BRIDES PREPARING FOR MONTH OF WEDDINGS

A NUMBER of delightful, informal affairs have filled the past week and society has been kept rather busy. The event was the card tournament given at Parsons' hall, Wednesday, for the benefit of the Sisters of Mercy Home for Working Girls, and this was largely attended. It was a social success, and more than that a financial success for the charity in question.

The hostesses who entertain most are hastening to pay their debts before the summer season comes on and other interests engross the attention. House parties, river parties and coast parties are rapidly adding their attractions to the spring season, and it will be only a short time before the crowds in town are broken up. Pendleton has had a busy social week, and most of the entertaining was done for Portland guests visiting there. A number of small affairs have been given also for prospective brides who have friends in Portland. The approaching marriage of Miss Ida Thompson to Seth Catlin of this place is of interest, as she will be a popular addition to the young people among whom she is already a favorite from her school days here. Mrs. Levi Ankeny of Walla Walla has been the chief honor guest of Pendleton. She is very well known here, where she often visits Mrs. Harriet K. McArthur. The convention of the O. R. C. and the Woman's auxiliary has been the cause of some social activity. Many of the visitors are being entertained at private homes by friends, and small dinners and luncheons have been given for them. Outings have been enjoyed by crowds of the visitors. May 9 was Schiller's anniversary, and the German clubs and classes observed it appropriately with programs of his work. The Portland academy annual prom, given by the seniors Friday night, was one of the leading events of the week. The number of invited guests exceeded that of any former dance, and all the secondary schools of the city were largely represented. Many of the alumni were in attendance also, and it was deemed one of the prettiest of the dances given by this popular school. The Fraternity club gave another of its dances at Parsons' hall last Saturday and it was very successful. The Hidden concert of next Wednesday evening is attracting much attention and doubtless there will be much enthusiasm shown at the first reappearance of the violinist who has always commanded the admiration of Portland audiences. Already brides are preparing for the crown month of weddings, and there was a very noticeable decrease in their number for the present month. No weddings of great social importance have taken place this week, but many have been announced to follow in the first part of the summer month.

EVENTS OF THE WEEK.

The card tournament given at Parsons' hall Wednesday afternoon was as delightful as was expected, and a neat sum was netted for the Girls' Directory, conducted by the Sisters of Mercy. There was a large attendance and a gorgeous display of spring gowns, and altogether it vied in popularity with the first of its sort given in March by the Woman's exchange.

The hostesses were for the most part parishioners of St. Mary's cathedral. Mrs. D. W. Burke, Mrs. T. J. Cronin and Miss Burke were the committee on general arrangements. Miss O'Neil and Miss Cremen, as finance committee, received the guests at the door. The card games were grouped in different parts of the hall, and committees had charge of the tables. Bridge was in the hands of Miss Susie Stott and Mrs. Allen Wright; whist, Mrs. J. P. O'Brien and Mrs. C. A. Whitmore; duplicate whist, Mrs. E. T. Williams; five hundred, Mrs Joseph D. Leonard and Mrs. Frank Dooley; euchre, Miss Laura Dunne and Miss Ethel Shea. The prizes, exquisite baskets of roses and carnations, tied with bows of white satin and tulle, were displayed on the orchestral platform till they were gracefully presented to the prize-winners by Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd, whose charming taste was evidenced in their selection. The successful contestants were Mis. Ralph Wilbur, Mrs. William C. Alvord, Mrs. Gilsan, Mrs. Henry E. Jones, Mrs. Dresser, Mrs. Parsons, Mrs. Walles and Mrs. Hughes. The patronesses for the afternoon were Mrs. J. B. Montgomery, Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd, Mrs. H. E. Edwards, Mrs. Solomon Hirsch, Mrs. H. C. Bowers, Mrs. Ralph Wilbur, Miss Failing, Mrs. J. P. Sharkey, Mrs. Siegmund Frank, Mrs. J. Monks, Mrs. P. E. Sullivan and Miss Wilson.

