HELEN GOULD MUST CURTAIL EXPENSES

Income of Millionaire Philanthropist Much Reduced by Bad Investments.

LOSES A FORTUNE BY AIDING BROTHER FRANK

Immense Sums Sunk in Virginia Mines, Trolleys and Real Estate by Financier.

(Journal Special Service.)

New York, May 29.—Miss Helen Gould's income has been so much reduced by the investments made by her to help out her brother Frank in Virginia that she has been obliged to curtail her charities. Such is the statement made by a personal friend of long standing and by one who has every opportunity to know whereof he speaks, since he is the head of the organization through which a portion of Miss Gould's benevolence reached the public.

Miss Gould has given more in proportion to her means than almost any other multi-millionaire, excepting Mrs. Leland Stanford, who gave all she had. Her personal fortune is estimated at from $8,000,000 to $15,000,000.

In the last few years Frank Gould has been investing heavily in Virginia properties, mines, trolley lines, railroads and real estate. He put millions into enterprises which he expected would develop dividend-paying concerns and make him the trolley king of Virginia. But he soon decided that his investments would require much more money for development and improvement. His sister furnished the money wanted, but Miss Gould's money did not change the situation.

Persons in a position to know say that nearly every dollar she and her brother put into Virginia companies will be lost.

MEMORIAL SERVICES ARE HELD AT ALBANY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Albany, Or., May 29.—In the Christian church of this city memorial services were held yesterday. The Grand Army post and the ladies of the G. A. R. were present in a body, and all the ministers of the city participated in the services. Rev. Clark Bower of the Christian church delivered the sermon. The church was decorated with flags, bunting and flowers and pictures of Abraham Lincoln and U. S. Grant.

GOLD NUGGETS FOUND UNDER OLD BUILDING

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Lewiston, Ida., May 29.—E. S. Frost, who purchased the dirt taken from the excavation for the new John P. Vollmer building at 50 cents a load, has found gold in the soil. The old building which was torn down was 43 years old and during the early days was occupied by John P. Vollmer's store and bank and was the most important trading center in the Inland Empire. Miners brought their nuggets and dust here. It is believed that much if not most of the gold Mr. Frost is finding in this dirt was lost during the transactions of pioneer days.

In all Mr. Frost has purchased 40 loads at a cost of $20. He has washed out four loads in a sluicebox and out of these says he has taken nuggets valued as high as $4.40 each, together with considerable fine gold and 70 cents in money. He says the dirt will net him $150.

MONTANA WILL SEND A BIG DELEGATION

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Helena, Mont., May 29.—Montana will have a large representation at the good roads convention to be held in Portland June 21 to 24 next. Governor Joseph K. Toole has received a letter from R. W. Richardson, secretary of the National Good Roads association stating that as this is the first convention to be held on the Pacific coast, Montana should be represented by a large and active delegation. Governor Toole fell in with the spirit of the movement and has named 54 delegates, or two from each county. Where possible he has named the chairman of the board of commissioners and the surveyor for each county in order that practical men may represent the state.

MAN ARRESTED ON SHOPLIFTING CHARGE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Eugene, Or., May 29.—T. B. Rockwell who says he is from Chicago, is in jail here charged with shoplifting. He and a woman companion have been in the city for about a week. Every day they have made the rounds of the drygoods stores, making small purchases. Rockwell was arrested Saturday night, and in his room at a hotel was found a large amount of goods, identified by local merchants as stolen from their stores. The woman has not yet been found.

R., and the women of the local relief corps attended the services in a body, and were addressed by Rev. Mr. Chambers of Portland, who spoke on "Patriotism, Past, Present and Future." There will be exercises by the Grand Army tomorrow.

MILWAUKIE FENCE A GIANT PROBLEM

Council Says Street Obstructions Shall Come Down or Be Torn Up by Marshal.

OWNERS DARE OFFICER TO MEDDLE WITH POSTS

Determined Women Sniff Scornfully When Warned and No Move Is Made.

The east side office of The Journal is in the store of Mrs. P. W. McKinney, 390 East Morrison street. Telephone East 275.

Whether the quiet of Milwaukie will be soon stirred by civil war is the problem that is wrinkling the foreheads of the local solons and casting a shade of sadness over the green pastures of the place Gratton is to make famous. The street question is the problem that has divided the town, and whether the Main street cowpens shall be enlarged and let alone or torn down and thoroughfares made through their muddy pools has been the question.

It is a question no longer, however, for the council has declared that the street a block east of Main and all intersecting streets shall be opened within 30 days. Last week notice to this effect was served by the town marshal and his reception was almost enthusiastic in several instances. He was invited to go right out and take down the fence if he felt like it, the irate owner meanwhile rubbing a loving hand over an ax helve. The marshal has finished his tour of notification and in the quiet of the long afternoons tells the local gossips that there is trouble coming.

"The men won't do much," in his opinion, "but the women are going to cut up considerable," and then the marshal, being a mild-mannered man and chivalrous, sighs as he contemplates the task awaiting him.

