

LOVE AND DONIFACE, A NEW THRILLER

That Popular Author, Mr. Press Agant, Turns Out Another Tale.

INDIAN TO SUE FOR ROOM AND BOARD

Majuna's Aboriginal Blood Boils When She is Barred as Colored.

If Majuna, the Indian actress, prosecutes the suit she threatens the local courts will decide whether hotels may refuse accommodations to those who defend who have the price, but happen also to possess a dusky, brown, mulatto or copper skin.

She is filling an engagement at the Grand theatre this week and is desirous of finding a hotel to stay at.

The Indian woman has retained the firm of Spencer & Davis, lawyers, and declares that she will not ask money damages, she says, but desires to show the world that a hotel may not deny her accommodations simply because of her race.

"We have played in Paris and London and there have been a lot of hotel-keepers among my friends in the great city I have Clyde Fitch, Augustus Thomas, and Mr. O'Neil, the great writer; he makes big play for me to star in next season. Always when I go I am entertained by the people very best. You give big fair here. People like this will make whole world talk that Portland it village, not big city."

"I did not refuse accommodations to the Indian woman," said E. W. Levens, proprietor of the Scott hotel. "The manager called to see me yesterday and told me that she was a peculiar Indian costume all the time, and it was that great deal of attention that I did not like for one of my guests."

"As for her race, I make no discriminations. When pupils from the Indian school come to Portland many of them stop at my place and I have never refused. I give them the best of my attention and please my patrons. I did not refuse to entertain the Indian actress, but did refuse to accommodate her if she persisted in wearing all the time that strange costume."

WANT NO SALOON ON PORTLAND HEIGHTS

Residents of That Section Present a Remonstrance to the City Council.

Residents on Portland heights object to a saloon being located at the observatory. The Portland Heights Civic Improvement association filed a resolution with the liquor license committee yesterday asking that no license be granted for a saloon at that place.

No application having been presented, the resolution was laid on the table at a meeting of the committee today.

Paul Ricker was granted a restaurant license for 88 and 890 Upham street, which is very near the fair entrance. Councilman Flegel stated that he desired this license granted at this time so that it would be included with the others against which the people would vote, providing the question of revoking the licenses in that vicinity came before the people at the election.

A restaurant license was granted Fred B. Reed, 171 Thirteenth street. A saloon license was granted to the Oaks tavern at the foot of Spokane street.

The following transfers of licenses were made: To John E. Johnson, 209 First street; H. A. Lau to John Fug, 204 Taylor street; Charles Fernau to John Hammer, 306 East Morrison street; D. Martin to W. F. Bush, 31 First street; O. T. Tippet to John Menhicken, 26 Davis street; C. Simpson & Co. to Simpson & Triplett, 161 North Third street; W. Seckler to A. F. Carr, 594 First street.

Councilman Flegel moved to pass a resolution revoking the licenses of the Orpheum, as there was some question of the legality of the former council proceedings, but no second was secured.

POOR PAY RECEIVED BY MICHIGAN MINERS

Salt Lake, Utah, May 26.—In the convention of the Western Federation of Miners today, members of the executive committee were named as delegates to the Chicago convention of industrial unions June 27, with full power to act and become a working power in the new movement.

Organizer Kenyon reported on the conditions in Michigan copper and lead districts. He declared that skilled miners, carpenters and blacksmiths are receiving only $1.50 for a day of 11 hours.

WORKMAN SERIOUSLY STABS CHINESE COOKS

Marysville, May 26.—A workman at the steam shovel camp at Daguerre Point, 19 miles east of Marysville, at breakfast time this morning, became displeased over the meal served him and attacked the Chinese cooks, stabbing three of them with a fork. At least one of his victims is expected to die. The man's name is not known here. He escaped.

HAMBURG SAID TO BE LEADING THE ENDYMION

New York, May 26.—The steamship Celtic reports by wireless that at noon Wednesday the Hamburg was leading the Endymion by 50 miles. The Endymion was 1,922 miles from Sandy Hook.