Rev. and Mrs. H. V. Haslam of Salem celebrated their twentieth wedding anniversary at the church parsonage of the Free Methodist church, in North Salem, Wednesday evening, with 50 friends as guests. Mrs. Haslam is the daughter of Mrs. William Barrett of Portland. The Salem paper has the following:

"The house was prettily decorated, roses being everywhere in evidence, and the evening was spent in delightful social intercourse, vocal and instrumental music. Rev. and Mrs. L. R. Blackburn and Mr. A. L. Grinnell favored the company with vocal selections, which were greatly enjoyed. After refreshments Mr. and Mrs. Haslam were called upon to give impromptu talks, which were more enjoyed than any other part of the evening's entertainment. Mr. and Mrs. Haslam were married in Kosse, Texas, and three children were born to the union, a daughter, Miss Clara, and two sons, Edwin and Oliver, all of whom were present last evening. Mr. Haslam has been in the ministry for 24 years, and during that time has served as pastor in Kosse, Corsicana, Batcheler, Ennis, Dallas, all in the state of Texas. Later they moved to Gresham, Oregon, then to Portland, and a year ago came to Salem. Many pretty gifts of chinaware were received. Mrs. William Barrett of Arletta Park, Portland, mother of Mrs. Haslam; Rev. Mrs. L. R. Blackman, recently of Michigan; Mrs. Charles Newt, Miss Mary Lewis of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. John McLeod and son of Chemawa, were among the guests."

The Thursday afternoon club has completed its sixth year of study. In the year just closing the club began an extended course in English literature. It has been one of the most enjoyable and satisfactory in the history of the club, crowned as it was by an able and delightful lecture by Professor Hugh H. Hardman of the Portland academy, who took for his subject "The Development of English Literature." As a lecturer Professor Hardman is skillful and eloquent, treating his subject in that masterly way which leaves nothing to be desired. On Wednesday the president, Mrs. W. S. White, gave the members and a couple of other friends—25 in all—a great treat in the form of an automobile party in the touring car "Portland." Mrs. White is a charming hostess; the day was perfect, and nothing could have been more greatly enjoyed. There are a few more pleasures in store for the members before they separate for the summer—a men's evening and a picnic. The following is a list of the newly elected officers: Mrs. Warren White, president, re-elected; Mrs. W. P. Kneeland, vice-president; Mrs. A. J. Stiles, secretary.

The annual tea of the Woman's guild of St. Stephen's chapel was given last Wednesday with Mrs. Herbert Holman as hostess at her pretty home, 787 Overton street. The rooms were beautiful with red and white roses, snowballs and dogwood in large vases, bowls and jardinieres. Mrs. Holman was assisted in receiving by Rev. H. M. Ramsey, Mrs. J. W. Whalley, Mrs. Marion Wilcox and Mrs. H. D. Ramsdell. A delightful musical program made the afternoon hours more pleasant. Miss Brigham and Miss Lytle sang two charming duets and each gave a solo later. Mrs. W. C. Holman also sang. Miss Lottie Banfield gave a clever character sketch and Miss Helen MacEwan gave several capital piano numbers. The program was well received throughout. Tea was served in the dining-room, where Mrs. F. A. Nitchey and Mrs. Archie L. Pease presided. In serving they were assisted by Miss Turner, Miss Bingham and Miss Lytle. Miss Florence Dayton and Miss Ivie Spencr had charge of a daintily appointed candy table.

One of the pretty affairs of the week was given by Mrs. Bert Morehead in honor of her husband's birthday, at their home, 794 Macadam street. The rooms were prettily decorated with ferns and roses. Mrs. Morehead was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. B. F. Johnson and Miss Edna MacDonald. Games were played and a program of music was given by Mrs. Nixon and Miss Hattie Milne, which was much appreciated. Dainty refreshments were served afterward by the hostess and her aids. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Morehead, Mr. and Mrs. Will Goodwin, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McAlpine, Mrs. Nixon (Chicago), Mrs. R. McAlpine, Mrs. T. A. Moreland, Mrs. I. N. Whitcomb (Seattle), Mrs. Milne, Miss Bida Tillwell, Miss Jessie Smith, Miss Hattie Milne, Miss Kate MacDonald, Miss Edna MacDonald, George Milne, Henry Olsen, T. C. Reichle, R. Pierce, Clarence R. Rankin and Frank Morehead.

