Big Order Listens to Fine Reports From Many of Its Officers.

TREASURY SAID TO BE IN HEALTHY CONDITION

Many Recommendations Made by the Worthy Grand Matron for Consideration.

Owing to the change in the date of the Eastern Star reception to Grand Worthy Matron Mrs. Conkling, from June 15 to yesterday afternoon, the business meeting of the sixteenth an-usual convention was postponed till today, and consequently the whole procedure of the order has been moved ahead half a day.

Routine business filled the morning hours and election of officers was postponed till late this afternoon. Credentials of delegates and the organization of local committees and the distribu-usually solid basis. Only two chapters have been added in the year, but the individual membership throughout the state has been unusually large.

The worthy grand matron recommended that the subordinate chapters make a more careful study of the constitution and by-laws of the grand chapter, and of their own chapters; that charters be given to the two new chapters instituted this year; that the Bible be opened at the second chapter of Matthew, which refers to the star of the east; that the secretary of the subordinate chapters notify the grand matron immediately of the death of a member, that fraternal sympathy may be extended.

ed; that the regular meeting of chapters be specified, not according to the full moon, but according to the day of the month; that the uniform work compiled by a committee of past grand matrons and past grand patrons be adopted by the grand chapter of Oregon. These recommendations will be acted on this afternoon.

The exercises at the cottage at the fair grounds yesterday were particularly well attended and enjoyed. This program was as follows:

Music, Administration band; introductory remarks, Margaret Lutke, P. G. M.; address of welcome, H. W. Goode; response, Helen P. Gatch, P. G. M.; music, (a) "The Hunter's Call" (Emerson), (b) "When We Get on the Trail" (Haywood), Oregon quartet; reminiscences, George M. Hyland, A. G. P.; vocal solo, "It was a Knight" (Wallace), Nina Wenderoth; reading, "Maude Batelle Handel" music, "Waltz Song" (Vogel), Oregon quartet; "Masonry and Its Relation to the O. E. S.," J. C. Moreland; five-minute talks by distinguished guests: basso solo, "Armorer's Song" (De Koven), Sydney Rasmussen; prayer, Mrs. E. A. Beals, R. W. G. chaplain; music, Administration band.

At the reception following, Wilder's orchestra furnished music.

This evening there will be an exemplification of ritual work at the Masonic temple. Tomorrow the newly elected officers will be installed.

TEN PAIRS OF SHOES ARE STRONG'S ASSETS
(Journal Special Service.)
New York, June 13.—Putnam Bradley Strong, the actor husband of May Johns, who has filed a petition in bankruptcy gives among his assets "16 pairs of shoes" in the petition filed by his attorneys. He states his liabilities are $1,088, his assets $199, of which $50 is secured by filing the petition. Other assets consist of the shoes referred to, six suits of clothes and five hats, valued all told at $50.

Strong styles himself an actor and says that he lives at the hotel Breelin. His liabilities consist mainly of contracts with tailors, hatters and hotel keepers. As no shoemaker is mentioned, Strong doubtless paid for the 16 pairs of shoes included in his assets.

Strong and his wife are rated as receiving upward of $750 a week during recent performances in New York. This $750 may, or may not, be stage money. An item in the bill is $249 for board in May, when they were supposed to be receiving this salary.

SINGLE-HANDED SAVED ROAD FROM ANGRY MOB

(Journal Special Service.)
Albuquerque, N. M., June 13.—Charles Mainz, a Santa Fe engineer, last night stopped 290 angry Indians, who had decided to cut the Santa Fe tracks three miles west of here to save a village from being flooded. There is a high embankment against which the waters of the flooded Rio Grande have been rising for several days. The water began to wash out the foundations of the Indian village and the Indians, led by tribal officers armed with clubs, spears and a few shotguns marched out to cut the embankment. Mainz, who was alone, stood on the tracks with a revolver drawn and held the Indians off until assistance arrived.

HANGS HIMSELF ON EVE OF HIS WEDDING

(Journal Special Service.)
Lima, Ohio, June 13.—William Pifer, aged 24, of Los Angeles, who came here to wed an old sweetheart, hanged himself last night because he had lost a draft for the small fortune he had made in the west. The bank refused him a duplicate. The wedding was set for next Saturday.

NOT GUILTY HIS PLEA SCHOOL CHILDREN WILL HONOR FLAG

were written the names of taxpayers in every county of the state. One by one the slips were drawn and read until the tale was complete. Each gave the name, occupation and residence of a taxpayer.

Some of the Names Drawn.
Multnomah county, of course, contributed a large proportion of the names than any other county. A number of well-known citizens of Portland were drawn, among them W. B. Ayer, C. F. Adams, Walter F. Burrell, W. A. Stacey, W. A. Stacey, Joseph Clonset.

