It is a grave responsibility to assume the direction of the executive's office of a great city, and attached to it are responsibilities and difficulties that might well cause any one to pause before saying that he would accept them.

Meant What He Said.

"However, I want now to say that I meant what I said Sunday morning and that I will stand for these principles, and, if the application of the ideas therein contained should land some one in the penitentiary, so much the worse for him; I would not yield one jot or tittle in carrying out the policy I have laid down as essential to the proper administration of the mayor's office.

"I believe there is an opportunity now to elect a mayor in opposition to the present incumbent, of whom I speak no word of personal abuse and concerning whom I will say no such thing in this campaign; there is an opportunity, if the elements that are opposed to the policies of Mayor Williams will unite, acting in unison to accomplish the end desired. I believe them and because I insist on standing on such a pistform, and because I will take the office of mayor, if elected, with clean hands, and then return it clean to the people, said Dr. Harry Lane, last night, in an address before the Young Men's Democratic club in Unity hall.

It was a speech that aroused to enthusiasm an audience that filled every chair in the room, sparkled with wholesome humor, and yet convinced his heariers that there was sincerity in his utterances. Prasident G. W. Allen had introduced him, with some complimentary references to Dr. Lane's statement of principles published on Sunday morning in The Journal.

With unanimous vote, the club adopted the following resolutions endorsing Dr. Lane and his coming campaign against grafting:

The central east side district has an epidemic of runaways. Within the last week there have been more than a dozen runaways. Monday a team with a heavy wagon made a five-block dash and wound up by jumping over another horse and tangling both vehicles in a confused ruin. On Monday two other flights occurred on Grand avenue, near East Morrison, and for a time it looked as though the equine population would generally revolt and run amuck. Yesterday a horse ran six blocks with used in every home.

For more than a century physicians have been sending persons suffering with catarrh to Egypt, Colorado, or Australia, where the pure, healing air would cure the disease. For one person who could take this trip, thousands have been compelled to stay at home and continue their daily toil. To these sufferers who could not change their climatic conditions, we offer Hyomei, a method by which pure air impregnated with nature's own remedies for the cure of catarrh, can be inhaled by every sufferer in his or her home. Breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, its healing, volatile, antiseptic fragrance reaches the lungs and air passages as no stomach dosing possibly can do. It gives immediate relief and makes lasting cures.

The complete outfit, consisting of the inhaler, medicine dropper, and bottle of Hyomei, costs only one dollar, and extra bottles of Hyomei, if needed, can be procured for fifty cents.

Proof that the Hyomei treatment will do all that is claimed for it is found in the guarantee under which Woodward, Clarke & Co sell it, an agreement to pay back the price, if the purchaser can say that Hyomeihas not given satisfaction.

A SIGNAL OF DISTRESS WAVES FROM TALL TOWER

Flags are displayed on prominent buildings in the business district today in honor of the convention of railway conductors.

Early yesterday a business house conceived the idea, and threw its pational banner to the breezes. The Oregonian took notice some hours later, and as the originators were advertisers it promptly raised its flag on the tower. But alas! the emblem was inverted, signifying distress. For several anxious hours the public wondered whether the hours the public wondered whether the dismal signal was the result of the primary election, or was dus merely to a severe dyspeptic relapse. A passer-by called attention to the inverted flag and it was finally adjusted, by which time several important edifices were flying the national colors.
