MARCONI SECURITIES

The greatest investment since the shares of the Bell Telephone were offered to the public at $1 and afterward sold at $1.00.

Since electricity—harnessed—electricity—has become such an important factor in the universe, many projects, commercial and industrial inventions, have been placed on the market.

Most wonderful of electrical inventions has long since gone past the rudimentary and experimental stages. There are now no less than eight Marconi stations in active operation on the Atlantic coast.

The latest American cup race—Shamrock III vs. Columbia, was reported to New York by wireless. Its practical utility in warfare has been demonstrated in the Boer war and during the present Japanese conflict.

It is only a question of a short time before Marconi Stations will girt the globe—the great ocean liners acting as connecting links.

The 14 Atlantic cables cost $100,000,000. A Marconi station costs $200,000. Twenty-eight wireless stations at a cost of $2,000,000 will be able to compete at every point with the 14 existing cables.

The stock of the British Marconi Company was put out at $5 a certificate and has since sold on the London Stock Exchange at $22, an advance of 340 per cent.