From the outside counties came a large number of names, and this prompted an audible whisper from Judge O'Day: "I don't recall the clerk calling any of those farmers from township 11-7." This reference to the township which figured so largely in the Putter trial provoked a smile.

The charges which Senator Mitchell must go to trial next Tuesday is regarded by the government officials as the strongest of the indictments which have been returned against him. The evidence is largely documentary and is said to consist in great part of letters, checks and account books. The alleged transactions of S. A. D. Putter with Senator Mitchell do not figure in this case, nor will Putter be a witness.

Details of Charge.
The indictment charges that contrary to the federal laws Senator Mitchell received fees from Frederick A. Kribs amounting to $1,760 for using his influence at Washington to secure the patenting of land claims in which Kribs was interested, the money being paid to the law firm of which Mitchell was the senior member.

Articles of partnership were executed between Mitchell and Tanner in 1901, and according to the testimony of Tanner, his son, and Harry Robertson, the document contained the following provision: "It is understood and agreed that the interest of each of the parties to this agreement as to all services rendered, all moneys received, and all business done by the firm shall be equal one-half thereof, except that for any services which may be rendered by said John H. Mitchell in the city of Washington, D. C. either in the supreme court of the United States, or in any department or before congress or any of the departments, shall be the individual matter and claim of said John H. Mitchell, and all fees so earned by him in either of said departments, and all fees received by said John H. Mitchell, shall be his individual property and he shall have no interest therein; and for all services rendered by the firm or either member of it in any other place, save and except as above, shall be considered firm business and the parties equally interested therein."

Tanner's Story.
When Judge Tanner was called before the grand jury and asked as to the nature of the firm's transactions he stated that Senator Mitchell had no interest in fees for services rendered by the firm before the departments at Washington, and in support of this assertion he produced a document purporting to be the original partnership agreement executed in 1901. Its place in the clause already quoted, the following clause is alleged to have been substituted: "It is agreed that the interest of each of the parties hereto as to all services rendered, all moneys received, and all business done by the firm, shall be the equal one-half thereof, except that for any services which may be rendered by said John H. Mitchell in the supreme court of the United States shall be his individual matter and all fees so earned by him in said court and his salary as senator shall be his individual property and the firm shall have no interest therein; and that for any and all services which may be rendered by said Albert H. Tanner before any of the departments at Washington, D. C., or any of the branches or bureaus thereof, or in the land department of the government, either at Washington, D. C., or Oregon or elsewhere, shall be his individual matter, and all fees so earned by him shall be his individual property, and the firm shall have no interest therein; except such as he might properly do as a senator in congress for any constituent without charge."

Tanner's Confession.
Confronted with the evidence which the government had secured, Judge Tanner, himself under indictment for perjury for swearing that the bogus was the original partnership agreement, threatened with criminal proceedings against his son, broke down and made full confession in open court. He acknowledged that he had procured himself before the grand jury and that the pretended articles of partnership were drawn and executed in November, 1904, and dated back to 1901, at Senator Mitchell's request.

Tanner stated also that the original articles provided that Mitchell should receive all fees for services rendered before the departments, and that this arrangement continued up to the time of the grand jury investigations. Robertson had previously testified before the grand jury that he wrote the original articles from dictation in 1901. He surmised to the grand jury that the articles were written by Mitchell to Tanner.

This is in brief a summary of some of the facts which have already been published and which will be brought out on the coming trial. The government is said to be in possession of checks and other documentary proofs that Mitchell received the moneys paid to the firm by Frederick A. Kribs, and the firm's books will probably also be placed in evidence.

to love and protect it. I pledge allegiance to my country, one nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

Following the pledge Mrs. Whitney will sing two verses of the national hymn to the accompaniment of band, organ and waving flags.

Following are the verses of the "Star-Spangled Banner":
Oh, say, can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hail'd at the twilight's last gleaming;
Whose broad stripes and bright stars,
through the perilous fight, O'er the ramparts so watch'd, were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs
bursting in air,
Gave proof thro' the night that our flag
was still there:
O say, does that star-spangled banner
yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home
of the brave?

On the shore dimly seen through the mists of the deep,
Where the foe's haughty host in dread
silence reposes,
What is that, the breeze o'er the
towering steep,
As it fitfully blows, half conceal'd:
half discover'd?
Now it catches the gleam of the morn-ing's first beam;
Its full glory reflected now shines on
the stream:
'Tis the star-spangled banner, O long
may it wave
O'er the land of the free and the home
of the brave!