The city officials are determined that the streets shall be opened and that needed improvements may be carried out the fences must come down. According to the mayor certain property-owners in the center of town have for years kept vacant the best building lots, while the town has grown for a mile into the country along the only open roads. However, neither the mayor nor councilmen have to tear down the fences, and this is the thing that looms big before the eyes of the marshal—15 fences, 25 interested—intensely interested—owners and thre score and ten dogs of high and low degree. It is remembered how a neighborhood was almost drawn into pitched battle recently when one small line fence was torn down and the marshal gazes on the determined features of the town's good women and shudders.

NEW TAX WILL BE LEVIED.

It is probable that the St. Johns council will settle the question of the occupation tax early this week and some compromise will probably be effected that will enable the town to derive revenue from this source. A strong opposition to the tax has developed among St. Johns professional men and to a lesser extent among the merchants, but this opposition is chiefly based on the belief that the expenses of the town are too high. According to the inquiry of Auditor Hanks, who has secured the opinions of the majority of the business men on the specitl tax, the opposition is confined to a few who for political reasons are not enthused with the present council's efforts to raise money. Mr. Hanks and some of the councilmen are convinced that the general business sentiment of the place is not against an occupation tax, so long as such tax is necessary, and of the latter premise there is no doubt.

WOMEN IN POLITICS.

The campaign against the saloon in precinct 54, the large district between Piedmont and the river, is being waged as zealously as in any other precinct. Tomorrow afternoon the women will meet with Mrs. M. E. Thompson, and a campaign for the non-voting residents of the precinct will be planned. Professional men, ministers, laymen, laborers, and even the children, have been organized for the work in precinct 54. This precinct has been built up very rapidly in the last six months and the business interests of the section and the number of residences have been more than doubled. No saloons are in the district, but it is asserted that for the last ten days agents of the backers of the "red-ink ticket" have been making a hard campaign, especially with the business men on Mississippi avenue.

MAN HURT, WIFE PROSTRATED.

William Glass, a brakeman employed by the Southern Pacific company, and living in Albina, fell from the platform of an Albina car while it was nearing the steel bridge last evening, and narrowly escaped death beneath the wheels of an approaching car. He was taken to the Good Samaritan hospital, but was soon able to go home. His wife was prostrated by the news of the accident, and was carried to the hospital her husband had just left, but is quite well again.

REST ROOM FOR TEACHERS.

Teachers of the east side are taking much interest in the plan for a rest room at the educational headquarters of the fair. This plan was broached by teachers some weeks ago, but as the county superintendent refused to allow any chosen number to represent the Multnomah fraternity the matter was dropped. Last week it was revived, and the visiting teachers from the state and country generally will find a quiet spot at the fair where they can talk shop and rest in peace.

FIX UP COLUMBIA PARK.

Columbia park will be popular this summer, and the plans of the park board as well as those of the railroad company contemplate making this suburban pleasure spot more attractive. The car company has built a large waiting room at the entrance, and the University Park Improvement league is cooperating with the park board to make the place presentable instead of merely a wild tangle of undergrowth.

IN ONE GRAVE.

Father and son were buried in the same grave at the Milwaukie cemetery yesterday after one of the most touching ceremonies ever held in the little town. Christian Albert Zanders and his 12-year-old son died within a few minutes of each other Saturday, and a younger boy is not expected to survive. Doctors in attendance were unable to definitely ascertain the nature of the disease, but it is thought the water they drank may have been contaminated.

Tomorrow Night

Ysaye

At the Marquam

The above announcement ought to be sufficient to insure a crowded house. Perhaps this will be the last opportunity you will ever have of hearing this greatest of all violinists, as well as his famous accompanist.

M. Jules De Befve

As stated before, this will be one of the greatest musical treats of the season and should be generously patronized.

The Knabe Piano

will be used as has been in all the 110 concerts given this season by Ysaye, and of course will be furnished by us. We handle more of the high-grade pianos used by artists than any other house. In fact, we have built up the largest and most substantial business in the Pacific northwest by handling pianos of an established reputation. And, what is best of all, we are in a position to sell our pianos at a much less price than others charge for pianos of less reputation. You will have no occasion to complain if you buy your piano from us. Our easy payment plan applies to all.

CORNER SIXTH AND MORRISON.

Rev. F. M. Fisher was in charge of the funeral service, which was held at the Evangelical church. Schoolmates of the dead boy formed the van of a large procession that accompanied the bodies to the grave. The Zanders family is a well known one in the place, having lived there many years.

MILWAUKIE BAND BENEFIT.

At Milwaukie Friday evening the Creighton Choral society entertained a number of its friends. The entertainment was under the auspices of the Milwaukie band.

The opening number was a piano and cornet duet by Miss Keil and Mr. Kemmer. Miss Ferrari, Mr. Gowanlock and Mr. Ferrari sang a selection from "Bellsario," accompanied by Mrs. Everest. A piano solo by Miss Maud Bell was another interesting feature of the program. Miss Olive Miller sang "My Dream of You," and Miss Chase and Mrs. Hellyer rendered a piano duet.

Others on the program were: Miss Hulda Bukemerer, Mr. Matthews, Miss Laura Caffal, Miss Florence Kemmer, Mrs. Moody, Gilbert Moberley and Will Kuehl.
