Editorial Page of The Journal

THE OREGON DAILY JOURNAL

PUBLISHED BY JOURNAL PUBLISHING CO.

JNO. P. CARROLL

Published every evening (except Sunday) and every Sunday morning at The Journal Building, Fifth and Yambill streets, Portland, Oregon.

AND LO, FORTH COMES THE FRIEND OF THE uninjured? It is not intin

ENNIS KEARNEY, the sand-lot orator of San Francisco, jo ("General" Coxey, bankrupt through his own plutocratic methods, lost the last shred of the ragged prestige which once attached name But thank God, and to him the praise, there is still on earth one man, one supremely eminent Friend of the People, one exemplar of broad humanitarian principles; ready to shed the last drop of his blood in behalf of oppressed and down-trodden mankind. With his sansculottic banner flung to the murmuring powers of darkness and of evil to attvance and do their orst and deadliest! Does anyone suffer from oppression? Then here is a broad throbbing bosom upon which he may rest in confidence and security. Is there any who feels that whatever is is wrong? If such there be let their faces take on the new and stimulating glow of ife and hope; let them look aloft along the shining batelements to that radiant acrie in the Tall Tower wherein sits the modern Jove, humanly known as Harvey Whitefield Scott, forging his thunderbolts and hurling them forth to the dismay and, discomfiture of his former friends, associates and bedfellows.

It was not always or ever thus. There was a time guard-rails upon the bridges which span the beautiful Willamette and bring the municipal twins into closer would have disturbed his siesta or called forth his comment. Those were the good old days when he shricked to maintain these arteries of commerce and convenience as toll bridges, levying their petty tribute cision. the just and unjust. Afterwards came the later days when the spirit of modern progress having the more bagatelle of $100,000 to him in hand paid by the ic seemed the height of sanity and patriotism, though otherwise viewed by the unmanageable multitude that raised a roar against its acquirement. They were the days when Mr. Sullivan stood at the second story window shotgun in hand to discourage the electorate from exercising its proud privilege of suffrage; when the bal- a bad case, lot-box stuffers plied their trade unrebuked, when citt tax lists involving a printing bill of $63,000 were d through despite legislative majorities, to the sat- dealings with Latin-American republics. sfaction and profit of this truly great and good Friend of the People. There were days and days, full ten thousand when there were Mock bottoms, when the bared ack of labor was lashed, when unionism was denounced and batteries loaded with scrap iron and ten-penny nails were turned upon the defenseless forces of socialism. There were the days when the gambler and dive-keeper were exalted and the forces of decency and righteousness were scoffed upon and reviled. And these days were but

But all is now changed. The Friend of the People now stands forth, the denunciator of the sale of fran-chises which he himself talked for and helped to vote the city charter and against which his voice has never before been raised. But all of that was of yesterday; today it is otherwise and therefore different. Tomorrow it may again be otherwise and therefore different. But let us be thankful for today, for today he ap- brought these about and for the condition of the Russian pears in the guise of Friend of the People, Succorer of the Helpless and Sheet Anchor of All Our Hopes, and what more in reason could of love; instead it has had a government of a clique of

MERRILL'S ALL-NIGHT SALOON ORDINANCE IS READY.

THE FACT still remains that it is Mayor, Williams' people or for the special benefit of one particular class. cilman Merrill, late candidate for the Republican nom- battle to weep over. Indeed, these defeats may ultiination for mayor, in a circular intended for his saloon supporters which he issued under date of last Thursday: "I was defeated, and I believe it was all for the best, and do not blame the saloon people for stampeding during the last two days to the support of Williams, for had they not done so and had the people that promised to stand by me kept their word, both Williams and myself would have been defeated, and the reform candidate would have received the nomination and without doubt Williams, not because he has been any special friend of mine, but because I believe it to be to the best interests of the city. If he does not give us an 'open town,' he will at least be fair to the liquor traffic people, who pay a large share of the running expenses of the city of Portland, and also from the fact that he stands ready at a moment's notice to-sign MY all-night ordinance as soon as it passes the council."

There is the whole thing in a nutshell. "Our" council will pass "MY" all-night ordinance (among other similar in the past and who have determined to suffer under it

WHY ROJESTVENSKY FAILED.

