

OFFICIAL PROGRAM OF REUNION DAYS

What the Pioneers Will Do During Their Annual Gathering in Portland.

SESSION CONVENES TOMORROW MORNING

Banquet and Business Meeting Scheduled for the First Evening—Friday All Visit Fair.

Owing to the number of functions now going on in the city the Oregon Pioneers' association has issued the following official program to prevent any misunderstanding.

Thursday, June 15—From 1 to 2 p. m. the pioneers will assemble at the Armory, corner Tenth and Couch streets, clothed in the proper pioneer badge for 1905.

Upon arrival at the Armory they will be received by Joseph Buchtel, grand marshal, and his aids, assisted by the woman's reception committee and directed to the Marshall on second floor, where the exercises of the hour will take place according to the following program:

Call to order—by President W. T. Wright, 1852; music, Brown's orchestra; prayer by the chaplain, Rev. Robert Robe, 1852, Brownsville; address of welcome by—Hon. George H. Williams, mayor; appointment of committee on resolutions by the president; music, Brown's orchestra; annual address by Hon. H. H. Giltry, 1852, Washington, D. C.; recitation (original), Miss Minnie M. Hode, Portland; music, Brown's orchestra; announcement by the grand marshal; benediction.

At the close of these exercises there will be a reunion lasting until 5 o'clock when Grand Marshal and aids will form a column of twos and march to the banquet-room, where they will be received by Mrs. C. M. Cartwright. The annual business meeting will be held at 5:30 in the dais hall. Following the business meeting an entertainment will be given.

Friday, June 16, 9 to 11 a. m.—Assembly at the entrance of exposition grounds. All are requested to go immediately to Festival hall, where exercises will follow. The afternoon will be spent by the pioneers as they choose. Pioneers must wear proper badge for 1905 at all times and same will only entitle them to admission to the exposition grounds between the hours of 9 and 11 on June 16. About 750 members have already registered.

LORD CANNOT HAVE IMMEDIATE TRIAL

Other Cases Will Take Precedence Over That of the Conspiracy Against Heney.

Charles F. Lord, who was indicted with Henry Ford, John Hall and others on the charge of obstructing justice by attempts to intimidate United States District Attorney Francis J. Heney, appeared in the federal court this morning to ask for an early trial. He called the attention of the court to the fact that he had been prompt in entering his plea of not guilty and that at that time he had asked for immediate trial. Now that a panel of jurors had been drawn he felt that he was entitled to renew his request.

Judge De Haven referred the request to Mr. Heney, who was present in court, and the latter replied that at this time it would be impossible to set the government's case against Mr. Lord and his codefendants. Mr. Heney explained that cases are pending against a United States senator and two congressmen, and that custom prevents them from taking part in the proceedings of court until the cases are decided. Public interest therefore demanded that these cases should be disposed of before any others and in the meantime it would be impossible to name a time for the trial of Mr. Lord. His request was therefore denied.

Marries Army Officer. (Journal Special Service.) Jefferson City, Mo., June 14.—A wedding of note here today was that of Miss Mary Gantt, daughter of Justice Gantt of the criminal division of the state supreme court, and Lieutenant Edwin A. Hickman, United States army. The ceremony was performed at the Presbyterian church in the presence of a gathering that included a number of guests from out of town.

Here is a case where the "favorite" wins.

The favorite at this meet is the $2.00 Sennit.

If one is not handicapped by monetary considerations—here are other winners—Panamas at $5.00, $6.00 and $7.00.

Also the Java Straws with dented crowns at $1.50.

Also Nobby Sailors from 50¢ to $2.50.

Formal Reception to Be Given Visitors Tonight With Special Musical Program.

"This town will move to Portland June 14."

The father of this banner, which was stretched across the main street of Salem these many weeks, made no mistake in his forecast. The whole capital is here. Every man on the exposition grounds is carrying a lunch basket or a baby and men and women alike are decorated with a white badge on the face of which appears the proclamation: "Salem—population 14,758."

