

GREAT BATTING AT RECREATION PARK

Portland Administrators Sound Thrashing to Pete Lohman's Old Crew.

ELY CATES PITCHED BRILLIANT GAME

McLean Was Hit on Ear With a Speedy Ball and Had to Retire.

Portland 17, Oakland 0.
Batteries: Ely Cates and McLean and Murphy; Schmidt and Lohman.
Portland's cup of joy overflowed yesterday, the occasion being the decisive trouncing administered to the Oakland team at Recreation Park. Those who were fortunate enough to be present at yesterday's contest were well rewarded, for the local players demonstrated that they could hit the ball with a vengeance, field superbly and play the game accurately. It was a great day for the home fans and the moss-covered, flea-bitten, old-time Commuters wended their way from the ball grounds, heartbroken, weary and disgusted with the fates of baseball. Ely Cates, who has been ill for four weeks, was on the firing line for Portland, and that clever young man dished up curves that were never seen here before, and for nine long innings the visitors were fazed.

The game was really the culmination of a lot of stored-up energy that the Browns have been trying to explode for some time and as the day was propitious and the crowd in good humor, McCredie's men pulled together and gave Mr. Schmidt the finest and most complete trouncing that has been given to one pitcher in many, many moons. The game was full of features, notwithstanding its one-sidedness. Portland played with snap and ginger, and, although hard pressed at times by Oakland, never gave up, but played gritty ball every second of play.

Details of Game.
An error by Mitchell and a pass to Cook put Cates in the hole in the first, but the stocky twirler wormed out first, Van Halten was retired at the plate.

Atzied off for Portland with a two-back drive to center and advanced to third on Van Buren's sacrifice. Householder hit the ball to one of Schmidt's choices and Van Halten batted toward the score board and just reached there, which dropped safe. Schlarf fanned and Householder was mugged trying to steal.

The judge was entitled to first on Franke's error as a starter of the second session. "Young Slasher" McLean planted a two-back swat in left field that advanced the manager to third.

Mitchell's smash scored the judge, and McLean registered a moment later on Lou Runkle's pretty hit to center. Cates and Atz fanned and Van Buren ended the inning by a chance to Devereaux.

The third inning passed away without any scores, but as an opener of the fourth session Big Mac batted out a single to right. Mitchell bats out a bunt to Devereaux, whose hand pegged Mitchell's second on second, and McLean to bat on third. Runkle's effort was a fly to Wild Bill, and Cates again fanned, but Jack Atz was equal to the occasion and brought both runs home on a single to left. Atz was out trying to purloin second.

Van Buren started the slaughter in the fifth with a long double to center. Householder hit safely to center scoring Van and Larry Schlarf stepped into one of Schmidt's last ones and knocked the ball out of the lot for a home run, which made a total of three for the inning with none out. McCredie hit to Kelly who was out at first. McLean batted out his third hit and advanced on Mitchell's sacrifice bunt. Runkle was hit by a pitched ball and both he and McLean scored on Ed Cates' two-sacker. The hitting fever seemed to take in Jack Atz's anatomy for he promptly scored the pitcher with another double-dash drive. Van Buren lined one straight into Cook's hands and the side was out after scoring six for the inning.

Just to keep things moving Portland annexed another in the sixth without the assistance of a hit or an error. With one out, Schlarf walked and stole second and McCredie also secured a pass, whereupon he and Schlarf pulled off a double steal. Murphy, who relieved McLean after the big fellow had his ear split by one of Cates' spit balls that hit a corner of the plate and bounded around, crowned the inning and caused the retirement of the big fellow, secured a walk, filling the paths. Mitchell drove out a long fly which was captured after a hard run by Van Halten, on which Schlarf registered. Runkle's stoutest ended this inning.

Although they got two men on the paths in the seventh the locals did not score.

McCredie started the eighth with a fly to Van Halten, who fanned, and Mac was started. Murphy secured his first safe hit since joining the club. Mitchell flew to Van Halten and McCredie took third on the throw. Runkle forced Murphy at second, scoring the manager and making two out. Then Cates, Atz, Van Buren, Householder and Schlarf singled in succession and four runs were added to the ace registered by McCredie. McCredie made his second appearance in the inning and ended the run-getting with another fly to Van Halten, who held it this time.

Van Halten beat out an infield hit in the ninth, after Schmidt, who was the last man out in the eighth, batted again as the first man in the ninth, had fanned, but Cates closed them out without a score. The official score was:

In a game full of excitement, school spirit and ginger, High school yesterday downed Portland academy for the third time this season. For eight fast innings the schoolboys put up big league ball and at the beginning of the ninth the score stood 1 to 0 in Portland academy's favor. High school went to bat in their half determined to win or die. They were Masters got to first on Houston's bad throw. Cates laid down a pretty sacrifice. Magnus singled. Then Montag came to bat. He found Myers' offerings to his liking and with a mighty heave he sent the victor far out into right field for a three sack drive, scoring two runs. After that the academy went up in the air and when the dust had settled a total of two triples, two doubles and a single and four errors had netted their opponents seven runs. With six runs to the bad starting them in the face, the academy made plucky uphill fight in their remaining half. High school, with victory seemingly assured, grew lax, and before they woke up it was nearly too late. A walk, two hits and an error let in two runs, and then Houston sent the ball into some olefins in left for a home run and three more. Goodell settled down and found the next two and the agony was over.

The battery work on both sides was good up to the ninth, and then both teams seemed to have donned their batting clothes. The all-around playing was also excellent until that inning.

SEA AIR CAPTURES OPENING HANDICAP

Five Thousand Spectators Attend Initial Races at Seaside Meadows.