HE EXPECTED has happened. In the minds of most people, in America at least, it was considered almost a foregone conclusion that whenever Togo and Rojestvensky met the Russian would be practically annihilated. 'There was no good reason for Why then is his fleet destroyed while Togo's is almost about half what has finally been paid.

miral lacks in ability or his seamen in skill or courage, and yet they are helpless victims of the terrible Jap.

breezes, his broad brow bared to the gentle zephyrs of to Vladivostok without encountering Togo if he could. heaven, his head and voice defiantly raised, he bids the He did not really want to fight. He had a foreboding of his fate. And very likely the Russians' scant faith was kept up by liberal imbibements of vodka. Between two such opponents there could be but one outcome of the

THE ASPHALT TRUST AND VENEZUELA.

HERE WAS A HINT in Secretary Taft's speech in the Ohio convention last week of future en-forcement of the claims of "American citizens" against the Venezuelan government, alluding, it is supposed, to the claims of the asphalt trust, lately decided no guard-rail, when no concatenation of calamitous trary to first reports, the decision was not by the highest until then, and then it is not clear how our government could take any action in contravention of such a de-

> The contract between the Venezuelan government and the American concessionaires provides that disputes shall be referred to the courts of that country, and that be attempting to repudiate in advance any adverse decision of the court. The efforts of the company to secure intervention before the courts have finally decided the case appear to be a confession that the company has

> Secretary Taft knows more about the exact situation in its details than we or the public do, but so far as the unscrupulous speculators who rely upon this country to rescue them from any consequences of their crooked

THE CZAR WEEPS.

THEN THE CZAR heard the news of Rojestvensky's defeat he wept. A great monarch weeping is not a pleasant sight. Really onarchs do not weep. Yet the world may well his own fault. He is what heredity and environment and customs from which he could not break away have made be; he well may weep-for what he and his ministers have done, and have not done. He weeps because of Russia's sad discomfiture and the dire disasters to its arms, but what he should weep for, if at all, is the causes that people under his incapable government. Russia needed either a Bismarck or a Lincoln, a ruler of iron or a ruler of love; instead it has had a government of a clique of grand dukes whose business was to rob the people and $1,300.

A Mormon colony has purchased 1,300 grand dukes whose business was to rob the people and $1,300. control the czar.

Well may Nicholas weep-for unwarranted aggressions in China, for broken promises, for tens of thousands of soldiers dead and their widows and orphans; for the blood of thousands of peasants shot down in the administration which is upon trial. The issue is, streets of his cities, for millions of his subjects who in as it has been from the beginning, whether the that great land can scarcely work hard enough and long city is to be governed in the interest of all classes of the enough to keep bodies alive as tenements for their souls. The czar weeps for consequences which appear dire-

The matter has never been better stated than by Coun- ful, it is true, but there are worse things than defeats in mately prove blessings in disguise for Russia.

MAYOR WEAVER OF PHILADELPHIA.

HERE WAS DOUBT about how Mayor Weaver would act in the matter of the big gas steal. He was the nominee of the party boss who is allied with the gas and other boodlers, but was not a man of their kidney. They expected to control him because been elected mayor June 5. * * I am out for George H. they put him in office; the people hoped he would rebel because in private and professional life he is an honorable man and a good citizen. Apparently he hesitated awhile, but his native honesty triumphed, he plucked up his reserve courage, and routed the gang, greatly to his own credit and to the joy of the people of Philadelphia.

Mayor Weaver is a religious man, an officer in a Baptist church. He is a lawyer, and is ambitious to attain a place on the Pennsylvania bench, a position the dignity, lambs. Two bands of 1,000 ewes each long term and high salary of which render it very attractive. The Philadelphia machine controls these po- 2,200 lambs. things) and "Our" mayor will sign it if he gets a chance, sitions or some of them as well as city offices, and could It isn't a question of a square deal for all but it is a question of special privileges to a few that Merrill, Chief Hunt and the rest of them are after. It is this that her question of special privileges to a few that Merrill, Chief break with the machine. The boss and the boodlers Hunt and the rest of them are after. It is this that has knew it, and knew that he knew it, and so depended on aroused the people who have suffered under this regime him to stand by them. Fortunately, his better nature prevailed, though only after a long period of subservience to the boss and strong pressure brought to Bear upor him by the better classes of citizens. Accused of being and showing evidences of being a tool and a craven, he at last found his manhood again and used it to good purpose. Better late than never. The time may come when Mayor Weaver can get a seat on the bench without asking Boss Durham for it and doing his bidding.

