Flowers Strewn on Willamette in Memory of the Sailor Dead.

OREGON AND WASHINGTON HONOR HEROES' MEMORY

Processions in Which Old Men and Little Children Join, Throughout Northwest.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Oregon City, May 30.—Memorial day is being celebrated in Oregon City today on perhaps a larger scale than ever before. Meade post No. 3 and Meade Relief corps No. 18 have the matter in charge.

The exercises began at 8:30 o'clock. A column of citizens and soldiers was formed on Main street and at 9:30 o'clock marched to the suspension bridge where flowers were strewn on the waters in honor of the deceased sailors. Then the column marched to Shively's opera house where a program, consisting of addresses and vocal solos, was rendered.

Then the procession moved to Mount St. Helens cemetery where the G. A. R. ritualistic ceremonies were performed. The officers and committees of the post and corps followed. Commander J. F. Nelson, adjutant, G. A. Williams, officer of the day, A. J. Hobbie, general committee, George A. Harding, J. F. Nelson, E. W. Mediam, Frank Redner, W. H. Gullis, Robert Kelland, George Horton, Relief corps—President, Mrs. Louise Freeman; secretary, Mrs. Jennie B. Harding; general committee, Mrs. Laura H. Williams, Mrs. Mary L. Bradley, Mrs. Martha Beach, grand marshal, J. F. Nelson, chief of staff, Fred J. Nelson, aides, D. C. Williams, Frank E. McArthur, bugler, E. L. McFarland.

ROOSEVELT ADDRESSES THOUSANDS AT NEW YORK MEMORIAL EXERCISES.

GEN. HENRY SLOCUM'S MONUMENT UNVEILED

McKINLEY'S Tomb at Ganton Showered With Blossoms From All the Country.

(Journal Special Service.)
New York, May 30.—Today witnessed what was probably the most notable observance of Memorial day ever held in the metropolis. The special and distinguishing feature of the day's exercises was the joint participation of Confederate and Union veterans in the day's ceremonies. The exercises in New York centered about Grant's tomb and were participated in by thousands of veterans. The exercises were under the auspices of the members of U. S. Grant Post, G. A. R., who had as their special guests 400 members of the local camp of Confederate veterans. The address of the day was delivered by Senator Blackburn of Kentucky.

This afternoon occurred the unveiling of a magnificent bronze statue of Major General Henry Warner Slocum at the intersection of the Eastern parkway and Bedford avenue, Brooklyn. President Roosevelt, who is to speak at the unveiling of the statue, arrived at Jersey City from Washington at 7 o'clock this morning. With the president were Secretary Loch, Dr. G. W. Stokes, E. B. McHenry, G. Latta and T. E. Stone of the White House secret service force, and the usual guard of secret service men. The trip from Jersey City to Brooklyn was made on the Pennsylvania ferry. The president and the Union League club of Brooklyn escorted the president to the clubhouse, where breakfast was served.

The unveiling of the monument was made the occasion of a splendid military pageant, several thousand soldiers of the regular army, state troops and marines and jacks of the navy yard taking part with the thousands of Grand Army veterans. The unveiling ceremony was under the auspices of the immense crowd of spectators, who cheered to the echo the patriotic utterances of President Roosevelt and the speakers who followed him.

AT ARLINGTON.

(Journal Special Service.)
Washington, D. C., May 30.—The observance of Memorial day in the national capital today was along the lines of similar observances of the past. Park was everywhere suspended and public and private buildings displayed flags. At all of the cemeteries in Washington and vicinity the Grand Army veterans and the members of other patriotic societies held appropriate exercises and joined in the decoration of the soldiers' graves.

At 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon Governor Mead delivered the memorial address at the opera house. The members of the G. A. R. met at the hall at 2 o'clock and marched to Maple park where appropriate exercises were held.

AT GOLDENDALE.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Goldendale, Wash., May 30.—Baker post G. A. R. of Goldendale is holding a grand rally today. The parade started at 10 o'clock. The band, headed by the Goldendale band, followed by Baker post and the W. R. C. Woodmen of the World and several other fraternal orders, headed the public school children and their teachers. The procession marched to the Army hall, where Rev. Z. W. Commerford led in prayer. The oration was delivered by Hon. H. R. Rooder. The procession marched to the I. O. O. F. cemetery and decorated the graves.

NO FORMAL PROGRAM.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Winlock, Wash., May 30.—No preparation was made for a formal program here this year. It has become a custom here to decorate the graves of the dead, not especially those of veterans, on Memorial day. The local camp Woodmen of the World is making preparations to unveil the monuments erected to the memory of Dr. N. E. Woody and John H. Peterson and decorate the graves of departed neighbors Sunday, June 4.

DEDICATE CANNON.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Walla Walla, Wash., May 30.—The feature of Decoration day here was the dedication of the cannon in the city cemetery given by the federal government to the local post of the Grand Army. The Grand Army men, with citizens and school children, gathered in the City square in the afternoon at 1:30 p. m. The old gun is one of the heavy iron mounted on a solid granite base erected by the city. Addresses were made by officers of the post and the mayor.

SCATTER FLOWERS.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Kood River, Or., May 30.—Headed by the local band, members of the Grand Army post and women of the Relief Corps marched to the bridge over Hood river this morning, where flowers were scattered on the water, in memory of the sailor dead. Returning to the opera house there were short addresses by members of the post. This afternoon there was a march to Idlewild cemetery, where the ritual exercises of the Grand Army were conducted over the graves of dead comrades.

