

TO THIRD PLACE

San Francisco Administers the Third Successive Defeat of the Week to Locals.

LOCALS' BASERUNNING VERY SLOW INDEED

Brilliant Fielding of the Seals Assists the Whitewash — Esick and Henley Pitch Superb Ball but Former's Support Was Bad.

San Francisco 3, Portland 0.
Batteries—Henley and Shea; Esick and McLean.

San Francisco defeated Portland yesterday for the third successive time this week, and while much could be said about the performance of the locals (the least said, perhaps, the better), the Seals played in great form, fielding brilliantly and running bases daringly, while the locals ran bases as if they were coming home. The visitors served their victory because it was earned through a display of good hand-work, and after making three runs in the fourth inning, they backed up Henley in great shape, cutting off drives that ordinarily would be hits, and thwarting every attempt of the locals to score.

It may be said, however, in fairness to Portland that marvelous luck attended the playing of San Francisco. If a ball were bunted it would invariably roll in the direction of a base where a waiting player could pick it up and put out his man. This happened on two distinct occasions and, of course, Portland got out of several runs. In the eighth inning, with two gone, and Mitchell and Hoffman on the circuit, Atz drove a sizzler that hit Charlie Irwin's foot and the ball shot away towards second base, where Wheeler nabbed it, retiring the side.

But what's the use crying over what we did not do. In baseball as in other pursuits in this life a man or a team as it may be, must make good. It's the team that gets away with the game that is going to receive the applause, although much time is consumed in telling about what might have been.

Portland players should profit by the last three defeats. Weaknesses in the local team have been made bare in each of the defeats of the week. Poor throwing to head off runners, a pronounced stupidity on the bases, and a tendency to knock pop flies, are the chief offenses of the locals. We would like to see Fleming throw from left field to the plate and the pitcher try to see if he can do it, and it would be good to see Portland send a man across the plate after getting him to third, with none or one out.

It would be too bad now to throw away the advantage gained last week from the Los Angeles five, if Portland can beat Los Angeles five out of six, and Los Angeles beat Seattle more than half the games played, why can't Portland take a few games from a team that is playing without the services of its two best men, McLean and Wilson?

Portland's base running yesterday was a marvel of pronounced stupidity and sloppiness. Stupid because the base runners didn't know how to keep from being pitched out, and slow because they couldn't run any faster. Fleming and Hoffman ran like a team of selling pliers.

Esick and Henley opposed each other and pitched great baseball, but all the good pitching in the world cannot win unless a team makes a few runs. Esick didn't allow a hit after the fourth inning, nor give a base on balls. He struck out eight men and fielded his position in style. Henley depended more upon his support and he got it at the critical moments. He threw a line between catcher and second, and first to catcher, with good chances of retiring the side, coupled with a few hits gave San Francisco her three runs. This is the official score:

TRYING TO SMASH RECORDS.

Cape May, N. J., Aug. 19.—Several hundred automobile enthusiasts have arrived here to witness the attempt which Walter Christie intends to make this afternoon to break the world's automobile speed record for one kilometer and one mile. On July 30 Mr. Christie set a nautical mile record with the Automobile Club of America, reduced the American kilometer record by making it in his 120-horse power automobile in 25 seconds flat. He is confident of his ability to lower this record and also that for the mile and the experiment will be watched with great interest.

Esick pitched one of his customary good games and the loss of the contest cannot be attributed to him.

MANY YACHTSMEN AT MARBLEHEAD

New York Squadron After a Week's Trip Reaches Scene of Today's Regatta.

YACHTS ARE DECORATED IN GAYEST ATTIRE

After the Races a Number of Craft Will Engage in Eastern Yacht Club's Event to Halifax—List of Yachts That Will Sail.

(Journal Special Service.) Marblehead, Mass., Aug. 19.—After a highly successful trip and many experiences of the most pleasant character the squadron of the New York Yacht club, which started on its annual cruise from Glen Cove on Friday of last week, safely arrived here last night under the command of Commodore Frederick G. Bourne. A small fleet of the Eastern Yacht club met the New Yorkers at some distance from the shore and gave the visitors an enthusiastic welcome. Every yacht blazed forth in gay colors and the cannons boomed their salute.

The visitors were invited to the clubhouse of the Eastern Yacht club and were there received with lavish hospitality. The visitors were the guests of the club at an informal dinner and later there was an informal party with dancing and speeches.

Hosts and guests were on deck early this morning to be in readiness for the annual regatta, which takes place today. The harbor presented a beautiful picture with the scores of gaily beflagged yachts and the busy little launches which picked their way through the maze of larger craft. It required considerable engineering to put order into this chaos and line-up the yachts which took part in the various events. It reflects high credit upon the ability of the officials of the Eastern Yacht club managing the regatta and upon the skill of the navigators of the various home and visiting yachts that everything passed off in the smoothest possible manner and without any serious accident.

There are several events on the program for today and the regatta will practically occupy all day. In the evening there will be a formal reception in honor of the visiting members of the New York Yacht club at the clubhouse of the Eastern Yacht club and the most extensive preparations have been made to entertain the guests of the evening in a royal manner. There will also be a banquet with toasts and impromptu speeches.

