SMILES AND TEARS

The smiles that illumine the features of beauty. When kindled by virtue, alluring appears; But smiles, tho' alluring, no magic can borrow. To rise with the softness of beauty in tears. The smiles that are sweetest are often deceiving. Too often the mask which the cold-hearted wear; But a tear is the holiest offspring of feeling. And monarchs are weak before beauty in tears.

—Paul Strain.

The Hub gave to Portland its first low prices in Men's Clothes and Shoes

There is no mistake in this, and it is carrying on the work today. We have made some dealers squirm in days gone by, but never were they wringing more than now.

CORBETT THINKS JEFF WILL RETURN

Gentleman Jim Declares That Jeffries is in a Class by Himself.

SITUATION FUNNY AMONG LESSER MEN

Fitzsimmons is Too Ancient, and Chances Rest With Hart or O'Brien.

(Journal Special Service.) Chicago, May 26.—Now that James J. Jeffries has retired from the prize ring for good, as he says, fight fans are asking who will claim the title of heavyweight champion. James J. Corbett, who won the championship from John L. Sullivan, only to lose it again to Bob Fitzsimmons, was asked this question yesterday. "As long as James J. Jeffries lives he will be looked upon as the champion, no matter if he does go into retirement," said Corbett. "He is in a class by himself. There is no one in sight now who can give him an argument, and so he naturally is forced to retire. Jeffries is only 30 years old. He could leave the ring for five years and then come back and defend the title. If at any time any good fighter shows up and whips a few of the light heavyweights then Jeffries will get anxious to go after him again and he will return to the ring to defend the championship. Especially would this be true should any foreign country produce a champion."

"The situation among the lesser lights is interesting. If Jeffries should stay out of the ring for good, then there are half a dozen fighters likely to claim the championship. Of course, we all recognize Bob Fitzsimmons as the premier of them all. Bob, however, is getting old. He near the 40 mark and as a fighter he is all in. He showed that when he fought Gardner. If Fitz had been good he should have whipped Gardner in a punch. I have been told that Fitz was nearly all in at one stage of that fight, but that Gardner was afraid to go close enough to Fitz to land a damaging blow and lost the fight on a 20-round decision. "Marvin Hart seems to be coming along like a champion and he and Philadelphia Jack O'Brien are the most likely men now. Tommy Ryan is too light, I believe. While lost his ambition when Hart met him a few days ago. He is no longer on the latter. I don't ever expect to enter the ring again myself. I am doing well on the stage and think that profession more profitable."

"I think Jeffries today is a much better man than was John L. Sullivan in his prime. I fought them both and ought to know. It was no hard matter to step away from Sullivan and step back and punch him. True, if I had stood up foot against foot and fought him he might have downed me. But I introduced the science into the sport, which was never known before as it has been known since. Former battles were slugfests. I proved that a man with science was the man of the hour. Fitzsimmons possessed both of these and had the steam behind his blows. Jeffries, while he is not as fast on his feet as some of them, is just as quick other ways, has the punch, and can take any kind of punishment. He showed that when Fitz fought him and when Sharkey met him. Munroe is not a fighter. Jeffries made him look like a novice and he will probably never enter the ring again."

Local fight followers expect the next championship battle to be between Marvin Hart and Jack O'Brien.

SPORTING GOSSIP.

Umpire defined—Gus Klopff is a common noun, trouble, endeavor, last person, hard case, indicator mood, and conjunctive tense.

Mitchell's home run was ever so timely and it did the trick for Portland.

Any grass green, glittering, gibberish who says that Hogan cannot pitch good ball, had better go away, down and sit up and notice things.

At's splendid fielding saved the teams from several troublesome innings.

Schlafly's work in the field and on the circuit was of high order. He had nine chances without an error.

Old Mother Lohman got to third on a hit and an error, and was so fatigued that "Brock" Devereaux was compelled to assist him to the bench. As Dr. Osler was not present Peter was allowed to live another day.

"In the interval the commuters did some thinking" and "Van Halgren bunted a bunt" that set the fielders busy.

"Indicator" Klopff ought to carry an eight-day clock with him in order to keep time on the game. He is without a variant exception the worst official in the world, and should there be any other world, well—never mind.

There was general rejoicing over yesterday's victory as it put Portland out of last place. Portland's percentage in the race is .436, while Seattle is last with an average of .416. Tacoma still leads the procession with .531. Was there ever a prettier race?

It isn't the luck of Multnomah field that is bringing victories to Portland. It is the cold fact that the locals are playing hard ball every minute of the game. Mr. "Luck" died about 3,000 years ago, while Mr. "Good Play" still lives and is enjoying prosperity.

Garvin will pitch today's game, and according to the signs in the heavens, the chances are in favor of Portland.

With today's game clinched, French will try his cunning tomorrow, and Corbett, the latest recruit, will do the twirling on Sunday.

