

OREGON'S HOME OF COOPERATIVE COLONY

tively by electricity, all artificial light will be electric, and probably heat for domestic purposes will be obtained from the same source. The cities will be located and built by the best architects, landscape gardeners and sanitary experts. The code of moral laws governing the federation and all who reside on its property will be, it is said, ably within performance of every well-intentioned man and woman and will be rigorously enforced with absolute impartiality. In a statement of the plan, Mr. Wallace said of its citizenship:

"We are prompted by the same motives which govern the American Institute of Social Service, the National Civic Federation and similar organizations. Those motives are the preservation of the liberties of our people, the stimulating of patriotism, the maintaining of our free institutions, the strengthening of our government, the development of our country, the improvement of the homes of our people. Our main effort is to so readjust the relations of capital and labor as to destroy the antagonism now existing, by bringing these forces together in Christian cooperation."

Producers' Share of Products.
"We believe it is practical and possible to give the great mass of producers a more equitable share of the world's products, to place the laborer in environments that offer greater protection to morals and greater inducements to live moral and progressive lives, encouraging him in industry and economy. The work of the federation is rather preventive than curative."

In the federation no capital stock exists, nor is it possible. The properties are held in trust, and no member has the slightest right of interference in the acquisition or development of the properties. The constitution defines the trust to be a corporate body to acquire, hold, deal with, develop and utilize all such properties, real, personal and mixed, as the trust shall select, the net proceeds going in part to the members and the remainder to improvements and extensions. The trust will be capitalized at $150,000, the stock to be distributed among those whom the federation selects, and involving neither subscription nor liability for money. There are 15 directors, 10 to be Oregon men and five to be selected from the eastern continent of the enterprise.

Money Will Be Secure.
Forty per cent of the money realized from sale of the bonds will be retained by the trust companies, and by them invested in the class of securities corresponding with those accepted by the state of New York for investment of life insurance company funds. In this way the repayment of the entire principal of the loans will be guaranteed at maturity, and 5 per cent interest for the first five years. Sixty per cent of the bond proceeds will be taken for development of the Oregon properties.

"Inasmuch as honesty and industry do not insure success in the absence of judgment and business experience," said Mr. Wallace, "the federation is organized so as to guarantee a fair division of the profits—that is, interest to the bondholder, and all remaining profits to the laborer, less the necessary charges."

No Tobacco and No Intoxicants.
The constitution provides that the president shall serve during his natural life or during the time he remains a member of the federation, and that the first president shall be H. S. Wallace. A spiritual department shall forever be maintained, managed by ordained ministers, and shall receive in perpetuity one tenth of all earnings and products of the federation. The use of intoxicants is prohibited, excepting a reasonable amount may be kept on hand by medical practitioners for medicinal purposes. No tobacco shall be used on federation property, nor on the public streets, nor in parks, pleasure grounds, hotels or public gatherings. On the death of a president his successor shall be elected by a majority vote of the ordained ministers who are members of the federation, and shall serve during his natural life or capacity to act. There will be a vice-president who will act in absence of the president, and during the interval between his death and election of his successor.

The laws will be interpreted by a permanent board of arbitration, composed of three persons, two selected by the directors. Any disputant who shall not be satisfied with the award of this board may carry his case to an appeal board of arbitration, to be composed of three persons, two selected by the disputants and a third chosen by these two.

Methods of Deciding Disputes.
If the appeal board confirms the decision of the first hearing the case is settled. But if it finds a different conclusion the case shall be heard by a supreme board of arbitration, to be composed of the permanent tribunal of arbitration, the appeal board and three members of the federation selected in the same manner as the hearing of the appeal board. The decision of the supreme tribunal shall be final.

The by-laws provide that an applicant for membership in the federation must be 18 years old, mentally sound, and pass a physical examination showing him to be capable of performing labor in at least one of the departments. He must sign a declaration of acceptance of the Holy Scriptures as given by inspiration of God and of Jesus Christ as the savior, and the ethics of Jesus Christ as the rule in life. Candidates must further agree in writing to accept all conditions, financial and otherwise, governing the entrance into and continuation of membership in the organization. No wife can acquire ownership of a house or lot in federation property in addition to that held by her husband.

No Work on Sabbath.
Children of members shall be eligible for membership without payment of an entrance fee, on arriving at the age of 13 years. Members may transfer their memberships to any one eligible under the rules of the federation. No business nor work shall be carried on on the Lord's day, excepting that of necessity and mercy. No person may invest nor use his private capital in the property of the federation, nor carry on any business for private profit on the said property.

No member shall be compelled to work for the federation, but shall work only when he or she shall desire. But no member shall receive any wages unless for work performed, excepting in case of sickness. Any member quitting work must give notice in writing and secure a release from the superintendent. No member performing skilled labor shall quit work until due notice has been given and a substitute secured. All resident members who do not work as much as nine months each year shall lose their rights and benefits as such members, and shall be placed in the category of non-resident members.

Members May Have Choice of Work.
All members shall work where, in the judgment of the management, they can best serve the federation, but each member shall be employed in the department he chooses so long as the management is able to employ him there with profit to the federation. All work the federation engages in shall be deemed equally honorable and important. The scale of wages in each department shall be the cash wage paid in the district for the special work in question, but no deduction shall be made for the outlay on any of the social advantages inuring to the member.

The results shall be summed up quarterly, and the net profits, after all fixed charges and expenses are paid, shall be placed in the federation treasury to be used in improvements and extensions of federation property. Expelled members must leave the property of the federation. They can be restored by repenting of the offense which caused expulsion and signing an agreement to obey the laws.

The Wage-Earners' Sale!

Open Evenings till 9; Saturdays 11 P. M.

THE HUB

THIRD AND BURNSIDE STS.

YOU CAN BE SAVED From the maws of the high-priced clothiers. This store is making a sale of fine clothing at prices that you will know at a glance are far below all other stores. This will be the best week of all.

Two Thousand Men's Suits

Since this century began there has been no time that spot cash spoke in so strong terms as during the great strike now on in Chicago. City clothing trade is ruined in that town for this season—wholesale houses have no hope of any further orders for this season, manufacturers having on hand big stocks are forced to sell and not gamble on future prospects. The Hub with its cold cash bought over $50,000 worth of their choicest products at prices that enable it to give the wage-earner a bargain sale such as will make The Hub the store of all stores to secure your summer outfit.

$7.50

Will secure your pick and choice of 1,000 single or double breasted Suits, hand-tailored, in all-wool or worsted materials, black, blue, grays, also dark mixtures. Plaids, stripes, checks and overshots. These suits were made by the best wholesale tailors to retail at not less than $12.50 to $15, and that is what you have to pay for the same goods bearing the same manufacturers' labels in any store in this city.

$11.50

For $18 and $20 Suits, and there are over 1,000 to select from. No old-timers, but the very newest and most desirable spring and summer styles, imported materials, tailored, trimmed and styled to perfection. The new grays in over 20 patterns. Black, blue unfinished worsteds and serges. Extra quality chevots, Thibets, cassimeres, homespuns, etc. This lot of suits stands head and shoulders above any two stocks shown in this city from $18 to $20, but The Hub leads the way in the clothing business and fears no clique or clan and gives fine quality goods as low as any reliable establishment from Portland, Maine, to Portland, Oregon.

LEST WE FORGET!

$5.00 CASH Will be presented to the person sending the best story or description of not more than 50 words, by July 1, of this cartoon setting forth what it represents and the lesson it teaches. Address, Adv. Mgr., The Hub.