Since The Journal's comment on developments in this confident expectation except the fact that the Jap reclamation work at Klamath Falls, it is noted that the anese have won in every important engagement, on sea actual outlay of the government officials for prior rights, or land, during the war. That indeed was a strong rea- including the Jesse D; Carr tract, is $485,000, and that the son, and yet why might not the tide have turned? Why charge made to settlers will be but slightly under $19 speaks about the use of strong drinks this long lane with no turning? Rojestvensky had the larger fleet and more guns, though not so heavy guns. It has also been stated on behalf of the gov. son, and yet why might not the tide have turned? Why charge made to settlers will be but slightly under $19

PROSPERITY IN ECUADOR.

From the Washington Post. "Ecuader," said Senor Serafin Wither, the newly appointed charge d'affaires of that government, "has every reason-to accept congratulations on its present

Ecuador will produce every kind of crop in abundance. At present rubber, coffee and cocoa are our chief sources of reve-present fortunate status a stable govgood conditions and its outlook for fu-ture growth and prosperity.

"In point of fertility, the lands of our county are unexcelled and when brought under systematic agriculture nent political peace as any nation."

From the Pendleton East Oregonian. H. W. Brooks, traveling representative of The Oregon Daily Journal, arrived last night from Baker City, where he has been in the interest of his paper for several weeks. The Journal now outstrips other Portland papers in Baker City, La Grande, Union and several other eastern Oregon points.

SMALL CHANGE

erybody in Oregon ...

The absentee gambiers sympathic

The Philadelphians woke up sufficiently

Everybody but the newspaper men will take a heliday Thursday.

Don't stand on the street corners the way of people who want to pass.

The refrigerator car trust is modest. Rojestvensky must find some consola-

Encourage visitors to look about Oregon. The more they see of it the better they will like it.

Why, of course John Barrett is corne to the fair. It would not be con plete without him.

The dates for Oregon cities and towns

The hard season for tramps is at hand; they will be importuned to work

Eddle Bok thinks tipping is the great-

Even people who have no faith in the weather bureau's predictions will look at them in tomorrow evening's Journal.

A white bear has been found in Colorado. Evidently one that turned white with fear when Roosevelt came in his Whether Tom Lawson always tells the truth or not, the country will pat him on the back as long as he can worry Wall street. Now perhaps Governor Cummins wishes he had stood pat on his Iowa idea, instead of abandoning it in order to keep in the good graces of the high

OREGON SIDELIGHTS

Bend is to have a big new hotel, People siready camping at Beaside

Bend has bought a complete

Farmers' rathroad in central Morrov Alfalfa looks exceptionally well

What about those electric lines Telephone line between Wingville and Baker City being put up.

Morrow county wheat land is going up-in price, not in cyclone-but is still

A salmon trout caught away up little Birch creek, Umatilia county, weighed

A Linn county farmer is building four miles of telephone line to connect with

A Dakota man and his son have bought a 400-acre farm in Burton county for $18,000.

Roland. Coos county, has a store, blacksmith shop, sawmill and seven or eight houses that have been built within ing to his other patients, is treating at his own home his wife, Miss Smith, a horse and a dog, and has to prepare his

Butter creek district will become one of the greatest feeding grounds of the west, great yields of alfalfa being obtained there on irrigated land.

Out of 9,660 ewes of a Morrow county proposed by Secretary Hitchcock for re-ceiver of the Roseburg land office is quite unknown to Mr. Lawrence, who was not an applicant for that or any other office."

An agate stump, weighing about $60 pounds, besides two or three molars of some prehistoric mammoth, oyster and clam shells imbedded in solid rock and oil sandstones, and a number of spect-mens of very fine building stone were dug out at Kane's Springs, 20 miles from Vale, and will be on exhibition at

A Wheeler county man writes to the Mitchell Sentinel that "the very face of local option is not in accordance with Christianity, as the Bible in many places speaks about the use of strong drinks ot seriously considering my nomination or the office of mayor that I sgain re were needed, it is abundantly furnished by the facts contained in the following letter which I addressed this morning to the accretary of the municipal association. Yours respectfully.