Since the acquisition of Billy Kane by Seattle, there are now two Kanes, two Halls and two Millers on that club. Similarly in names is marked in the coast league, for besides the two Halls with Seattle there is also Warren Hall of Los Angeles. Portland and Frisco each have a Corbett, and during the regime of Marty Murphy with the Seals each had a Murphy. The Tacoma and Oakland clubs each have a Graham and a Hogan. The Tacoma Graham is a catcher, while his Oakland namesake is a pitcher. The same is true of the Hogans. For a short time at the start of the season there were two Eagans, but Dick, who was with Seattle, failed to hold his own and was released. Should McCredie secure Eddie Wheeler, the St. Paul twirler, there would be two of this name in the league, as George Wheeler is one of Harris' twirlers. Of the common names of Jones, Brown and Smith, there is only one representative of each of those families in the league, unless one classes "Smiling" Schmidt of Oakland in the same family as Tooth Carpenter Judson Smith of Angelville.

Kid Mohler met with another injury yesterday and it is possible that it may keep him out of the game until July. Joe Corbett is also on the sick list, so the Seals may have to be up against the hard luck game.

Joe Shea, the former well-known ball player, who will be remembered by the fans of Glenavlin's regime as the heavy hitter of the Seattle club, is in Portland with his charming wife. Joe states that the reason that he got married was that he had been so long enough, but a glance at Mrs. Shea gives a different impression. Shea liked the looks of the Portland team so well last spring that he bet a new hat that McCredie's bunch would win the pennant.

O. A. C. MEN HOPE TO BEAT EUGENEITES

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Corvallis, Or., May 26.—There are various estimates on the track meet that will take place on O. A. C. field Saturday between O. A. C. and Eugene. By some it is estimated that the score will be 62 to 60 in favor of the local team. This estimate is based on a knowledge of the O. A. C. and Eugene men, and by a comparison of the scores of the O. A. C. and Eugene in meets with the Washington team. This estimate also includes the fact that Friswell may be in the Eugene lineup. Another estimate is that the score will be 65 to 57, with Friswell in the Eugene team. By some there is a fear that Friswell may win out over Smithson in the 220 hurdles, but there are others who pin their faith to Smithson, and the result is that the speculation indulged in is exciting great interest in the event, which will draw the biggest crowd that has been on O. A. C. field this season. One fact that is greatly regretted here is that Dow Walker is suffering with a very severe cold, which will leave him in anything but the best of shape for the hammer throw in Saturday's meet, it having been predicted that he would in that event break the Oregon record of 127 feet 9½ inches. He also defeated Captain Hogg of the Eugene team.

It was almost a miracle. Burdock Blood Bitters cured me of a terrible case of indigestion. I am very grateful. Miss Julia Fairbridge, West Corvallis, Conn.

COLLEGE ATHLETES ON FRANKLIN FIELD

Cream of Intercollegiate Association Holding Preliminaries at Philadelphia.

FINAL EVENTS TO COME TOMORROW

Yale, Cornell and Pennsylvania Will Have Fight for Track Honors.

(Journal Special Service.) Philadelphia, Pa., May 26.—With over 400 entries from 15 colleges, the annual championships of the Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America, which opened on Franklin field today, promise some interesting sport. Today was devoted to the preliminaries and the finals will be contested tomorrow.

Every track event is filled with the cream of the athletes of the eastern colleges, and the performances are bound to closely approach the records. With the exception of the pole vault, the entries for the field events are hardly of the same high caliber.

Yale, Cornell and Pennsylvania have very good teams, and are expected to make a pretty three-cornered fight. Yale and Cornell meet in the events where both are strong, though in most of the events the Yale entries rule favorite.

Among the cracks entered in the sprints are W. A. Bluck, Jr., of Harvard, J. C. Seitz, the Georgetown flyer; D. J. Torrey of Yale, W. D. Dear of Pennsylvania and H. Rulon-Miller of Princeton.

In the 220-yard hurdle will be seen E. S. Amel, Pennsylvania; F. R. Cullen, Colgate; C. T. Robinson, Syracuse; R. C. Turner, Cornell; J. F. Doyle, Harvard; L. C. Porter, Yale, and J. M. Cates, Yale.

J. A. Boyd, Pennsylvania; H. F. Porter, Cornell, and F. H. Schoenhaus, Harvard, look best in the shot put, while in the hammer throw, C. Van Duzee, Syracuse, and Shevelin and Harris of Yale appear to lead.

L. W. Symonds of Princeton, who recently cleared 22 feet 11½ inches, appears to lead in the broad jump. The high jumpers are very closely matched. One of the best contested field events will be the pole vault. In this contest will be seen besides Ward McManahan of Yale, T. M. Jackson of Cornell, Williams of Columbia, Kirkpatrick and Evans of Pennsylvania, and a number of others.

O. A. C. SENIORS' EXCURSION.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Corvallis, Or., May 26.—The O. A. C. seniors are to give their annual excursion to Newport and return next Monday. These yearly events always attract a large crowd, as they are given by a class of young people who command the respect of the community and there is never fear that the crowd will be boisterous or unmanly.

A ring over 200 years old, last worn at a ball given by the present king of England 24 years ago, has been received from Scotland by a young Corvallis woman.
