

THE OREGON DAILY JOURNAL AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) and every Sunday morning at The Journal Building, Fifth and Yamhill streets, Portland, Oregon.

THE EXPOSITION'S BENEFITS. OCCASIONALLY we read complaints in state papers...

Yet it is certain that such results are already apparent in many localities. Never before were so many people buying Oregon lands...

THE RUSIAN HOT-AIR MANUFACTURERS also claim that the soldiers are very anxious to fight and are confident of victory...

THE NEW GERMAN TARIFF. NEXT MARCH, unless something in the way of reciprocity is done, the new German maximum and minimum tariff will go into effect...

WHY ENGLAND IS FOR PEACE. IT MAY SAFELY be assumed that while Great Britain might be forced into war, it will be so only under great provocation...

Small Change. Apparently the bear will have to be battered some more. But there are divers and diverse opinions about what reciprocity is or should be.

Mostly Rumors and Bluffing. THE CONFLICTING reports coming from Portsmouth and St. Petersburg prove that many of them, especially those sent out by the Associated Press, are mere guesses...

These Taggarts, alias The Stagers. Uncle John D. Rockefeller is going back, but he never can be a boy again.

Oregon Sidelights. Threshing about over around Milton. Milton Eagle: McEwen Bros. threshed 1,500 bushels of oats from 15 acres...

The Need of River Boats. WHEN the portage railroad was completed many people hastily concluded that the whole problem of independent transportation down the length of the river had been solved...

The Plucky Peach. From the Philadelphia Record. Chauncey is gamin. He insists that he has been a gambler since he was a boy...

Letters from the People. Some County's First White Child. Elkton, Aug. 25.—To the Editor of The Journal—I notice through the columns of your valued paper that a Miss Skinner of Eugene is credited with being the first white child born in Lane county, Oregon...

Letters from the People. An Approving Word and a Criticism. Portland, Aug. 25.—To the Editor of The Journal—In your issue of August 23 appears a personal notice headed "The Loveliest City of the West. North Dakota Jurist Enamored of Portland's Charms and Wishes to Visit Here..."

Letters from the People. The Forestry Building. Portland, Aug. 16.—To the Editor of The Journal—With regard to your inquiry as to the fire on the Forestry building at the fair, I wish to say that it would be a disgrace to Portland if it was ever removed...

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON FOR TOMORROW

By H. D. Jenkins, D. D. August 27, 1905—Topic: "Jeremiah in the Dungeon."—Jeremiah xxxviii:1-13. Golden text: "I have been persecuted for righteousness' sake, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven—Matt. v:10."

Jerusalem was besieged by the king of Babylon. The Chaldeans were victorious and the city was captured. The king of Babylon had the king of Judah and his family taken to Babylon.

Jeremiah was thrown into a dungeon. He was there for a long time, but he was not discouraged. He continued to pray to God and to write down his prophecies.

Jeremiah was rescued from the dungeon. The king of Babylon had a change of heart and allowed Jeremiah to go back to Jerusalem. He was able to continue his work as a prophet.

Jeremiah's message was one of hope. He told the people that if they repented and turned back to God, they would be able to rebuild Jerusalem and live in peace.