JUSTICE VAN BRUNT DEAD

New York, May 26.—Charles Van Brunt, presiding justice of the supreme court of New York, dropped dead at the Brooklyn bridge station this afternoon.

EPISCOPAL RITUAL HELD UN-AMERICAN

Dr. Henry Van Dyke Holds That It Makes a Distinction Between Rulers and People.

SIMPLER FORM ADVISED FOR THE PRESBYTERIANS

Greeting Received From and Extended to President Roosevelt by Assembly.

Winnona, Minn., May 25.—The Presbyterian General assembly this morning in response to a letter from Secretary Loeb, in reply to an invitation to the president to address the assembly, extended greetings to the chief executive. Hon. Henry D. McFarland, president of the board of commissioners of the District of Columbia, again addressed the assembly, conveying the compliments of the president to the rulers. In our country the people are the rulers, and the chief magistrate is regarded as our servant.

The Episcopalian ritual makes a distinction between the people and the rulers. In our country the people are the rulers, and the chief magistrate is regarded as our servant.

A message was received last night from President Roosevelt, expressing the hope that the day would witness all branches of the Presbyterian church would be united in one great body. The reading of the message was greeted with great applause. Supreme Court Justice Harlan presided at last night's meeting.

The proposition to reorganize the young people's societies and bring them under the jurisdiction of the church is being considered by the executive committee. The proposition was referred to committees to report at the next session.

UNUSUAL PRIVILEGE IS GRANTED BY POPE

General of the Jesuits Permitted to Celebrate Mass Though Minus an Arm.

New York, May 26.—Information has been received here from Rome that the pope will accord to the Very Rev. Luis Martin, general of the Jesuits, the extraordinary privilege of still celebrating mass, although his right arm has been amputated. One of the strictest rules of the Roman Catholic church is that in regard to the celebration of the "canonical mass" of the priests. These are the thumb and index finger of each hand, which alone are allowed to touch the blessed sacrament. They are especially anointed with holy oil when the priest is ordained.

As stated in the cable dispatch some time ago, Father Martin, owing to a cancerous affection, had to have his whole right arm removed. The pope's decision is a great privilege, as the celebration of mass is the chief duty of a priest. When the pope learned of the operation and that Father Martin was rallying from the effects he said: "I have loved a priest since he is the deliverer of the consolation of his daily mass." Another priest will have to assist him at the altar, however.

Of all the cities of the world, New York has had two notable instances of the "canonical fingers" set off. The late rector of the Church of Our Lady of Good Counsel, in East Nineteenth street, lost his life by his efforts to save a canonized finger. He injured his thumb while fishing and bloodpoisoning set in. He refused to have it amputated and thus lose his right to say mass until it was too late to save his life.

The Jesuit, who is expected will soon be canonized as New York's first saint, had his thumb and four fingers hacked and bitten off in the most barbarous manner by the Mohawk Indians. He escaped from their captivity and returned to Europe. Pope Urban VIII, hearing of his mutilated hands, sent him a particular dispensation to celebrate mass.

IDAHO FOREST RESERVES CREATED BY PRESIDENT

Washington, D. C., May 26.—The president has signed a proclamation creating four forest reserves in Idaho to preserve the timber and additional present reservations. The reserves created are Henry's lake, 750,000 acres; Weiser, 285,000 acres; addition to Bitter Root, 1,300,000 acres; addition to Yellowstone, 75,000 acres. Other reserves will soon be created in Idaho as recommended by the forestry bureau and Senator Dubois. All were opposed by Senator Heyburn and the entire state administration.

PARKER PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE TO LAWYERS

Chicago, May 26.—Alton B. Parker, the recent candidate for the presidency and former member of the supreme court of New York, paid a tribute to the Lawyer in Public Life Today. In an address before the annual meeting of the Illinois Bar association, the New Yorker declared that a lawyer held the highest place in the world and took the leadership of political life, in war and in peace. He said that on account of the high privileges enjoyed as a lawyer he was under great obligations, and should at all times be the guardian of public interests.

