COASTWISE TRADE

Eureka is Latest Addition to Fleet That Was Too Small for Business.

WILL TAKE BIG LOAD OF WHEAT TO CALIFORNIA

Unusually Large Number of Steamers in Harbor, Including Two Large Yachts.

The steamer Eureka, Redondo and Northland reached port last night from San Francisco, adding to the unusually large number of coast craft in the harbor.

The Eureka is a recent addition to the coast fleet, but will probably not make more than this one trip. She came light and began early this morning to take on wheat at the Irving dock for the Bay City.

The Redondo brought a full cargo of general freight from the California metropolis, and all of the passengers who could accommodate. On the return trip she will take out grain, lumber and railroad ties.

As has always been her custom the Northland came up the coast in ballast and proceeded to the Inman-Foulson mill, where she will receive a full cargo of lumber which she will carry to the Bay City.

LEBANON ROBBERS KNOWN TO POLICE

Portland Authorities Say They Have Full Information Concerning the Thieves.

SEVERAL NOTED CROOKS COMPOSED THE GANG

Also Asserted That Same Crew Was Responsible for the Newberg Crime.

Not only do the police now profess to have full information as to the identity of all the men responsible for the Lebanon bank robbery, but they assert that the same persons committed the Newberg bank robbery, obtaining $5,000, and attempted to loot the bank at Sheridan.

J. F. Kingsley, one of the robbers who escaped, is said to be James Johnson, alias "Toronto Jimmy," a noted bank crookman, who broke jail at Rochester, Minnesota, May 30, 1925, and for whose capture a reward of $10 was offered.

Darling, the other criminal who escaped, is said to be William, alias "Doc" Davenport, a noted crookman and bank burglar. He too, broke jail at Memphis, Tennessee, with two companions in crime, May 29, 1925. The tools with which they broke jail were furnished them by George Stratton, a mail box robber, who was afterward sentenced from Denver, Colorado, to serve 21 years in the Canyon City penitentiary for robbing the United States mails.

Stratton is still at large, and is believed to be in the vicinity of the Lebanon bank robbery. It is said that he was captured and lynched. Stratton was captured and lynched. Stratton was captured and lynched.

Crosley, one of the convicted Lebanon bank robbers, is a St. Louis pickpocket. It is said to have been a "copper" for two years for a poker game at the Main cafe. Dunn's wife is a sister of Dora Williams, a noted female thief, who was recently in Portland with Robert Robertson, a criminal of many aliases, best known as "the Gorilla."

The police are positive in their assertion that neither of the Lebanon bank robbers who escaped the clutches of the authorities is at Seattle.