The Jolly Whist club was entertained Friday afternoon by Mrs. Frank Legrand of 607 Holly street. The rooms were very pretty with a profusion of crimson roses of many varieties. Potted plants gave a background to the pretty red color plan. A few friends were entertained by the hostess, making four even tables. Prizes were awarded Mrs. J. T. Toft and Mrs. W. J. Fisher. Hearts were the continuous trump for the afternoon and lent the idea for the colored confections served at the tables during the game and for the ices later. Mrs. Perry Jackson and Miss Metta Legrand assisted the hostess. Mrs. R. H. Austin of 651 Hood street, will entertain the club next time.

Mrs. E. C. Goddard entertained beautifully with a luncheon at her home, 492 Mill street, last Thursday. There were two honor guests, Mrs. Richard Langdon McNear of Baltimore, the guest of Mrs. Alan Welch Smith, and Mrs. N. A. Loucks of Oakland, California, the guest of Mrs. Amadee Smith. The table decorations of roses were exquisite. After luncheon Mrs. Goddard and Mrs. Amadee Smith sang a numger of pleasing selections. The guests were Mrs. McNear, Mrs. Loucks, Mrs. Mabel Conant, Miss Anna Finley, Mrs. Emma Marsh, Mrs. Amadee Smith, Miss Anna Farrell, Mrs. Alan Welch Smith and Mrs. George Cooper.

The Daisy Whist club was entertained Tuesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. William A. Hogg, 1199 East Taylor street. Vases of roses made effective decorations. The first and second prizes were won by Mrs. M. W. Mathiesen and Miss Minnie Mathiesen. The consolation fell to Mrs. Hickling. Refreshments were served at the card tables and Miss Annie Mathiesen assisted the hostess. Next time the club meets with Mrs. Hickling, 24 East Fourteenth street north.

One of the delightful card receptions of the season was given Monday afternoon by Mrs. Herbert C. Miller at her home, 141 West Park. The decorations were novel; only the rich green of the palms was introduced with the contrasting white of statuary. At 500 Mrs. A. C. Panton and Miss Etta Bailey secured the prizes, and a consolation gift was presented to Miss Gile. Miss Edwina Mastick sang several numbers to the delight of her hearers, Miss Huggins accompanying her. Some 40 guests were in attendance.

★ ★

The Crystal Springs Whist club was entertained Friday evening by Dr. and Mrs. R. L. Gillespie at their Mount Tabor home. It was a red evening, with beautiful roses in profusion. Three tables of whist were formed. There are two remaining meetings and at the last the season prizes will be awarded. Mrs. Lewis Clark on West avenue will entertain next time.

entertained her neighborhood whist club at her home in Irvington. The decorations of climbing Safrano roses were beautiful, with large clusters in vases and vines drooping gracefully. Mrs. J. D. Leonard assisted the hostess in entertaining. Prizes were won by Mrs. W. C. Bristol and Dr. Alan Welch Smith.

The East and West Side Lewis and Clark Whist club was entertained Tuesday evening by the Misses Reed and their brothers at Irvington. Roses were used with good effect in decoration. Mrs. Will H. See and Mr. Barbey won first prizes and Miss Evelyn Tyrell and Mr. Fisher the second prizes. Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Graham of Irvington will entertain next time.

★ ★

Mrs. George Marshall of 245 North Twenty-second street, entertained very informally Monday afternoon in honor of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Carlton Williams, of The Dalles. Mrs. Williams was formerly Miss Helen Goss of this city and is a favorite with the younger social set and with musical people for her charming soprano voice.

A meeting of the Oregon Ceramic club was held Wednesday afternoon at the Camera club rooms. Miss Minnie Parker's talk on "American Potteries" was interesting and instructive. American ideas for plate decoration were submitted for criticism. The June meeting will be held at the same place.

WEDDINGS.