When the special train left Oregon's judicial center this morning it carried at least 4000 people. There were 17 coaches, all of them filled by the joyous public, and great banners streaming alongside the sides of the cars told of their destination.

After the rush at the gates was over the eager crowd assembled on the front porch of the Oregon building, where ceremonies were held. The Administration band played several lively numbers and after securing the attention of the vast crowd, State Commissioner J. H. Albert introduced Mayor Frank Waters as chairman of the day.

Upon assuming the gravel Mayor Waters congratulated the people of Salem upon their splendid showing. The mayor spoke briefly of the possibilities of the district which he represents.

Judge J. H. Blagden of Salem responded for the people of Salem and J. H. Blagden followed with an interesting review of the progress of Salem and vicinity. Homer Davenport made the talk of the day. It was as informal as the man himself and full of humor, being a reminiscent account of events in the Salem of long ago, where the cartoonist received his first schooling.

At the conclusion of the exercises a reception took place in the Oregon building. Mrs. J. C. Carson being the hostess. Refreshments were served. The following assisted the hostess: Mrs. H. B. Thielson, Mrs. Charles E. Wolverson, Mrs. E. Hofer, Mrs. R. J. Hendricks, Mrs. F. W. Waters, Mrs. W. B. Morse, Mrs. W. E. Sherman, Mrs. E. W. Durbin, Mrs. D. C. Minto, Mrs. J. G. Graham, Mrs. W. FLAG DAY AT FAIR of the principles the flag typifies is phenomenal in the world's history. It is but a century and a quarter since this nation came into being, and in that short period the American has carried an advanced and beneficent civilization from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

"It is but little over 50 years ago that the American came to this Pacific coast, country and in that short time have transformed a primeval wilderness into the garden spot of the world and dotted it with millions of beautiful homes. When I look back on the past and recall what has been done in my active lifetime it seems like a dream. What has been done here is but an example of what will continue to take place wherever the American flag floats over American soil. We may not certainly know what the future holds in store for us, we can only judge of it by the past, but that is secure and glorious; its record will be written in glowing words on the pages of history and has been carved in ineffaceable characters on the eternal hills. It has been our proud privilege in this marvelous advancement of our race to be soldiers in its army of conquest, players in its grand drama of civilization and factors in its achievement."

Ex-Senator Thurston's Speech. The Lakme quartet sang "By the Waters of Babylon," and then Ex-Senator Thurston was introduced.

John M. Thurston, ex-member of the United States senate from Nebraska, spoke eloquently on the origin of the flag; what it has accomplished, and what it stands for in relation to the world's future. He paid a tribute to the Daughters of the American Revolution and the women of the country who have made Flag day a splendid patriotic institution, whose grandeur has been heightened by recent great achievements that stand out on the pages of the world's history.

"In the struggles of a people for liberty," he said, "and the throwing off of the yoke of despotic government, is seen the true meaning of Flag day. The flag is the emblem of what the American people have accomplished. Under this flag we have attained position as a free nation and a world power. Only five times has it been unfurled in battle, and in each instance for the liberty and the protection of the oppressed. The glory of our flag is a result of these events. The power of our flag is shown in the respect and consideration with which the utterances and suggestions of our president are received by all civilized nations. It is the power of the flag that enables him to do what he is doing toward ending the carnage in the orient.

"Our flag is great. Not only is it the protector of the western continent, but its influence for peace reaches around the globe.

"What the flag is today may be accepted as a promise for the future. It is a Christian flag. It means security and progress for the Christian religion.

"It is a peaceful flag. It stands for justice among men and harmony among nations."

"The 'Recessional' by the Lakme quartet, was followed by 'The Star-Spangled Banner,' by J. W. Goodrich and the choir of boys, which concluded the program. At 4 o'clock this afternoon a reception was given in the Oregon building by the Daughters of the American Revolution.