And where is the band who so vaunt'ingly swore,
'Mid the havoc of war and the battle's
confusion,
A home and a country they'd leave us
no more?
Their blood hath wash'd out their foul
blot of treason;
No refuge could save the hireling and slave
From the terror of fight, or the gloom
of the grave:
And the star-spangled banner in triumph doth wave
O'er the land of the free and the home
of the brave.

O thus be it ever, when freemen shall stand Between our loved home and the war's desolation;
Bless'd with vict'ry and peace, may the
heav'ns defend us, Praise the power that hath made and
preserved us a nation!
Then conquer we must, for our cause
is just,
And we shall be our motto, "In God is our trust."
And the star-spangled banner in triumph
shall wave
O'er the land of the free and the home
of the brave.

Ex-Senator John M. Thurston of Nebraska will be the chief speaker of the day. After the exercises on the athletic field a special program will be rendered in Festival hall, at which General Thomas M. Anderson, president, and Ex-Senator Thurston will deliver an address. The program follows in full:

CAN'T STOP CROWDING.

This Is Why the J. Walter Thompson Company Moves to New Quarters.

From the New York Globe.
A man who had not stopped growing at 40 would be a giant of giants. It is the same with a business firm as with an individual. The firm of J. Walter Thompson, known for 40 years and is still growing is a business giant.

The J. Walter Thompson company, which, after 40 years of growth, has before the grand jury, and subjected to rigorous examination.

Growth is the highest manifestation of life. When growth stops, decay begins. It follows, therefore, that a growing agency is a live agency. Fortunately growth is a measurable quantity. When a boy's clothes get too tight for him—when his coat cuffs slip toward his elbows and his vest refuses to button—it's plain he has outgrown them. Whether for work or for comfort, he must have a larger suit.

That's the way the J. Walter Thompson company organizes its quarters in the old Times building. The accommodations go to be too tight a fit for work or comfort, and so the firm has removed to new offices at Twenty-third street and Fourth avenue, where 15,990 square feet on one floor, at accommodation for a giant business, give the necessary working and breathing space.

There is only one explanation of business growth, and that is business success. And behind any business success there must be superior qualification and equipment for the conduct of the business engaged in.

URGENT MR. FLEISCHNER TO BE A CANDIDATE

Prominent School Electors Promise Him Support and He Will Run for Director.

In response to the request of the signers of the following petition, I, N. Fleischner, yesterday consented to the use of his name as a candidate for the office of director of the school district. The petition and his response follow:

Portland, May 31, 1905.—To I. N. Fleischner, City—Sir: The undersigned school electors of Portland, having con- sidered in your integrity, ability and interest in the public schools of this city, respectfully request that you permit your name to be used for the office of director of this school district.

In case you consent to become a candidate we promise you the support of our votes and influence. Yours very truly,

J. Wesley Ladd, W. W. Robinson, L. A. Hartman, R. A. Marshall, Louis Lang, A. Feldeheimer, N. G. Winslow, Fred T. Merrill, S. L. Spencer, J. H. MacLean, James B. O'Shea, Charles E. Archer, H. Frank, Reni J. Cohen, A. E. Biles, Robert Allen, Roberts Bros., Charles Egan, E. Ehrman, E. F. Peterson, W. B. Stearns, D. Beckitt, Ben Selling, George H. Williams, Fremie Sealy, J. Binman, Horace H. Ramsdell, Adolph Wolfe, George J. Gamson, H. Young & Co., C. L. Schmidt, Charles Regels, C. W. King, F. Tresser, Robert W. Wacher, C. E. Rummel, Goddard-Kelly Shoe Company, Jacob Meyer, H. C. Hartman, Ed. Simon, Harry Lane, R. B. Long, J. G. Mark, Sig. Scheel, F. W. Gill, I. N. Lipman, N. Gill, Sam Rosenblatt, W. H. Jones, Dan C. Campbell, Milton Waddler, Jacob Rosenthal, Phil S. Butler, E. W. Rowe, F. J. Read.

To the Signers of the Above Petition: Your request that I permit the use of my name as a candidate for school director of this city is before me. I desire to thank you for this evidence of confidence and to say that if it is the wish of the people that I serve them in this capacity I will accept the office. It may be proper to add that I favor the maintenance of all that is good in our schools with the addition of such features as the experience of other cities has clearly demonstrated to be desirable. While I believe in such reasonable development, I am firmly of the opinion that no fad or fancies should be permitted to divert the time or attention of teachers and pupils from the main function of an elementary school, namely, to impart a sound knowledge of the essential English branches.

Concerning the salaries of teachers, I favor a schedule as high as that paid in other cities similarly situated. I have examined the so-called "merit system" now in process of introduction here and have reached the conclusion that it is not practicable. I think it better to pay all teachers of the same grade and experience the same salaries, refusing to continue in service those who are unable to earn such salary.