ANOTHER EFFORT TO RAISE THE ELDER FAILS

The attempt to raise the steamer Elder, which lies on a reef at Gobie in the Columbia river, failed this morning, and it is probable that no further attempt will be made for some time, and perhaps never. The Elder went on the reef as she was coming up the river January 31, and several trials have been made by different persons to raise her so as to enable her restoration to commission.

WHIPPING POST IS THIS MAN'S PORTION

Charles F. McGinty Mistreats Sweetheart, Insults Bride and Beats Wife.

PLEADS GUILTY AND IS HELD TO THE GRAND JURY

Distressing Tale Told by Frail Woman With Black Eye to Judge.

Charles F. McGinty is the first candidate for the whipping post under the new law. He was arrested yesterday on complaint of his wife, Frances McGinty, who charged him with assault and battery under the code. Hearing of the grand jury this morning, he was held to the grand jury by Police Judge Hogue in bonds of $200.

If McGinty should enter a plea of guilty in the circuit court, or should change his plea and there be convicted of the offense charged, he may be sentenced to a whipping. Sheriff Word would then have an opportunity to carry out his cherished plan of lashing the frail woman with the lash of the whip.

It was a sad story that Mrs. McGinty, who is a small, frail woman told. Her right eye was swollen and discolored, emphasizing the nature of the matter. "I was working in a restaurant as waitress at Sacramento, California," she said. "Mr. McGinty induced me to marry him and come to Portland last July. He told me his folks were independently wealthy, and that he would inherit a fortune. These were lies."

"But I tried to make the best of it. I went to work in a restaurant on Fifth street. He is a waiter, too, and I secured him employment there. Lately he has worked elsewhere. Every pay day he would insist that I take my money and in the evening accompany him around to places of bad reputation. At the Mass he would spend hours in watching the women performers and commenting on their figures. He told me, was a fool to be working for such small wages as were given a waitress. I might make enough otherwise to enable himself and me to lead an easy, comfortable life and have as good clothes and as much money to spend as other people."

"Tuesday evening I felt bad and did not go to work. I did not cease my employment, but merely secured a brief vacation. This angered my husband, and he came home and told me that he would both starve and beat me if I did not feel like working, he said he would give me something to complain about, and struck me."

The husband, a strong young fellow, hung his head when the complaint was read, and when asked to plead, answered "guilty" in a barely audible tone. "You're about the most contemptible specimen of humanity that has been before this court for some time," declared Judge Hogue. "What do you think when I might make enough otherwise to enable himself and me to lead an easy, comfortable life and have as good clothes and as much money to spend as other people."

LEARNED COUNSEL IN RUMELIN LIBEL SUIT

Henry E. McGinn and Teal & Minor Will Defend Journal Publishing Company.

Henry E. McGinn and Teal & Minor will represent the Journal Publishing company in the suit begun by Councilman Charles E. Rumelin for $40,000 damages, said to have been caused by publication of facts relating to investigation into the councilman's alleged connection with municipal corruption and the proceedings before the district attorney and the grand jury while the inquiry was in progress. Colonel C. E. S. Wood appears as counsel for the Journal. The complaint has been filed in the circuit court and in due time the answer and other pleadings will likewise be filed, after which the case will come to trial.

POSTOFFICE OPEN FOR BUSINESS ON MONDAY

Postmaster Minto announced today that an extra force of from 13 to 20 workmen would begin tomorrow moving the postoffice fixtures into the remodeled building. He announced positively that patrons of the postoffice would be served at the new building on Monday.

"We will do everything in our power to accommodate the public," he said, "and will try to handle the mails from the new building on Sunday. But it is hardly probable that everything will be completed on that day, and I cannot make definite promises before Monday. The people must tolerate a great deal of inconvenience Sunday, though I am sure we will give them every assistance."