Most of the visiting yachts will start on their home cruise tomorrow, excepting the few yachts which expect to take part in the Eastern Yacht club's ocean race from here to Halifax, a distance of 377 nautical miles. The race will start on Monday morning and promises to be quite exciting. Among the 30 or more yachts which will compete in the ocean race will be F. F. Brewster's big schooner, Edwina II. She is the sixth New York boat to enter the contest and ranks with the Corona class. The latter boat, which belongs to Arthur F. Luke, Roy A. Rainey's new schooner Invader, Stephen Feabody's Vigilant, W. Ross Proctor's Mineloa and Henry T. Sloan's Idler will also be in the race.

SPORTING GOSSIP.

W. A. Goss of this city defeated Henry Hewitt at tennis yesterday at Tacoma, thus insuring his right to contest in the men's singles for the championship of the Pacific northwest. Mr. Goss reports that Goss' work was first class.

An effort is being made by the native sons of California to have the Britt-Nelson fight pulled off in San Francisco instead of at Colma on admission day, September 2. Mayor Schmidt says that he is willing, should the supervisors give their assent.

"Slats" Davis is so hard on such matters as Householder and Mitchell that these men often swing on balls that they would otherwise let pass. "Slats" may think that he is the whole show, but he is not president of the league. This is a joke. "Slats" must be afflicted with Beer-Beer or some ailment or filling that sounds similar.

Perhaps if two of Portland's stars got injured new team would get in and win a few games.

league manager was still alive. What we can't see is how President Bert ever survived the H. A. greetings of Mike.

All that can be properly said about yesterday's game, without resorting to profanity, is that of was a hectic exhibition of the national sport. Another such performance will be sufficient cause for the calling in of the egg inspector.

A change in the batting order something in this fashion would not hurt the chances of the locals; Atz, Fleming or McCredie, Householder, Mitchell, Schiaffy, McLean, Hoffman, Van Buren and the pitcher.

McCredie ought to get out in left field today and show Fleming how to throw to the home plate. McCredie is a great "throwman" and the fans would like to see him work.

Householder's triple that he tried to stretch into a home run was one of the prettiest drives ever seen on the home grounds. Eddie should have been held on third.

Portland is so generous with runs that the gift of one or two to the visitors is often done through kindly feeling for the other fellows.

In speaking of "Educated Toes," we must confess that in our experience in baseball, we have been so accustomed to use our hands and brains that our toes did not figure in the fielding or batting of balls to any great extent. Of course noted jockeys often have recourse to the use of their heels in trying to urge their mount along, but "toes" is a new one on us.

COLD SPRINGS COMPANY MAY ABANDON PROJECT

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Pendleton, Or., Aug. 19.—"If the government locates the Cold Springs reservoir site and decides to begin work on a small irrigation scheme in the northern portion of Umatilla county we will abandon our project and take out water under the government scheme," said C. Crawford of the Cold Springs Irrigation Ditch company, who is in the city today.

The Cold Springs Irrigation Ditch company is a cooperative company of land owners who have located land in the vicinity of Cold Springs, and who have made arrangements to secure water from the Hinkle Ditch company of Echo. The Cold Springs company expected to build 20 miles of main ditch to carry water from the vicinity of Echo across the Umatilla river and northward on the summit of the range of hills east of Hazelton.

About 30 miles of ditch, including the laterals, will be built by this company if it completes its project.

A Reputation

How It Was Made and Retained in Portland.

A good reputation is not easily earned, and it was only by hard, consistent work among our citizens that Doan's Kidney Pills won their way to the proud distinction attained in this locality. The public endorsement of scores of Portland residents has rendered invaluable service to the community. Read what this citizen says:

H. A. Deck, mining engineer, of 322 Jefferson street, says: "Judging from my own experience Doan's Kidney Pills is a very reliable remedy and fulfills every claim made for it. Some time this winter I had a good deal of trouble with a lame and aching back. After being in a stooping position for any length of time it was difficult for me to straighten up. When I was having a particularly severe attack I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and procured a box. I had taken them scarcely a week when I felt relieved, and before I had finished the box I was cured."

WEALTHY GUESTS MUST PART WITH PET POODLE

Twelve Floors of Indignant and Weeping Femininity Protest in Vain.

(Journal Special Service.) New York, Aug. 19.—There is great consternation among the aristocratic guests of the Touraine hotel, one of the swellest hotels in Brooklyn, where one may have apartments at $150 to $200 a month. On every one of the 12 floors of the hotel there are indignant ladies, bitterly protesting against the inhuman and heartless wretches conducting the hotel and vowing vengeance. And all that commotion was caused by the order from the management that after today no dogs of any breed and description would be allowed in the hotel.

The rule against dogs had been in force in the hotel ever since it was opened, but on an evil day some time last year the manager of the hotel could not resist the sweet smiles of one of the feminine guests. He rescinded the order against dogs in her case, to permit her to keep a "darling poodle" in her rooms. The manager soon regretted his weakness. Scarcely a week passed since then that some charming guest did not come to him and ask for permission to bring some dog to her apartments.

Among the dogs belonging to guests of the hotel were many of considerable size and corresponding ferocity. There were many dog fights and highly dramatic scenes between the owners of the canines. Last week the manager counted up and found that there were no less than 125 dogs in the hotel, 121 of whom are of the "bad kind." The manager was appalled and, when in addition to that two of his dogless guests gave up their apartments because they could not stand the annoyance of the dog colony, he quickly came to a decision. He prepared a circular letter which he sent to every dog-owner in the house, requesting them to give up their dogs or their apartments.