WHISKEY KING IS LEFT AT THE POST

Favorite in Best Event Has Hard Time in Getting Under Way.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Seattle, Wash., May 27.—Fully 5,000 persons attended the opening of the summer meeting of the King County Fair association today and witnessed Sea Air race home in the handicap by a length and a half ahead of Whiskey King, coming within three quarters of a second of making a track record of 1:13 for six furlongs.

The weather was ideal and while the track was not fast it was in good condition. With the exception of Sea Air, who split the honors of the books with Whiskey King, the unlooked-for came romping past the stand in each instance with much excitement among the crowd. The play at the book was better for the opening day than last year by about one third, which is estimated to be an increase in attendance this year over last. The interest of the day centered in the opening handicap for six furlongs for 3-year-olds and upward. The purse was $600, with $100 to second and $50 to third. Whiskey King, who made a record for himself on the California tracks, was rushed into an express car, arriving on Friday afternoon, in order that he might participate in the event. With the word passed around that Whiskey King had a horse on the track and that he would start, no sooner were the books opened than he began to take heavy betting. He acted ugly at the post and when they finally got off Whiskey King was left at the tape two lengths behind all others with Sea Air a length in the lead. During the course Sea Air lost not an inch, at the three-quarter post, Whiskey King settled down to business and like a wave of wind slid from three lengths in the rear to second place, a length ahead of Misty's Pride and a length and a half behind Sea Air. The results were: Five and a half furlongs—Modder (T. Sullivan), won; Step Around (Loague), second; Rifeal (Hulcock), third; time, 1:08 1/2. Five and a half furlongs—Lorene (Loague), won; Laureate (Hulcock), second; Matt Hogan (Wright), third; time, 1:08 1/2. Four furlongs—Tenorale (Butler), won; Cascade of Diamonds (Tullett), second; Argastellor (Loague), third; time, 0:48 1/2. Open six furlongs—Sea Air (Wright), won; Whiskey King (Tullett), second; Misty's Pride (Clark), third; time, 1:13 1/2. One mile—Fanny Side (F. Sullivan), won; Golden Boy (Powell), second; Gentle Harry (Clark), third; time, 1:40 1/2. One mile and 60 yards—St. George, Jr. (Wright), won; Bombardier (Powell), second; Lucree (Croschwalter), third; time, 1:54 1/2.

ROOMS AND TO SPARE FOR ALL WHO COME

Exposition Accommodation Bureau Says There Will Be Comfortable Quarters for All.

Portland, May 27.—To the Editor of The Journal: It would seem to us to be pertinent at this time to advert to the subject of hotel and room accommodations during the exposition from our point of view. The opening of the exposition is but a few days hence, and it is well to look facts squarely in the face.

There is no condition confronting us that can result in the slightest degree in putting Portland to the blush so far as adequate hotel and room accommodations are concerned. While it is true and an incontrovertible fact that the purpose and intention in some quarters now or less prominent is to not only hold up visitors for exorbitant rates for rooms and hotel accommodations but to educate householders to emulate the example, it is fortunately not generally recognized that the same may be employed to round up householders and lodging-house keepers, and enroll them among the pupils of the "training school" the movement has within a month will be stranded high and dry.

In the meantime, the majority of hotels and private houses will be open to guests of the exposition and city at prices within the bounds of reason and beyond the reach of criticism. Human nature, it is not strange to say, seems to be of a piece with that on the other side of this magnificent territorial and it is not inexcusable that the majority should welcome the opportunity to squeeze all the juice possible out of the Lewis and Clark lemon. Therefore, the prospect of 34 and 35 rates per day for rooms is a delectable morsel and one not to be sneezed at.

However, there will be rooms to spare after every fair visitor has been supplied, and with the exception of a few who will allow the woods to be pulled over their eyes regarding possible congested conditions here, the majority will be housed well and comfortably, and at rates ranging from 50 cents to $2 a day. There are thousands of rooms listed at these rates now and more to come. Scores of rooms are offered every day in the week at these rates, and there certainly can be no dearth of good accommodations at any time during the exposition, even though the railroads entering Portland are taxed to their utmost carrying capacity.

There is a very prevalent disposition, it may be well to say—among Portland's best homes to take care of guests of the exposition at low rates—low in comparison with those represented by the few who would exact all of which the occasion will admit.

This bureau is rapidly adding to its present long list of first-class rooms in all parts of the city, and is now prepared to take care of any number. The rooms under its control, outside of first-class private hotels in its charge are modern and convenient to car lines. While it has made a specialty of rooms in the better class of private homes, it is only fair to assume that there will be a steady demand for such accommodations.

The bureau is making contracts every day for rooms in all parts of the city, its facilities for accommodating its guests can not be surpassed. A spacious branch office is under construction near the Union station, 50 feet on Sixth street, with glass front, direct telephone line from the central office, established at 208, 201, 202 and 203 Good-

SOCIETY WILL GIVE SHAKESPEAREAN PLAY

The officers and members of the Open Air Sanatorium for Consumptives have arranged with Manager S. H. Friedlander to shortly give a great open air production of Shakespeare's "As You Like It." Mr. Friedlander was the first one to give this play in the open air on the Pacific coast, when he gave a production of "The Merchant of Venice" at Stanford university. The site selected will be the groves of The Oaks. An effort will be made to induce a well known young attorney to take the part of Orlando, and a leading member of the Multnomah club the part of Charles, the wrestler. The services of two glee clubs will be enlisted and the Foresters and several society people are expected to take part. All the original music and the late Augustin Daly's prompt-book will be used. The costumes are to come from the east and will be an attractive feature of the production. It is expected that a sufficient amount will be realized from this undertaking to place the sanatorium on firm footing.
