HOUSEHOLDER'S DOUBLE DOES THE BUSINESS
Large Crowd Enjoys an Interesting Game in Which the Prowess of Portland Prevailed—McLean Batted a Thousand.

Portland 4, Los Angeles 2.
Batteries—Jones and McLean; Hall and Spies.
Los Angeles was downed yesterday afternoon by the locals in an interesting contest, the score being 4 to 2. Notwithstanding the fact that Mitchell and Schaffly were still stiff from their old injuries, these players got in and played a tip-top game, and demonstrated that when in form they cannot be beaten.

It was a jolly old crowd that hied to Recreation park yesterday afternoon to observe the opening contest of the new season between McCreedy's proteges and Mike Morley's angelic ones. It was a typical baseball day, hot enough for the most enthusiastic player and audience cheerer for the most blasé fan. Gentle breezes swept through the interstices of an old man's whiskers, who sat in the rear portion of the grandstand, comparing the game of today with the contests of yore, and who took sufficient time between plays to intimate that "the game has changed more about the game than Reuben Levy, who at one time stated the indicator in this place and God-fearing community. The ground was dry and dusty withal. At intervals of five minutes the wind from the west would make friendly concessions with the light dust of the diamond and whiff it around in eddying spirals, and the game would stop for the occasion and dirt to the eyes. The grandstand and boxes were graced with time-honored fans, who appreciated the sport just as much yesterday as they did it a decade ago. Homer Davenport was there, occupying a box next to Judge McCreedy, and both followers of the national game exchanged views during the matinee on how the game of today compared with the sport as interpreted at Silverton and Vancouver in the days of old. Local backers of teams that in the past failed to make good sat looked and listened. The days of Sammy Vincent and of Con Morrow, Hulseman's batting in one game and Jay Andrews' throwing in another, flashed across their minds and they wondered.

The occasion was a joyous one and the Angels felt. Bert Jones was on the hill for Portland and to his credit it must be said that he pitched a splendid game of ball. His control was nigh perfect, but on a home run he was going against him and only his best was made of his delivery. His lone error was made in a hard chance of a bunt along the pitcher's box. Hall was in good form, but the locals touched him along when he pitched. The game was highly interesting from the start until the last Angel died in the ninth.

Portland started the fireworks in the third when Atz slammed out a beauty, scoring Runkle. In the fifth the Angels tied up the score on two safe hits. In the seventh Ross triple scored another run for the visitors. Ross tried to stretch his hit into a home run, but the fleet left fielder was nipped at the plate by a country block. While things looked a trifle dark at this time for the locals, a small batting streak with Householder, the budding star of the team, a double changed the complexion of things and put Portland on velvet. Eddie's double scored Schaffly and Mitchell, and a minute later Brashear's error gave life to Runkle and a run to Householder. This ending the scoring. The Angels did their best in the ninth, but their wings had been clipped and they could not soar. The fielding of Atz Cravath and Bernard, and the batting of McCreedy, Householder, Atz and Schaffly were the features of the game. The score follows:

of the eastern season, and Long went back to discuss details of the trip with Castillon and O'Neill, who are promoting the affair. They have had experience in this business, for it will be recalled that they were at the head of the LaSalle combination which was here a few years ago.

Everything has been arranged at this end for the visitors," said Danny before he took the train. "I have secured Recreation Park and other grounds along the coast. We are going to make an effort to play at Spokane, Seattle, Tacoma and Portland this time, which has not been attempted before. Other combinations have been afraid of the rainy weather, but we will take a chance. If it should rain we can drop down to Salt Lake, Denver and play. It won't cost much.

I had a long talk with Henry Harris about the tour, and before he would let me have the grounds here he made me promise that we would bring out only stars, and we have assured him that we will. We will try to get the very best talent they have in the big leagues. We want to get both Matthewson and McGinnity if we can. We will offer Cy Young a chance to make the trip. I suppose Lajale will come, and I think Hans Wagner will be with us. Castillon is on friendly terms with all the players and I have no fear about his not organizing teams that will be big-drawing cards. As the players made pretty good money when they were here before, I think there will be a lot of them who will want to visit the coast. Of course, all players won't play winter ball, for some don't like to take chances of getting hurt; but we will come out anyway.

GOYAM CHILDREN IN BAD SHAPE
Nearly Half the Pupils in Public Schools Have Something the Matter With Them.

Health authorities here have just completed an important investigation into the health of school children in the great city, which shows the prevalence of disease exceeding expectations. Figures compiled by medical inspectors show that out of almost 14,000 children examined, more than 6,000, almost one half, had something the matter with them.

That this proportion should exist, according to doctors, shows the necessity of adopting a system by which every child showing disease can be followed by regular examinations monthly.

The work was done by 100 inspectors. Four schools of primary grade were taken. All were in the poorer quarters, but the great city, which shows the prevalence of disease exceeding expectations. Figures compiled by medical inspectors show that out of almost 14,000 children examined, more than 6,000, almost one half, had something the matter with them.

Among maladies with which the children were found afflicted were chronic cardiac disease, pulmonary disease, skin disease, deformity of spine, deformity of chest, deformity of extremities, defective vision and defective hearing. The eyes of 3,510 pupils were found defective.
