homebuilder—no fear or favor for no man." — Sunday Oregonian, April 20, 1905.

The Platform "Glafke will do as he promises"

"If I am nominated and elected, I will during my term of office pledge myself to give to the City of Portland a clean business administration, or what is termed the Roosevelt plan, 'fear or favor to none; justice to all.'"

"The laws pertaining to gambling and other vices, as well as all other laws, will be enforced."

"The Police department will be compelled to enforce all ordinances. Fire and Street Departments will be made as efficient as possible."

"I will not pledge myself to any faction or set of individuals. This leaves me free to carry out a policy that will be for the best interests of all."

NEW COURSE OF STUDY ANNOUNCED

State Superintendent Ackerman Aims to Supply Practical Needs.

EFFECTIVE IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS IN SEPTEMBER

History and Civil Government Combined and Two Years Given to Complete Work.

(Special Dispatch to the Journal.)

Salem, May 4.—State Superintendent of Public Instruction J. H. Ackerman yesterday announced the new course of study which will be used in the public schools, beginning next September.

In the latter part of 1904 Professor Ackerman asked the principals of all the schools of the state for suggestions as to the revision of the course of study. In the light of these suggestions and his own experience, Mr. Ackerman has arranged the course. The state board will take final action upon it at its meeting on next Monday. Any suggestions in regard to the study course will be considered at that time. The board consists of the superintendent of public instruction, the secretary of state and the governor.

The high school course is practically unchanged and the greatest changes in the common school are in the arithmetic and history courses. Troy weight, apothecaries' liquid measure, foreign currency, the metric system, bank account, exact interest, compound interest, true discount, stocks and bonds and all problems embracing these subjects are eliminated from the arithmetic course. Professor Ackerman explains that these principles are hardly ever used by the students, and by leaving them out it will give more time to the more practical part of the work. Mental and written will be combined and only one recitation had a day. History and civil government will be combined and two years given to complete the course. In geography only one book will be used except in schools having four or more teachers and more only by a formal vote of the board of directors. A three-book course in language is not recommended at all below the high school and in reading all supplementary books will be omitted.

All the books in the new outline have been contracted for by the state and must be purchased by the pupil.

The other courses remain unchanged, with the exception that drawing and music are made optional—drawing from the first year up and music from third year up.

Following is synopsis of the course of study:

AN EAST-SIDER

Talks to Taxpayers and Business People for an Honest Open Town—What Will You Do?

In a few hours at best the municipal primaries will have been fought, lost and won. To the individual candidate it means but little. To Portland, struggling for a greater destiny, it means everything. The selection of local officers, at this period of time is of vast importance. A mistake will be fatal. So the all important question to be propounded to every citizen is, what will you do?

Will you have a brave and fearless champion of the people's rights in office?

Will you have a man who has the courage of his convictions and one who has plainly and openly proclaimed to the public his policy?

Will you have a theoretical reformer, who thinks he knows how to bring about heaven on earth, in a western town, or one who has faced evil things and who has profited by knowledge and experience?

Will you have a man in office who has studied the city's expenditures, who knows what it costs to run the city wisely and economically and would know a steal when he sees it?

Will the people of the great and flourishing east side want a man who has proved time and time again that he was outspoken for the good of the whole city and would not be partial to any locality?

Do the citizens want a man who has been in the public eye for many years and who throughout his career has never had his official actions questioned but who has devoted his best ability to the good of the city?

Will the people of Portland have a man who is honest, capable, experienced, who is the foe to graft, who is the honest friend of the laboring man and yet who has always been just to the commercial and manufacturing interests?

If you want such a man in the office of mayor of Portland, then don't be turned aside but go to the polls on primary day and vote for Fred T. Merrill, the people's open untrammeled candidate.

AT THE THEATRES.

"Parafal" Entertainment.

The following program will be given tomorrow night at the Marquam Grand theatre, when J. Alex Hanna will present Richard Wagner's great opera of "Parafal" with one of the largest animated picture machines ever exhibited.

Selection—"The Water Reed".

The curtain will rise at 8:30 o'clock.

"Red Feather" Coming.

George Van Studford in the new comic opera, "Red Feather," from the Lyric theatre, New York, will be seen at the Marquam grand for three nights, beginning Thursday, May 21, with reports say, the most magnificent stage settings of any musical production in the country, which is recognized as having one of the finest voices ever heard in light opera. She was for two seasons with the Bostonians organization. DeKoven has taken care that some unusually fine numbers fall to her share of the opera, and it is said that even the gems of his earlier work, "Robin Hood" and "The Merry Widow" will be seen at the Lyric.

Famous Play at "Empire."

"The Marble Heart" at the Empire theatre, same as pre-arranged or grand will advertisement. His plot and direction are conspicuous examples of how a masterpiece in romantic playwriting should be done, and as portrayed by the Empire Stock company scores deep interest and gives a faithful portrait of love and was told in the most romantic style. Matinee every afternoon at 2:15 o'clock; evening performance at 8:15 o'clock.

"Our Boys" Next Week.

Next week, starting Sunday matinee, the Empire Stock company will present its first comedy, which is the well known Broadway play, entitled, "Our Boys." "Our Boys" was first produced in London and was such an immense success that it continued for 1,500 consecutive nights, which is one of the world's records.

At the Grand.

Toront and O'Alia, bring to the Grand this week a novelty from the Folies Bergere, Paris. Van Fosses and McCauley, in black-face, keep the audience in a continuous roar. Rogers Name, whistler and instrumentalist, comes from the better class of entertainers. Halles and Hays show some new stunts and dance splendidly together. Mr. and Mrs. Hart in a sketch, and Little Mildred is a talented child.

At the Baker.

At the Baker Vidua and Dunlop have a clever comedy sketch entitled the "News Girl and the Duke." Alfred Anderson keeps the audience guessing whether he is a man or a woman. Jean Wilson sings "Star in Your Own Back Yard." "The Farrier Minstrel" by McCoy and Knight, is a pleasing act. There are four more clever turns on the bill, all of which are sure to please. Evenings 7:30 and 9 o'clock; afternoons at 2:30 o'clock.

The Star Show.

The future set at the Star this week is Lola Cutron, a little girl, who reads letters while blindfolded. Daisy Harcourt continues in staccato recital, without limit, and Leonard, the society dancer, is showing something new. Frontal plays the accordion, Kelm and Seimer offer a pleasing sketch and the Staroscope pictures have him which all the children will want to see.

"My Partner" at Lyric.

In "My Partner" Messrs. Keating & Flood have chosen what is proving to be the best drawing play that has been produced since the inauguration of a stock company at that popu-
