BEAN'S GRIP MAY BE WEAKENING

Delay in Filling Bellinger's Place Said to Be Against the Justice.

FULTON'S FRIEND MAY WIN PRIZE AFTER ALL

President Thought to Be Giving Head to the Senator's Recommendation and That the Chances of Judge McBride Are Growing.

President Roosevelt's delay in announcing the appointment of United States district judge for Oregon has given rise to reports that he is withholding the preference of the attorney-general for Justice Bean some other candidate may eventually draw the prize.

Nine days have elapsed since the attorney-general forwarded to the president all the papers relating to the matter, together with a recommendation that Bean be given the appointment. It was expected that the president would set at once and the general supposition was that the attorney-general's recommendation would be controlling. As the days have slipped by, however, without an intimation of the president's decision, the rumor has gained currency that Senator Fulton has at last succeeded in reestablishing his right to a voice in the disposition of the federal patronage of Oregon, and that his earnest advocacy of the appointment of Judge Thomas A. McBride has made a strong impression on the president's mind.

Justice Bean's friends are still confident that he will receive the office. They attribute the delay to the fact that Roosevelt has been so deeply absorbed in his efforts to bring about peace between Russia and Japan, and they say that it would have been impossible for him to give earlier attention to a mere local appointment, even though it be to the federal bench. They are strongly of the opinion that the numerous endorsements given to Justice Bean by the bench and bar will prove an overwhelming argument in his favor.

But there are others who believe that the delay portends disaster to Justice Bean's hopes. They see in it evidence that the president is at last disposed to give heed to the recommendations of Senator Fulton, or at the least not to appoint any one to whom he is opposed. It is true that when the fight first began for Judge Bellinger's seat Fulton gave a certain endorsement to Bean by including his name in a list of "eligibles" forwarded to the attorney-general. But Fulton's first choice throughout has been McBride, and for him his most earnest efforts have been put forth. If McBride could not land the office, Fulton's next choice would be County Judge Webster or Justice Wolverton, of the supreme court. Either might be a strong possibility if Bean were out of the running.

If Bean should be appointed it will be one more evidence of the president's influence with the president is far from strong. If, on the other hand, Bean should not get the appointment it will be a distinct triumph for Fulton, especially if his first choice, McBride, should be the place. Bean has never been a favorite of Fulton's for the place, and he became distasteful when ardent Simon Republicans openly took up his cause and urged his candidacy.

MOTHERS ORGANIZE THE OREGON STATE CONGRESS

The executive committee of the Oregon State Congress of Mothers, which was organized last Friday evening, outlined its work last night at its first meeting. Representatives are to be sent over the state to interest women in the organization of Mothers' clubs to join the state union. It is planned to hold a convention here of all the Oregon clubs in the fall, when delegates will be chosen to the National Mothers' congress at Los Angeles, in May.

The Home Training association, which represents the movement in Portland and which was instrumental in getting Mrs. Schoff, the national president here, has some hard work before it and plans to work earnestly from now till fall to make this first convention a success and to increase the membership. Attention will be turned to every channel which offers means for bringing the home training of the mother and children in understanding each other.

Members of the Woman's club of Portland have offered to assist in the work. The president, Mrs. A. H. Breyman, has invited the women of the state congress to meet at her home today at 4 o'clock. Any woman interested in the work can secure literature telling of it from Mrs. Robert H. Tate, 323 Columbia street, who is secretary of the state congress.

There is a strong feeling in favor of such a national organization and it is believed the convention which opened here this morning will take the initiative in starting the movement.

OPEN DITCHES ARE BLOCKADED

Oregon Delegates to National Irrigation Congress Organize for Convention Work.

RESERVOIRS ARE SAID TO BE MUCH TOO SLOW

Evidence Given of the Practicability of the Flume in Eastern Oregon, Where Arid Lands Have Been Made to Produce Riches.

The Oregon delegation to the National Irrigation congress met yesterday afternoon at the Oregon building on the exposition grounds and elected E. L. Smith of Hood River, chairman, and F. F. Stanley secretary. Selections in accordance with the requirements of the national congress were made as follows:

Vice-president for Oregon, Colonel R. C. Judson of Portland; member of the executive committee for Oregon, Fred S. Stanley of Portland; member of the resolutions committee, W. R. King of Ontario; member of the nominations committee, O. A. Stearns of Klamath Falls.

Several members of the delegation stated that they expected to emphasize the importance of the open ditch in the reclamation of arid lands, especially in eastern Oregon, and that it was probable that before the congress ends the subject would be brought forward for discussion by the delegates.