DAY GETS NICE TRIP FOR GEORGE RANDOLPH

After a delay of several days extradition papers were secured from Governor Chamberlain this afternoon and Detective Day leaves for Buffalo, New York, tonight after George Randolph, who is wanted here for obtaining money by false pretenses. Governor Chamberlain had been led to believe that Randolph was wanted only for defrauding Ben Selling out of $48, but when he discovered that seven other merchants had been bunked and that the aggregate amount secured was $289.89, he issued the proper papers.

Several other detectives desired to make the trip, and considerable dissatisfaction exists on account of Chief Hunt's choice. Detective Day claims priority by right of first ascertaining the identity of the alleged criminal.

SALE OF COMMUTATION TICKETS VERY LARGE

Descendant of One of the Lewis and Clark Party Found in Washington.

The department of admissions has decided that only people holding passes will be admitted after next Sunday until the opening day, Thursday. Commutation tickets will be sold at Woodard, Clarke & Co.'s until May 30. Yesterday's receipts from this feature amounted to $1,152.50. After that date all matters pertaining to commutation tickets will be attended to at the fair grounds by the department of admissions in the Administration building.

The management has changed the date of the day of Eastern Star order from June 6 to 12, June 27 to June 28. The following general order No. 5 has been issued from the headquarters of the Thirtieth Infantry, Oregon National Guard:

"Headquarters, band, hospital detachment and company of the 25th Infantry will report at the Army, Thursday, June 1, 1906, for the purpose of participating in the opening parade of the Lewis and Clark exposition. Assembly dress uniform will be worn with leggings and caucuses."

"Field and staff officers will report mounted to the colonel, and non-commissioned staff band and field music to the adjutant at the same hour and place."

"By order of Colonel Gantenbein. E. C. MEARS, Captain and Adjutant."

The exposition officials have just learned that a direct descendant of the Lewis and Clark exploration party is living at Eagle Cliff, Washington. His name is Joe Logan, and he is 80 years of age. He has the descriptions of the Lewis and Clark journey as related by his grand parents 50 years ago. An effort will be made to bring the old man to the exposition.

FRISSELL WILL NOT ENTER AT CORVALLIS

Amicable Agreement Reached Between O. A. C. and U. of O. Managers.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Corvallis, Or., May 26.—Published statements to the effect that Frissell is to enter tomorrow's meet here are without foundation and untrue. There is no such person as Frissell, and the University of Oregon and the Oregon Agricultural college managers wherein it is agreed that Frissell is not to enter unless this arrangement is changed. The sum of money to be met without him. Two years ago Eugene on a protest prevented Cathey from taking part in the annual meet as a point winner for Oregon Agricultural college. Frissell is a letter to Manager Stimson today distinctly states that Frissell is not to enter.

It is the purpose to pull off the meet according to contract, and do the same at the state meet, where Frissell is a right and name remains unchanged to participate. As Frissell was against Williams and Smithson in the 220 dash and against Smithson in the low hurdles, it is not considered here that Frissell is to enter. The meet is in the broad jump. The meet is attracting wide attention locally and will be witnessed by a big crowd. It is expected to be fairly close, though estimates in favor of Oregon Agricultural college.

POLICE AND FIREMEN TO PARADE TOMORROW

The first annual parade of the fire and police departments of this city, which will take place tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, promises to be a notable spectacle. The entire fire department, with the exception of the fireboat, which will protect the waterfront, will be in line, including 43 pieces of apparatus and 150 other officers. This will be the first time the city of Portland ever had an opportunity of viewing the full paid fire department.

The men will appear in regular uniform and will ride in their accustomed places on the wagons until they arrive at the reviewing stand in front of the city hall, where they will walk for one block.

The parade will be headed by 10 mounted officers, which will be followed by a band of 20 pieces. Then will follow 84 patrolmen in dress uniform, commanded by two captains and three sergeants, and the fire department. The line will form at Sixth and Salmon streets and will go north on Sixth to Burnside; thence east to Fourth street; thence south to the city hall, where the mayor and city officials will review the companies of the fire department. The review will be at their respective headquarters, as it was not thought advisable to leave the city unprotected during a very long time. The police department will give a few maneuvers before returning to headquarters.

