THE $1 SUNDAY excursion to the Cascade Locks and return on the fastest of all the Willamette and Columbia river steamers, the Charles E. Spenser, starting from the foot of Washington street at 9 a. m. and returning about 8 p. m. affords one of the most delightful steamboat rides in the world. There is no other trip on earth so combined in so much grandeur and wealth of scenery. The steamer passes through a constant panorama of mountains and glens, cascades and canyons, hill and dale, mighty forests and rolling prairies, everywhere in operation and the wonderful Cascade locks, built at an expense of $4,000,000 and 15 years' constant effort. Tourists come thousands of miles to view the entrancing beauties of the Columbia between Portland and the locks, especially Multnomah falls, 550 feet, and all this matchless beauty may be seen Sunday at an expense of $1. Excellent meals served on board, 50 cents.

ARE YOU GOING AWAY?

Subscribers of The Journal who go away for a week or longer, may have the paper stopped at their residence and sent by express to their homes at the regular rate, and collection will be made by regular carrier after return to the city. Where The Journal has a regular carrier delivery, Albert Olsen, City Editor, Washington street, will deliver by mail to those who have the delivery by mail. Where The Journal is delivered by mail, subscribers may have their paper sent to their homes by express or by mail, and will be given all orders.

Dr. Charles M. Sheldon refuses to deliver his address at Exposition Sunday. San Franciscoans are saying that, and are coming here in numbers. Count of heads to be made there will be thorough and accurate. There will be no missed heads, and says he will be careful.

SAYS MANAGEMENT HAS BROKEN ITS AGREEMENT. Shows Letter From Goods Who Stated That Nothing Would Be Done on Grounds Out of Harmony With Sacredness of Sabbath. Dr. Charles M. Sheldon of Topeka, Kansas, author of "In His Steps," who was to preach tomorrow at the exposition, has canceled his engagement and will give his address at the First Presbyterian church in the morning. In the evening he will preach at the First Congregational church.

Rev. Oliver W. Van Odel, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church, Epworth, Washington, is to occupy the pulpit at the White Temple Sunday morning and evening. Dr. Van Odel has held several prominent pastorates in the middle west. Large success has attended his ministrations in Spokane, and the church has under construction a handsome stone building, to be known as the Spokane City Temple. He has also been very vigorous in his efforts along missionary reform, and is prominently identified with the recent moral "house-cleaning" of his city. Dr. Van Odel will preach in the morning on "Mountains of Gold," and in the evening on "From Missouri—Who is Jesus?"

Unless the council enlarges the assessment districts for the South-Portland hills, the property owners will bring an injunction suit to restrain the city from collecting the expense of the improvements. The South-Portland Citizens' association has tonight decided to appoint a committee of five to go before the council to ask for an ordinance enlarging the assessment districts. The street car company, the railroad companies and the city have been criticised for alleged attempts to prevent the enlargement of the district. Incidentally the promoters of the proposed garbage franchise grab were handled roughly.

S. S. Rich fell through a trapdoor near the corner of Morrison and Eleventh streets this morning at 12:30 o'clock and severely injured. He was being taken to the hospital when he was rescued by a passerby. The cause of the accident is being investigated. Mr. Rich states that other complaints have been made against the same person and that he has often left open the door at night, endangering the lives and limbs of all who pass that way.

We invite you to come in and investigate the great values we give in our 325 suits. We will be glad to have you examine our up-to-date materials, as well as our workmanship. We have only one price, $25.00 for suits, $15.00 for overcoats, $10.00 for suits, $7.50 for overcoats, no more, no less. Visitors always welcome and not urged to buy. Eighteen—Special 100 miles for $1. on the O. W. P. & Ry. Co. Following the Willamette river to Oregon City, thence through the Eagle Creek valley to Cascade, two hours stop at Estacada, the Clackamas river, where lunch may be had at the Hotel Estacada. Car leaves daily, except Sunday, from First and Alder streets, at 9:40 a. m.; return 4 p. m.

Mrs. Elizabeth Fleishman Aschheim of San Francisco, wife of I. J. Aschheim, secretary of the First Baptist church, died on Thursday evening from an operation which was necessitated through the poisoning of her arms in connection with X-ray work.