LETTERS' FROM THE

A Card From Mr. Paget.

Portland, Oregon, May 29, 1965.

John Hain, Esq., Secretary:

Dear Friend:—I very greatly appreciate the kind spirit running through your letter received this moraing. I have tives of the highest and most unselfish principle, although I cannot for the life of me understand how you and your as-sociates can reconcile yourselves to such policies as are included in the support of our Citizens ticket, when I observe that one of its nominees sat on the plat-"liars and scoundrels," another nomined begged the audience he was addressing to support the straight Republican tick-et embracing George H. Williams and Larry Sullivan, whilst still another of your candidates sanctioned (as a memher of the council license committee) on Friday last another fair entrance saloon, n face of the mighty protest that has

Dr. Harry Lane advises those with prohibition proclivities to vote for B. Lee Paget, and you must excuse me if Incidentally I might remark that it is support, except they be the party Pro-hibitionists, or Dr. S. A. Brown, or H. W. Stone, who have been generally re-garded as such. Yours faithfully,

The Hop Crop.

Dayton, Or., May 26 .- To the Editor Some say the erop prospect is better higher than the temperate point at the than at this time last year, and reports greatest heat of the day, about missing hills, etc., are greatly exampled, while others insist the crop is much also at the temperate point at the aggregated, while others insist the crop is much also at the temperate in 36. be any doubt in the minds of any one respecting the truth of the statement, ining localities and be convinced.

It is a south and encamped to the same two north shore.

The eight miles which we made today one statements aside from the fact. that I desire the truth to be known, and cost us much trouble. The air was am in a position to prove my state-time. If he or any one else wishes to know anything about me let them ask Rev. E. M. Bliss, paster of the Knott Street Baptist church, of which I am a member. I have lived for over eight years in Portland.

who attend school so near the saloon, and the unfortunate inmates of the poor-

Mr. Kelley "defles me to prove" that Mr. Kelley "defles me to prove" that "he is going to apply for a saloon license after the election in June." His own document or notice posted on his building says he will apply for his license on the seventh day of June, 1905. The fact that he will apply then and not before our city election here, and the fact of his having put up his building and moved in some furniture for a saloon before getting his license, struck me and others as very signifia saloon before getting his itemas, struck me and others as very significant in these strepuous political times.

The assurance with which he has proceeded in the whole matter, and the special favors that are being handed out to the liquor combine of this city and county by the party in power in the form of licenses to sell liquor about the fair grounds and outlying commu-nities and towns, with no regard for the wellbeing of life and character and morals of the people affected, shows very conclusively that there is a political "nigger in the fence."

The course that Mr. Kelley has pursued has, to say the least, cast reflection upon the county judge and missioners, who are empowered to grant him his license. And since the county judge has full jurisdiction over the welfare of the poorhouse and its in-mates, it will be interesting to see if he will disregard them and grant licenses to the liquor interests as others have done elsewhere in consideration of the votes the liquor combine can command or the Republican party.

It is a fine condition of civic management to tax the people of the county the broad for the maintenance of the poor, and to build a school and pay a teacher to instruct the children of the community, Ferraris, and then turn around and allow a grog. The fu

Indianapolis Parallel for Portland.
Portland, May 29.—To the Editor of The Journal It is amusing to note the parallel case between the city of Indianapolis, Indiana, my old home, and Portland, Oregon, my present home, Last fall a year ago before the close of the Republican mayor's administration of Indianapolis the management had become so corrupt that the citizens of the city organized a Good Citizens' From the Kansas City Star.
Robert Clarke, the artist, tells this story: One day while out walking with a friend of his, this friend complained of a toothache, and asked Mr. Clarke what he could advise him to buy, as through the Indianapolis News the what he could advise him to buy, as through the Indianapolis News the Shimbun! We have now preferred to stop intentionally the publication of they were in front of a drug store. "Why," said Mr. Clarke, "the last time I had a toothache I went home and my wife kissed it away for me." After a moment's pause his friend said: "Is modest to call the preachers liars, but they singled some of, them out and scored them pretty roughly for mixing in lon is here to be enjoyed.

in Portland, L. 815 Alberta St.

