HE IS UNWELCOME IN NORTHLAND

Emperor William a Source of Embarassment to Nations He Visits on Cruise.

DENMARK AND NORWAY GROW CLOSER TOGETHER

Difference Between the Three Northern Nations Is Very Slight and All Are Closely Allied in Nature and in Character.

By Malcolm Clark.
(Copyright, 1905, by W. R. Hearst.)

Berlin, July 17.—The kaiser is on his annual cruise, but while in former years he has always looked forward to this as a relaxation from his strenuous life, he only left Germany this year because his physicians insisted that he must go away, since he will not cease working while he is in the country.

To Sweden the visit that he has paid the past week is extremely embarrassing, and public excitement is at a high pitch over his proposed naval demonstration.

Disliked In Denmark.

In Denmark the people are not overproud of him, although the old hatred against Germany has grown less bitter and there is a close personal friendship between the kaiser and King Christian, and the coldly polite attitude of the Danish people has always embarrassed him. To go to Russia is, of course, utterly impossible, and as for England, it is doubtful whether the kaiser's hatred of the English or the hatred of the English of him is the stronger.

And so, as long as the cruise lasts, the kaiser is obliged to stay on board his yacht, a doubtful pleasure when it is remembered that he has never been able to overcome his seasickness whenever the sea is even moderately rough.

Sweden's Feelings Hurt.

Professor George Brans, in a Paris paper, thus gives his view of the Sweden-Norwegian situation, which is of great value, as no man is probably better acquainted with both nations and no man has a greater reputation for impartiality than he. He says:

"By the dissolution of the union with Sweden, the Norwegians have of course hurt the feelings of the people of Sweden deeply, but they have, before all, wanted to emphasize their friendly feelings toward the royal family by offering the crown to a prince of the house of Bernadotte.

"If the offer was accepted, they thought, the new order of things would have been less painful to King Oscar. It is now almost certain that Norway will become a republic.

"While some years ago the Norwegians, after the passage of a new law, removed the union mark from their national flag, while the Swedes continued to keep the Norwegian colors in theirs, this act, instigated by Mr. Bjoernson and his friend, the historian Sars, useless and unnecessary in itself, tended to make friendly relations between the two nations impossible, but the last act of the king, the vetoing of the consular bill, seems to me to have turned the scale in favor of the Norwegians.

Difference Is Small.

"To explain the strained relations between the two people, it has often been said in the foreign press that the difference in their characters is very great, although the difference in language is small.

"The Swedes have been called monarchistic people; the Norwegians democratic and peace-loving. These are nothing but empty words. If one compared the differences between the Scandinavian people they will be found to be very small.

"There is a difference in character and language a hundred times greater between a native of Hamburg and a native of Schwaben, who both speak German and who are German; or between a native of Turin and a Sicilian, who both speak Italian and are Italian subjects, than between the Danes, Norwegians and Swedes.

"The people of Germany and Italy have had great statesmen, and have been intelligent enough to allow themselves to be governed, while the Scandinavian countries during the last century have not had a single great statesman.

"During the last 60 years we have spoken with much enthusiasm of Scandinavianism and we have sung songs expressing our joy that the three people, after centuries of misunderstandings, have become friendly.

Denmark Friendly to Norway.

"And now comes the split after so many, so long and so constant efforts to arouse a feeling of brotherly love. It is to be hoped that in a not too distant future the three people, each one free and independent, will become closely allied. Norway has in her past two loveless marriages, both of which ended with a divorce, and both of which, after the divorce, have been pronounced unhappy.

"But never have the feelings between Norway and Denmark been as cordial as since they were separated.

"The relations between Norway and Sweden will become equally friendly once the first shock of separation has passed.

"If the small powers of the north were not threatened by perils from without one would not need to feel uneasy at what is going on now. But Sweden and Norway are not alone in the world, and there is one capital besides Christiania where the government rejoices in the Scandinavian crisis, and that capital is St. Petersburg."

SUCCESSFUL AIRSHIP INVENTED IN GERMANY

By Malcolm Clarke.
(Copyright, 1905, by W. R. Hearst.)

Berlin, July 17.—When Count Zeppelin some months ago declared that he had solved the problem of aerial navigation and had invented an airship far superior to those of Santos-Dumont it was not thought that he would be able to raise the very large amount necessary to construct a full-sized model of his invention. He did, however, succeed, and a few days ago it was tried by an officer of the German balloon corps and proved a complete success.

Prospects now are that the patent will be bought by the war department. The new airship is of the same shape as its predecessor, though the balloon body is somewhat shorter; but, while the former carried motors of only 24 horsepower, the new ship has a motor of 80 horsepower, which weighs no more than the smaller motors.

PRINCESSES MEET COMMONERS

Ena, Patricia and Beatrice, Scions of Royalty, Thrown With Young People.

ROMANTIC ATTACHMENTS THAT COME TO NAUGHT

Social Season Made Gay by Presence of Noble Born Girls Who Are Allowed to Accept All Invitations Offered by London Society.

By Paul Lambeth.
(Copyright, 1905, by W. R. Hearst.)

London, July 17.—Many people who have met those three young and charming princesses, Ena of Battenberg, Patricia of Connaught and Beatrice of Saxe-Coburg, at private functions, feel a great compassion for these royal girls by reason of the fact that they have been thrown with young people altogether out of the court set more than any other members of the nobility. It is only natural that they should therefore form romantic attachments which can never come to anything.

Princess Henry of Battenberg has this season allowed her daughter to accept all invitations offered her, and the other two princesses have been to innumerable dances and dinner parties where hundreds of young men have been presented to them.

The other day Princess Beatrice of Saxe-Coburg spent a week with Mrs. Spencer Clay, Mr. Astor's daughter, at Hever castle, part of which is now in first-class order.

Princess Ena of Battenberg has also been entertained by Lady Cheylesmore (nee French) at her home in Prince's Gate. Mrs. John Jacob Astor has been presented to all three of the young princesses privately, and Princess Patricia admired Mrs. Astor immensely.

Every member of the American colony in London is glad to see Commander and Mrs. Clover in London once more. There was never a more popular naval attache than Commander Clover, whose breezy jocularity won all hearts when he was attached to the embassy in London.

The Clovers are staying at the Alexandra hotel, near Hyde Park corner, where they have been lately joined by their two little daughters, who have been receiving lessons in French and drawing in Paris.

PHOTOGRAPH HEART BEATS BY MEANS OF X-RAY

(Journal Special Service.)

Berlin, July 17.—Some astonishing developments in X-ray photography are reported by Professor Rieder and Dr. Joseph Rosenthal of Munich. These two scientists have been collaborating in X-ray work and declare that they have succeeded in obtaining in less than a second of time X-ray photographs of the human chest, the patient ceasing to breathe meanwhile. Having proceeded thus far, they sought to take pictures of the human heart between its beats, as it was found that the beating of that organ impaired the exactness of the photographs. Having first of all accurately gauged the time elapsing between the beats, they, by the use of the most sensitive films procurable, and the strongest possible X-rays, obtained good photographs in one-tenth of a second. It had not hitherto been thought possible to take such photographs.