VAUGHN NOT GUILTY, SAYS JUDGE HOGUE

Contempt of Court Charged Against the Attorney Was Not Established Beyond Doubt.

Police Judge Hogue decided this morning that Attorney W. T. Vaughn was not guilty of contempt of court, as charged in an affidavit subscribed to by Edmund Gleas.

After reviewing the case, Judge Hogue uses language showing that his original conclusion relative to the guilt of the defendant remains unchanged, but that he does not believe the evidence sufficient to convict. He concludes as follows:

"It means probably that Gleas himself is guilty of contempt of court, even though he was not under oath, and ought to be punished if his moral responsibility were sufficient to justify it, but in the connection his unfitness to be an English, his moral standard and his opportunities for knowing his duty to the court must be considered as well as his proportionate degree of responsibility as compared with that of the defendant. It is the opinion of the court that Gleas should not be punished if the defendant herein is not to be convicted."

A careful consideration and review of all the testimony and of all the circumstances within the personal knowledge of the court, it is the opinion of the court that the charge against the defendant is not established beyond a reasonable doubt. The defendant will be found not guilty."

FALLS FROM WINDOW AND IS FOUND DEAD

Mike Markey, aged 34 years, an inmate of the Home for the Aged, was instantly killed at an early hour this morning by falling from a second-story window of the institution.

Just how the accident happened is unknown, as there were no witnesses. The circumstances plainly indicate, however, that the death was purely accidental. The deceased was very infirm, and had been weak-minded for some time. The window is large and is located close to the floor at the end of a hallway. It resembles a door in many respects. The supposition is that the old man grew restless in the night and, while sitting in a chair, he accidentally walked to the window and fell out. It was about 3:30 o'clock when another inmate arose, with the intention

LANE'S STRENGTH GROWING DAILY

Dr. Montague Shows Where Democratic Candidate Is Drawing Votes.

HIS OPPONENT STRONG ONLY IN NORTH END

Independent Republicans Will Cast Ballots for Decent Town Candidate.

Evidence multiplies that Dr. Harry Lane's candidacy for mayor is gaining strength daily. There are many indications of widespread defections among the Republican voters from their party to Lane, and it is plain that party lines will be but little observed in the election. R. W. Montague, chairman of Dr. Lane's campaign committee, is confident of a sweeping victory.

In speaking of a forecast of the election published this morning in the Oregonian, Mr. Montague said: "That article gives an erroneous view of the campaign, because it ignores the fact that this is not a party fight, and that a very large and important part of Dr. Lane's support comes from independent Republicans, of whom a considerable number are supporting him openly in every possible way, and perhaps to times may not privately expressing their determination to cast their ballots for Lane on election day. He will have the support of practically all elements of the Democratic party, and the general public with the exception of those who will be indicated by the November election. I estimate that the strictly Democratic vote may run to 5,000, and a larger proportion of it will go for Lane than has been given to any Democratic candidate of late years, with the exception of Governor Chamberlain."

"No candid observer can fail to see that the current has set very strongly against the element in the Republican party which has put Williams in nomination, and which hopes to use him to serve its ends. Everybody who was in touch with the campaign of a year ago, for example, has noted and recognized the fact that the movement for Dr. Lane is much stronger than that for Word and Manning, which resulted in their triumphant election. And on the other hand the machine which was then equipped and well organized, dominant and secure, is now a discredited and shattered wreck."

"Very conservative figures by the Lane workers put his majority at 3,000 and the reaction in favor of Mayor Williams, which was expected to appear on the opening of the campaign has entirely failed to materialize. We are aware of and we expect opposition in the north end, and we are preparing to meet and minimize it, although we have had unexpected elements of strength even down there among those who resent, not so much the improbability, as the partiality of the administration's policy. But our most earnest efforts have failed to discover strength for Mayor Williams in any other quarter, except among his official family and his purely personal following."