Portland, May 22.—To the Editor of The Journal—We would like to know on Front street whether Monday, June 5, is to be a holiday or not. Monday is usually a busy day on Front street, but we "banana peddlers" wish to show Mayor Williams that we

LEWIS AND CLARK

En route up the Missouri river from Fort Mandan, near the site of Bismark, North Dakota. The party is now near-ing the Rocky mountains, last evening, continued with little inthe high wind which accompanied it having abated, we set out. More rain difficult to find on the Citizens' ticket has now fallen than we had since the men who are unconditionally worthy of support, except they be the party Prooumstances indicate our approach to a support, except they be the party Prooumstances indicate our approach to a support, except they be the party Proclimate differing considerably from that of the country through which we have been passing. The air of the open country is astonishingly dry and pure. Observing that the case of our sextant, though perfectly seasoned, shrank and the joints opened, we tried several ex-periments by which it appeared that a tablespoonful of water exposed in a ers in the course of the day; our cords too, broke several times, but fortunately Portland, May 29.—To, the Editor of The Journal—The gentleman whom I am told wrote the reply for Mr. Kelley to my article regarding his putting a saloon near the poor farm seems to have been a little misinformed, and been a little misinformed, and feetly level on both sides of the river.

There is now no timber on the hills and dealing with There is now no timber on tonwood, ash, only a few scattering cottonwood, ash, of the people of this county about me, and thus blind them to the real subject. But this will do him no good, for I do not care to talk about myself at this not care to talk about myself at this recent of which seemed to have been not care to talk about myself at this recent of which seemed to have been not care to talk about myself at this revacuated about five weeks since, and from the several apparent dates we supposed they were made by a band of about 100 lodges that were traveling slowly up the river. Although no part of the Missouri from the Minnetarces to this place exhibits signs of permanent I am very much concerned just at to this place exhibits signs of parties time about the dear little children the transient visits of hunting parties. We know that the Minnetarees of the Missouri extend their excursions on the south side of the river as high as the Yellowstone, and the Assiniboins visit the northern side, most probably as high as Porcupine river. All the lodges between that place and the Rocky mountains we supposed to belong to the Min-netaress of Fort de Prairie, who live on the south fork of the Saskatchewan.

TESLA'S PATENTS EXPIRE. From the New York World.

A great stir has been created among electricians everywhere by the announce-ment that the famous patents of Nicola Tesla covering the alternating current dynamo have expired. They have been widely known for years as the "three fundamental patents." Their expiration is an event in the world of electricity, not second in importance to the dying out of the Bell telephone patents. The alternating motor has been a monopoly Tesla has been drawing princely royalties on these patents, much of which the picturesque inventor is said to have applied to his experiments in wireless telegraphy. His mysterious tower at Wardencliffe, Long island, is said to have been built in part by money subscribed by J. Pierpont Morgan, and in part out of the royalties from the motor patents, In 1885 Professor Galileo Ferraris of Turin, Italy, discovered the electro-magnetic rotating field, and applied his to a rotating field motor. In 1888 Tesla received United States patents covering the broad applications of the Ferraris discovery. George Westinghouse bought the Tesla patents and also the rights of

The fundamental Tesla patents have shop to be run near them, with no police protection, and thus counteract the good work by demoralizing the young and sending the paupers on the swift road to hell.

F. L. PIERCE.

Indianapolis Parallel for Portland.

Portland, May 29.—To the Editor of The Journal—It is amusing to note the parallel case between the city of Indianapolis, Indiana, my old home, and Portland, Oregon, my present home, last fall a year ago before the close of Westinghouses announce they have a week and produced the produced of the courts and produced the courts and well as the courts and well as the parallel case between the city of Indianapolis, Indiana, my old home, and Portland, Oregon, my present home. Westinghouses announce they have a number of subsidiary patents, and will fight.

LOVE LIGHTENS THE

Coming home from the theatre the other evening I sat opposite a pair

Notice could have been under 70.

He was a gallant old gentleman, with white hair, rosy cheeks and upright carriage.

The old gentleman's care and protection of her were beautiful to see.