UNITE AT THE DALLES.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
The Dalles, Or., May 30.—J. W. Nesmith Post, G. A. R., No. 12, and W. R. C. jointly made to make the day memorable. This is the first time that the blue and gray have united here to hold their services together. Post and corps assembled at 8 o'clock at the opera house and departed for the cemetery of Company D, O. N. G., proceeded to the G. A. R. cemetery, where the services were held.

DECORATE EMIGRANTS' GRAVES.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Albany, Or., May 30.—At 10 o'clock this morning the Grand Army and the Failure

to cure indigestion is largely due to the fact that when the stomach becomes inactive it needs something to mechanically digest its contents, and cathartics, purgatives, etc., are used which give only temporary relief, because they digest by irritating the lining of the stomach.

Modern science recognizes the fact that it is the nerves that furnish motion power to digest the contents of the stomach.

The nerves agitate and mix the food, and stimulate the secretions. When they become weakened they lack energy and indigestion, dyspepsia, sour stomach result.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve will relieve obstinate cases of indigestion, dyspepsia and stomach trouble by strengthening these nerves.

"I had severe stomach trouble. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve and Liver Pills cured me. I can now eat anything without trouble." — L. C. O'BRIEN, in the Albany, N. Y. News.

GRAVESEND HOLDS CENTER OF STAGE

Belmont's First Meeting Was Not So Satisfactory to the General Public.

METS' FIGHT DID NOT HELP MATTERS

Brooklyn Handicap Last Week Thoroughly Pleased the Large Crowd Present.

(Journal Special Service.)
New York, May 30.—The first meet at Belmont park has gone into history and Gravesend now holds the center of the racing stage. The Brooklyn handicap race of 1905 has been run, and all things considered, was a satisfactory race to the great crowd which went down to Gravesend to see it.

The meeting at Belmont park was not altogether satisfactory and while the bad impression may, in time, wear off, it cannot be denied that a number of happenings at the big track were unfortunate, to say the least, and are calculated to have a bad effect on racing.

Of these the fight with the bookmakers is perhaps the most unfortunate. Anything which tends to bring the betting feature of racing too much before the public is bad. It cannot be denied that in every community there is a strong element which is bitterly opposed to gambling and cares nothing for horse racing. While public sentiment in New York City would not favor any legislation which would limit racing, it must be remembered that the city is the seat of the up-state legislators and that public sentiment up-state can readily be worked up to a pitch which would back drastic laws inflicting irreparable harm on the sport.

The fact that the race track owners and the bookmakers of the Metropolitan association has ended in complete victory for the former. The Mets have given up the idea of breaking off financial dealings with the bookmakers, a nice one, in view of the fear of adverse legislation. If the jockey club can get before the legislature with a bill which it will be in better position to fight with success.

It was to be supposed that the public would be called upon to make good the quarter of a million dollars which the bookmakers hitherto have paid, for in spite of all the talk about the big men in racing being in the sport for pure love of it and to elevate it, they want dividends.

The raising of the price of admission to $3 for the grandstand and $1.50 for the field was, therefore, the natural result of the break with the layers, and it will have on the attendance remains to be seen.

As for the system of betting which is to prevail there seems to be some doubt. President Wheelock of the Mets says that the present system of bookmaking will prevail.

"Cash bets will be made as usual," said Wheelock. "And don't expect to see the 'good credit' idea in vogue in this country. The layers are well within their personal rights, as race track speculation is now conducted, and there will be no change so far as I know, at this time."

On the other hand well-informed racing men say the bookmakers must abolish cash-betting to protect themselves, and that this change is bound to come.

One of the most interesting subjects before racing men in this section last week was the fight which is being made against the reappointment of August Belmont as head of the state racing committee. Opinion is about evenly divided as to whether or not he will be reappointed. Governor Higgins, who has the appointment is said by those in the know strongly inclined to appoint some one else and the names of these gentlemen are mentioned: Clarence MacKay, James R. Keene, Congressman James W. Wadsworth and R. Thomas.

It was at first supposed that the opposition to Mr. Belmont was political. He is a Democrat, and the place, while not a started one, carries much influence.

According to one story, however, the opposition to Mr. Belmont is not political, but comes from certain racing interests that are displeased with him.

QUIET AT PENDELTON.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Pendleton, Or., May 30.—Decorative day is one of quiet in Pendleton this year and no official program is being observed. There were appropriate services this morning.

CHILD'S FACE IS TORN BY TEETH OF MAD DOG

(Journal Special Service.)
New York, May 30.—A child's face was torn by the teeth of a mad dog on sixty-first street near Second avenue today. A policeman was also badly bitten. Howard Spedon, aged 4 years, is the tiny victim of a bull terrier. Baby Howard was sitting on a step at the time.

Several men emerged from a neighboring house and the dog ran toward them encountering Policeman Pfister. The dog bit the policeman in the left leg and tore his uniform in several places. Pfister rapped for assistance and Patrolman McInerney came with a drawn revolver and sent two bullets into the beast killing it.

WET OR DRY IS QUESTION WASCO WILL DECIDE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
The Dalles, Or., May 30.—Considerable anxiety is felt by the liquor dealers here in regard to the coming election, June 5. At this special election will be decided whether Wasco county will be dry or wet.

It is asserted that wages will be paid to working men to lay off and vote. Money, it is said, is being sent to the Liquor Dealers' association here, and will be spent with a lavish hand in order to win and settle the question for some time to come.

The cry of the Anti-Saloon league is, "Remember John Crate" (who was shot by Frank Summers in the White House saloon), "and get your pocket-books ready for the trial."