Outside of a few of the tough precincts we will carry more than half of the precincts on the west side, and on the east side such canvasses as we have been able to make shows results as much like unanimity for Dr. Lane as I hesitate to tell you what they are."

Mr. Montague's attention was called to the reports that Williams men are offering odds that their candidate will be elected. "Oh, yes, the betting proves that Lane will be defeated just as the same people proved by the same method that Word and Manning would be defeated next year. Public opinion in this town is always a sealed book to the politicians of a majority party strongly entrenched in power."

A year ago Republicans were offering odds of two to one against Word and Word. A considerable amount of money was placed at these odds even the night before the election. Frank Baker, chairman of the Republican state committee, is credited with having dropped a considerable sum in such bets.

Mr. Montague's attention was called to the reports that Williams men are offering odds that their candidate will be elected. "Oh, yes, the betting proves that Lane will be defeated just as the same people proved by the same method that Word and Manning would be defeated next year. Public opinion in this town is always a sealed book to the politicians of a majority party strongly entrenched in power."

DAVENPORT'S ARM IS VERY SORE TODAY

Oregon's Clever Artist Returns and Meets Hosts of His Old Friends.

Cartoonist Says He is Glad to Be Back, and Probably Means It.

With as much emphasis as the president ever dared to use, Homer Davenport said he was "glad" to get back to Oregon, and hoped he never would leave it again.

Davenport, farmer, and Davenport, cartoonist, the giant of "em all" once of Silverton, Oregon, stepped from a train at the Union depot last night and inquired if his birds were all right. The birds were in two special cars with the animals, on another train, and Davenport had instructed that messengers await him here as to their condition. It was all to his liking—perfectly satisfactory. And the big farmer-artist wandered up town, accompanied by Mrs. Davenport, renewing acquaintances with newspaper men whom he left years ago and had seen but once a year since.

The Davenport farm will be one of the most interesting of the Lewis and Clark exhibits. It will occupy a picturesque space at the head of the Trail and far off, in the distance, the animal kingdom which the artist has gathered and bred for the past two or three years will be seen by thousands of sight-seers who are willing to pay the price of admission.

Mr. and Mrs. Davenport are registered at the Oregon hotel, but Homer's opportunities to examine the surroundings of his temporary domicile have been limited. He had scarcely alighted from the train, when George Baker dragged him out to the miniature farm on the fair grounds, and explained the arrangements he had made for housing the beautiful feathered creatures which follow the cartoonist and upon which the admiration of bird fanciers all over America has been centered.

Mr. Davenport will visit Silverton before the opening of the fair, and his father will occupy the log cabin which has been erected in the space allotted the exhibit. Homer also will be explaining the various traits of the animals in his private preserve.

BURGLARS RANSACK R. A. LEITER'S HOME

The residence of R. A. Leiter, at 39 Mulnomah street, was broken into by a burglar yesterday afternoon and a pair of cravat pins, a cravat pin set with a topaz and small pearls, a ladies' gold watch and a pair of opera glasses were stolen.

The house was ransacked from garret to basement. Several other daring daytime burglaries have recently been reported to the police.

RAILS FOR PORTLAND

The United States revenue cutter McCulloch sailed from San Francisco for Portland today to be present at the opening ceremonies of the exposition. The McCulloch is the only vessel thus far officially detailed by the navy department to attend the exposition. She is a vessel of more than ordinary interest, however, having been with Dewey's fleet during the victory of Manila bay. It was the smoke and the enemy of the pinking of Dewey's ships into the bay at night and gun were trained on the cutter, but without effect.

JACOB KAMM'S OFFER

Jacob Kamm, pioneer, and the oldest steamboat man in Oregon, has tendered to the Open River association the free use of his steamboat Norma, now at Riparia, for an excursion to the opening of the portage railway, if it can be put in order for service by that time. The executive committee of the association appreciates the courtesy shown by Mr. Kamm, who has taken a lively interest in the work of opening the river, as have all the old river men.