Attention, W. O. W. We have engaged an extra fleet of launches and will give extra service to the O. W. P. & Ry. Co. after a most delightful river ride at little cost. Favorite Boating company, foot Morrison street. Tel. Main 642. N. B.—Ours are the only boats landing passengers at this point.

PREACHERS OF THE FAIR IS FINE

Dr. Charles M. Sheldon Refuses to Deliver His Address at Exposition Sunday.

SAYS MANAGEMENT HAS BROKEN ITS AGREEMENT

Shows Letter From Goods Who Stated That Nothing Would Be Done on Grounds Out of Harmony With Sacredness of Sabbath.

Dr. Charles M. Sheldon of Topeka, Kansas, author of "In His Steps," who was to preach tomorrow at the exposition, has canceled his engagement and will give his address at the First Presbyterian church in the morning. In the evening he will preach at the First Congregational church.

Dr. Sheldon bases his refusal to preach at the exposition on the ground that the fair will be open on Sunday, and states that the management agreed with the committee on congress that this would not be allowed. The agreement which was presented to him was contained in a letter written by President Goode as follows:

"I will state that the Sunday arrangements for the Lewis and Clark Centennial exposition have been decided upon as follows: The gates will be closed until 12 o'clock noon; during the afternoon the gates will be open; the fair will be closed during the day; the machinery will not be in operation; special attention will be given to music, the educational features of the exposition and religious exercises; preachers of national reputation are secured to speak. It is the purpose of the directors to allow nothing to be done within the grounds on the Sabbath that shall be out of harmony with the sacredness of the day. To W. W. GOODE, President of the Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition, Portland, Oregon, August 4, 1906.

Dr. Sheldon reached Portland yesterday, having left Topeka before the arrival of the telegram from the committee on congress telling of the decision of the directors. He conferred with several Portland clergymen and members of the committee and concluded that he could not consistently keep his national reputation as being secured to speak. It is the purpose of the directors to allow nothing to be done within the grounds on the Sabbath that shall be out of harmony with the sacredness of the day. To W. W. GOODE, President of the Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition, Portland, Oregon, August 4, 1906.

It is understood that many persons who were parties to the original agreement have raised the question as to the position that was assumed by the exposition corporation when the case was pending in court, and some state that the corporation did not fight the case as if it desired to win it.

A meeting of the committee on congress and the directors of the exposition was held at the hotel last night. The committee on congress stated that the original agreement had been altered. It is understood that many persons who were parties to the original agreement have raised the question as to the position that was assumed by the exposition corporation when the case was pending in court, and some state that the corporation did not fight the case as if it desired to win it.

J. P. Clivie had a narrow escape from death on the Burnside street bridge. They were crossing in a light vehicle, when a large auto truck came up behind and crashed into them. The buggy was entirely demolished and the two men received severe although not serious injuries, in their fall. The men in the auto truck hastened away without writing to let the Oregonian know what happened, and as the number of the machine could not be discovered, it is not known who is responsible for the accident.

A party of 150 members of the Kansas Editorial association, in a special train, will arrive at Huntington tomorrow evening on route to Portland to see the exposition. They will change from their train to a boat at the Dalles and arrive here Monday evening. Rinaldo M. Hall, advertising agent of the O. R. & N. rail and water lines, departed today for Huntington to meet the visitors and conduct them over what remains of their route. The editors will make a stay of several days in Portland and see the city and country.

BOYS, THE FAIR IS FINE

San Franciscoans Are Saying That, and Are Coming Here in Numbers.

WILL HAVE BIG DAY HERE WEEK FROM THURSDAY

All the Commercial Bodies of the Bay City Will Combine to Make the Occasion Notable in History of Exposition.

San Francisco is coming to the Lewis and Clark exposition in great numbers. The commercial bodies of that city—the Merchants' association, board of trade, Manufacturers and Producers' association, chamber of commerce, promotion committee and Merchants' exchange—have agreed on August 17 as San Francisco day.

This will mean a mammoth excursion of boosters, which will leave San Francisco on August 14, and arrive on the morning of August 17, to take the fair by storm. Secretary L. M. King of the Merchants' association has been named as the executive officer of the celebration, and with H. P. Nadeau, traveling representative of the exposition's excursion department an eye-opener will be worked up for that big day. There will be a special program in the California building, a banquet and reception, and possibly a grand ball in honor of the visitors, who will be filled from head to toes with the enthusiasm that grows in the land of sunshine and flowers. The Portland Commercial club and chamber of commerce will take part in the celebration; in fact, will very likely arrange many of the enjoyable events of the day.