A very pretty home wedding took place at the residence of Mrs. S. Burkholder, 484½ Washington street, Sunday afternoon, May 7, when Miss Mary Hensley of Salem was united in marriage to Harry W. Risher, formerly of Nevada, Missouri, but now of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Bowersox in the presence of the relatives and a few invited guests of this city, Salem and Silverton. The bride was tastefully gowned in white and carried a large bouquet of carnations. She was given in marriage by her uncle, J. S. Moyer, of Salem. Miss Ethel Burkholder acted as bridesmaid and the groom was attended by D. F. Turker. After a short trip to Seattle Mr. and Mrs. Risher will be at home to their friends at 151 Lownsdale street.

A pretty wedding took place at St. Joseph's church Wednesday morning, May 10, when Miss Catherine Elizabeth Fredrick was united in marriage to Richard R. Lampert, Rev. Peter DeRoo officiated. The simple floral decorations were very pretty. Miss Anna Fredrick attended her sister and Andrew J. Lampert attended the groom. After a wedding breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Lampert left for Puget sound to visit for a few weeks and will be at home after June 15 at East Eighth and Alder streets.

Miss May M. Hensley and Harry W. Risher were married last Sunday at the home of Mrs. S. Burkholder. Rev. J. Bowersox performed the ceremony in the presence of a few relatives and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Risher will reside in Portland.

MUSICAL NOTES.

At the Marquam theatre, next Wednesday evening, Reginald L. Hidden will play the following program:

Othello Fantasie ..... Ernst
a. Minuet (1756-1791) ..... Mozart
b. Humoreske ..... Dvorak
c. Arioso ..... Rode Concerto (D Minor) ..... Wieniawski
Allegro Moderato — Romance—Allegro (a la Zingara).
Fantasie for violin alone...Saint Lukin
(Sextet from "Lucia.")
Witches' Dance ..... Paganini

This will be the only opportunity of hearing Mr. Hidden for the present, as he will be absent in the east for some time, filling concert engagements. During his two years abroad, Mr. Hidden has worked incessantly, not only on the complexities of his instrument, but has completed a new work on violin technique, which has been accepted for publication by the well-known Bohemian publisher, Urbanik, of Prague. Upon leaving Prague, Professor Sercik presented Hidden with a very flattering certificate, or testimonial letter, for work accomplished. This is especially valuable and gratifying to Mr. Hidden, coming as it does from the greatest master of the violin of modern times.

One of the best efforts of the First Congregational choir so far, and it is always doing surprisingly excellent work, was the oratorio, "The Triumph of David" (Dudley Buck), last Sunday evening. In appreciation of its former work on special occasions, the church was crowded. Special mention ought to be given the splendid organ work of Miss Fisher, which comprises some of the best parts of the composition. The duet by Mrs. W. A. T. Bushong and W. A. Montgomery, and also the solos of Mrs. Rose Bloch-Bauer and W. H. Boyer, were features of the program.

Miss Helen Brigham and Miss Helen Lytle charmed their hearers with a number of songs and duets at Mrs. Herbert Holman's residence last Wednesday afternoon. PLANS MADE FOR THE IRVINGTON SEWER

Plans and specifications for the Irvington district sewer have been finished by the city engineer, and may be submitted to the city council next Wednesday. The sewer will be the longest and largest in the city, running from the water front in the vicinity of Hancock and Water streets, a distance of two and four fifths miles into the residence district. It will cost in the neighborhood of $150,000.

The conduit will drain an immense district which is badly in need of good sewerage facilities. Starting at Failing street it will run north on Fourteenth to Klickitat street, thence east to Twentieth, thence south to Brazee, thence west to Seventeenth, thence south to Thompson, thence west to East Seventh, thence south to San Rafael, thence west to Williams avenue, thence south to Hancock street, thence west to River street and from there to the river. A branch sewer will be laid on Fremont street from East Seventh to East Fourteenth streets, a distance of 1,800 feet.

Venerated Trousers.

From the Kansas City Journal.

Asa Fowler, an Audrain county man, has a pair of trousers that he has owned for 40 years. He bought them when he was only 18 years old and used them through his "sparking" days, and for "going to meeting" trousers ever since he has been married. He hopes to wear them for 40 years yet.
