REPORTS COME POURING IN FROM ALL QUARTERS OF CITY INDICATING THE ELECTION OF DR. HARRY LANE FOR MAYOR

HOME PRECINCTS ARE STRONG FOR DR. LANE

On East Side, Tide of Sentiment Turns Unmistakably to the People's Candidate.

In Downtown Precincts Vote Is Very Light—Republican Workers Buying Votes in Aid of Williams.

"Confident of Lane's election," was the terse answer made at his headquarters on Sixth street, at a late hour this afternoon, "with good reports from every one of the 58 precincts.

Beating odds were swept downward from 2 to 1, with which the wagers closed yesterday, to many even wagers, and a number of stakes were placed on the east side at 2 to 1 in favor of Dr. Lane carrying that section by 2,000 majority.

The strengthening of the Lane feeling was due in large part to the light voting in the downtown precincts, with unprecedented voting early in the day in all the residence districts.

Affidavit voting was virtually nil, as it was impossible to handle the floating vote under the new law requiring all affidavits to be made out in the polling place, and this operating to the disadvantage of the Williams workers.

Buying Votes in North End. Purchase of votes was going on in the ninth precinct, at North Eighth and Davis streets, where Lane watchers discovered that a heeler just out of jail was running men into the tent voting booth and sending them to cast their ballots for Williams.

Quiet Vote for Lane. The quiet vote is guessed as going for Lane. Numbers of Republicans coming from the booths and asked how they voted, say nothing.

At many polling places drivers of carriages wearing banners marked for Williams said in private conversation that they were for Lane.

Throughout the day, the Lane campaign managers have been solidifying the force of voters, preparing for the attempt later to run in the hundreds of fraudulent voters for which the machine has made provision.

RINER KNEW FOR WHOM HE WANTED TO VOTE

R. W. Riner, a son of R. M. Riner of Timmers, creek sewer fame, presented himself at the polling place in the Twenty-fifth precinct this morning.

books and the intention was to have purchased denizens of the north end district to answer to these names before the election judges and thus swell the vote for Williams. Against this plan, the Lane campaign managers have provided deputy sheriffs at all polling places, who are ordered to arrest every person against whom there is any evidence of attempt to cast illegal ballots.

Bad Day for Illegal Voters.

Fifty-eight deputy sheriffs and many assistants are under instructions to keep strict watch and report to headquarters all irregularities. The fraudulent voter will not fare well today in Portland.

The franchise for the automatic telephone appears to be carrying by a 2 to 1 vote, while some poll watchers guess the odds larger.

In the second ward the vote was light during the morning hours, although a larger proportion of the voters turned out in the upper end of the ward than in the lower end, Precincts 7 and 8, which are wholly residence districts, showed at noon a vote equal to about 25 per cent of the registration. In the fourth precinct, which embraces the north end, the percentage of voter cast was much smaller.

Challengers are at the polls in this and other precincts to guard against fraudulent votes and prompt measures will be taken to prevent any dishonesty in the election. Lane supporters are confident that their candidate will carry the second ward and they regard the light vote in the north end as a very favorable symptom.

Home Districts Solid for Lane. On the east side, the Lane sentiment was growing and the confidence of his supporters increased as the day progressed. Judging from surface indications, the east side will give Dr. Lane a heavy majority, and the west side residence districts are thought to be loyal to him.

POLLING BOOTH STOLEN.

Tent in Ninth Precinct Stolen for Astoria.

Last night thieves stole the large canvas tent which City Auditor Devlin had caused to be erected at Eighth and Davis streets as a polling place for the voters of the ninth precinct.

Police Captain Moore was notified, and detailed Warrant Officer Golts on the case. Within a short time he had located the canvas on the Ash street docks. It had been neatly rolled and bound with ropes and consigned to Astoria.

EXTRA BALLOT BOXES.

Additional ballot boxes for precincts 4, 5, 23, 43, 47 and 53 were sent out by Deputy City Auditor W. S. Lotan at 10 o'clock this morning.

AFFIDAVITS MUST BE MADE AT POLLING PLACES

Colonized Stuffers Will Be Arrested If They Seek to Deposit Ballots.

The law adopted by the 1905 legislature compelling unregistered voters to make affidavits at the polling places is looked on as the most serious blow that has been given the machine in recent years, excepting the direct primary law, which was also a triumph for the better element.

In previous elections unregistered voters could make affidavits before a notary public and six freeholders could sign it anywhere. It was the custom for the machine to assemble a notary and six owners of property at its headquarters and make out hundreds of certificates, which were passed out to the poll-workers in bundles, and frauds were practiced in every precinct of the north end. Certificates were signed and acknowledged, with no names of voters in the first part of the instrument, and contrary to the provision of the law the names of the voters were filled in later.