No young lover escorting his sweetheart could have displayed more gallantry and attention than did he, and no girl intent on holding her lover's interest could have been more charming than was this sweet little old coquette of 70 years. They talked gaily for some time, but presently her eyes closed and her head nodded.

She smiled at him sleepily and then

She smiled at him sleepily, and then dropped her head on his shoulder, and slept comfortably the rest of the jour-

He sat stiffly erect, never moving a nuscle, lest he disturb her. I do not know what their lives have been—they probably have had their share of heartache and misfortune.

But one thing I do know, and that is that they have had love to sweeten all life's bitterness and intensify its Each has discovered the precious se-cret of how to hold the other's love. Many a young wife has not been able to keep for one year what this woman has kept for 50.

And many a young husband has wantonly destroyed the trust that this man has guarded so preciously.

Respect for each other's rights and opinions must have done much to keep this love so fresh and lasting. Tact has also borne a large part.
The woman has minded her own business, therefore the man has made her his confidant.

While perfect love and equality were maintained, the woman has been wise enough not to allow too much famil-larity to creep in and breed contempt.

for every woman who marries has a chance to hold love just as this woman has, if she goes the right way about it. The fundamental trouble is that young eople marry without a thought to the superficial virtues and don't take the precaution of thinking how such and such a quality will develop and how it will affect them when it does develop. It is a very serious thing when a man makes up his mind to support and care for a woman for the rest of their natural lives, and he should be very sure that she is the kind of a woman who will be able to hold him willingly at his post of duty.

Porbearance on both sides must neces-arily play a large part in married

Double harness is not always easy. even when love drives the chariot, and it must be unendurable when both chafe and rebel at their bonds. Becoming engaged after the briefest unhappy marriages.

Long engagements are hard on both sides, but there is a happy medium, and no girl should marry on less than a

It may seem hard to wait, but it gives the young people a chance to know each other and adapt themselves to each Don't ruin your chance for happines honored in your old age as the old lady. I speak about.

MARK TWAIN TO INJURED GIRL

They have taken Miss Madeline Sin-sheimer, last of the human wreckage of the Clifton avenue grade crossing trolley car disaster in Newark two years ngo, to a private hospital in Philadel ago, to a private hospital in Philadelphia. Nine of her schoolmates were killed and many others hurt when the car full of high school pupils was struck by a Lackawanna train. All the rest of the injured recovered long ago. She alone has lingered on, bed-ridden. People have done everything they could do to hake her happy, and, although she has been in constant pain, she has been a cheerful sufferer.

If was during the early days of her

It was during the early days of her sickness that Miss Sinshiemer took to reading Mark Twain. About that time the humorist was in New York, and her brother called on him one day to ask him to write his name for her in one of his books. Mark Twain heard the story, and wrote both a "sentiment" and a letter. In the book he inscribed: "One of the most remarkable differences between a lie and a cat is that the cat has only nine lives."

Here is the letter:

"Dear Miss Madeline: Your good and admiring and affectionate brother has teld me your sorrowful share in the trolley disaster which brought unaccustomed tears to milions of eyes and flerce resentment against those whose criminal indifference to their responsi-bilities caused it, and the reminder has bilities caused it, and the reminder has brought back to me a pang of that bygone time. I wish I could take you sound and whole out of your bed and break the legs of those officials and put them in it—to stay there. In my spirit I am merciful and would not break the necks and backs also, as some who have no feeling.
"It is your brother who permits me to write you this line, and so it is not an "May you get well, and soon Sincerely S. L. CLEMENS.

OUR RIG METIRED LIST

From the Washington Post,
It would not be surprising if there was a revolt some time against the retired list of the army and navy.
Through recent legislation and rapid promotions the retired list has become toppency. There are now three time. Through recent legislation and rapid promotions the retired list has become topbeavy. There are now three lieutenant-generals, 20 major-generals and 250 brigadier-generals on the retired list of the army. In the navy, of the three highest grades there are 13 rear-admirals, 18 commodores and 54 captains. The act of congress two years ago raised many men on the retired list one rank if they had been in the service in the civil war and had not been advanced a grade on retirement. This swelled the list of brigadier-generals a great deal, but 250 brigadier-generals on the retired list is entirely out of proportion to the size of the army either now or what it has been during the past 40 years since the close of the civil war.