The federal government never has recognized the open ditch as a part of the general reclamation scheme; only reservoir projects have been endorsed by the government engineers.

"It is not a theory that we are advocating," said H. C. Willis of Echo. "We have the tangible evidence of the value of the open ditch to show to any one who will come to Echo, Maxwell, Umatilla or Irrigon. The last named town is just outside of Umatilla county, but uses water from the Umatilla river."

The Maxwell Land & Irrigation company, of which J. F. McNaught is manager, has 4,000 acres under the open ditch and will have 4,000 more covered by spring. The Butter Creek Irrigation company has 10,000 reclaimed. The Cold Spring Irrigation company has let contracts for ditches to cover 10,000 acres, work to be completed by January.

The W. J. Furnish company has let contracts for canals to cover 20,000 acres and work is now in progress. At Irrigon 2,000 acres are actually under cultivation and 50,000 acres will be before long. A Tacoma colony is negotiating with the Butter Creek company for an extension of its ditch with a view to bringing 10,000 acres more under water.

On Butter creek for 40 years O. F. Thomson has been raising alfalfa; by the open ditch irrigation, and along that creek are scores of farms on which the same has been done.

"With the open ditch as the basis of its prosperity, the Echo country has the following products: 7,000 head of beef cattle, worth $250,000; 10,000 sheep, worth $200,000; 2,000 horses, worth $50,000; wool worth $65,000; 50,000 tons of alfalfa hay, worth $350,000; wheat worth $200,000; fruit worth $30,000; 1,000 tons of sugar beets, worth $4,000, and dairy products worth $25,000.

"There is no antagonism between the open ditch and the reservoir plans of the government. The open ditch merely supplements the reservoir plan. The scheme will do in time—reclaim the arid land. Later the reservoir may be added, if it is desired, and the engineers decide it to be feasible for that region."

Committee assignments of other states were:

The back aches because the kidneys are blockaded. Help the kidneys with their work. The back will ache no more. Lots of proof that Doan's Kidney Pills do this.

It's the best proof, for it comes from Portland. Mrs. D. E. Sawin of 85 East Tenth street, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my notice from reading about them in the paper from my home, Leominster, Mass. Every now and then I read of some one whom I knew personally being cured of kidney trouble by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. I would not have paid so much attention to it had I not known them to be good, reliable people, who would not make such a statement unless it were absolutely true. Last fall, when I found my kidneys were not performing their functions properly I procured a box. They benefited me very much. To say I have a high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills expresses my feeling toward them very mildly."

TWO SMALL ACCIDENTS DURING CHARIOT RACES

A rough place in the track traversed by the chariots at the Barnum & Bailey show caused two accidents last night. Madame Wertz, a driver in the two-horse chariot race, was rounding a turn at terrific speed when the tongue of her chariot broke and she was thrown clear over the wheels, alighting in a manner that did not break any bones.

She was able to walk to her dressing-room. In another race one of the chariots struck on the corner of the seating benches and caused a small panic, but injured no one.

COUNCIL'S THREAT IS FUTILE

Charter Will Not Allow That Body to Retain Discharged Special Policemen.

EXECUTIVE BOARD IS APPOINTING POWER

New Men Are Being Chosen by Commission Without Regard to Political Services or Affiliations or Their Influential Relatives in Office.

Mayor Lane is not at all disturbed over the threat of the city council to pass legislation to prevent him from removing special police officers and appointing such men as he saw fit. It makes no difference to him, he says, whether the deposed specials have brothers, uncles or cousins in the city council; he and the police commission will proceed with the work of reorganizing the special force according to the lines outlined by them and without any reference to the officers' position. All that will be required of the new appointees will be a good moral character, honesty and an oath to assist in enforcing the laws of the city.

Any attempt on the part of the city council to retain the specials in office and to reappoint other men would be a violation of the city charter. Section 185 says: "The executive board is authorized to appoint persons of suitable character special patrolmen or policemen, but such special policemen shall not be paid by the city for their services."

The first specials received their appointments last Friday at the meeting of the executive board. As fast as the police commission appointments will be recommended. All specials will be removed from the north end, as it is thought the regular patrolmen will be sufficient there. It is known that instead of assisting the regular officers to enforce the laws the specials have in certain cases hindered them by refusing to give information which would have been of great assistance in the apprehension of offenders.

The specials will be forced to report to the chief of police at stated intervals regarding their work, the amount of salary they receive, and to take such instructions as the chief desires to give.