On the same day Illinois and Louisiana will be honored at the fair and a special program will probably be given at the Illinois building.

MISSOURI'S CELEBRATION TO BE A WONDER

State Commissioner Kern Promises Something Unique on State's Day. Missouri is preparing for a celebration on her day, September 14, that will be just a little different from anything the exposition has seen. Whether it will be a great masquerade ball, a midnight parade, a corn-husking bee or a barbecue is as yet undecided, but it will be the aim of the Missourians to do something unique and startling.

Robert H. Kern, president of the state commission, arrived yesterday with his family, and spent the day on the fair grounds. After racking his brain half the night in an effort to hit on a new idea, he announced that he had hit it, and that Missouri, in a series of entertainments and social events, would make all other functions of the fair seem quiet and tame.

Your Missouri society, which has received $50,000 from the state, will be here on September 14. Our senators, congressmen and legislators have been invited and many will be present. Our commission will conclude the Missouri day exercises by tendering the governor a banquet, at which we hope to have as guests many representative men of the Pacific slope, whose ability and energy and character will make your marvelous country the garden spot of America.

Claremont Tavern. On the Willamette—Lunch Fox leaves foot Morrison St., Merrill's boat house to Claremont, 10, 12 a. m., 2, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12 p. m. Returning from Claremont, 11 a. m., 1, 3, 5, 7, 9, 11 p. m.

WHERE TO DINE. Lewis and Clark Observatory cafe, 1,000 feet above the city. Fine service. In Honor of St. Dominic. A solemn celebration will be held tomorrow in Holy Rosary church, corner East Third and Clackamas streets, in honor of St. Dominic, the founder of the Order of Preachers or Dominicans. This will be the 84th anniversary of the death of this saint, whom Catholics honor not only on account of his heroic sanctity, but because he is the founder of a renowned religious order and the institutor of the devotion called the rosary. Very Rev. Father A. S. Lawler, O. P., assisted by Rev. Father C. V. Lamb, O. P., will offer the sacrifice of the mass. J. H. Cass will direct the Holy Rosary male choir. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. Father Gregory Robb, O. S. B.

MONSTROSITY PUZZLES. No Law Found Relating to Six-Legged Cows and Pink Lemonade. As no section of the St. Johns charter deals with the exhibition of a six-legged cow, and as the city ordinances shed no light on this legal question, the town auditor, Judge of the court and city attorney have been trying to hew out a law to fit a peculiar case. Yesterday two men appeared before the auditor and asked permission to exhibit a great bovine wonder, which came from California, was six months old and had the usual quartet of legs with two added for good measure. Just when it was determined to put the cow under the caption of "cat ceters amusements," one of the owners of the beast, and his partner wanted permission to sell lemonade outside the barn where the cow was to be exhibited. This added confusion to perplexity, for while there might be good ordinance which prohibited the stretching to cover a six-legged cow, there was no measure that by any amount of straining could be made to cover the combination of pink lemonade and bovine exhibition. It was finally held that the cow was the main circus and the lemonade was the side-show, and on this basis a settlement was made.

WELCOME AIRSHIP. St. Johns Tows Craft to River Where Launch Takes Charge. The visit of an airship to St. Johns Thursday evening was accompanied by a public demonstration in which 1,000 men, women and children took part, and a number of peculiar incidents occurred. The ship, which was drifting at the mercy of the southeastern breeze, tangled up with the schoolhouse grove of fire, then it drifted on to the first handy church spire, where it nearly came to anchor. The spectators were covered with the sand that the aeronaut threw out, and the airship was blown in an inclination to come to the ground. The ballast had about given out, and a rope was thrown overboard and the boys of the town towed the craft to the public dock. There the rope was hitched to a launch and the return journey to the fair grounds was begun. The ship, however, refused to follow the guidance of the launch and headed across the river, and showed a disposition to nose on to the roof of the roadhouse. By throwing overboard all the ballast the ship was persuaded to remain suspended 40 feet from the ground, and the engineer dropped another rope with directions to the crew below. Shortly after a demijohn was fastened to the rope, the jug was hauled aboard, and apparently satisfied the ugly tag of wind consented to start home.