A year ago, by the careful guarding of the polling places, the extensive frauds thus planned were prevented in large part, although there was more or less of it in the worst precincts of the north end.

Today deputy sheriffs were sworn in to watch the polling places, and they were given lists of names on the registry books that are known to be fraudulent. On the books are dozens of names of men whose residences are given at houses where they are unknown; in some instances as many as 40 are registered from a building where only two or three reside.

Instructions were issued by Sheriff Word to the deputies to arrest every person attempting to vote fraudulently and District Attorney Manning gave official notice that any one trying to evade the election laws would be prosecuted to the limit.

FORTY MILLIONS SENT TO EUROPE BY ALIENS

New York, June 5.—According to figures compiled in the annual report of the New York City post office for the fiscal year ending in July, the amount of money sent to foreign countries by aliens during the last 12 months is nearly $40,000,000. In the last quarter $8,577,123.28 went out of that office to foreign countries in small money orders. The money orders that go to Italy are larger than that of any other country.

During the last calendar year the total sent out by the New York post office to foreign countries was $86,757,901.28. To Italy alone $23,209,000 were sent, aggregating $8,750,255.41. Nearly 60,000 money orders were sent to Great Britain, amounting to $7,482,809.84. Germany came next, receiving more than $2,000,000 in money orders from the New York postoffice. Sweden was fourth, receiving more than $2,000,000 in small sums.

3 DEAD, 7 WOUNDED IN KENTUCKY FEUD

Another Pitched Battle Takes Place at Picnic in Breathitt County.

COCKRELLS' AND HARGIS' FRIENDS FIGHT IT OUT

Leaders of Both Sides Slain Early in Fracas but Followers Continue It.

Lexington, Ky., June 5.—There was another pitched battle in the Breathitt county feud, yesterday, and after a full half hour of shooting three men lay dead and seven badly wounded. One side—the Davises, who are relatives of the Cockrells—had the advantage of a farmhouse fortress, although most of the gunplay was in the open road. Adherents of the Hargis faction were handicapped by being forced to move forward into the open to fight, but they did it without an instant's hesitation.

Leaders of both sides were killed early in the fight, but their followers fought on with rifles and revolvers until all ammunition was expended. The Hargises themselves, who are under arrest for the murder of two of their feudal enemies, Marcum and Cockrell, could not have a part in today's encounter, but their relatives and friends fully sustained the family reputation.

Sunday, five miles from Lee City, on the edge of Morgan and Breathitt counties, a negro named Grant Reed, a blind tiger operator, gave a picnic. The trouble started between Andrew Melson, a farmer, and Harlan Dykes. Melson was an enemy of the Hargis faction, while Dykes was closely connected with the family. Both had many friends.

AMERICAN BARK APACHE CROSSES FINISH LINE

The Lisard, June 5.—The American auxiliary bark, last of the trans-Atlantic races for the Kaiser's cup, crossed the finish line at 10:20 o'clock this morning, a week behind the Atlantic, winner of the cup. Fears have been entertained that the vessel had encountered disaster among the icebergs. The boat's delay, however, was due to having been caught in a terrific gale which carried her far out of her course.

MAGNIFICENT WEDDING GIFTS FROM ALL EUROPE

Silver Service of Several Hundred Pieces Given by Cities of Fatherland—Gold and Jewels From Kings.

Berlin, June 5.—Gray-haired citizens of Berlin declare that tomorrow will add to their stock of recollections the memory of the greatest scenes of popular enthusiasm they have ever known. Crown Prince Frederick William will be married shortly after 12 o'clock to Duchess Cecile of Mecklenburg-Schwern, and it is expected that after the ceremony the royal couple will pass before the people in open carriages accompanied by the usual accessories of military and official pomp.

The German law requires that the marriage ceremony be solemnized by the civil authorities, and therefore the Duchess Cecile and the crown prince will be married by House Minister von Wedel and later at a religious service under the eyes of a large assemblage of privileged persons from many parts of the world. The floral and other decorations of the chapel in the Schloss, where the religious ceremony will be performed, are extremely rich.

The wedding gifts to the bridal couple were presented in the white room of the palace this morning, when deputations with congratulatory addresses were also received. The wedding presents were numerous and on a scale of great magnificence. They came from the various rulers of Europe, from relatives of the contracted parties and from the chief municipalities of the empire. They included splendid Sevres vases and Gobelin tapestries from President Loubet of France, magnificent tapestries and rugs from the Sultan of Turkey and various articles of gold and silver from the king of Italy, the Czar, King Edward VII and other sovereigns of Europe.

The most magnificent gift of all, however, will be the silver service of several hundred pieces subscribed for by the chief cities of Germany. Plaster casts of the service are on exhibition as the set is not finished. The visiting princes and envoys were entertained at a state dinner at the palace last evening.
