The British societies of Portland are aking extensive preparations for the mual celebration of Victoria day, at the armory, May 24. Mrs. Walter Reed will have charge of the musical pro-gram, and the best talent in the city will appear. There will be the usual bagpipe music, and Scotch and Irish dances. British Consul James Laidlaw will give the address of the evening. This celebration is always an interesting event and is very largely attended. Refreshments will be served at the close of the program.

After wandering in the dense undergrowth that fringes the river bank near Brooklyn for half the night, Martha Bastin, a 10-year-old girl, has returned to her home at East Tenth add Elisworth streets. The child wandered away in the afternoon. When evening came Mr. Bastin and neighbors made a thorough search of the adjacent ponds, and after pursuing their quest until midnight abandoned it in despair. About an hour later the child returned and said she had lost her way while picking flowers in the woods.

BIG POOL SPOILS LOOKS OF IRVING STREET

On Irving street, between Sixth and Seventh streets, is a big hole in which water has been standing for weeks, and for about the same length of time the property-owners have been complaining bitterly. It is on the loop of the Fifth street car line, and visitors to Portland street car line, and visitors to Fortland who board street cars are introduced to the mudhole before they have gone a block. The sight is not conducive to a favorable impression of Portland.

by Grace Van Studdiford to one of her friends regarding her first appearance in Chicago as a star:

"Before entering I sing in the wings. My voice sounded strangely to me, and my kneeshow they wanted to wobble. Just the same feeling I had when I applied for my first cugagement here. I looked toward the stage door and wanted to turn and run, but before I could make up my mind the boat I was in had reached the center of the stage, and I found myself bowing to the audience.

"It seemed an hour, probably it was less than a minute, before the applause ceased, but in that time everything seemed to come to my mind. I pictured myself landing in Chicago with my little satchel. I remembered my tramp through the streets looking for an engagement. My throat got dry; it did the same thing when I sang my trial solo.

"How many of the audiences remembered me in those days? I saw a sea of faces and tried to distinguish some one I knew. Yes, there was one the; one to whom I owe my success. It was to him I sang first in Chicago, when I was called little Grace Quive. It was Will J. Davis, who gave me my first engagement, and it was in his theatre I was making my first appearance as a star, and I sang my first number in "Red Feather" to him with the same feeling of merrounness that I sang my trial solo nine years ago. I saw him applaud me as he did then—then I grew braver, and the audience appeared to like me very much."

SPECULATORS' DUMMIES FIGHTING FOR SEATS

As the result of a scrimmage yester-day morning in front of the Marquam Grand theatre between boys who were fined up to purchase theatre tickets for scalpers, the police authorities will un-dertake to stop the business of scalp-ing theatre tickets here.

The boys who were engaged in combat called on Deputy City Attorney Fitzgerald to settle their quarrel, and after hearing the case he caused the arrest of Fred and Sam Goldberg and Abe Levith on charges of fighting. It is said a crowd of boys, in the employ of speculators, beseige the box office at the opening sale for every good show that comes to town, and buy up all the good seats in the theatre, notwithstanding the precautions of theatre managers, and these tickets are retailed at advanced prices. The deputy city attor-ney, the license officers of the police department and the municipal judge will enforce the license ordinance stringently to put a stop to the practice.

BOARD IS NOT READY TO GIVE PARK TO PENCE

After discussing the petition of Lafe Pence for permission to run a water flume through Macleay park, the city park board announced that it had arrived at no decision, and that Mr. Pence would have to walt for an answer until he next meeting on June 2.

Present at the meeting were L. L. Harkins, T. L. Eliot, Ion Lewis and J. D. Meyer for the board, Mayor Williams

D. Meyer for the board, Mayor Williams and City Engineer Wanzer.

It was stated that Colonel Hawkins and T. L. Ellot were opposed to the proposition of allowing Pencs to run his ditches through the park, and that J. D. Meyer and Mayor Williams were in favor of it. Ion Lewis had not gone on the tour of inspection, and will be taken over the ground by Mr. Pence, who will explain the proposed water system to bim.

WILL PROVE THIS THE CITY OF ROSES

to the Fair for Great Display.

> The Portland Rose society will make a departure from its annual rose show this year, which usually comes abou June 10 or 17. Saturday, June 3. is to be rose day at the fair and the Rose so-ciety is to have charge of it. All the roses that can be obtained throughout the city are to be displayed on that day in the auditorium, and an effort will be made to distinguish Pertland as the rose city by the quantities shown. They will be displayed without any competition for prizes.

Everyone who has roses, be it no more than a half dozen, is asked to contribute them, because it is only by such general giving that the quantities desired can be collected. Any who desired can be collected. Any who desire to make a special display will be given tables for the purpose. Jars and tables will be furnished by the administration, as this is given by the fair and not by any particular society, the Rose society having only the arrangements in their hands. Assistants also will be furnished by the fair

Three Famous Instruments Trav. el More Than Sixty Miles Over Mountains and Through Canyons to the Interior of Idaho.

That wealth, culture and the pursuit of progressive ideas do not follow the line of the railroads exclusively was proven by a very remarkable purchase recently made by Mr. Lee Bunch, a prominent and wealthy mining man of Garden City, Idaho.

The purchase was no less than a costly Acollan Orchestrelle, a handsome Weber plano and a Metrostyle Planola, all embodying the latest and most approved ideas of the Weber Acollan Company, the largest, wealthiest and most progressive manufacturers of musical instruments in the world.

Before reaching their destination—Mr. Bunch's handsome home at Garden City, Idaho—these instruments had to journey over the mountains from Boise a distance of over 60 miles, of very devious, rough roadway.

Probably nowhere are instruments of this character more appreciated than at places remote from musical centers. Mr. Bunch, who was one of the earliest purchasers of the Pianola when it was first introduced in the west, often found himself at a loss in interpreting a composition, and while dissatisfied with his own interpretation, could find no better authority; he was accordingly exceedingly grad to avail himself of the opportunity to secure the Metrostyle Planola, which furnishes an absolutely faultiess guide to interpretation.

The Orchestrated Music Rolls recently arranged for the Acolian Orchestrelle, are the means of directing fine proper use of the stops, so as to produce the orchestral effects intended for the composition.

Since the production of these speciality and a control of the stops.

Since the production of these especially marked music rolls, Ellers Plano House, exclusive dealers in these high-class instruments in the Northwest, has class instruments in the Northwest, has been having a simply phenomenal demand for Metrostyle Pianolas and Orchestrelles from musicians as well as maskilled, music-lovers, and also for the Pianola Piano. This latter instrument combines in a single case a piano and a Metrostyle Pianola, the famous Weber piano being one of the makes with which the Metrostyle Pianola is thus combined. So successful has this instrument proven that the Pianola Pianol strument proven that the Pianola Pianol strument proven that the Pianola Pianol struments by those who desire.
