The Law in the Case.

The governor's appointee will hold office only until a successor has been elected by popular vote and has qualified, which under the existing laws would mean until January, 1907.

Article vit section 4 of the state consitution provides that "Every vacancy in the office of judge of the supreme court shall be filled by election for the remainder of the vacant term, unless it would expire at the next election, and until so filled or when it would so expire, the governor shall fill the vacancy."

The terms of justices of the supreme court formerly expired in July of the sixth year after their election, but the legislature of 1903 changed this so as to make their terms expire in January, at the time that other state officials go out of office. Justice Bean's term would not expire until January, 1909. If he should not resign, a successor will be elected in June, 1906, who will take

DEATH THOUGHT TO BE RESULT OF FEUD

Coroner's Inquest Expected to Throw Some Light on Tragedy-Was Husband of Linn County Woman Whom He Married a Year Age.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Hood River, Or., Aug. 16.—Another Mount Hood mystery is in process of development. This morning Albert Mc-Kamey, a leading rancher of the Hood River section, was found dead in bed with a bullet hole through his head. It is not yet known whether it is a case of murder or suicide, as details are meager. The coroner's inquest will be held this afternoon, which it is thought will unpayed the mystery.

The police of this city believe that it is a case of murder, the result of an ancient foud, as no cause is known why McKamey should commit suicide.

McKamey is reported to have retired last night in good spirits. This morning when his family called him they received no response and upon going into the room found him with a gaping hole in his head through which a builet had passed.

Some Might Be's Discussed.

One of the stories current in connection with the expected vacancy in the supreme court has been to the effect that the governor might appoint some Republican circuit judge to the place and then name a Democrat to succeed to the vacancy thus created in the lower court. One version was that one of the Republican circuit judges of Multinomah county might be named for supreme justice, thereby opening the way for the elevation of a Portland Democrat to the local bench. Another was that Judge Robert Eakin of Union county, a Republican, might be promoted to the supreme court in-order to make room on the circuit bench for Thomas H. Crawford of La Grande, a Democrat and personal friend of the governor. These stories—were declared by Governor Chamberlain to be without foundation.

The selection of an eastern Oregon Democrat to succeed 'Justice Bean would undoubtedly be regarded as a good political stroke. The interests of that part of the state and consequently the character of the litigation are very Two Explosions Are Followed by Flames-Feared Many Lives Are Lost.
